Chamber Of Commerce Reiterates Stand For Sunday Blue Laws

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce has reiterated its opposition to legislation that would eliminate the Sunday blue laws in Massachusetts.

The Chamber said in a statement that it had interviewed 500 people in business, labor, clubs and government and 90 per cent said they did not want blue law restrictions removed from Sunday.

It could find no one strongly in favor of eliminating the laws, the Chamber said, and those who did favor elimination did so in a mild or "don't really care" manner.

However, members of the Chamber testifying before the Commerce and Labor Committee, supported the removal of Sunday restrictions from Patriot's Day, Columbus Day and Veterans Day.

In supporting its testimony to retain the Sunday blue laws, the Chamber said:

"The consumer has only so many dollars to spend. A seventh business day would not result in additional total spending, yet businesses would have to expend 10 percent or more to stay open on Sundays.

"People are going to purchase the same amount in six days as they'll buy in seven - just spread it out over a longer period of time.

"Overhead would be substantially increased. Stores would have to be staffed an additional day.

"And, while the proponents' main contention is that this would create additional jobs, the story we heard from the retailers was that no additional jobs would be made available.

"Management would simply allot the working time of their present labor force over a seven-day period without increasing the number of employees.

"Another substantial overhead cost would be for the additional energy which would be used to keep stores opened - energy which would be wasted for no one's gain at a time when every effort is being made to conserve."

"While costs of doing business in Massachusetts are higher than in our bordering states already, additional costs would drive prices even higher, which, in turn, would drive more consumers out-of-state to do more shopping in bordering states.

Ralph Tedeschi of Angelo's, said "there is no way people are going to eat more, which means that every single cent spent to keep the store opened would have to be passed on to the consumer, resulting in increased food costs.

"While the original justification for a 'day-of-rest' from work was religiously based, in today's society that argument may not necessarily be defensible. But the question of 'social breakdown' deserves reflection.

"Those surveyed expressed concern that to eliminate the break in the 'hustle bustle' that the Sunday blue laws now provide would be to eliminate an aspect of our quality of life which, in many cases, provides the only opportunity for families to be together."

The Chamber said it continues to support removal of restrictions on a limited number of holidays, such as Columbus Day and Veterans Day because it has been shown that these are, in fact, days when people will shop and spend a little extra, which has worked to both the advantage of the retailer and to the state in the form of sales taxes.

"Proponents of 'elimination' are willing to provide for a local option which would allow a community to determine whether it wants its stores opened or not," noted the Chamber.

"But, in fact, even a few communities opening up on a Sunday will start a 'domino effect' until the practice blankets the State.

"It's only logical to conclude that if Quincy provides for its retailers to open and they do, Braintree's retailers, for economic survival, will demand the right to open; and then Weymouth, as will Hanover, Plymouth, etc.

"According to those participating in our survey, elimination of blue laws will do little to contribute to the economic revival of Massachusetts.

"It would simply cost the consumer more for the privilege of being able to shop on Sunday, while eating up our energy resources and breaking down family life.

James Finnegan On Springfield College Committee

James M. Finnegan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Finnegan of 49 Whitney Rd., Quincy Center, has been selected a group leader of Springfield College's 1980 New Student Orientation Committee.

Finnegan is among a group of students designated to represent the Admissions Office during the intensive week long program to acquaint new students with the 95-year-old college.

A sophomore physical education major, Finnegan is editor-in-chief of the student newspaper, extraordinary eucharistic minister, student trustee elect, resident assistant, member of the school radio station (WSCB-FM), and involved in intramural sports.

Brownell Seeks Fifth State Representative Term

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) has announced his candidacy for the fifth full term from the Second Norfolk District, which includes Houghs Neck, Merrymount, Quincy Center and Wollaston.

Brownell, who was first elected in 1971 in a special election to fill a vacancy, said in his announcement:

"In the 1980s Quincy has the need for an experienced, proven and effective legislator to represent our interests on Beacon Hill.

"As the senior and most experienced legislator in the Quincy delegation, I have the best opportunity to be appointed again to key committee assignments which are so vital at this critical time to Quincy."

During his service in the Legislature, Brownell has had perfect attendance at all formal sessions of the Legislature, and a near perfect roll call record -99.5 percent - one of the best attendance record on the South Shore.

Brownell's recent major legislative accomplishments include a law preventing the M.D.C. from filling in 26 acres of Quincy Bay off Houghs Neck for a massive sewerage treatment plant, co-sponsor of an elderly needy fuel assistance law which provided over $25 million in fuel assistance for the elderly and the needy for the winter of 1979-80, and a law mandating public hearings before Massport establishes new airplane flight patterns.

A former assistant attorney general, Brownell is currently an assistant majority leader and a ranking member of the Committees on Taxation, Transportation, and Rules.

During his service in the Legislature he has also served on the Committees of Local Affairs, Judiciary, Education and Public Safety and Insurance.

Recently Brownell helped to organize and incorporate the Manet Community Health Center in Houghs Neck, which is now a multi-service center servicing the entire city of Quincy.

In 1977 he served as chairman of a special commission on the Quincy District Court which recommended the institution of the six-man jury system that has proven to be an effective and efficient tool for the expedient administration of justice.

In 1978 he served as chairman of the sub-committee on Taxation to investigate tax incentives for home improvements and repairs. Among some of the legislative accomplishments of Brownell lists are the following:

The Brownell Law exempting home improvements from taxation.

Successfully fought for reduction of Meals Tax from 8 per cent to 5 per cent.

Municipal Hospital Law Cost Purchasing Bill of 1979.

The law reducing the county property tax assessment on Quincy which lowered Quincy's assessment $300,000 (annually reducing Quincy's property tax assessments since 1974).

Legislation requiring public officials to disclose financial interests and conflicts of interest.

Massachusetts Antitrust Act of 1978.

South Shore Jobs Bill.

Legislation establishing a medical malpractice tribunal to eliminate nuisance medical malpractice claims.

Successfully sponsored legislation to establish the Joseph E. Brett Beach Facility.

Brownell lives at 15 Moreland Rd., Merrymount, with his wife, Margaret, and their three children, Karyn 8, David 6, and Brian 8 months.

donate the cost of the meal.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Richard Calandrella, Care's director of development for the New England region.

Calandrella reported that "human needs in Cambodia are reaching the critical stage once again and outside aid in massive amounts will be required through the spring and summer to prevent wholesale tragedy."

Continued Calandrella, all reports indicate that the Cambodian people will be "totally dependent" on outside aid until November, December, when they might be able to harvest a rice crop.

Renewal Of Covenant At First Church Of Squantum

Members of the First Church of Squantum renewed their covenant with God and with each other Sunday. In the congregational tradition, a local church is formed when the members "gather" and covenant with each other.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, preached on the topic, "Isn't 'Individual' Religion Enough?" His text was taken from Matthew,

"For where two or three are gathered in my name, there am I in the midst of them."

Katherine Hansen gave the Call to Worship, Steven Williams led the Opening Prayer, Jens Thornton Sr., read the Scripture and Fred MacMillan gave the Prayer of Dedication.

At the conclusion of the service, all of the members of the church read the covenant together to reaffirm their loyalty to it.

Greeters for the morning were Richard Williams and Mark Paul. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Del Dougherty, Jennie Preston, Bonnie Adams and Edna MacIntyre.

The service next Sunday will begin at 10:15 a.m. and the sermon will be based on a passage in the Book of Esther.

PSSB Annual Meeting April 24

St. Mary's School To Stay Open, Vows Fr. McMahon

The 50th anniversary of St. Mary's School was highlighted by the vow of Rev. John McMahon, pastor, to "work to the last ounce of our strength, to the last bit of financial ingenuity at our disposal" to keep the school open.

Citing the dwindling number of parochial schools in the country, Fr. McMahon promised "to keep St. Mary's School doing in the next half century what it has done so splendidly in the half century past."

More than 650 persons gathered Saturday for a consecrated Mass and a dinner-dance honoring the 50th anniversary jubilee of the West Quincy school.

Rev. McMahon was principal celebrant of the Mass. Other concelebrants were his two assistants, Rev. John Butler, S.J. and Rev. Francis Griffin, S.J.; Rev. John Schatzel of Immaculate Conception Parish, East Weymouth and Rev. Robert Daley of Boston College, both graduates of St. Mary's School; former St. Mary's Parish assistant James Laneragan; and Father George Perara of Ceylon, a graduate student at Boston University.

Presiding at the Mass was St. Mary's Monsignor John Mullarkey.

Another St. Mary's graduate, Brother Daniel Walters of Glastonbury Abbey, also participated in the ceremonies.

Also present were many members of the Order of St. Joseph, past and present teachers at St. Mary's.

A buffet dinner following the Mass was served in Mullarkey Hall. A tent outside the hall was necessary to accommodate the overflow crowd.

Music was provided by St. Mary's Choir.

The text of Fr. McMahon's homily at the anniversary Mass:

"I cannot think of a happier occasion for St. Mary's Parish to observe than the one we are celebrating tonight. Our parochial school has been with us for 50 years. It is more than likely that some members of its first class have by now retired. Many graduates are in vigorous middle life, while still others are new entrants to the work of the world or are still preparing to enter it by attendance at high school and college. In short, our alumni covers the entire spectrum of human life except what we now call senior citizenship.

"Let us consider for a moment what that means. St. Mary's School represents something valuable beyond price to the Catholic Church and something with a high value indeed to the country as a whole. The sons and daughters of St. Mary's have brought into adult life the moral and religious principles taught them at St. Mary's, and they in turn have taught them to their children and, it may well be for some, to their grandchildren.

"The Church is not perpetuated only in the building we call the church. It is also perpetuated in the school, where the principles of religious belief and Christian conduct are taught in greater detail and over longer periods of time than are possible in homilies delivered from the altar. But most important of all, the Church is perpetuated in the home, where fathers and mothers who both accept the principles of religious belief and Christian conduct taught in the church and the school teach those principles to their children by precept and, more important, by example. There are many definitions of the good life, but that is the only definition that really matters. The good life is the life led by the principles of religious belief and Christian conduct.

Fr. JOHN McMAHON

"It follows that we are not merely happy that St. Mary's School has flourished for half a century. We are still happier that it is still flourishing. I need hardly say that the number of parochial schools in this diocese and country is dwindling, to the great loss of Church and country alike. I can understand how soaring costs of operation and ever growing problems of staffing classrooms in a Catholic school have prompted many parishes to give up and close their schools. With God's help, we of St. Mary's will not give up. We shall work to the last ounce of our strength, to the last bit of financial ingenuity at our disposal, to keep St. Mary's School doing in the next half century what it has done so splendidly in the half century past, turning out young people trained to lead the good life by religious principles and the dictates of Christian conduct, and in turn to teach such principles to their own children.

"Never has the need for Catholic schools been greater than it is today. Do not think for a moment that anti-Catholicism is dead. It is true, I think, that it is largely dead in its older form. Time was when anti-Catholicism was the attitude of the ignorant and the bigoted. There is less of that old fashioned ignorance, that traditional bigotry, than there used to be. What we now face is a new and far more dangerous anti-Catholicism, the anti-Catholicism of the educated and, in their own belief, the intellectually advanced.

"The Catholic Church has an undeviating respect for human life, in every stage from conception until death. That respect no longer exists among many of the technically educated and, in their own belief, the intellectually advanced. Already we have had attempts made by them to deny Catholics the right to testify where the abortion issue is concerned on the grounds that Catholics cannot testify from personal and individual conviction.

"In a word, if you are a Catholic, you have no right to take a stand on the issue of free abortions for the indigent. The anti-Catholic intellectuals are ardent believers in free speech, unless the free speech is prayer voluntarily offered in the classroom. The same American Civil Liberties Union that defended in an Illinois court the right of the Ku Klux Klan to free speech sued in a South Dakota court to prevent the singing of Christmas carols in a public schoolroom. The anti-Catholic intellectuals are quite accurate in seeing the Catholic Church as the chief opponent to their determination to root religion out of the educational life of America and to make secular humanism, the philosophy that makes man's changing judgment the criterion of right and wrong and denied the very existence of any supernatural set of values, the official philosophy of American education. The secular humanists today, with their legal arm the American Civil Liberties Union, is a far more potent and dangerous adversary than ever were the Ku Klux Klan, the A.P.A., or any old-fashioned set of uneducated and bigoted foes of Catholicism.

"It follows that never was the need greater for sound and vigorous teaching of the principles of Catholicism and of Christian conduct. That means a vigorous teaching of such principles from the altar. It means a vigorous teaching of the principles of Catholicism in the Catholic classroom. Most important of all, it means a vigorous teaching in the home of the principles in which we believe and by which we are obliged to live, a teaching that is by example as well as precept. Here is the vital role of St. Mary's School and all Catholic schools like it.

"The foundation of a house is mainly beneath the ground and is the least visible part of the structure. Yet it is on the foundation that everything else rests. So with an education. It is in the grammar grades that the foundation is laid, the basic principles taught, the fundamentals of good living taught and exemplified. Everything else is built above that foundation, and if the foundation is well built the house endures.

"Let us make no mistake about it. There is no more important institution in Quincy, for the students, the city, and the country, than St. Mary's School and the parochial schools like it. When we pledge ourselves to perpetuate our school, we are pledging ourselves to perpetuate the principles on which the good life rests. The importance of the school is to be judged by no less solemn a criterion."

Police Mass, Communion Breakfast May 4

The second annual Quincy Police Department Mass and Communion Breakfast will be held Sunday, May 4.

Mass will be celebrated at St. John's Church at 8:30 a.m., followed by breakfast at the Bryan VFW Post, Broad St., Quincy Center.

Celebrating the Mass will be Rev. William R. McCarthy, pastor; Rev. Joseph F. Byrne and Rev. Neal D'Stephano, police chaplains; and Rev. William D.

Walsh, Quincy City Hospital chaplain, who will be principal speaker.

Wollaston Recreational Facility Withdraws 4th Liquor License Request

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Wollaston Recreation Facility's fourth request in the last few years for a common victualer-alcoholic license was withdrawn without prejudice at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

Atty. Richard Barry, representing facility manager Richard J. Mulvey, reviewed the situation for board members saying there had been a liquor license at the golf course four years ago.

The area is zoned Residence A, continued Barry, and according to a ruling by the City solicitor, legal non-conforming use of the property no longer applies and a liquor license could not be issued.

Barry said the next step would be to withdraw the request without prejudice, and apply for a variance from the Zoning Board of Appeals which has ruled against the facility three times in the past as has the License Board.

Barry said he would like to overcome the board's negative reaction to the facility's request.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald asked Barry if he intended to build a separate room for adults if the liquor license were granted. Barry answered there were no such plans now, but it could be done if required.

MacDonald said that would make it "a whole other ballgame," but later said the facility would get no support from him.

City Councillor John J. Lydon said there had been a club license at the facility, not a liquor license.

Lydon said the liquor license would go well beyond the scope of a club license and the original intent of the facility.

He requested that the board view the matter with caution and pointed out that 34 area residents were at the meeting to voice their opposition to granting of the license.

Barry said he would like to present a stronger case in the future for granting of the license, but if all of the board members were against the request, there would be no sense to it.

City Clerk John M. Gilliss said he had been in favor of the license in the past. Health Commissioner Dr. Robert McKeogh, new to the License Board, said he had not heard any presentation in the past and would be willing to listen.

Fire Chief Edward Barry said he was strongly opposed to granting of the license as he has consistently been in the past. Local residents present applauded his stand. Police Chief Francis X. Finn was not at the meeting.

Gilliss said he thought Atty. Barry wanted the board to refer the matter to the Zoning Board as a show of compassion, but no such motion was made.

The board did vote to allow the request to be withdrawn without prejudice.

In other action, the License Board:

- Continued until May 6, a request from Sam's Restaurant Inc., 423A Hancock St., for a common victualer-wine and malt beverages license.

- MacDonald suggested the board look over the request, and weigh heavily a letter of opposition from Ward Councillor Joanne Condon, as well as the fact the area is already well served as far as liquor.

- Granted a one day-all alcoholic license to Taleb Grotto, Masonic Temple, for a fund raising dance Friday, May 30, 7:30 p.m. to midnight, at the Fore River Clubhouse.

- Allowed to be withdrawn without prejudice a request from Amedeo Lorenzani for a common victualer license for a variety store at 3 Kittredge Ave., Quincy Point. The area is zoned residence B, and Lorenzani must go to the Zoning Board of Appeals for a variance before re-applying for the license.

- Granted a tag day permit to the North Quincy High School track team for Saturday, May 10, with the stipulation there be positively no soliciting at intersections. Head track coach Lou Tozzi Jr., said that the team had abided by the rule last year and indicated they would do so this year. Chief Barry recommended the police department make spot checks during the tag day. Dr. McKeogh replied that couldn't be done, and did not vote on the request.

- Granted a one day-all alcoholic license to the Sheets' Campaign Committee for Thursday, April 24, 5 to 7 p.m. at 1001 Southern Artery.

- A request from California, a disco at 79 Parkway, for a permit to operate a sidewalk cafe beginning May 1, was withdrawn without prejudice. No reason was given.

Atlantic Center Holds Earth Day Activities

The Atlantic Neighborhood Center sponsored a bike and walk-a-thon Tuesday from the center to Caddy Memorial Park in celebration of Earth Day.

Various environmental activities were held throughout the day including a walk, led by Edward Donovan, through the Quincy Salt Marsh Trail, off Fenno St.

Other Category Winners

In Houghs Neck It's Picarski

Stan Picarski was the overall winner in the annual Patriots Day Marathon sponsored by Houghs Neck Legion Post Sunday.

Seventy-five men, women and children competed in six categories limited to Houghs Neck residents only.

Youngest entrant was Lauran Keith, 4.

Vina Boyd was the winner in the women over 25 class.

Trophies were awarded the winners in six categories.

Coming in first among boys under 14 was Danny Hurley, followed by Michael Voccia and Brian Keith. Betty Ann Vecchione, Kerri Magee and Kerry Edin ran 1-2-3 for girls in that category.

David Dove, Walter Burgess and Ed Ruscio were 1-2-3 for young men, 15-19 years, whose course included a spring over Great Hill and return to the starting point on Sea St. at the Legion Hall.

Maria Burke and Donna Vecchione ran 1-2 in the women's group, 15 to 25 years.

Tommy Vecchione, Bobby Vecchione and Glenn Reynolds were the first three in the 20-30 year age bracket, while Stan Picarski, John Picarski and Fred Price were 1-2-3 with Ronny Lemieux a strong fourth, in the men over 30 years group.

DANNY HURLEY, 11, crosses the finish line first in his division in the annual Houghs Neck Marathon sponsored by Houghs Neck Legion.

CHRISSE Sutter, 8, was one of the youngest entrants in the annual Houghs Neck Legion Post marathon.

John Christensen was chairman for the event, assisted by John Duffy, athletic chairman; Commander D. Paul Shaw, Senior Vice Commander William Morrill and Auxiliary members Diane Clark, Nancy Bishop and Jessie Morrill.

N.Q. Kickers Bows, 6-0

The North Quincy Kickers' under 19 soccer team opened its South Shore League season by losing to a strong Hanson team, 6-0.

Falling behind, 3-0, North had its best chances in the second half as Steve Sacchetti missed a semi-breakaway and Dave Wygonowski just missing from a tough angle. Sacchetti, Bill Bradley, Tim Burke and Chris Dunn all played well for North.

The under-16 team hung on to tie West Bridgewater, 5-5. After a scoreless first half, North broke on top on a goal by Greg DiBella, assisted by Kenny Nutley. DiBella scored again on a 10-yarder and, after W. Bridgewater scored, DiBella completed a hat trick, scoring on a penalty shot.

Danny Dodd made it 4-1 and Mike Bourika scored the final North Quincy goal.

North had only one substitute and Coach Joey Flynn felt his players were tired and were unable to hold a 5-2 lead. Flynn praised the excellent play of Nutley, DiBella, Bourikas and Barry Higgins.

North's under 12 team had little trouble defeating Rockland, 8-3, as Pat Harrington and Mark Scanlan scored two goals apiece. Dave Fasano set up Scanlan's goal one minute into the game and Fasano made it 2-0 a minute later with Scanlan assisting. Harrington made it 3-0 on a beautiful move and Scanlan scored his second goal with Tony Losordo having the assist.

Rob Bradley, outstanding on defense throughout the game, scored on a 20-yard direct kick. Harrington made it 6-0 at the half with Erick Roukey assisting. Brian Morris scored early in the second half to increase the lead to 7-0 and, after Rockland scored three times, Pat O'Sullivan scored the final North goal with Scanlan assisting.

Coach Paul Bregoli hailed the defensive play of Bradley, Jim Cahill, Joey Rabs and Losordo and also had words of praise for the offensive performances of Harrington, Fasano, Scanlan, Roukey and Mike Cervels.

Dispute Over Winner

Patti Lyons 3rd Among Women In Boston Marathon

Quincy's Patti Lyons, one of the world's fastest runners, was the third finisher among the women in Monday's Boston Marathon in the fine time of 2:35:08.

Miss Lyons may have been credited with finishing second behind Jacqueline Gareau of Montreal as, at press time, an investigation was still in progress into charges that the winner, Rosie Ruiz of New York City, actually had not run the distance.

Joe Catalano, former Quincy High track coach, finished 319th in 2:38:58.

The winner for the third year in a row and fourth time since 1975 was Bill Rodgers of Melrose, who finished in 2:12:11, behind his recordtime for the run.

Ann Kiemel, former dean of women at Eastern Nazarene College, ran the marathon and is donating all proceeds to ENC athletic scholarships, from sponsors who pledged contributions per mile that she ran.

Quincy Police Lt. Frank Mullin finished the marathon in three hours and three minutes, his best time yet. His assigned number was V599.

Quincy Outslugs Brookline, 9-7, North Edged

The Quincy baseball team didn't let the loss of five returning senior regulars deter it last Friday as the Presidents outslugged Brookline, 9-7 in their opening game.

Meanwhile, North Quincy Coach Charlie Bunker's worry over a lack of hitting in practice games was borne out when the Raiders wasted a six-hit pitching performance by Rich Hallberg, making his first varsity start, as they lost to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 2-1.

The cross-town rivals met Tuesday at Adams Field. Bud Mosher's Quincy team played at Brockton yesterday (Wednesday), hosts Waltham today at 10:30 at Adams Field, and Monday plays at Weymouth North at 3:30.

North will play at Brookline Friday at 10:30 and Monday will host Brockton at Adams Field at 3:30.

Sophomore Jim Austin had two hits and drove in three runs in Quincy's league win over Brookline.

With Quincy leading, 6-5, in the fifth inning, the Presidents scored twice when Mike Scurti scored on a suicide squeeze and Walt Kilgallon also scored when Brookline held the ball on a grounder by Mitch Johnston.

Andy Carrera gained credit for the victory.

Hallberg went all the way on the North Quincy mound and gave up just one earned run, while striking out four, but the Raider batters continued to be silenced as Cambridge's Mike Harshberger struck out 15.

"We have some potentially good batters but in our practice games they just weren't hitting," Bunker said. "They have to snap out of it if we hope to do anything."

The Raiders took a 1-0 lead in the top of the fifth on Chris Petrillo's RBI single, but Cambridge came back in the home half with two runs on John Laredo's two-run triple.

● Softball

North Girls Outlast Cambridge

Lou Ioanilli, who led North Quincy's junior varsity baseball team to several outstanding seasons, has taken over as the girls' softball coach.

Despite a lack of experience, he has hopes of finishing near the top of the Suburban League, after a 23-14 win over Cambridge Rindge and Latin last week.

The North girls played Quincy Tuesday, will host Brookline Friday at 11 a.m. at Welcome Young Playground and Monday will play at Brockton at 3:30.

"This can be considered a building year, but the girls have been working very hard and have improved tremendously since we began practice," said Ioanilli. "Despite playing in a strong league, I hope we can finish near the top."

The Raiderettes are led by senior Co-Captains Patricia Negus, the first baseman, and pitcher Maureen Worley.

Sophomores Lauri Barba and Eileen Cronin share the second base duties and are also backup pitchers, sophomore JoAnn Runge is the shortstop and junior Becky Holcomb is at third base.

Juniors Jane Murray and Toni LeBlanc are the catchers.

The outfielders, all juniors, are

Kim Alberti, Lauren Apollo, Kit Harrow, Beth McGurl, Susan Cahill and Denise Carroll.

Rich Hutchins is the junior varsity coach and has an enthusiastic group of youngsters who at this writing were still fighting for positions.

The squad includes Maureen Berry, Lynn Cahill, Sue Connor, Cathy Downing, Sheila Durkin, Kerri McCready, Maureen McAlency, Debbie McGovern, Susan Orlando, Elva Reed, Janet Rooney, Mary Ellen Suppy, Ann Worley, Anita Perkins and Marie Green.

In last week's win over Cambridge, the Raiderettes exploded for 11 runs in the second inning to go up, 14-2, but Cambridge came back to within two, 14-12, before North wrapped it up with a seven-run fifth inning.

Runge led the assault with three hits and three RBIs and Murray had two hits, two RBIs and scored three times. Barba settled down after a rough start to get the win and she scored five runs to help her own cause.

QJC Hopes To Rebound At Bunker Hill

By PETE ZOIA

A lack of hitting in the right places and costly errors resulted in two defeats last week for the Quincy Junior College baseball team.

The Jaguars bowed to Mass. Pharmacy, 5-2, and to Bristol, 8-3, dropping their record to 1-2.

QJC will play at Bunker Hill Community College Tuesday, April 29 at 3:30 p.m. and will be at Wentworth Wednesday, April 30 at 4 o'clock.

The Mass. Pharmacy game was lost due to a few throwing errors that advanced base runners into scoring positions and eventually scored.

QJC jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first inning, thanks to a triple by catcher Ed McElaney and a fly ball to center by Eric Carrera. This was short lived as Pharmacy bounced back with two runs, handed to them by a fielding error, a wild throw and a passed ball.

Continued throwing lapses enabled the visitors to pick up single runs in the second, third and sixth innings.

McElaney belted his second triple in the third inning, driving in Mike Colon who had walked, but a fly out and ground out left him stranded.

These two smashes by McElaney were the only two hits for QJC. Pitching wise, starter Bob Olgey allowed only two hits for 2½ innings, and reliever Bob Thomas held the opponents to two hits. This fine pitching stint was wasted by errors.

Pete Lyons, besides pitching a two-hitter, got a triple and a single, and center fielder Paul Hackett had two hits for the winners.

Bristol proved to be a tartar for six innings with pitcher Dave Mateus being stingy, dealing out three hits and one run.

McElaney led off the seventh with a long double to left field. This was the 13th consecutive game in which he has had at least one hit. 10 games last year and three this year.

Dave McLaughlin connected with a two base hit driving in McElaney, and Paul Vespaziani followed with a solid single to score McLaughlin for the final Jaguar run.

Shoddy fielding helped Bristol to four runs in the second inning. Steve Jaehnig started and went 3½ innings giving up six hits and six runs. Jaehnig has been nursing an injury from basketball and this was his first pitching venture in over three years. Coach Dave Burke commented that he was pleased with his effort.

Olgey fared well, stopping Bristol in the fourth and fifth frames, only to be hit hard for four consecutive singles and two runs in the sixth inning. Thomas, who has seen action in all three games to date, put a halt to any further damage. Thomas is remembered for his win in the seasons opener, pitching a one hitter against Bunker Hill.

Defensively, Carrera made a great play on a ground ball hit to him, tagging out the runner and throwing out the batter at first.

Quincy Tennis Team Blanks Abp. Williams

The Quincy boys' tennis team opened its season with a 5-0 victory over Abp. Williams, as Capt. Dave Hamburger, Gary Durante, playing his first varsity match ever, and Peter Faim swept the three singles matches to assure the win.

The teams of George Kane and Mike Shea and Jeff May and Mike Nigro also won to complete the sweep.

The Presidents will host Waltham Friday at 2 o'clock, Monday will be at Weymouth North and next Wednesday will play at Weymouth South, both matches at 3:15.

'RUN FOR YOUR LIFE' committee members Councillors Stephen McGrath and Joanne Condon present $1,675 check to Quincy City Hospital staff members to pay for a defibrillator, a device used to aid heart attack victims. I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By ROBERT COLMAN

Ever wonder why baseball games consist of 9 innings instead of say, 8 or 10 or some other number?... In the early days of baseball, teams played any number of innings... The winner of a game then was the first team to score 21 runs, regardless of how many innings were played... That rule wasn't changed until 1857 when it was decided to limit the game to a specific number of innings... Nine innings were picked to represent the 9 men on a team.

Here's an amazing pitching feat... It happened in a minor league game in 1952 when Ron Neccai of Bristol in the Appalachian League not only pitched a no-hitter, but struck out all 27 men!... He got three outs in every inning by strike outs!

Here's an interesting question... In the entire history of baseball there have been 2 major league managers who had sons who also became big league managers... Can you name them?... Connie Mack, who managed the A's for many years, had a son, Earle, who also managed the team for his father at various times - and George Sisler, who managed the St. Louis Browns in 1924-25-26, had a son, Dick, who managed Cincinnati in 1964-65.

I bet you didn't know... That Colman's has everything you need for softball and baseball... Famous names at money saving prices... Team outfitting at sensational prices... If it's baseball, Colman's has it.

Recreation Dept. Tourney

Adams, Broad Meadows, Hough City Champs

Three city championships were decided on Championship Night in the Quincy Recreation Department All City Basketball Tournament.

Boys' Elementary champion is Adams Center. Boys' Senior High champion is Broad Meadows and the Girls' Junior High champion is Atherton Hough. All games were played at the North Quincy High School gym.

The Elementary game featured Atlantic Center and Adams Center. This was Adams Center's first appearance in the championship round in the twenty year history of the tournament. After a slow first period with both teams having cold shooting hands, however Adams Don Parry had six of his 14 points in the second period to lead his team to a 14-11 half time lead. Adams Chris Doly had six of his nine points in the second period. Atlantic's Mark Scanlan had nine points with seven coming in the second period as he tried to offset the scoring of Parry and Doyle.

Adams and Atlantic swapped baskets, for a final score of 27-23. Atlantic scorers were Scanlan nine, Pat O'Sullivan four, Rob Bradley four, Jimmy Cahill two, Tim Burke two, and Chris Rossi two. Playing well but not scoring were Tony Orlando and Mark Durkin. Adams scorers were Doyle nine, Parry 14, Ed Gore two, Mike Shields two, Dennis Corinon, Tony Sousa, Mike Thomas and Tom Marisco had outstanding games on defense. Atlantic was coached by Paul Bregoli and Adams was coached by Mike Cronin.

In the Girl's Junior High game Atherton Hough jumped to a 12-9 first period lead over Lincoln Hancock and never looked back winning the game 57-29. Atherton's Mary Ann Agres led all scorers with 16 points but she had plenty of help as seven other team members scored in the balanced attack. Both Katie Dunn and Bernie DiPietro had 12 points which was still more than any Lincoln Hancock player. Christine Gallery led Lincoln Hancock with eight followed closely by Christine Balducci, Lisa Boyne with six points and Kelly Burke with five points. Other scorers for Lincoln Hancock were Laura D'Andrea and Patti McRudin with two points each.

Playing well although not scoring were Barbie Cahill, Roberta Maze, Janice Walsh, Lori Ryan and Tricia Davenport. Scorers for Atherton Hough were Agres 16, Dunn 12, DiPietro 12, Mary Kussman four, Karen Dami four, Jill Condon four, Joan Agres two, Nancy MacDonald three, Claudia Ciccone and Anna Marie Ciccone teamed up to play outstanding defense. Atherton was coached by John Mariano and Lincoln Hancock was co-coached by Maureen McBride and Sandy DePalo.

Braves Win 2nd Wallace Cup

The South Shore Braves last Friday won their second straight Wallace Cup, emblematic of the New England Junior Hockey League championship, and will play in the National championship April 23-27 in Detroit.

The Braves, coached by veteran Quincy High coach Bob Sylvia, moved to their new home, the Quincy Youth Arena, for the playoffs after playing for five years in Rockland, and Friday topped the Fitchburg Wallpapers, 5-2, in action to clinch the best of seven playoff finals in six games.

The Braves had won the first two games of the finals, then lost two in a row. They bounced back earlier last week with an 8-1 romp, then came Friday's clincher.

"We've reached the top of the mountain," said Sylvia after his team had successfully defended its title. "This is something we waited for all year. I love each of these kids so much."

"The biggest characteristic about this team is they have a lot of heart. They really care about one another." Sylvia was doused with champagne in the locker room.

Chuck Coyle, former Weymouth South standout, had a hat trick for the Braves and Glen Giovanucci and Steve Breen had the other goals.

The win was especially sweet for Paul O'Sullivan, who will retire as general manager at season's end. "This is it for me," he said.

"These guys have made me so happy. This is one of the greatest moments of my life."

O'Sullivan may have played a key role in the 8-1 victory earlier in the week at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Before the game he gave an emotional speech to the team. He told the players about the confidence he had in their ability and how he was behind them all the way.

"I gave the team this ring I've been wearing since our first year in the league," the GM said. "The ring symbolized our touch beginning and I took it off and handed it to one of our players (Scott Walker) as a sign of better things to come."

O'Sullivan had been suffering from viral pneumonia and had missed the previous four playoff games. But he insisted on jumping out of a sick bed and attending final two.

Giovanucci and Bob DeBiase gave the Braves a 2-0 lead in the opening period. Scott Harlow scored in the second period and the Braves exploded for five goals in the last 7:50 of the game. Giovanucci, Coyle, Paul Gannon, Gary Cooney and Gerry Welch.

The Braves hope to add some Quincy players for next season's schedule in Quincy. Last year several Quincy players were on the squad but most of them played college hockey this year.

● Street Hockey Atlantic, Squantum Adams, Wollaston Win

Action continued in the quarter-final round of the Quincy Recreation Department All City Street Hockey Tournament.

In four well-played games, three were decided by one goal and the fourth by two, only after a late third period goal. Winners last week were Atlantic, Squantum, Adams and Wollaston.

In the Parker-Atlantic game, Atlantic's Pat O'Sullivan scored two first period goals to put his team up 2-0. Parker's Jim Dunphy scored in the second period, while David Fasano and Jim Cahill scored to keep Atlantic well ahead. In the third period Parker battled back with goals by John Ainsley and Tony McDermott. The Parker comeback was one goal short as the final score was 4-3.

The Atherton Hough-Squantum game was another tight contest with neither team being able to score in the first period. Fine play continued from both teams, as Atherton Hough's Chris Bussy scored first. Squantum's Pat Harrington scored to even the game at 1-1, at the end of two periods. The third period was well played with both teams having excellent scoring opportunities. Late in the third period Squantum got the game winner from Mike DeLuca. Both Atherton Hough coach Robbie Graig and Squantum coach Robert Noble had reason to praise the outstanding play of both teams. All spectators agreed that it was a shame that both teams could not advance.

Adams jumped ahead with two goals in the first period, Tony Sousa and Robert Volpe getting the tallies. Ken Scivola scored in the second period for Sterling. Both teams played tight defensively through the third period and the 2-1 score held up in Adams' favor. Like the previous game both teams deserved the win.

The highest scoring game of the day was the Wollaston-Merrymount game. David Maimaron from Merrymount scored two goals in the first period, while Wollaston's David Tapper had the first of his three to leave the score at 2-1 at the end of the first. Wollaston's Tapper and Mike Barrow each scored for a 3-2 score at the end of two. The third period saw Barrow and Tapper team up again to put tie Wollaston team ahead by three goals only to have Merrymount's David Maimaron score to close the gap. Action was fast paced in the closing minutes however, Merrymount could not score again, leaving the final at 5-3.

The semi-final and final games will be played Saturday at the Montclair Playground beginning at 9 a.m. Spectators are welcome.

Amorosino Optimistic

Quincy Track Team Lacks Experience But Has Spirit

By TOM SULLIVAN

Joe Amorosino, who has coached the girls' team the last two years, has added the Quincy High boys' coaching chores this spring and is pleased with the increase in interest.

Quincy has had little luck in track for the past few seasons and last spring there were only about 25 on the combined boys' and girls' squads.

This season Amorosino takes over a squad of 30 boys and has his two basketball assistants, Doug MacFarlane and John Franceschini, as his aides.

"I am pleased with the number of boys reporting," Amorosino said. "And although about half of them are only sophomores and we are inexperienced, the spirit is fine and with a little experience we will improve."

Although the Presidents lost their opening, Amorosino expects them to cause a lot of trouble for other Suburban League teams beginning with the next meet against Waltham Tuesday, April 29, at 3:15 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Quincy has one of the premier two-milers in the state in John Furey and another outstanding runner in Roy Higgins, an excellent quarter-miler. Paul Martin is another potentially big scorer in the 100.

Ritch Finnegan looks good in the long jump and hurdles, Dave Church has impressed in the long jump and dashes, Kurt MacDonald shows good potential in the high jump and javelin, John Varrasso looks promising in the shot put and Billy Hall should have a good season in the discus.

Other hopefuls include Joe Irvine, half mile; Tedzel Cagdas, distance runs; Mike Shaughnessy, a fine prospect in the 100 and 220; Danny Whyte, javelin; Steve Priscella, javelin and hurdles; Kevin Chapman, shot and discus; Dave Elmore, distances; John Irvine, javelin; Bob Kudla, distances; Rich Lawyer, dashes; David Levitsky, distances; Paul McCaffrey, dashes; Dennis Mitchell, distances; Mark Newell, two-mile.

Also, Russ Nord, distances; Rich LeGrow, distances; Randy Paris, dashes; Dean Rizzo, distances; Walter Rosberg, 440; John Sweeney, dashes; Dave Murray, distances and field events, and Jim Fernandez, 100.

25 Sophomores On Team

North Girls Defeat Waltham, Bow To Weymouth North

Boys' coach Lou Tozzi and assistants George Liset and Ken McPhee are doubling up this spring and are handling the North Quincy girls' track team, which opened last week with a victory over Waltham, then dropped a close decision to Weymouth North.

This winter the trio volunteered to take over the girls' reins after Jeff Strungis resigned and led the Raiderettes to an undefeated (7-0-1) season and the Suburban League and state championships.

"It is pretty hard to coach both teams, but we didn't want to see the team dropped," Tozzi said. "I have two great assistants in George and Ken and, between the three of us, we can handle both the girls and boys."

"We have a real talented group, but most of the kids are inexperienced sophomores (25 of 37)," Tozzi said. "But many of the girls on the outstanding winter team are out so we have an excellent nucleus."

The sprinters are led by sophomore Mary Kate Kennedy, probably the best all-around sprinter in the tough Suburban League who had an outstanding winter season. She runs the 100, 220 and 440 equally well.

She is joined by three other good looking sophomores, Kathleen and Nancy McCarthy and Kara Crehan.

Senior Eileen McKenna should be one of the best hurdlers in the league and Loretta Garrigan, a junior, is also among the best.

Sophomores Martha Donaghy and Siobhan Corrigan complete what Tozzi considers the best group of hurdlers in the league.

Sophomore Deirdre Donovan, a superb talent with a fine attitude, heads the middle distance runners. She was second in the 600 in the indoor state meet and will run the 440 and half-mile. Senior Elaine Robertson is the top 440 runner and juniors Lisa Cavanaugh and Linda Morash and sophomores Kathy Moriarty and Linda Ciorech also look good.

Junior Mary Crehan is the best distance runner and will run against the opponent's best. She was fourth in the 1000 in the indoor state meet.

Junior Robyn O'Donnell is much improved and junior Deirdre Corrigan and sophomores Joanna Poole, Lynn Gillespie, Cathy Burke, Anne Gorczyca and Erin Horigan are fine prospects.

Kara Crehan, who has done 5-2, is one of the top high jumpers in the area. Mary Kate Kennedy will both high jump and long jump. Senior Cheryl Ayles holds the school high jump record, senior Lisa Green has long jumped 16 feet and should do well. Garrigan will high jump and Nancy McCarthy and Donovan will long jump.

Liset will handle the weight events as he does with the boys and has one of the best shot putters and discus throwers in the state in sophomore Michelle Millane, already the best in the league. She was undefeated during the winter season.

Ayles should be one of the best discus throwers in the league, senior Maria Carbone is a veteran in the javelin. Green is the best in this event, senior Laurie Adams is another javelin veteran and Kathy McCarthy throws the discus. Sophomore Caryn Smith is trying the shotput.

Others who will fit into the picture are Karen Lindenfelzer, a fine sophomore athlete who is working her way back from an injury; and sophomores Linda Demarkles, Sally Duggan, Lynda Gilan, Sherri Grochowski, Susan Hardin, Carol McMahon and Mary Ellen Timmins.

"This is very motivated group of girls," Tozzi concluded. "We have plenty of talent here thanks to our fine junior high coaches, Ron Adams and Ralph Koelsch. Now it is up to us to develop some positive attitudes toward winning on the high school level."

In an opening day 75-43 victory over Waltham, the Raiderettes broke five school records and Mary Kate Kennedy won three events, setting a record in the 220 and winning the 100 and long jump.

Millane set records in the discus (131-11) and the shot put (39-11). O'Donnell set a record (11:52.2) in winning the two-mile and Donovan also set a record (59.9) in winning the 440.

Other North winners were Mary Crehan, mile; Green, javelin, and the mile relay team.

Quincy Team Seeking Donations For Ch. 2 Auction

The 1980 Channel 2 Auction is underway as volunteers canvas their communities in search of donations for this major fund raising event for WGBH, Boston's PBS station.

This is the 15th year of the auction, which is to be held from May 30 through June 7. This year's goal is $900,000. Special emphasis is being given to collectibles - anything desirable that is no longer made or anything in good condition that is at least 100 years old. Depression glass, tin toys, miniature dolls, Art Nouveau (1910) and Art Deco (1920) items, antique tools and paperweights are just a few categories of collectibles which are desirable and of value.

Quincy residents who wish to donate to the Auction may call the Auction office at (617) 492-2777.

Quincy Students Win Top Honors In Arts Festival

Daniel Webster School sixth graders Cathy Buckley and Cathy Breen won "Best in Show" honors for a poetry-slide show presentation at a creative arts festival at Northeastern University recently.

Arthur Gillis, coordinator of library and media services for Quincy Public Schools, told the School Committee last week that 33 of the 93 final entries in the fair were created by Quincy students. Over 400 students in grades four to eight from 50 communities took part in the International Year of the Child fair and conference "Celebrating The Creating Child." Over 100 Quincy children took part, he said.

Seven other Quincy students won first-prize medals for four presentations.

Daniel Webster School fourth grader Christine Cedrone was honored for writing the best short story at her grade level, as was Quincy Point Junior High seventh grader Danielle Morris.

Squantum fourth graders Dianne Nash and Megan Gannon won Best Fourth Grade audio-visual presentation for "The Corner Store."

Squantum seventh graders Donna Gelsomini, Laurie Galvin and Carolyn Rochelle won top honors for their audio-slide presentation "Mickey Mouse's Pollution Solution."

Other Quincy finalists were: Audio-visual finalists Merry-mount sixth graders Carolyn Keddy, Kevin Flynn, Tony Scola, Michael Gray and Donna Parry; Squantum seventh graders Tim Brigitte and Kenny Walls; Squantum fourth graders Patrick Dwyer and Paul Nitschke.

Short-story finalists Cranch fourth grader Kathryn Keyes; Webster fourth grader John Ciccone; Squantum fifth grader Karen Golden; Webster sixth graders Michael Hanrahan, Mark Reidy, Anthony Fantasia and Melissa DeGloria; Quincy Point seventh graders Tracey Cahill, Susan Dextraeur, and Irene Papamarkous; Quincy Point eighth graders Stacy MacPherson, Karen Kardoose, Andrea Garofalo and Maria Andrews; Central eighth graders Bernadette Murphy and Maura Feeney.

Poetry finalists Webster fourth grader Lisa Zambruno; Webster sixth graders Cheriann Murphy, Tammy Vozzella, Linda Luiso and Jean Barry; Quincy Point seventh graders Tracy Flood and Cathy Lomanno; Quincy Point eighth graders Anthony Curran and Nancy McDougall and Central eighth graders Laine Sugarman.

Besides Gillis, who coordinated Quincy's participation, and the prize-winning students, the committee also commended their teachers, Elizabeth Bostrom, Gail Schlager and Alma Reis of Point-Webster and Pamela Roberts and Russell Dionne of Squantum.

WEEK OF APRIL 24

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19
Good week for group activities — everything from traveling with friends to holding brainstorming session. Meanwhile, you may be offered prestige position in professional or community organization.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20
With some assistance from your closest relatives, you can resolve family difficulty — forever. In health and finance, don't make your own diagnoses. Collect outstanding debts by Tuesday.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20
You have exceptionally captive audience, so speak your mind. Loved one can seem too opinionated on weekend, and employer too demanding on Monday-Tuesday. Still, you make personal, professional gains.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22
Thursday-Friday accent carefree relaxation, but last minute cancellations are way of life on weekend. As of Monday you're in limelight, and may be called on to give informal address.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21
Friends inclined to be too magnanimous — with your time and money. Love relationships less strained by Monday, you can express your feelings with increased objectivity.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22
Fine week for taking holiday or making vacation plans. You have great capacity for fun and knack for meeting exciting people. The one warning? Don't wear yourself out!

LEO — July 23 - August 22
Look forward to: overseas communications, return of an old, old friend, opportunities for advancement and/or extra pay. Watch out for: flatterers, obsolete information, household hazards.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22
Time to make those dreaded phone calls and write those difficult letters. But also, it's a week for family fun and travel, for brushing up on old skill.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22
Week has financial accent, which signals attractive developments taking place by Tuesday - Wednesday. Messages from distance can be confusing; use psychic gifts to figure them out.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21
Household situation, becomes less tense, but overload of commitments makes you tired. You're determined to climb career ladder, but don't be too obvious. Diplomacy is key in community affairs.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22
Glamor is present keyword; dress up and look every bit as dazzling as you feel. For singles, excellent potential for meeting Mr./Ms right. For marrieds, accent on celebration.

CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20
Not the week to count pennies; enjoy yourself, without worry or guilt. You're more outward than usual, and very popular. Shocking events may occur Monday - Tuesday; try not to react too dramatically.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
The impulsive type, never. But the sensitive soul, definitely. This year has you traveling and learning, likely in tandem. Be a little more adventurous, a little less self-indulgent, and you can broaden your scope considerably.

BORN THIS WEEK
April 24th, actress Barbra Streisand; 25th, singer Ella Fitzgerald; 28th, actress Carol Burnett; 27th, President Lyndon B. Johnson; 28th, actor Lionel Barrymore; 29th, composer Duke Ellington; 30th, actress Eve Arden.

represents the interests of nearly two million U.S. fire service personnel.

He has co-written a study on firework deaths and injury in America, a text on public fire safety inspection, and served as a project administrator on a program to develop uniform fire reporting system.

The Washington, D.C. native graduated from the University of Maryland, where he served as an instructor in the University Fire Service Extension program while pursuing post-graduate studies in biological sciences. He was captain of the College Park, Maryland, Volunteer Fire Department.

From 1961 to 1967, Grant was fire marshal of Guilford County, North Carolina, with responsibility for a county-wide fire and rescue service with 30 fire stations.

A horticulturalist by avocation, he is also a stamp collector with special interest in civil war envelopes. He is author of a book on that specialty, "The Handbook of Civil War Patriotic Envelopes and Postal History."

Grant, his wife, Wanda, and their three children live in Norwell.

Richard Butler Sells $1 Million

K. Of C. Insurance

Richard Butler, field agent for the Knights of Columbus Insurance Program, Quincy, set a new production record in March by writing new life insurance in excess of $1 million.

Butler's outstanding achievement was recognized at a recent meeting where he said, "This achievement could not have been done without the cooperation of the members of the K of C and their families in Quincy."

"The success of our program enables us to continue to provide assistance to the needy, loans to college students, and support programs which are important to all Americans," said Butler.

Spice Up State Elections

Tobin Eyes McDonough Seat, Collins Challenges McDonald

An unexpected flurry of late candidates for Governor's Council, including Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, and a bid by School Committeewoman Mary Collins for County Commissioner highlighted the filing deadline for the fall election Tuesday at City Hall.

A total of seven candidates filed nomination petitions for the District 4 Council seat which has been held for the past 33 years by Patrick J. (Sonny) McDonough of Dorchester, who is currently ailing in Mass General Hospital. McDonough filed for re-election.

Filing for the seat in Quincy were Tobin, Patrick J. Corcoran of Marshfield, William J. Robinson of Hull, James E. Carroll of Cohasset, William F. Walsh of 282 Franklin St., South Quincy, and Peter Eley of Forbes Hill Rd., Wollaston.

Eley, an attorney, is the nephew of Mrs. James R. McIntyre, wife of the former Mayor and State Senate Counsel, and Walsh is the sales manager for an oil company. All but Robinson are Democrats.

Mrs. Collins, who has been a member of the Quincy School Committee since 1978, is challenging George B. McDonald for the County Commissioner post which he has occupied since 1968.

Actually, there are three candidates for the two seats on the County Commission but the third candidate is incumbent James J. Collins of Milton and by law only one commissioner can come from one community within the county.

Quincy City Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. told The Sun that he considered running for county commissioner also but that his campaign people decided that "this was not the year to do it."

The only other contest apparent for the Quincy filing is for State Rep from the 2nd Norfolk District where City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath is challenging Rep. Thomas F. Brownell, who is seeking a fifth term.

Mayor Tobin told the Sun that he took out papers for Governor's Council on Friday so he could be ready in case McDonough decided not to run. If McDonough stayed

'50% High School Kids Smoking Joints'

Kramer Defends QDC On Drug Cases

By TOM HENSHAW

"In Quincy," said Judge Albert L. Kramer, "I would guess that about 40 per cent, maybe 50 per cent, of the kids in high school smoke joints."

"And out of the 50 kids (50 per cent) with joints or pills, I'll bet you at least half of them are giving them to friends. Does that make one out of every four kids in Quincy a dealer?"

Judge Kramer, who as a youth experimented with marijuana and is now presiding justice of Quincy District Court, was commenting on charges made by some police officers that his court is lenient with dealers in illegal drugs.

In an interview with The Quincy Sun, he questioned whether many of those arrested on charges involving the distribution of controlled substances are really dealers at all.

And he questioned whether sending all but a handful of them to jail does any good.

"A dealer is someone who puts a supply of drugs together and then goes out and sells them for a profit," he said. "It's not the person who buys once a week and, while he's at it, gets some for a friend."

"If you call that a dealer, then you're talking about at least 20 per cent of the youth in all the Quincy high schools."

Kramer said that only occasionally does his court see a real dealer — "honest to God people who are actually selling drugs for a profit. They get no sympathy from the court."

"But let's say your son smokes a joint," he said. "Maybe he doesn't but probably 50 per cent of the sons in the city do. He makes friends with a guy who is an undercover agent."

"The new friend says, 'Do you know where I can get a joint?' Your son says, 'Sure, Bob down the street.' The guy says, 'Gee, can you help me get one?'"

"The guy is a friend so your son goes to get it. And the guy turns out to be under cover and he arrests him. How important is it to put your son in the can?"

Earlier in The Sun's series on drugs in Quincy, Sgt. Daniel Lyons of the Juvenile Unit said he takes young offenders to court only as a last resort "because once a kid finds out that they don't do anything to you in court then we've lost our clout."

Kramer conceded that "that's probably an accurate statement."

"What you want to do," he said, "is use it as a threat. It's like spanking a kid with a belt. It's not half as bad as he expected it to be. It's the same with jail. Once you put

Committee Meets May 6

13 Applicants For Quincy Cable TV License

Time magazine, the Providence, R.I., Journal, and multi-millionaire sports promoter Jack Kent Cooke are among 13 applicants who want to bring cable television to Quincy.

The applications, some of them as thick as the Boston Yellow Pages, are currently under study by the Mayor's Cable Television Citizen's Advisory Committee, chaired by George Riley.

Riley said the committee will meet Tuesday, May 6, at City Hall, as a preliminary step toward preparing a report for Mayor Tobin, who is the awarding authority.

It is conceivable, said Riley, that a provisional license could be awarded as early as next fall.

The applicants, along with their basic installation charges and monthly rates, include:

- American Cablevision of Massachusetts, Englewood, Colo., a subsidiary of Time, Inc., $19.95 for installation, $7.25 a month.

- Quincy CATV Co., Inc., a newly formed division of Acton Corp., Acton, Mass., $14.95 for installation, $2.95 a month.

- MetroCable of Quincy, Inc., Boston, a subsidiary of Times Mirror Cable Television, $15 for installation.

State Has Unclaimed Money For 79 Area Residents, Firms

The state is holding unclaimed money for 79 Quincy area residents and firms, announces state Treasurer Robert Q. Crane.

They are among 10,824 persons across the state owed a total of $2.4 million named in lists released by Crane this week. Individual claims range from $25 to $66,000, although most are between $25 to $100. Twenty claims are worth over $10,000 each.

Money to be returned, Crane said, is from lost or forgotten checking and savings accounts, uncashed dividends, cashiers' and refunds and money orders surrendered to the Treasurer's office by various companies.

The state's Abandoned Property Law mandates turnover to the treasury of all accounts inactive or unclaimed for 10 years.

Last year, Crane said, about $5.5 million in unclaimed funds was accepted by the state. About one-quarter of that was returned to the rightful owner.

Money is owed to the following Quincy persons and firms:

Samuel M. Abrams, Allans Auto Body, Frank C. and Estelle E. Allen, Fred Amato, W. Armando and Catherine Notarangelo, Nicholas Avitable.

'100 Fewer Teachers'

Creedon Takes Issue With Tobin

The number of Quincy public school classroom teachers has dropped about 100 since enrollment peaked in 1971, says School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon, disputing published remarks by Mayor Arthur Tobin.

In a report of Tobin's April 22 budget presentation to the City Council, the mayor reportedly criticized the School Committee and school administration for refusing to cut its budget.

Tobin reportedly told the Patriot Ledger, "the enrollment has dropped 4,000 students and I cannot understand why we need the same amount of teachers following each other around."

Tobin this week denied making those remarks to the Patriot Ledger that night, although he conceded they could have been made in an earlier interview.

"I don't recall the exact context in which they were made," Tobin said Monday.

"I realize the mayor now denies making those statements, but since the issue has been raised publicly in the press, I think it should be set straight," Creedon said this week.

The school system has about 100 fewer teachers now than in 1971-72, when enrollment peaked at about 17,100 students, Creedon said.

The number of teachers has dropped 13 percent, from about 750 to 650 during that time Creedon said. During the same period, enrollment has dropped almost 25 percent, to about 12,900.

The decline in the number of teachers has been slowed by increased state-mandated programs, such as Chapter 766, Creedon said.

The regular schools' pupil-teacher ratio has "pretty much stayed about the same" during this time, Creedon said: about 21 to 1 in elementary schools and about 18 to 1 in secondary schools.

Creedon has said the number of teachers could be cut by about 100 more by the mid-to late-80's, when enrollment is expected to bottom out near 8,000.

Tobin, as chairman of the school committee, was one of five members who voted against Creedon's recommendation to close four schools in 1979. According to figures presented to the committee by Creedon last year, those four closings would have eliminated between six and 17 teacher jobs and saved an estimated $1.73 on the tax rate.

QCA To Discuss

School Budget, Closings

J. Thomas Mullaney, of Wollaston, a member of the citizen's task force on school closings, will address the Quincy Citizens Association at its Wednesday, May 7 meeting.

Mullaney, an accountant and statistician, will discuss the prospect of school closing, the projected school budget and how that budget can be reduced.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Club on Holbrook Rd., North Quincy.

School Closings Decision Expected Around May 14

May 14 is the most probable date on which the School Committee will decide what, if any, schools will be closed this year.

A full house of parents, teachers and others got in their final arguments on the proposed closing of four schools at Tuesday night's committee meeting at the Quincy High School Method Center.

The committee's citizens task force on school closings last month recommended that four—the Great Hill, Myles Standish, Cranch and Hunting Schools—be closed this year.

Although Cranch school parents have been the most vocal opponents of the proposed closings, representatives of all four schools were expected to oppose the move at Tuesday's hearing.

According to figures presented to the School Committee by School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon, closing those four schools would save a minimum of about $206,000, or about 67 cents on the tax rate.

THE ALCOHOLISM PROBLEM

According to the U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare, chronic alcoholism is now our fourth most serious public health problem. It is out-ranked by diseases of the heart and blood vessels, cancer, and mental illness.

It is estimated that there are 6,500,000 alcoholics in the United States. Business and industry lose around two billion dollars a year because of absenteeism, lowered productivity, and accidents attributed to alcoholism.

In California, a study found that premature death comes to alcoholics about two and a half times as often as to the general population. A number of investigators have concluded that at least half of all fatal automobile accidents are caused by drunk drivers. This would come to a figure of about 25,000 people killed annually on the highways from alcohol.

NOW FOR NOW

(or payment by check
is coming back in style.)

In this topsy-turvy economic period, there is one stable, safe way to handle your money—open a NOW account at our Bank.

What can a NOW account do for you and your money management?

Well, as the use of credit cards becomes more and more restricted, a NOW account lets you switch to a cash operating basis, thus avoiding interest charges for time payments. And your money in your NOW account is earning 5% interest per annum. Thus you get the best of both worlds—you avoid interest charges while collecting interest for yourself.

But, you say, going on a cash basis means I can't make larger or more costly purchases and spread the payments. In this economy with interest charges going up almost daily, maybe that is not all bad.

It depends on how much you need a "big ticket" item. If you have a wife and five youngsters and your washing machine breaks down hopelessly, you need a washer, of course. If you don't have the cash, you charge it. But if you can switch to a cash only (or check) basis for most items, you will save money.

The trouble with cash itself is that cash is dangerous. You can be robbed or you run the risk of losing it. NOW account checks are safe and you have an ongoing record of your expenditures.

Think about it.

Should your household budget be keyed into a NOW account?

Will it save substantial interest payments?

Will it be safe and convenient for you?

If you don't have a NOW account and want to open one (for as little as $10.00) come in to our main office or one of our branches.

We think a NOW account is the simplest and best way you have to help fight inflation.

Are "Free" NOW Accounts Really Free?

You will notice in this advertisement we did not use the term "free NOW account." That's because we want no confusion about our NOW accounts even though we feel that we come as close as anyone in offering NOW accounts at a basic minimum cost with no hidden charges.

Here is the way we work our NOW accounts:

You can open an account for $10.00.

As long as you maintain a balance of $10.00 or more you will get interest credited monthly at 5% per annum.

Overdraft charges are $5.00 each, which covers the paperwork in notifying the customer.

Stop payment fees are $5.00 for the same reason.

And the only other charge is $3.85 for each book of 200 plain checks imprinted with your name, address and account number.

What about those which claim to have "free" NOW accounts? They can demand a $300 monthly balance—or $500.00. The only minimum at our bank is $10.00 if you want to earn interest.

The thing to think about when someone says "totally free NOW account" is this: if you don't keep your balance at $300.00 all month long, you can be charged 20 cents for every check you write that month even if you bring your account up to $300.00 within 24 hours. Nothing like that at Quincy Cooperative!

We remind our customers that nothing in life is really free....but the cost of a NOW account at our bank is very much less than for most other banking institutions.

Skandia Lodge To Celebrate 75th Anniversary Thursday

The Skandia Lodge of the Vasa Order of America will celebrate its 75th anniversary today (Thursday) with a dinner dance at the Viking Club, 410 Quincy Ave., Braintree.

A social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m., followed by a roast beef dinner at 7 p.m. Lundins Orchestra will provide music for dancing.

There will be a presentation of 50 year pins to nine members: Lars Oke Lundin, Vera Mattson, Ragnar Nelson, Selma Skoglund, Axel Swanson, Stina Swanson, Karin E. Noren, Mattis Classon and Agnes Classon.

Among the Order of Vasa dignitaries will be Eric Lundin, grand lodge deputy, and Gordon Hohne, district manager.

The Vasa Order is the largest Swedish-American order in the United States and has lodges in Canada and Sweden. It was organized to create and maintain a relief fund for members who through sickness or accident were unable to work.

The Skandia Lodge was organized in 1905, after the immigration of many Scandinavians to Quincy and surrounding areas in the latter 19th century. The immigrants were attracted to this area by the granite industry, shipyard, building construction and work in the machine tool factories.

The club has 150 members, 80 per cent of which are Quincy residents. Meetings are held the first Thursday of each month at the Viking Club.

SSARC Holds Annual Dinner Dance

More than 650 members and friends of the South Shore Association for Retarded Citizens (SSARC), attended the annual dinner dance recently at Lantana, Randolph.

The one big social function of the year, it marked the association's 29th year of successfully providing and implementing services for less capable South Shore citizens.

Arnold Rinkofsky of Milton, dance committee chairman, greeted the guests and the invocation was given by Rev. James F. Darcy of St. Agatha's Church, East Milton.

Master of ceremonies was Dr. Thomas H. O'Connor of Braintree, former SSARC president.

Cited for their support of the organization were:

Edward Owens, representative of the Weymouth Board of Selectmen; Rev. James F. Darcy and his CYO dance committee group, Susan Donovan, Milton, CYO president; Lois Bizak, Milton, social director; Sheila Donovan, Milton; Joseph Veneto, Milton; and Sean Murphy, Quincy.

St. Francis Xavier Council, Knights of Columbus, South Weymouth; Rev. Charles A. O'Brien Council, Knights of Columbus, North Weymouth; Sons of Italy, Quincy Lodge; Boston Gas Co.; St. Coletta's of Braintree; and Roman Research Company of Norwell.

SSARC member Rita Fontana of Weymouth was also cited for her dedication.

A drawing was held on seven hand-made afghans under the sponsorship of the SSARC Workshop Parents Group with proceeds used to provide materials for the clients in the workshop. Ann Mosher of Hingham was chairman of the raffle and Helen Amoroso of Quincy was co-worner.

SSARC president Benjamin Landey of Quincy noted the association's move to its permanent headquarters at Webb Memorial Park, North Weymouth and thanked supporters including the Probus Club for helping make the move possible.

Equality In Sports Or A Mockery?

By MARY PRATT

In light of some current problems besetting some school systems in regard to athletics, it would seem fitting to review the interpretation and ramifications of such mandated laws as Chapter 622 and Title IX.

These laws do have an effect on the conduct of athletic programs within the public school sector. They have given girls and women the necessary impetus that was so needed in towns and cities where they had been completely left out of the athletic programs. Girls and women had generally been relegated to the cheering squads for indeed that was for many years, what society dictated. Changes are often wholesome, and such seems to have been the case where females have now been accepted into that domain previously reserved for the male.

However, situations seem to be taking place in many school systems which appear on the surface to be making a mockery of these regulations. As far as athletics is concerned the intent of the law was to enable all students, male female, black white, trainable educable, tall short, fat thin, etc. an equal opportunity to compete. It implied an equal sharing of the facilities and the budgets.

It did not mean that the girls' field hockey team would be equated the same budget as the football team. It did not mean that a skilled girl would swim on the boys' team when there was already a girls' team. It did not mean that boys would play on the girls' volleyball team and play under the girls' rules. (Rules provide that the boys play over a higher net). It did not mean that boys would play on the girls' softball team and play by the girls' rules. (Rules provide for a longer pitching distance for boys).

It was not the intent of the law to allow boys to infiltrate into the sports traditionally associated with the girls' program and in some instances to eliminate the girls from competing. (She isn't competing when she's sitting on the bench). How has this been allowed to happen? Better still, why has it been allowed to happen? Why is it so difficult for educators to make a simple and rational decision? It's really not that complex and it will not really extend the current budgetary squeeze.

In the case of volleyball, it means buying another leather-covered volleyball and putting the net up higher. Girls use the same size court and the standards are the same. As with the girls, the boys need six interested players for their squad. In the case of softball, it means finding nine interested boys. The school department will have to budget for a bat, ball and a rubber. Put the rubber in at 46 feet, which is the pitching distance for boys. One doesn't even have to dig up the rubber that has been put at the girls' distance, 40 feet. Arrange the schedules so that the boys play at home while the girls are away and the problem of facilities is solved.

I ask you? Are those difficult decisions for educators to make? Why make such a sham of well-intended laws such as Chapter 622 and Title IX?

(Mary Pratt is a well known woman athlete and physical educator and coach in the Quincy Public School System.)

Points To Ponder

- More evidence of inflation: you can now go into a supermarket, buy $50 worth of groceries and not need a bag to carry them.
- Interesting that if you open a window, it's a breath of fresh air; if someone else opens a window it's a draft.
- Is it possible for a certain woman to have completed the Boston Marathon 25 minutes faster than the New York Marathon? Sure, Boston's transit system is faster.
- Most people have five senses: hearing, touch, smell, sight, and taste. Some special people have a couple more—horse and common.
- Many people who have the gift of gab don't know how to wrap it.

They're Running For YOUR Life

Joe LaRaia is running.

So is Paul Harold, Steve McGrath, Tom Brownell, Dick Koch, Jr. and maybe Jim Sheets. Sound like this year's state or next year's city election ballot lineup? No doubt you'll find those names on one or the other.

But this time they are running—literally.

They're among those already entered in the second annual Run For Your Life, five-mile NEAAU sanctioned road race this Sunday. (Starting at noon at the Quincy Vo-Tech School.)

Although there may be some 200 to 300 competing, the real winner will be Quincy City Hospital and patients there.

Last year's initial outing raised over $12,000 for equipment at the hospital. City councillor Joanne Condon, chairman, hopes this year's event will top that by at least $1,000.

If you don't want to run yourself, you can still help the cause by sponsoring a runner (or runners) on a per mile pledge basis.

Among other city figures so far entered to do their part are City Solicitor Robert Fleming, City Engineer Ed Leone, Hospital Board Chairman John Cheney, Joseph McParland, city labor negotiator and Richard Meade of the city planning department.

If you want to sponsor a runner, contact one of them or call Meade at 773-5329.

Every bit helps.

Not Enough Factual Information For Shipyard Asbestos Scare

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

In the midst of the ancient controversy surrounding the danger resulting from the use of asbestos at the General Dynamics Shipyard in Quincy, the number of fervent opinions offered unfortunately exceeded the amount of factual information available.

Dr. Selikoff was, for the most part, not available for comment, nor was there a text of his remarks. In the absence of an objective consensus, an exigent medical issue degenerated into a political battle.

During the height of this debate a Boston newspaper printed an article which claimed that Dr. Selikoff's study concluded that "an estimated 85 percent of the residents within a two mile radius of the Fore River shipyard faced, over a period of twelve years of more, a high risk of developing asbestosis or related lung diseases."

Based on past studies conducted by Dr. Selikoff, and on the available information regarding the Quincy investigation, I find no support for the conclusions reached in the above mentioned article. In a study just published in December 1979, Dr. Selikoff reported that "the extent of risk among family contacts of shipyard workers is not known." It would appear to be high unlikely that in the Quincy study, just a few months later, enough conclusive evidence could be gathered to alter this conclusion, and to justify the Boston paper's dire statistics. This is not to exclude the possibility that the hazards of asbestos exposure may go beyond the gates of the shipyard. The relevant point is that there has, thus far, been no medical consensus on the issue.

Although the public has an unequivocal right to be informed about environmental health hazards, the press has a commensurate duty to avoid succumbing to emotionalism and sensationalism, and to objectively focus on the facts. In the Quincy Shipyard asbestos issue, this duty was too often neglected. Although knowledgeable observers attempted to mitigate the fears created by this irresponsible journalism, many people had already been swept-up in the burgeoning tide of fear and anxiety.

We deserve, and should demand more.

Cites Moral Rot, Slipping Faith

Herbert Warns Depression Could Produce A 'Hitler' In U.S.

John Herbert, president of the Quincy Cooperative Bank, has warned that a major depression combined with rising inflation could produce a Hitler-like demagogue in the United States.

He told the Boston Rotary Club recently that "the mental attitude of our population" may be ready for it under currently existing conditions.

"In the previous depression," he said, "we had a different kind of national mentality. As battered and beaten as they were, our people still had faith in democracy and they still believed that prosperity would return. They had faith in America."

"Today too many people have a cynical feeling about our way of life. Vietnam and Watergate certainly did nothing to strengthen our national image. And add to this disillusionment the widespread moral rot in our nation and you can ask yourself whether we can successfully ride out a major economic storm."

He pointed out what he called "the most frightening thing about our present economic situation."

"Suppose for a moment," he said, "that we did in fact slip from a recession into a major depression while inflation continued upward."

"And suppose, too, that a demagogue appeared on the scene, a real live dangerous character who could stir the masses to action. I wonder whether our democracy could be in real danger at that time."

"I think of what happened, for instance, in postwar Germany when Hitler realized that he could ride into power by concentrating on the beaten and depressed mood of the Germans."

"I would say to all of you here today that we must find some workable answers soon or we run the risk of irreparable damage being done to our democracy and to our way of life, both of which are in real danger today."

Herbert said he could offer no simple answers to the problem but he made these recommendations:

"Don't lose your faith in your country; don't think that you are helpless in the face of this terrible problem; keep active and make your voice heard; participate when you can in any economy-related activity even on a community level."

Herbert, who is the former editor of the Boston Herald and the Patriot Ledger, said that asking him for answers reminded him of the fate of a friend in Peru who published the leading newspaper in Lima.

"He complained so much about the Peruvian economy," he said, "that the government made him prime minister. The government attitude was that if he knew so much about what was wrong, perhaps he could turn things around."

"He finally ended up having the government seize his paper and he had to go into exile. Perhaps his country didn't want to hear tough answers to tough questions."

"The only viable plan," said Herbert, "to avoid a depression is to bolster the Defense Department. This will do nothing about inflation and it may be at least a year before the effect of strengthening the defense activity will be felt."

"The mood of the country today, I feel, is that our nation can be pushed around. The old days of gunboat diplomacy are over although many an American longs for a modernized version of this approach when we are up against such problems as the holding of 50 Americans hostage for an interminable time."

Tax Rate Set At $45.20

City Manager William J. Deegan Jr. announced a tax rate of $45.20 for 1950, an increase of $4.20 over 1949, and the City council blamed it on State Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long.

Deegan, who was also critical of the commissioner, said Long refused to permit the city to apply any of the $1 million in the water reserves and the excess and deficiency fund against the rate.

The Council took the unprecedented action of asking Long to reconsider and allow the city to use $500,000 of the reserve money to lower the tax rate from $1.50 to $2.

"I think the time has come," said Councillor Edna Austin, "for cities to protest against the dictatorial manner of Mr. Long."

RENT DECONTROL SIGHT

A petition was filed with the Eastern Massachusetts Rent Advisory Board on behalf of 43 Quincy landlords asking decontrol of rents in the city, the first such request to reach the board.

The petitioners claimed that there was no longer a housing shortage in Quincy.

"It can be asked," said John E. Kenly, "how a critical housing shortage could possibly exist with one structure for every 3.2 persons while with everyone well satisfied in 1940 there was only one structure for every 3.7 persons."

QUINCY POUNDS MEDFORD

The Quincy High School baseball team belted out 16 hits, including a double by Johnson and a triple by Sacchetti, to take a 13-5 victory from Medford in a Greater Boston League game at Adams Field.

REV. SAWYER HONORED

The Rev. Victor V. Sawyer, pastor of the Wollaston Methodist Church, was honored at the largest civic-sponsored testimonial dinner in Quincy's history as some 800 people jammed the Armory.

He and Mrs. Sawyer were presented with a $2,500 vacation trip around the United States.

Head Start Available To Low Income Families

Pre-school children of Quincy low income families are eligible for the Head Start program, a free half day, pre-school program funded by the Federal Government.

Children must be four years old before Dec. 31, 1980 to enter the full school program. Children with special needs may enter the program at three years of age.

Hot lunches and nutritious snacks are provided daily as part of the program, and free transportation to and from the school is also provided.

Classrooms are staffed with one head teacher, two classroom aides and parent volunteers. There is a special needs aide to work with those who need special attention.

The daily program is geared towards developing skills in reasoning, reading readiness, social and emotional development, and health and nutrition within a framework of play and participation. Field trips are also held.

Parents help make decisions on operation of the program, and assistance is provided to families in social services, health nutrition and education.

Tobin Eyes McDonough Seat, Collins Challenges McDonald

in the race, he said, he would not pursue it.

"I have a friendship with Sonny McDonough going back many years and I would not wish to involve myself in that type of candidacy," he said.

"I'm only doing it to protect the city and the district. I feel I have the expertise and the experience to know my way around the various government agencies so that I could help the city and the district."

Tobin said that if he ran for the $4,000 a year part-time job and won, "I would like to remain as Mayor. There's quite a difference in salary. I don't think that would upset a lot of people."

Tobin, was first elected Mayor in 1977 and then lost his state senate seat a year later to Paul D. Harold, who campaigned on the two-job issue.

Harold is among the unopposed candidates who filed for reelection on Tuesday.

Others include: Rep. Michael W. Morrissey in the 1st Norfolk District; Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli in the 3rd Norfolk District; and Clifford H. Marshall of Quincy for sheriff.

Papers also were filed for three presidential candidates: John B. Anderson of Illinois, independent; Clifton DeBerry of California, Socialist Workers Party; and Edward E. Clark and David H. Koch, Libertarian Party.

The papers were filed in Quincy to permit election workers to certify the signatures on them. They are due to be filed with the Secretary of State in Boston, with the verified signatures, Tuesday, May 27.

Next Tuesday, May 6, is the deadline for local filing of petitions for statewide offices and the U. S. Congress.

Riley said the applicants were asked to list the specifications of their proposals in detail and his committee will select for recommendation to the Mayor those best suited for Quincy.

Then, he said, the applicants will be asked to revise their proposals to conform to the desires of the city and resubmit them. At that time, a license will be chosen.

The prices quoted for installation and monthly rates are those proposed for the most basic service, which differs according to company. Subscribers who desire additional services pay additional costs.

The companies' proposals are based on estimates that 45 per cent of the homes in Quincy will subscribe to the service, said Riley.

City Council Finds Slim Budget Cuttings

The City Council's Finance Committee was scheduled to have further goes at Mayor Tobin's $112.5 million budget for 1981 last night and tonight (Thursday) amid indications that there really isn't much cutting to do.

The Committee took up the smaller department budgets Saturday and managed, by a vote of 6-3, to eliminate a new $19,000 deputy auditor's job and place three items totaling $25,203 on hold.

Some of the committee members said they felt that Tobin's elimination of a $14,795 accountant's job held for 14 years by Sarah Saccone smacked of politics but there was little they could do since the Council can only cut, not add, to the budget requests.

Miss Saccone took a leave of absence from the Auditor's Office to serve as Budget Coordinator during the administration of former Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia in 1976-77.

Mayor Tobin denied that the elimination of Miss Saccone's job was politically inspired. It was Auditor Charles L. Shea, not he, who did it, he said.

"When we were doing the budgets and every department was told to cut back," he said, "I think the auditor found out that he ran that department very well without that position for two years. Perhaps he decided that job was the least needed."

Last night (Wednesday) the Finance Committee was scheduled to take up these budgets: General Services, Fire, Fire Alarms, Building, Wire, Plumbing and Gas Fitting, and Weights and Measures. The hearing was to start at 6 p.m.

On the docket for tonight at 6 p.m. is the City Council, Clerk of Committees, City Clerk, Elections, Vital Statistics, Board of Appeals, License Board, Veterans Services, Library, Recreation, Youth Commission, and Historical Places.

Items placed on hold Saturday included a $9,503 clerk's job in the Purchasing Department, $8,200 in boiler insurance, and $7,500 in contractual expenses for the Planning Department.

Bryan VFW Post Loyalty Day Parade, Ceremonies Sunday

The George F. Bryan VFW Post will celebrate Loyalty Day Sunday, May 4 with a parade from the post home to United First Parish Church, Quincy Sq. where ceremonies will be held.

The parade will leave the post, Broad St. Quincy Center at 1:15 p.m. and arrive at the church at about 1:30 p.m.

Speakers in ceremonies at the church will be Mayor Arthur Tobin and State VFW Commander Thomas McDonald of North Quincy.

Invocations will be delivered by Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue, Rev. Keith Munson of First Parish Church, State Chaplain Father John Leonard and Post Chaplain Joseph Sullivan.

Wreaths will be placed in the crypts of Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams in the basement of the historic "Church of the Presidents."

After the ceremonies, the parade will reform and return to the post for a reception.

Kramer Defends Court On Drug Cases

someone in jail for a year he's not afraid of jail anymore.

"Then you not only lose your clout but you lose the kid. As an adult, he winds up going to jail. You can solve the problem much better in the community. If you can do it before it gets to court, good. Courts are not magic."

The judge said he rarely sends first or second offenders to jail.

"Where are you going to put them?" he asked. "The sheriff would go crazy if you sent first and second offenders to jail."

"If your kid were caught smoking a joint in school, would you want to put him in the can? If the answer is no, what would you do if you caught him three weeks from now smoking another joint? Probably a suspended sentence. The third time he may go."

Kramer said that, contrary to the views of many police officers, "this is the toughest court in the state in terms of drugs."

"If you're talking first offender, marijuana, we do what every court in the state does," he said. "No different. No more. We tell the kid your case will be continued without finding for a year. If there's no trouble it's dismissed. If there is we draw you back."

"When you get into a second offense on marijuana you begin to talk about guilty findings and fines."

"When you talk about other drugs we talk about tough probation, the toughest in the state. We surrender kids on probation more than any other court in the state and other courts are much larger than Quincy. The proposition that this court is lenient is a falsehood."

The judge showed figures for June through August, 1979, indicating that 107 people were surrendered for probation violation in the Quincy court compared to 33 in Cambridge, 22 in Waltham, 13 in Stoughton and 10 in Framingham.

Kramer said he experimented with marijuana himself when he was 17 years old and he has told the story in court mostly to convince young offenders that they are not unique.

"I'm glad to share the experience that I had when I was 17," he said. "I had one or two joints. I don't think I ever got into it. I can also say I experimented with alcohol but very rarely do you catch me drinking."

"I tell them that when I was young I experimented with marijuana and now I don't touch a thing. I tell them I'm even into health foods. I don't believe the body ought to be disturbed by any substance."

"If you tell kids that nobody has done it, they'll laugh at you. All their friends experiment with marijuana. They think it's kind of hip. I think they ought to learn to question it. You have to tell them, 'Yeah. It happens. But that doesn't mean you ought to do it.'"

"Even if someone were to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that marijuana doesn't cause physical harm, think of what it does mentally to get you out of living your life in a rational and satisfying way."

"My trouble with kids here is trying to convince them that getting high, except out of life, whether it's booze or it's pot or anything else is just an escape and it's nothing that benefits them."

Kramer said he would not like to see marijuana legalized.

"I wish they hadn't legalized alcohol way back," he said. "To me alcohol is more serious than marijuana. In terms of getting high, booze is responsible for 70 per cent of my cases. Booze is responsible for more teen deaths. I don't think people should be getting high on anything."

"We ought to understand that it is a cultural way to escape. Kids are running into a life style that they're finding very hard to handle. It's not only kids. The use of marijuana is a serious matter, a serious statement about society."

"When I grew up marijuana was part of a small group of people who you would call the rowdies. Today, I don't think I know a professional man who doesn't smoke. It's become an accepted practice. That's the problem. It's against the law but it's accepted."

Kramer disagrees with Asst. Dist. Atty. Dennis Mahoney that 80 per cent of the cases, including drugs, in Quincy District Court are plea bargained; that is, an agreement is reached between the prosecutor and the defense that the defendant will plead guilty to a lesser charge.

"I would think there are more," he said. "The national figure is 88 per cent. The statewide figure is 90 per cent. I don't know why we would be any less. I would think nine out of 10 cases are plea bargained."

"Plea bargaining is very necessary. Why would you want people to come into court and spend a half an hour in front of a judge doing the same thing that can be done in conference and I can take an admission in three or four minutes after they've worked it out?"

"But if you're going to court and have it worked out in the courtroom, you can't try the cases. You just couldn't do it."

"Plea bargaining conference is required in Superior Court and they advise us to do it in District Court. The reason is simple: We were spending loads of money on police officers coming in on the trial date, sitting through the same plea negotiations and then we'd send them home. We didn't need them."

"We've cut witness fees in half. In 1976 in Quincy we paid $61,200 in witness fees. We got it down to $31,100. And remember, there has been inflation, an increase in complaints and we're paying the police at a higher overtime rate now."

"That's why I have a lot of problems with the police. They don't like losing their overtime. I think the police deserve more money but I don't think it ought to come out of overtime when we don't need them."

Kramer said he doesn't feel that plea bargaining necessarily results in an advantage to the defendant.

"I've never seen any prosecutor who wanted to send somebody to jail plea negotiate a non-jail sentence," he said. "The district attorneys know what they want and if they get it, fine; if they don't get it they go to trial."

"They all know pretty much what the sentence guidelines are. If you're talking a drug case, second offense, let's say angel dust, that's going to be probably either one or two months suspended sentence with probation and mandatory treatment. Everybody knows that."

"So plea bargaining generally reflects a five-minute conference. 'Are you admitting?' 'Yeah.' 'Well, we'll offer what's normally there.' 'Okay.'"

"Cases used to take four or five months to be disposed of here. They now go to trial and get disposed of, 90 per cent of them, within a four to eight week period. That's important, to get people to justice quickly and off the street quickly."

This is the eleventh in a series of articles on the drug problem in Quincy.

Teacher Seized In Marijuana Haul Requests Leave Of Absence

School teacher John Oliva, arrested last week on marijuana charges, has requested an unpaid leave of absence until the case is settled, according to School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon.

The School Committee was scheduled to vote on approval of Oliva's request at its Tuesday, April 29 meeting, Creedon said.

Oliva, a gym teacher at the Lincoln Hancock School, was arrested April 22 by Quincy police and charged with possession of a class D substance (marijuana) with intent to distribute. He is a resident of 42 Warwick St., North Quincy. Also arrested and charged was Eulus Martins of 348 Sandwich Rd., Falmouth.

Police claimed 24 pounds of marijuana was found in Oliva's car at the time of the arrest.

Creedon said he met with Oliva on April 23 and gave the option of taking the unpaid leave of absence or facing an unpaid suspension, as provided in state law, for "conduct unbecoming a teacher."

Oliva and Martins, who pleaded innocent, were released on personal recognizance for a May 29 court hearing.

Bryan Mosher Top Speller

Quincy School 4th Grader Wins Jerry Lewis Spelling Bee

Quincy School fourth grader Bryan Mosher was the top speller in the 1980 Quincy Jerry Lewis Spelling Bee finals held recently at the Lincoln Hancock Community School.

Wollaston School fifth-grader Gail Saluti won second place and St. Mary's School fifth grader Kevin Connolly was third in the competition viewed by over 200 parents, teachers, principals and friends.

Bryan, Gail and Kevin were among 45 students from 15 participating schools who qualified for the finals in written exams conducted in each school. Schools that had more than three students with perfect scores on the written exams had run-off contests to determine their representatives.

Because of the large number of participants, two semifinal rounds were held first. Teachers Emily Blampied of the Squantum School and Ted Clarke of the Quincy School served as judges, while Lincoln Hancock teacher John Walsh and Quincy South Shore Telethon Committee member Peter Gacicia were timekeepers.

The 45 students were tested with words from their grade level until only 13 finalists remained. After nine rounds of the finals, five spellers remained.

Myles Standish fourth grader Carol Ann Jackmarch was eliminated in the 11th round, leaving Pollard sixth grader Cheryl Abbood, Kevin Connolly, Gail Saluti and Bryan Mosher.

Those four students continued for the next 10 rounds, when Cheryl Abbood misspelled "mischievous," in the 21st round.

Kevin Connolly was eliminated in the 23rd round on "physiology."

In the 25th round, Gail Saluti misspelled "character."

Bryan Mosher then gave the correct spellings for two additional words to win the championship.

Nearly 1,600 students across the city took part in the second annual spelling bee. Last year's was the top event of its kind in the nation, raising $8,464.42 to fight muscle disease.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association supports research and medical programs throughout the South Shore. Among the services it supplies are wheelchairs and other orthopedic appliances, clinic visits, physical therapy and summer camp sessions.

May 9 Deadline For Spelling Bee Pledge Returns

Each student sending in pledge money will receive a Jerry Lewis sew-on patch and iron-on transfer, a Spelling Bee certificate and a photograph of Jerry Lewis. The top two fundraisers at each school will receive Jerry Lewis wristwatches. Trophies will also be presented to the top three fundraisers in the city.

Envelopes must be postmarked by May 9 to be eligible for these prizes. All pledge envelopes should be sent to "Muscular Dystrophy Association, care of Hancock Bank, 415 Hancock St., North Quincy, 02171.

As of press time, over $1,988 in pledges had been received from 81 participants.

The spelling bee was sponsored by the Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee in cooperation with Quincy Public Schools. Chairmen of the telethon committee are Quincy Sun Publisher Henry Bosworth and Richard J. Koch, executive secretary of the Quincy Park and Recreation Board. Coordinating the event was Janet DiTullio, coordinator of language arts for Quincy schools.

The names and grades of the spelling bee finalists are:

Adams School - Hope Spooner, grade 3; Keith Caniff, 4; Michelle Ekblom, 5 and Bobby Volpe, 5.

Atherton Hough - Tom Logan, 5; Tom Casey, 5 and Bob Callahan, 5.

Morrissey Announces Bid For 3rd Term

State Rep. Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy) announces his candidacy for a third term in the State House from the First Norfolk District, made up of West Quincy, North Quincy and Squantum.

In his announcement, Morrissey cited his past work as a full time representative for his district.

"I have always worked and will continue to work full time for the concerns and interests of the people in my district," he said.

"It is important that the people have a voice in their government, and I do my best to serve as their spokesman on Beacon Hill."

Morrissey stressed his community involvement and opposition to proposals that are not compatible with the interests of the people of Quincy.

He helped lead the opposition to airplane noise from Runway 22R departures at Logan Airport and led the neighborhood fight to kill a bill that would grant a liquor license to the Wollaston recreational facility, by-passing the local licensing board.

Morrissey was also active in his opposition to the proposed Plaza South Complex on Willard St. in West Quincy.

He also contributes a newspaper column, "Mike's Corner," in which he discusses important votes and legislation on which the House is acting.

Morrissey serves as vice chairman of the Urban Affairs Committee. He is a member of the Education Committee and the Special Commission Studying the Commonwealth's Water Supply.

Recent legislative activities have included the law dealing with postural defects detection in public schools, a condominium package for the state, a new bond financing for moderate income people through the Massachusetts Home Mortgage Financing Agency, and legislation to allow school buses to use Quincy Shore Drive while transporting children to and from school.

Morrissey is a life long resident of Quincy and lives at 57 Holyoke St., North Quincy.

He is a 1976 graduate of the University of Massachusetts in Amherst and is a candidate for a masters degree in Public Administration from Western New England College in Springfield.

He is married to the former Joanne Ross of Quincy.

Lt. Richard Golden Receives Commendation Medal

1st Lt. Richard D. Golden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo F. Golden, 143 Lansdowne St., North Quincy, recently was presented the Army Commendation Medal at Fort Jackson, S.C.

The medal was awarded for meritorious service. Such service can be over an extended period of time or for outstanding achievement in a single situation. The recipient must have demonstrated skills and dedication far above the average. Golden earned the award while assigned as a commander with the 4th Combat Support Training Brigade.

The lieutenant, who entered the Army in August, 1977, received his commission through the ROTC program.

He received a bachelor's degree in 1977 from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst.

His wife, Rita, is with him at the fort.

The 5-Step Writing Process

By AMY PENNIMAN

We the children of Mass. Fields School in order to inform you about the Five Step Writing Process, have put together this adventurous tale.

Once upon a time, in a faraway land called FiveSteps, lived a young boy named Steven. Steven was an imaginative boy with jet black hair and eager blue eyes. Ever since Steven had been a child he had been gifted with curiosity and an eagerness to learn. This made schoolwork exceptionally easy for him. One day, his teacher introduced a writing process which had five basic steps. The first step was PREWRITING. During this step, you thought about what you were going to write about. Then came the FIRST DRAFT during which you got your ideas down on paper. Third came REVISION where you made the story better and got rid of any unnecessary details. Next came PROOFREADING when you corrected spelling and punctuation, and finally came the FINAL COPY. Steven was so eager to learn more and more about this subject. She told him about the man who invented the process and told Steven that perhaps this man could tell him more about it. "But what is his name and where can I find him?" asked Steven. His name is Professor R. I. Ting. He lives on a mountain 40 miles south of here, replied the teacher. "I must see him," replied Steven. When he arrived, the professor had greeted him warmly, though he had not expected this young man. When Steven asked him about the process the professor just laughed. "Come," he said, "I will show you." When he got to the professor's lab he saw something he couldn't believe. It was a creature of some kind. His head was an eraser and his body was paper. Each part of his body had one step of the writing process on it. This, he said gave me the idea. I plan to go around the world with this creature, spreading the news of my writing process. And he did.

FIFTH GRADER Jonathan Stein works on an interview for this weeks edition of Young Ideas. Looking on is Douglas Annis, also a fifth grader.

Why Writing Is Important

By MICHAEL LEONARD
Grade 6

I think writing is important because if you learn to write good while you're still young you might get a good job when your older. Whenever you want to get a job you have to fill an application out and if the job involves a lot of writing they might take the person with the better writing.

Most jobs do involve writing.

Writing is also important for communication because without it we would have no language. We also need it for newspapers and just everyday use.

Most kids and young people don't think about writing but it is one of the worlds most needed things.

We need writing so we can tell what we are buying at the store.

National Library Week April 13th - 19th

By BRENDA CAMPBELL
Grade 5

Q. "What is National Library Week?"

A. "National Library Week is April 13th - 19th, and is celebrated throughout the United States as a way of highlighting all the services available at the library. Most importantly, all the services are free to the public - no matter what age or race you are - as long as you have a borrowers card."

Q. "What events will you be doing during the week?"

A. "We are going to have a bulletin board of all the library services available at both Thomas Crane Public Library, and the Quincy School Professional Library. We are going to have exhibits of authors; Marguerite Henry, Beverly Cleary, H. A. Ray, E. B. White, Esther Forbes, and Patty Wollcott. We are also going to have trips to the Thomas Crane Library for grades one and two, an Audio visual show for the fourth graders, a T.V. video play, Johnny Tremain, for grades five and six. Wednesday, April 14, will be a special day to show your library card - everyone has to bring their Library borrowers card to school."

Q. "Does National Library

Week come only once a year?"

A. "Yes, it's just once a year, but we also have a Children's Bookfair in the fall of the year to encourage reading at home. Reading should be looked at as a skill for life - not just something you do in school. Parents can also help teach their children to read at home by sharing newspapers, magazines, recipes, and all sorts of daily reading material with their children. The Children's Bookfair and National Library Week help point out all the services available at your local library, and how they can help each of us."

This article is about the people of Cambodia, who are gentle people, but because of their position are threatened with battles constantly. Because of this, they are dying not only of fatal wounds, but also of starvation! The Cambodians have nothing to do, but hope and pray that someone will help them. Many nations have offered to help the Cambodians, but the Cambodian Government has denied their people the privilege of having enough to eat. Like many species the Cambodians may be wiped off the face of the earth, if we do not respond to their needs.

Interview With Miss Gleason's First Grade Class

By DOUG ANNIS AND JONATHAN STEIN
GRADES

Doug and I interviewed eight students in Miss Gleason's first grade class.

We asked each student four questions about writing. The first question was:

Why is writing important to you? Here are their answers:

Bobby Kelly SAID: "I think it's important to me because it helped me join the Pride Committee contest and read my own poem over the loud speaker."

Michael Wood said: "I think it's important to me because it is fun."

Joshua Wood said: It is important to me because it helped me to join Mr. D'Andrea's author club."

Tom Clark said: "I think it is important to me because it's fun and makes me smarter."

Jennifer Moore said: "I think it is important because you learn a lot of interesting things and new words."

Laila D'Silvio said: "It is important to me because it helps me tell others how I feel."

Melissa Fontana said: "It helps me in my reading."

Alyson Vidoli said: "It teaches me about titles and sentences."

The second question was:

What kind of writing do you like to do most of all?

Bobby said he enjoys poetry.

Michael said he enjoys to write short stories.

Joshua said he also enjoys short stories.

Tom said he enjoys writing stories from pictures.

Jennifer said she enjoys writing funny stories.

Laila said she enjoys writing stories that rhyme.

Melissa said she likes to write pretend stories that make people laugh.

Alyson said she like to make up jokes and riddles.

The third and fourth questions were:

Do you know what the writing process is?

Do you use the writing process?

The answer to these two questions were very interesting as they did not know what the writing process was but they used it not knowing it.

Mrs. Anasis's third grade class is currently involved in a unit on Japanese life. When students bring in articles for the classroom display they are asked to write a brief description identifying it's importance in Japanese culture.

Below are some poems done by the students in the traditional Haiku form. Each must be three lines in length - 5 syllables in the first line, 7 syllables in the second, and 5 syllables in the third line.

Sixth Grade Teacher, Miss Ganghan, helps Michael Helfich with the revision stage of the writing process. It's important that teachers work closely with students in supervising and reinforcing each step in the process. They encourage students to attempt creative writing on subjects they're familiar with - such as the following article on Ice Skating.

Ice Skating - Practice, Practice

By BETH JOHNSTON

I've been ice skating since I was four-years-old. When I was little I would watch ice skaters skim across the ice and would wish that I could skate. I asked my mother to register me for lessons at the Quincy Youth Recreation.

I started skating there and after a few lessons I got the hang of it. I was in my first ice show when I was in the first grade. That went on until I was in the third grade.

In the fourth grade I started at the Metropolitan Figure Skating School where I placed second in competition.

Now I'm in the fifth grade and I skate three days a week until March 22nd. Then I start again in October. If you're a real good skater then you practice from 6 to 8 a.m. and then after school from 2:30 to 7:30, and on weekends for six to eight hours. If you're an excellent skater, you have three pair of skates; one for freestyle, one for patch, and one for dance.

You have to practice a lot and try not to get discouraged when a jump or spin doesn't work right away. You have to master seventy-two turns, jumps, and spins in order to pass the preliminary tests. When you're up to three tests you can qualify for "Intermediate Lady" in eastern competition. After Easterns you go to the Nationals, then to the Olympics. Here is the list of the levels of competition - Regionals, Sectionals, Easterns, Nationals, and Olympics.

It may take as long as two weeks to master a single jump, but in order to be good you have to keep it up, and practice as much as you can!

A Model Lesson

By MRS. O'FARRELLS
Second Grade Class

To start students using direct quotes in their writing, Mrs. O'Farrell gave her second graders a fun assignment where they could be creative and use their imagination while learning a new writing technique. In the prewriting stage they discussed what quotation marks meant and how to use them correctly. They used their reading books, papers, and magazines for examples.

The children were then given a picture of a seal sitting in a bathbub and were asked to write a story answering the following question: "What would you say to this seal if you wanted to take a bath and he was in your tub?"

In the first draft of their stories the students were required to use at least one direct quote. Then they had individual conferences with Mrs. O'Farrell to revise and rewrite their stories using the quotation marks correctly.

Following are some of their final drafts which were set up as a colorful wall display in their classroom for everyone to enjoy.

Second graders Beth Mullin and Karen Nelson pose in front of a colorful bulletin board on punctuation. Many of the students have their best papers displayed on the walls of their classrooms throughout the school.

An Interview With Principal Mr. D'Andrea

By KENNY MANN AND
JONATHAN STEIN

You are probably wondering what the Mass. Field School writers are, well, the writers are kids who write well and receive recognition for their achievement.

Here's how it works: if a student writes a poem or a story and wants to submit it for the award, he gives it to his teacher who gives it to Mr. Lewis. Mr. Lewis is the Vice Principal and head of the Language department. If he likes the story he gives it to the Principal, Mr. D'Andrea, who puts it up on the Writers Bulletin Board.

Q: "How did you think of the idea?"

A: "Well, it wasn't my idea. The teachers said they wanted a way to encourage students to write, so we came up with The Mass. Field School Writers - a display of different forms of writing."

Q: "How long ago did it start?"

A: "It's been going on for about two months now, and we've had quite a few papers handed in for us to judge - the best ones get put up in the display." He added, "It usually takes about two weeks for an article to be reviewed and decided on before it gets to the display."

Q: "What grades do you receive the most response from?"

A: "Most of our papers have come from the first and second graders so far, with only 57 of the students in the school submitting papers. We hope that the writing project will continue to grow in the coming years - so far we've had a good response."

First grader George Walsh concentrates on rewriting a list of spelling words. First graders are encouraged to take the time to write neatly and improve their penmanship with each exercise they write.

How The Sea Came To Be

We interviewed six third grade students about their feelings toward writing. The people we interviewed were Erin Ouimet, Neal Losordo, Whitney Norton, Robert Howard, Jeff Clifford, and Michael Cronin. All felt that writing was important, because it helped people to communicate and to learn. When asked if they enjoyed writing, all but one said, "Yes!" To the question, "What do you like about writing?" the responses were varied, but, in general, most agreed that it was fun. In response to what they didn't like about writing, the student's answers varied from "It makes your hand tired" to "It's boring sometimes." Finally, all but one of the students felt that writing interested them.

Once Made Mudpies With Shirley Temple

Quincy Man Writes 'Startling' Fantasy On Israel's Future

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Although he's already lived through two or three full careers, Robert Newman is eagerly starting a new one at age 68.

The Merrymount resident, who's been an editor and reporter here in Quincy, a Hollywood columnist and publicist and president of a North Quincy printing company, recently self-published his first novel.

It's called "Let Them Remember - A Novel of the Final Exodus", a "what-if" fantasy about the future of Israel.

For Newman, the book is a natural combination of his writing background and his interest in Israel.

"I went to Israel a few years ago (in 1976) and was fascinated," says Newman, who is Jewish. "It got me started on a little research. I realized how few people know anything about Israel, especially Jews, who should know."

The book's theme is one that some will find startling, he says: "That, by 1982, the Jews will have no choice but to leave." Where the Israelis go, in "The Final Exodus" of the title, is a surprise Newman wants to save for his readers, but he says, "it's all logical, and based on facts."

"This book will cause a lot of controversy among Jews, especially for dedicated Zionists," he says. His wife, Ethel, brought copies of the book to a Brookline bookstore, trying to interest the owner in selling it.

When the man learned the theme of the book, Newman said, "it upset him terribly. He kept saying, 'they'll never leave.'"

Newman, incidentally, agrees that the Jews would never leave Israel: "It's a fantasy, see."

Though it is a fantasy, Newman's book is also firmly rooted in today's headlines, with references to the Iranian hostage situation, political events in America, Israel and the Arab world, and other current developments.

The book also features scenes set in many of Israel's historic and religious landmarks.

"It's sort of a travelogue of Israel, which would be interesting to Christians, Jews and Arabs alike," he says. "In the book, I'm completely respectful of all religions, although I'm not very kind to the PLO, which I'm not respectful of."

Newman's first writing experience came in the early 1930's with the Quincy Evening News, a now-defunct daily newspaper.

"When I first applied there, they didn't want to hire me," Newman said. "So I walked up and down Washington St., knocking on every door, asking if they had any news - weddings, christenings, births. Pretty soon I was giving the Evening News so much news they had to hire me fulltime."

He became city editor, but left about the time the paper was absorbed by the then-Quincy Patriot Ledger. It was then he moved to Hollywood.

"I was having sinus trouble - that was why I moved out there. It was driving me absolutely crazy."

His Hollywood career included writing columns for East Coast newspapers, directing publicity for films and, for a while, publishing his own weekly newspaper.

His favorite memory of this period, he says, is "making mudpies with Shirley Temple. She was just a tiny girl at the time."

He wanted to interview the child star, "but she wouldn't talk to me unless I got down and made mudpies with her. So I did."

Other fondly remembered stars of the period, he says, include Katherine Hepburn, who was as impressive in person as on the screen and Clark Gable, whom Newman says was down-to-earth, "very easy to talk to."

Newman returned to Quincy in the mid-1950's to manage Lion Labels, a long-time family printing company.

"I'd been in and out the printing business for a long time," he said, "and it was very difficult to make a living in the newspaper business at the time," he said.

He's now semi-retired president of the company, which leaves time for travel, research and writing. He's also involved in the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, the Lions Club and the Merrymount Association and a member of Temple Beth El and the Jeremiah Lodge of B'nai B'rith of Randolph.

"Let Them Remember" took about two years to complete, Newman said. He and several friends financed and published the book under the name of Abraham Press of Quincy.

It's too early to tell if a second novel is in the offing, he says, but his next writing project is already on the drawing boards.

"I'm planning an article for a writer's magazine on publishing your own book; step-by-step, the whole process you have to go through. That would be a help to other writers who want to do what I've done."

Judge Mulhall To Receive 'Man Of Year' Law Day Award

Judge James A. Mulhall of Quincy, retired special justice of the District Court, will be given the Alfred P. Mahoney "Man of the Year" award at Law Day ceremonies today (Thursday) at Quincy District Court.

The ceremonies will begin at 8:30 a.m. with the flag raising in front of the courthouse on Chestnut St.

The Law Day Address will be given by Judge Albert L. Kramer, presiding justice of the Quincy District Court.

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce Award for outstanding community organization will go to South Shore Alcoholics Anonymous. Retired Police Chief Joseph B. O'Kane of Weymouth will receive a special citation.

Dennis E. Harrington, president of the Quincy Bar Association, will make the Law Day motion and Judge Lewis L. Whitman, special justice of the Quincy District Court will deliver the response.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Dennis Mahoney will lead the pledge of allegiance to the flag, and Mayor Arthur H. Tobin will give remarks.

Guests include School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon and members of the Quincy School Committee.

Members of the Law Day Committee include Judges Kramer and Whitman, Harrington, Mahoney, Ronald Saad and Daniel G. Raymond.

Flair Stack Pack today.

If your heating costs have gone right through the roof, maybe it's because your fuel dollars are going right up the chimney.

You see, the chimney of your furnace is like an open window to the outside. And just like an open window, heat rushes out. If you could close the chimney when the burner is off, you could save a substantial amount of fuel and money. And that's exactly what the Flair Stack Pack does.

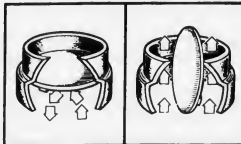

The Stack Pack is an automatic flue damper for oil and gas furnaces. It closes the flue when your furnace is not operating and keeps the heat in your furnace to heat your home.

SAVE UP TO 23% ON FUEL.

Independent tests have shown that the Flair Stack Pack can save up to 23% on fuel. The Federal Energy Administration calls flue dampers "the most important fuel saving contribution short of everyone driving a compact car." And HUD states that automatic vent dampers save more energy per dollar invested than insulation, storm windows, or siding.

The Flair Stack Pack has been laboratory tested and design certified by the American Gas Association and is UL listed. And it qualifies for the 15% energy tax credit. The sooner you have it installed, the sooner you'll begin saving energy and money.

QJC Rebounds With 2 Wins, Tie

By PETE ZOIA

The Quincy Junior College baseball team, rebounding from two defeats the previous week, last week walloped Blue Hill Tech, 13-1, and topped North Shore Community College, 7-5, while tying Mass. Pharmacy, 7-7.

Dave Burke's Jaguars, with a 3-2-1 record, will play at Bristol Community College today (Thursday) at 3:30, will be at Blue Hills Tech in Canton Saturday morning at 10:30 and will host Wentworth Tuesday at 3:30 at O'Rourke field.

Standout pitching by Bob Olgey of Weymouth highlighted the Blue Hill debacle. He struck out 10 batters, walked one and gave up five hits.

The biggest inning for the QJC's this season was the third when 13 men went to bat, eight scoring. Three bases on balls, two errors and four hits, one a double by John Newcomb, contributed to this high scoring inning.

Three more runs in the sixth were registered on singles by Tom O'Brien. Brian Condon, Bob Thomas, and Steve Jaehnig and a long fly ball by Dave Moran.

Condon led the attack with three hits, Paul Vespaziani and Dave McLaughlin had a double and single each, Moran had two singles, and Eric Carrera, O'Brien, Thomas, Jaehnig and Newcomb had hits.

Catcher Ed McElaney had his batting streak stopped after 13 straight games, but had a run batted in.

The tie game with Mass. Pharmacy was an abbreviated five-inning affair due to the visitors arriving one hour late.

The QJC pitching was handled by Thomas and Jaehnig who gave up five hits.

The Pharmacy jumped out to a three-run first inning lead on a Kerry Simpson single, and infield error, a double by Joe Davis and a base hit by Pitcher Pete Lyons. Quincy retaliated with two runs in its half of the second when McElaney walked, stole second and scored on Vespaziani's hit. He scored also on a dropped fly ball.

The third inning saw Carrera and Vespaziani crossing the plate after singling, and the final three runs came when Carrera, Mike McCormack and McLaughlin all get base hits and scored in the fourth. The game was tied up by Mass. Pharmacy on a solo home run by third baseman Dave Perry in the final inning.

Defensively, McLaughlin came through by starting a double play after two walks and an error loaded the bases in the Pharmacy second. This snuffed out their rally.

Left hander Jaehnig started the North Shore game but had to be replaced by Thomas in the second inning, as he developed arm trouble.

The visiting Bucs tallied two quick runs in the first inning on two singles by Richie Garuti and Mike Cassidy and a booming triple by catcher Randy Sabino.

Meanwhile the Jaguars' attack was stymied for three innings. Successive walks to Mike Colan and Dave Moran preceded a smash to right by McElaney who drove in the first two of his four RBI's. This pulled QJC within one run of a tie which was nicely taken care of in the fifth frame when it scored five runs to nail down its third win of the season.

Vespaziani reached on an error, McCormack singled, Condon and Colon walked, forcing in a run, then Moran singled driving in one more and McElaney lashed out his second hit for two more runs and scored himself on a balk to end all of the winners scoring. The losers came back with one run in the 6th to no avail and were banded by Thomas in the last inning for his second win.

N. Quincy District Wins Koch Championship

The North Quincy District of the Koch Club completed its 31st season of basketball with an awards banquet recently at the Fore River Clubhouse.

Each member was presented a trophy for the responsibility and reliability they demonstrated to their teammates during the season.

Richard J. Koch, Jr., director of North Quincy basketball programs, received the Herbert W. O'Donnell Memorial Trophy, emblematic of the Koch Club city champions, from Howard F. Crowley, Montclair director. Montclair was the 1979 champions and lost the 1980 title to North Quincy in the finals.

Koch announced that North

Quincy would form a league for boys, 13-15 years, next season. Previously, the age limit was 12.

Miss Simone Koch will also organize a girls league in the fall. This season, seven girls were involved in the program.

Robert Woods, North Quincy basketball program associate director, announced that Miss Ann Murphy of 36 Holyoke Street, North Quincy, was the winner of the portable T.V. set from the Koch Club.

Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Koch Club, announced that the organization had raised $130.00 for Muscular Dystrophy from the North Quincy. Broad Meadows and Montclair Basketball awards banquets.

Quincy Girls Win 4 In Row

The Quincy girls' softball team, led by two returning Suburban League all-stars, are off to a good start with four wins in a row after an opening day non-league loss to Scituate.

The First Ladies (4-0 in the league), will play at Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday and Monday will be at Newton North. Both are 3:30 games.

Maureen Maher, one of the top batters in the league last season, and catcher Laura Miller are the 1979 league all-stars leading the First Ladies.

Junior Sue Gallery, who pitched the first two games, will handle most of the pitching scores and has a fine receiver in Miller.

The experienced infield has

Anne McCarron at first base, Debbie Ohlson at second, Mary Kamb at shortstop and Sue Callahan at third base.

Another Sue Callahan is the outfield together with Liz Gerbes and Maher.

Ready to come off the bench when needed are Mary Callahan, a utility infielder, and Candy Camody.

Gallery, the workhorse of the pitching staff who has worked every game, had easy sailing last Friday when Quincy collected 19 hits and bombed Waltham, 17-2, for its fourth straight victory.

The First Ladies had four inside-the-park home runs. Kamb was four-for-four and had six RBI. Nancy Chludzinski had four hits and two RBI and Miller and Ohlson had home runs.

Earlier in the week Gallery tossed a four-hitter and Quincy topped Brockton, 7-3, making the most of seven walks and six wild pitches.

In another game last week Quincy defeated North Quincy, 8-4, as Gallery hurled a six-hitter and Miller and Mary Callahan had two hits each.

Quincy had dropped its opener, 8-5, to Scituate, then opened its league season with a 6-2 win over Brookline.

PeeWee B's, Bantam B's Winners

Quincy teams won two of the three championships last Sunday in the Quincy Presidential Invitational Hockey Tournament at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Quincy's Pee Wee B team finished a brilliant season with a 4-3 win over Brookton, finishing with a 50-6-2 record.

Jim Milano scored two goals and Billy Connolly and P. J. Hussey one each. Barry Miller had two assists and Gerry Layden one. John Zanardelli and Sonny Pugliese were the Quincy coaches.

The Bantam B team, coached by Bill Lewis, Bob Watts and Fred DiCristofaro, defeated Nassau Rangers of Long Island, 5-2, with Mike Nourse scoring twice and Tim Barry, Brian Chase and Sean Aruda once each. Aruda had three assists and Chris Hurley, Bill Campbell, Dan Kelly, Steve White and Jim Kelly one each.

Quincy's Squirt B's, coached by Frank McGrath and Tony Scola, dropped a 4-3 overtime decision to Hyde park. Mike Barikus had two Quincy goals and Mark Winter one. Kevin Marston had two assists and John Pacino, Tommy Roberts, Scott Hohman and Paul Scola one each.

Executive League

Darcy's Wins Championship

Darcy's Pub won the Executive Hockey League playoffs Monday night with a 4-1 victory over Sportlight Tavern at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Bob Donovan scored twice for the champions and Bibby Lewis and Dennis O'Connell had one goal each. Paul O'Brien and Kevin Glynn had two assists apiece and O'Connell and Tom Roberts one each. For Sportlight Kevin Sullivan had the goal and Ralph Freeman an assist.

Last Thursday Donovan scored unassisted with 1:03 remaining in sudden death to give Darcy's a 3-2 decision over The Hofbrau.

Donovan also scored the first goal and O'Brien scored the other goal for Darcy's. O'Brien and Donovan had assists. Steve Marini and Jerry Fitzgerald scored for The Hofbrau with assists for Marini and Jim Horner.

The annual league banquet will be held Friday, May 9, at Valle's in Baintree. Dancing will be to the music of A Touch of Class.

Braves 4th In Nationals

The South Shore Braves, winners of the N.E. Junior Hockey League championship the last two years, made an excellent showing last week in the national championships at Detroit, tying for fourth place with a 2-2-1 record and just missed making the finals.

The Braves, who have moved to Quincy and will play their home games at the Quincy youth Arena starting next season, were hit hard by crippling injuries during the nationals and several players missed key games.

Despite the injuries the Braves played some of their best hockey in their last two games and knocked Waterloo, Iowa, and Hannepin, Minn., out of the finals.

Gerry Welch had a hat trick as the Braves walloped Waterloo, 9-2, Saturday afternoon and Paul Greeley had two goals as they topped Hennepin, 4-2, Saturday night.

If the Braves had been able to defeat the Wayne Chiefs (they tied, 4-4), or Paddock Pool, Mich., (which edged the Braves, 5-4), they would have been battling for the title last weekend. The injury-riddled Braves had lost to Bloomington, Minn., 5-2, earlier in the week.

Despite his knee injury, Daskalakis was the top goalie in the tournament, recording a 3.73 goals-against average. DeBrase led the team in scoring with five goals and three assists. Welch had three goals and four assists, and Greeley and Scott Harlow each had three goals and two assists.

Firefighters Down Suburban For Title

Quincy Firefighters won the Midget House League playoffs Monday night with a 5-2 win over Suburban Disposal.

Steve DeLuca, Wally Phipps, Rich Milano, Paul Reinhardt and Vin Whelan scored for Fire with assists for Fred Caldwell, DeLuca, Milano, Steve Hall, Dennis Harrington, Joe Cellini and Whelan. Joe Carroll and Bill Roche scored for Suburban with Dave DiCarlo having two assists and Roche and Carroll one each.

Fire had won the series opener, 4-3, with Rich

O'Sullivan having two goals and DeLuca and Whelan one each. Whelan had two assists and Phipps and Hall one each. Joe Livingstone, Don Reidy and Paul Furey scored for Suburban with two assists for Livingstone and one each for Reidy and Bill Joyce.

Suburban evened the series with a 5-1 decision on goals by Roche, Paul McCabe, Furey, Carroll and Bill Nee. DiCarlo, Nee and Dick Comeau had assists. John Grenier scored for Fire with O'Sullivan assisting.

PeeWee House

UCT Blanks DD's For Crown

UCT clinched the Pee Wee House League playoffs with a 5-0 win over Dee Dee's in the third and deciding game.

Bob Flannery excelled in goal and Tim O'Brien had two goals and Steve Miller, Derek Holt and Paul Belanger one each. Belanger had two assists and Chris Holland, Paul Lally, Bill Murphy, Chris Edgar, O'Brien and Steve Kelly one each.

Dee Dee's had evened the series at 1-1 with a 3-2 victory with Jimmy Dunphy playing strong defense for Dee Dee's. Mike Bille, Steve O'Connell and Dave Maimaron scored for Dee Dee's and Maimaron and Al Sheehan had assists. Belanger scored both goals for UCT with Kelly and O'Brien having two assists each.

Belanger, O'Brien and Kelly were outstanding in all playoff games for UCT.

Mite-Squirt House

Teachers Win Playoffs

Quincy Teachers won the Mite-Squirt House League playoffs by defeating McGinn Shell in three games.

Teachers won the deciding game, 2-1, with Chris Loud of Teachers and McGinn's Mike McClory starring in goal. Greg Chambers and Brian Zimmerman had the Teachers' goals with assists for Nicky Cangemi, Eric Abboud and Mark Dwyer. Tony Peece scored for McGinn with assists for Mike Witham and Ralph Richardson.

McGinn had evened the series with a 3-1 decision on two goals by Terry Hack and one for Matt Buccella. Mark Rudniski had two assists and Mike Hughes, Scott Cunningham and Kirk MacDonald one each. Chambers scored for Teachers and Cangemi and Chambers had assists.

Johnson Bantam Champ

Johnson Motor won the Bantam House League playoffs in two straight games as it edged Doran & Horrigan, 3-2, last week.

John Feeney, Bill Glavin and Bill Lawless scored for the champs and Joe Engrassia and Kevin Tenney for Doran. Colin Powers, Bill Heeney and Kevin Jennette had assists for Doran. Both goalies, Johnson's Brian Foley and John Palmer of Doran played standout games.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By ROBERT COLMAN

Can you imagine a big-league baseball player leading the league in making most errors; in being struck out the most times; and in hitting into the most double plays - and still being voted Most Valuable Player in his league for that year?... Did you know this once happened?... It was 1942... Joe Gordon did all those things, yet won the Most Valuable Player award that season in the American League. There's a lesson to be learned from this... It shows that even though you have faults, you can overcome them and be recognized for your good points.

How do you figure this one... Only about 10% of the U.S. population is left-handed, yet almost 30% of major league baseball players are left-handed!

Here's a golf question that may surprise you... Of all the pro golfers of all-time, which one won the most tournaments in the history of the pro tour?... It's not Jack Nicklaus or Arnie Palmer as many would guess... Answer is Sam Snead.

I bet you didn't know... That Colman's has the most complete line of fishing needs and at the lowest prices. Whatever you need for fishing Colman's has it and at money saving prices.

North Finds Punch, Wins 3-2

The North Quincy baseball team, handcuffed in practice games and in the season's opener at Cambridge, came alive at the plate last week and took two impressive victories, topping Quincy, 7-4, and Brookline, 13-7.

But, Quincy, following an opening day win, dropped three decisions, losing to Waltham, 8-7, and being bombed by Brockton, 11-3, following the loss to North Quincy.

Charlie Bunker's North Quincy team will play at Waltham Friday, will be at Weymouth South Monday and at Newton North Wednesday, all games at 3:30.

Bud Mosher's Presidents will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday and Monday will host Newton, both games at Adams Field at 3:30.

Pete Alibrandi provided North's margin of victory over Quincy with a bases-loaded double in the seventh inning. Alibrandi was pinch hitting for Jack Brown and had two strikes on him when he lined the ball into the right-center field gap.

Leo Graham picked up the win for North after relieving Rich Hallberg in the sixth. Quincy outhit the Raiders, 8-6, with Mike Scurti having two hits for the Presidents.

Friday Graham earned a save with another fine relief appearance and Jamie Walsh led a 16-hit attack with four for five, including a two-run homer and six RBI in the romp over Brookline.

Hallberg started and got the win. Graham came on in the fifth and struck out four. The Raiders stole seven bases, two by Bill O'Connell.

Quincy scored twice in the seventh inning but bowed to Waltham in nine innings. The Presidents had their chances, outlasting the Hawks, 14-9, but also had 10 strikeouts, six on called third strikes.

Andy Carrera, who lined a two-run double in the seventh to tie the score, had four hits and his two RBI. He was the starting pitcher, going 5 1/3 innings before giving way to Gary DiNardo, who was the loser despite a strong performance. Mike Abboud had three hits for Quincy.

Braintree White Sox Oldtimers Reunion

The Braintree White Sox Oldtimers invite all Massachusetts oldtime baseball players, umpires and fans to their 12th annual South Shore Oldtimers Reunion Friday evening, May 9, at the Braintree Legion Hall.

Invitations were sent out and the first two acceptances were from Charlie Copeland, who ran the Milton Springs team in the South Shore League for many years, and Wally O'Brien, a former Quincy star now living in Harwich.

George Lane, former

Weymouth selectman and manager of the Weymouth Pals, one of the strongest semi-pro teams of years past, will replace Herb Boardman as master of ceremonies.

Frank Basile, who managed the White Sox for many years, and his son, John, will again cater a roast beef dinner starting at 7:30, following a social hour at 6:30.

Reservations can be made by calling Leon Barton at 767-3677.

The committee expects about 100 to attend again.

Morrisette Tryouts Sunday

Coach Ray Cattaneo has announced that tryouts for the Morrisette Legion baseball team will be held Sunday at 1 p.m. at O'Rourke Field, Quarry St., West Quincy.

Anyone living in Quincy and was born on or after Aug. 1, 1961, regardless of the school he attends, is eligible to try out.

This year Morrisette, Quincy, Weymouth, Hingham and Norwell will compete in Zone 6 and Wollaston, Braintree, Milton, Holbrook, Randolph and Canton in Zone 6-B.

MEMORY LANE—It was 1958 and these five were together for a sports television show because the Quincy High School basketball team was in the Tech Tourney. Do you recognize: (seated) Peter Ramponi, team member, Coach Munroe MacLean and team Capt. George Burke who went on to become district attorney. Standing are Patriot Ledger sportswriter Roger Barry and sportscaster and former Yankee pitcher Bump Hadley. The Quincy team went to the semi-finals and was eliminated by old nemesis, Somerville.

5-Mile Distance

'Run For Your Life' Road Race Set For Sunday

The second annual Quincy City Hospital 5-mile "Run For Your Life Roadrace", which raised $13,000 last year, will be held Sunday, May 4, with runners starting at 12 noon at the Vo Tech School, Coddington St.

Some 850 entry blanks were mailed last week to prospective entries in the race, which is sanctioned by the New England AAU to raise money for City Hospital's Cardiac and Intensive Care Units.

The runner who receives the highest amount in pledges will receive the grand prize of a weekend for two at the Red Jacket on Cape Cod.

A trophy will be presented to the winner of the race and awards will go to the first three men and the first three women to finish in the following categories:

18 years old and under, 19 to 29, 30 to 39, 40 to 49, 50 to 59, and 60 years of age and older.

Registration will begin at 10 a.m. Sunday in the Vo Tech Gym. The award presentations will be made and refreshments will be served in the gym after the race.

The race course will be up Coddington St. to Hancock St. to Adams St.; then down Newport Ave. to West Squantum St., down Hancock St. to Southern Artery, down Southern Artery to the Vo Tech School.

Last year's winner, Bob Thorne negotiated the course in 24 minutes, 44 seconds.

The race is sponsored by the Boston Gas Co.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin is honorary chairman of the race committee which is made up of:

Joanne Condon, chairman, Dr. Thomas W. Quinn, Dr. Peter J. Barrett, Stephen J. McGrath, Richard H. Meade, Rhonda Morrill, Paul Harvey, Michael Ryan, Diane Mackie and Ronald Tierney.

A special walk over the route will leave the school at 10:30 a.m., led by John J. Lydon Jr.

North Girls Edge Brookline, 7-6

The North Quincy girls' softball team bounced back from its only loss to Quincy with a 7-6 victory Friday over Brookline to make its record 2-1.

Lou Ioanilli's Raiderettes will play at Waltham Friday, will beat Weymouth South Monday and at Newton next Wednesday, all games at 3:30.

A sacrifice fly by Kim Alberti scored Toni LeBlanc in the sixth inning to give North its win over Brookline.

Susan Connors pitched all the way for the Raiderettes with a seven-inning. Joanne Runge and Becky Holcomb each had two hits and Holcomb also drove in two runs.

Earlier in the week North dropped an 8-4 decision to Quincy.

Quincy Tennis Team Downs North

The Quincy boys' tennis team, off to a good start, last week defeated North Quincy, 4-1.

In singles Quincy's Tony O'Malley defeated Henry Sato, 6-4, 6-0; the Presidents' Peter Fain defeated Carl Nelson, 6-2, 7-5, and Gary Durante clinched the win for Quincy by defeating Wayne Peterson, 7-5, 6-1.

In doubles Quincy's Mike Nigro and George Kane defeated Dave

Yee and Brian Rappote, 6-7, 6-0, 7-6, and North's Ken Watt and Bob Strauss gave the Raiders their only win, defeating Jeff May and Mike Shea, 6-1, 6-7, 6-1.

Quincy will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday and Monday will be home to Newton North, both matches at 3:30.

North will be at Waltham Friday and will play at Weymouth South Monday, also at 3:30.

North Impressive In 2 Meets

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy boys' track team, 8-4 last spring and 43-15 since entering the Suburban League in 1975, has its smallest squad ever this spring but the Raiders were impressive in winning their first two meets.

North opened with a 96-49 romp over Waltham and followed up with a 76-69 win over Weymouth North.

The team will be at Weymouth North next Tuesday at 3:30.

"We just haven't attracted too many athletes into the program," Coach Lou Tozzi said. "This is a hard working, spirited group of boys, but we have absolutely no depth or experience and a winning season would be an achievement."

The Raiders will host Newton North Friday at Veterans Memorial Stadium and Monday will be home to Brookline, both meets at 3:30.

In the sprints North has senior Steve Mastorilli, a runner with super attitude who was third in the 300 in the league championships this winter; senior Bill Dailey, a versatile and excellent all-around athlete; junior veteran Rich McCarthy and two talented sophomores, Kevin Wood and Mike Ellis.

Senior Bill Timmins, a veteran who has looked great and will run the half mile, heads the middle distance runners, along with junior Walt McConaghy, another experienced runner who is strong in the 440 and half mile.

They are joined by juniors Bill Feeney, John Mantalos and Joe McDonald and sophomore Sean Webby. Feeney and McDonald are excellent prospects who will be tough with some experience.

As always, North should be strong in the distances with seniors Mike Ricciuti and John Barrett and junior Gary Morin, all fine runners, back.

Ricciuti is a hard working, fierce competitor and Barrett, also a talented runner, is trying to come back from an injury which kept him out all winter. Morin is a much improved two-miler. Arif Shahabuddin and Rich O'Brien are good looking sophomores. Junior Marco Zanelli and sophomore John Wallace are other runners.

Tom Pound, a senior, is the main hope in the hurdles where North has no experience. McCarthy also looks good in these events.

Junior Jack Leone, a super athlete who jumped 6-4 indoors and was third in the state meet, should be outstanding this spring in the high jump and also will try the triple jump and hurdles.

Rich Palma, a sophomore, is one of the Raiders' best runners but an injury will allow him to high jump only. McConaghy should do 40 feet in the triple jump and Wood has the potential to high jump six feet. Vic O'Leary is another high jumper and Mastorilli will long jump.

Dailey should challenge the school record of 12 feet in the pole vault. He was third in the league last spring. Other vaulters are McCarthy, junior Mike Bradbury and sophomore Jake McCarthy.

In the weight events Lou DiPietro, a junior veteran, has the potential to be one of the league's best in the discus and shot put. Junior Tim Allen is a veteran. Junior Mike Ayles is an impressive newcomer in the discus, and senior veteran Dave Penzo is being counted upon heavily in the javelin and is expected to reach 165 feet.

Senior Bob Pimental, sophomores Bob Pound and Paul Ciarfella, junior Bob Danna, senior Steinar Forshei and sophomores Tim Joy and Mike Panaro are other hopefuls in the weight events.

"Our relay teams are up for grabs," Tozzi said. "It will be difficult to assemble two effective teams against the level of competition we will be facing in the Suburban League, one of the strongest around."

Assistant coach George Liset is back to handle the weight and field events and Ken McPhee has returned for his second year as an assistant.

McCarthy and Joe Dudek were double winners in North's opening win over Waltham. McCarthy winning the low hurdles and pole vault and Dudek winning the long jump and 100.

Other winners were Mastorilli, 220; Leone, high hurdles; Wood, high jump; McConaghy, triple jump; DiPietro, shot put; Allen, discus; Penzo, javelin, and the 440 relay team of Mastorilli, McCarthy, Wood and Dudek.

Against Weymouth North the Raiders clinched the victory with a win in the final event, the mile relay. McDonald, Mantalos, McConaghy and Timmins made up the winning team. Dudek again won the long jump and also took the 220.

In last Saturday's state relays, the North boys made their poorest showing since joining the Suburban League five years ago as several squad members were away on vacation and others were injured.

In the high jump Leone, Wood and Pound finished fourth, the sprint medley team Dudek, McEachern, McConaghy and Timmins placed sixth, McConaghy, Feeney, Ayles and Mantalos finished sixth in the two-mile and the distance medley team of Morin, Barrett, Ayles and MacDonald placed fifth.

The girls were also weakened by injuries and some away on vacation. Loretta Garrigan, Kara Crehan and Cheryl Ayles placed fourth in the high jump, Michelle Millane, Ayles and Karen Lindenfeltzer were second in the discus, Elaine Robertson, Lisa Cavanaugh, Mary McCarthy and Mary Kate Kennedy placed fourth in the mile relay.

First Church Of Scituate Prays For Hostages, Dead Rescuers

Members of First Church of Scituate prayed Sunday morning for the American hostages in Iran and for the men who participated in the recent raid to free those hostages.

The entire service focused on the problem of the hostages.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, told the story of Esther saving her people in the Old Testament. He then preached on "The Danger of Conspiracy," basing his sermon on a text from the Psalms, "Why do the nations conspire and the peoples plot in vain?"

Grace Holmes gave the call to worship, Don Frazer led the opening prayer, Tom Williamson read the Scripture and John Malmgren offered the prayer of dedication. The Senior Choir sang, "My Shepherd Will Supply My Need," an arrangement of the 23rd psalm by Marie Pooler. Mary Ruth Scott directed the choir.

Dr. Langevin also spoke on the children about "Speaking Up For Someone Who Needs Our Help". William Cogswell led the children's prayer.

John and Vera Malmgren were the greeters. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Barbara Fluhr, Barbara Colwell, Bonnie Adams and Sandy Sumner.

Next Sunday's service will be at 10:15 a.m. and the sermon will be based on the book of Jonah.

May 28 Kickoff Cancelled

Crisis Shelter Fund Drive Put 'On Hold'

The shaky economic situation, both locally and nationwide, has put a campaign to fund a local "crisis shelter" on hold for several months, says Rev. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church.

The shelter, meant to provide a temporary home for the city's troubled and indigent, was to be a joint venture of the city, St. John's and the Quincy Salvation Army.

But Rev. McCarthy said this week that attempts for state or federal funding for the home have been unsuccessful and "because of the current high rate of inflation, we did not wish to place the full burden of subscription upon local residents."

Rev. McCarthy had estimated the cost of starting up such a home in the city at over $125,000. No such facility now exists in the city.

A scheduled May 28 cocktail party fund-raiser has been cancelled. Rev. McCarthy, and committee members have decided to put off any other fund-raising efforts until at least September.

In place of the crisis shelter facility, he said, committee members will step up attempts to find temporary "host homes" for the troubled.

Christian Science Monitor Reporter To Address UN Council May 8

The meeting, the council's last of the season, will be held at 7:30 p.m.

in United First Parish Church, Quincy Center. Admission is free and all are invited.

Godsall's assignments over the past two years have sent him to Afghanistan, Iran, Rhodesia, South Africa, Japan, Australia, Canada and Western Europe. A question and answer period will follow his speech.

The meeting will be preceded by a catered dinner at 6:30 p.m. For reservations, contact Vera Call, 472-4768 or Eleanor Brown, 773-1817.

Smorgasbord At Wollaston Congregational Church

Wollaston Congregational Church will hold a Smorgasbord Saturday, May 3 from 6-7 p.m.

The Smorgasbord, consisting of Scandinavian and American dishes, will be served buffet style.

Following the supper, slides will be shown by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Murch of their recent cross country trip.

Reservations may be made by calling the church office, 773-7432 by Friday morning, May 2nd.

Your Dental

by Daniel P. Sweeney, D.D.S.

It is your right and responsibility as a dental patient to have all the information needed and desired about any dental procedures that will be performed on you. There are a number of reasons for this. First, there is less fear about what is understood. If the patient understands what is going on, he tends to be more cooperative. Secondly, information allows the one patient to make an independent decision. In other words, it allows one to take responsibility for his own health and treatment. Third, there tends to be more cooperation with follow up treatment.

Cooperate with your dentist by following good home care methods and keeping regular appointments. At the office of DANIEL P. SWEENEY, D.D.S., 539 Adams St., East Milton Square, 698-3636, we're available daily by appointment. Make an effort to understand the process of oral breakdown. The longer teeth go untreated, the more extensive further treatment will be. Intercept dental problems at their lowest level of dental treatment. Teeth are good things to have and good things to keep. Regular visits and good home care go hand in hand.

Pegge Parker Dancers Win Wollaston Theater Talent Finals

The Pegge Parker Dancers were the grand prize winners in the finals of the Wollaston Theater Talent Contest held recently.

Other prize winners were:

Weymouth actor and mime Paul O'Connor, second place. Quincy singer Megan Johnson, third place.

Quincy magician Michael Mahoney, fourth place.

Quincy singer Debbie Salvucci, fifth place.

Weymouth juggler Stephen Hunter, sixth place.

Other finalists were Beth Nelson, Blue Chrystal Band, Kathy Latus and Forrest Truland of Quincy, Linda Vardaro of South Boston and Michael Iverson of Quincy.

The members of the Pegge Parker Dancers, a Quincy chorus line, are Linda Evans, Karol King, Cindy Stevens, Janice Polito, Debbie Starr, Tracey Twomey and Nancy McNicholas.

The series of 14 elimination shows, semi-finals and finals featured 96 acts and drew an average crowd of 550.

"It has proven beyond a doubt that the public is hungry for entertaining live shows," said producer-director Ed Bennett.

Arthur and Yvonne Chandler, owners of the Wollaston Theater, "deserve the plaudits of everyone for having the courage to try something new to please theatergoers in this area," Bennett said.

Community Theatre To Present 'The Hollow'

Quincy Community Theatre will present its third production of the season, "The Hollow", May 2, 3, 9 and 10, at 8 p.m. at Broad Meadows Junior High School auditorium, 50 Calvin Rd., Merrymount.

Directing the Agatha Christie mystery is Frank J. Moffett, theatre arts instructor at Quincy Junior College and North Quincy High School.

The play is set in an English country home and actions revolve around family members and guests invited to spend a quiet week-end with their hosts. One of the guests is murdered and all major characters are suspects.

2 Quincy Residents Set Designers For 'Dearo Family'

Quincy residents Zoe Bradford and Jordan Saucerman are in charge of set design for the Freelance Players presentation of "Dearo Family" Friday, Saturday, and Sunday at Wheelock College.

Show time for the musical.

Timothy Shetler, a senior piano major at Eastern Nazarene College will present a Baccalaureate recital Saturday at 8 p.m. commissioned by Boston Jubilee 350, is 7:30 p.m. May 2, and 2:30 p.m. May 3 and 4.

YMCA Swim Clubs In 'Showboat' May 6-7

The Quincy YMCA synchronized swim clubs will present a water production of "Showboat" May 6 and 7 at 7:45 p.m. at the YMCA pool.

The Nagettes (girls) and the Mermaids (women) will swim complicated routines to music reminiscent of river boats and country dances.

Synchronized swimming is a form of dancing in the water - sometimes with precision stroking, sometimes with "stunts" that demonstrate breathing and body control.

Tickets are available at the YMCA front desk. Refreshments will be sold during intermission.

Show profits will be used to send youth members to leader's training school.

'Previews Of Progress' Shows At 4 Schools

General Motors will present its "Previews of Progress" research-in-action science show Wednesday, May 7 and Thursday, May 8 at four Quincy junior and senior high schools.

The show will be presented May 7, at 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. at Broad Meadows Junior High School, and 1 p.m. at Sterling Junior High School; and May 8, at 10 a.m. at North Quincy High School and 12:30 and 1:30 p.m. at Atlantic Junior High School.

The 45 minute program consists of nine research-in-action demonstrations described in non-technical language by two specially trained, recent college graduates.

The non-commercial show seeks to inspire more student interest in scientific and engineering careers and related vocational job opportunities.

It also shows how modern research and industrial innovation benefit society.

Conservation Commission Scenic Walk Sunday

The Quincy Conservation Commission will hold the seventh in its series of scenic walks through Quincy's neighborhoods on Sunday, May 4, at 1 p.m.

The walk will be in an area known as "The Crusher" off

Rhoda St. in Houghs Neck. This upland is a lava flow outcropping and the only place in Quincy where there are remnants of the volcanic age.

Participants are asked to assemble at the Commission Headquarters, (former Nike Site) at 100 Southern Artery. Coffee will be provided as commission members are introduced, and the route and natural significance of the area to be traveled is explained. An indoor slide program will be conducted in case of inclement weather.

For further information call the Quincy Conservation Commission, 773-1380, ext. 360.

Al's Dine & Dance License Transferred

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The common victualer-alcoholic beverages license for Al's Dine & Dance, Inc., 211 Sea St., was transferred from John J. Mosesso to Dayce P. Moore at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

Mosesso had held the license since 1956. Moore said that the establishment, to be known as Dayce's Place, will continue as a family style operation.

Moore, who lives at 28 Curtis St., Quincy Center, said he will manage the establishment along with fellow Quincy resident Robert White, a retired Boston police officer, and that the hours of operation will remain the same. Moore also said that a juke box will provide music.

According to Moore, Rev. Peter Martoccio, pastor of neighboring

Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, was consulted about the license transfer and had no objections.

Rev. Martoccio told the board he would like an agreement that there be no hard rock group performing at the establishment or other entertainment that might disturb neighbors.

License Board members agreed and the license was granted with the stipulation that there be no entertainment objectionable to the neighbors.

A routine police and financial check will also be conducted before the license transfer is finalized.

In commenting on the license transfer, City Clerk John M. Gillis said that Mosesso had run "a great spot" that was a credit to the neighborhood.

In another matter, the board granted a Motor II License (used car) to Francis A. Besozzi of Frank's Tires and Services, Inc., 678 Southern Artery.

Besozzi told the board he was applying for the license because "the tire business is hurting".

Besozzi continued that he was not going to put a number of cars on his lot, but wanted the license to be able to buy cars at auctions for his customers. The license was granted with the stipulation there be no more than two cars on the lot at the same time.

In other action, the License Board:

- Granted a one-day, all-alcoholic license to the Sacred Heart Parish and Parish Council for a catered dinner and dance Saturday, May 10, 7:30 p.m. to midnight at Sacred Heart Hall, Hancock St., North Quincy. Sacred Heart is to check with the Health Department in regard to serving food, and a police officer must be on duty during the dinner-dance.

- Granted a permit for a flea market to the Merrymount Association for Sunday, May 18, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the grassy section of Merrymount Beach. Rain date is June 1.

- Granted a permit to United First Parish Church (Unitarian), for a Strawberry Festival and Craft Fair on the church lawn Saturday, May 31, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The fair will include bake and craft tables and desserts. In the event of rain, the fair will be held inside the church.

- Granted a permit to DOVE (Domestic Violence Ended) for a flea market Saturday, May 3, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at St. John's Church yard. The flea market will be held in the church hall in the event of inclement weather.

Paul E. Hurley, Sr. Elected Hancock Bank Board Chairman

Paul E. Hurley, 62, president of the Quincy insurance company that bears his name, has been elected chairman of the board of directors of Hancock Bank, a $132 million commercial bank, headquartered in Quincy, with 16 offices throughout Norfolk County.

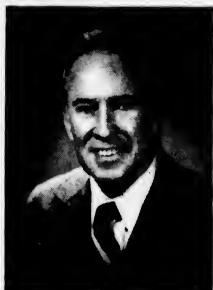

A lifelong resident of Quincy and son of the late Dr. and Mrs. William R. Hurley, he is a graduate of St. John's Parochial School, Quincy, and Dartmouth College, 1939.

During World War II, he served from 1941-1945 as a gunnery officer then executive officer on Navy destroyers in the Pacific. He retired as a Commander in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

A highly decorated officer, Hurley was individually cited in combat twice with the Bronze Star, the Navy Commendation Medal and the Presidential Unit Citation plus numerous battle stars.

A director of Hancock Bank and its predecessor Quincy Trust Company since 1964, Hurley has been active in community activities.

Among his community service activities have been: member of the board of managers, Quincy City Hospital 11 years—chairman for two years; chairman, Quincy Heart Fund; chairman, Cerebral Palsy Fund; general chairman and president of Quincy Community

PAUL E. HURLEY

Chest and president, Quincy Visiting Nurse Association.

SMH REALTY COURSE

SMH offers fast, efficient preparation for the Salespersons Examination. You may complete the 8 required three-hour classes 4 nights per week for two weeks. Since these tests are among some of the most difficult licensing examinations administered, we offer THE SMH METHOD:

- A 300-page textbook providing in depth coverage of materials in a form to complement class review;
- 24 hours of in-class instruction—fulfills the state's requirements;
- A glossary of over 250 real estate terms defined in accordance with examination requirements;
- All instructors are brokers and/or lawyers, available at all classes to answer questions;
- Numerous quizzes on real estate concepts and terms;
- Review of our specially designed practice examination;
- Optional refresher classes free of charge at our Boston location, during the five weeks between applying for and taking the exam.
- Should you fail the exam, you may retake classes at no additional charge until you pass the exam.

QUINCY CLASSES

Koch Baseball, Softball Registration Underway

The North Quincy, Broad Meadows and Montclair Districts of the Koch Club will distribute registration forms today [Thursday] and the week of May 5th for the spring and summer boys baseball and girls softball programs.

The North Quincy District will open its 30th season at Cavanagh Stadium, Birch St., and Atlantic Junior High School field, Hollis Ave., North Quincy.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Demole will again direct the boys baseball program while Mrs. Simone Koch will head up the girls softball activities.

The North Quincy District meets Monday and Thursday evenings at the Atlantic Junior High School Field and Cavanagh Stadium at 6 p.m. The five and six year old boys baseball and girls softball are at Atlantic and the age seven through 10 year old boys are at Cavanagh Stadium.

The Broad Meadows District meets Tuesdays and Thursday at 6 p.m. at Broad Meadows Junior High School, Calvin Rd., Adams Shore. Boys, five years and older and girls, seven and up, may participate and are assigned to teams according to age. Anthony

T. Delmonico of 35 Gannett Rd., Adams Shore, is district director.

The Montclair District holds its program Monday through Thursday evenings at Bishop Playground, Holbrook Rd., Montclair. Boys, five through 10, are eligible. Girls, seven through 14 are invited to take part in the softball program. Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Crowley, 139 Highland Ave., Wollaston, direct the Montclair summer activities.

Boys and girls, from any area in the city, are welcome to join whatever district they choose. The league's activities are scheduled from Monday through Thursday early evenings.

There are no tryouts in the baseball and softball leagues. Everyone registering is assigned to a team and participates.

The West Quincy District has completed its registrations with 400 boys and girls signed up for its ninth season.

Mr. and Mrs. David J. Donaghue, West Quincy district directors said that because of the field area, the number of participants has to be restricted to 400. The North Quincy, Broad Meadows and Montclair Districts take the overflow of West Quincy boys and girls.

Bryan Post Members In Boston Loyalty Day Ceremonies

Members of Quincy's George F. Bryan VFW Post will take part in the state celebration of Loyalty Day today (Thursday) at the Boston Common.

The Bryan Post's own Loyalty Day celebration is scheduled for Sunday, May 4.

Members of the Bryan Post and its Ladies Auxiliary will join State Commander Thomas McDonald of North Quincy, National Commander-in-Chief Howard VanderClute and representatives of many other posts in a march from the State House to Parkman Bandstand in Boston Common.

"Loyalty Day is a golden opportunity to arouse and make people aware of the privilege that is theirs in living in the United States of America," says Ladies Auxiliary State President Helen Ricourt.

MBTA Seniors, Handicapped Registration

An MBTA registration team will be in Quincy Tuesday, May 6, between 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. to process applications for reduced fare identification cards for eligible senior citizens and handicapped citizens of Quincy and surrounding communities.

Registration will take place at the Drop-In Center, High School Ave.

To be eligible for a senior citizen reduced fare identification card, which contains the name and address of the holder and a color photograph for positive identification, senior citizens must bring proof of age—65 years or older—such as a birth certificate, baptismal record, or driver's license; proof of residency such as a driver's license, library card or charge plate; and a 50 cents cash fee.

Medicare cards will not be accepted as proof of age.

To be eligible for a handicapped citizen reduced fare identification card, good only during off-peak hours, handicapped persons must present acceptable proof of their disability such as a letter from the Social Security Administration; evident of 70 per cent or more disability as determined by the U.S. Veterans' Administration; or completion of MBTA Form No. SN-7 which must be approved and signed by a physician or state or federal agency serving the handicapped.

The MBTA forms will be mailed to anyone requesting them by calling the MBTA's Special Needs Office at 722-5438.

LEGAL NOTICE

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by RICHARD D. POTTER and CHERYL A. POTTER to IRVING D. POTTER JR., dated January 17, 1978 and recorded with Norfolk County Registry of Deeds, Book 5429, Page 203, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, [If by assignment, or in any fiduciary capacity, give reference] for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of enforcing the same will be sold at Public Auction at 11:00 o'clock A.M. on the sixteenth day of May A.D. 1980, at the mortgaged premises, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage.

Two certain parcels of land with the buildings thereon situated in Quincy, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, and being shown as Lot 10 and Lot 11 on an old land entitled "Plan of House Lots belonging to Joseph A. Keating, Quincy Point, Mass.," made by P. F. O'Brien, C.E., dated September, 1923, and duly recorded with Norfolk County Registry of Deeds as Plan No. 130 of 1926, Book 1685, Page 224, and said Lots 10 and 11 together being bounded and described according to said plan as follows:

Northwesterly by a private way as shown on said plan, now called Mary Street, one hundred two and 60/100 [102.60] feet;

Northerly by a curved line being the intersection of Mary Street and South Street, twenty-two and 00/100 [22.00] feet;

Northeasterly by South Street as shown on said plan, thirty-five and 62/100 [35.62] feet;

Southeasterly by Lot 12 as shown on said plan, eighty-five and 11/100 [85.11] feet;

Northeasterly by said Lot 12 as shown on said plan, forty-five and 00/100 [45.00] feet;

Southeasterly by Lot 15 as shown on said plan, forty-five and 00/100 [45.00] feet and;

Southeasterly by Lot 9 as shown on said plan, ninety and 00/100 [90.00] feet.

Said Lot 10 containing 4050 square feet according to said plan; and said Lot 11 containing 3536 square feet according to said plan.

There is excepted from the above described premises so much as was taken by the City of Quincy for the laying out of said South Street and Mary Street, by takings duly recorded with Norfolk County Registry of Deeds.

Being the same premises conveyed to me by deed of James Garfield, dated January 17, 1978 and to be recorded with Norfolk Deeds herewith.

Terms of Sale: Said premises will be sold subject to taxes, tax titles any and all municipal liens, etc. A deposit of $1,000.00 cash or certified check will be required of the successful bidder at time of sale with balance due 14 days from date of sale. Other terms to be announced at the sale.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

On May 19, 1980, Massachusetts Port Authority ("Massport") will hold a public hearing at the East Boston Harborside Community School in East Boston, Massachusetts. The meeting will convene at 7:00 p.m.

The subject of the hearing will be proposed additions and revisions to Massport's "Airports Rules and Regulations for Logan International Airport and Lawrence G. Hanscom Field", to be promulgated under Section 3 of Massport's Enabling Act, Mass. St. 1956, c. 465, as amended, and additional authority contained in Mass. G.L. c. 30, sec. 61 et seq. [the Massachusetts Environmental Policy Act] and Article 49 of the amendments to the Massachusetts Constitution.

In substance, the revisions chiefly pertain to use of Logan Airport by certain aircraft types and at certain times of day. A proposed revision to Article III of the existing Logan noise abatement regulations would differentiate between arrivals and departures and alter the compliance schedule for nighttime restrictions on Logan's use by aircraft which do not comply with federal source noise emission standards. Other revisions would clarify or amend existing provisions in Article VI dealing with runway exits and noise abatement enforcement procedures. Finally, Massport is proposing for comment certain fee adjustments to assure maximum efficiency in utilization of the airfield facilities.

An information booklet containing further detail on the proposals and a background discussion is available on or after April 25, 1980 for public inspection at public libraries in East Boston, South Boston, Chelsea, Revere, Winthrop, Jamaica Plain, Quincy and Milton, and also at the office of Massport's Director of Aviation, New Tower Building, Logan Airport, East Boston and at the Massport executive offices, 14th Floor, 99 High Street, Boston.

The public is invited to make oral or written comments on these proposals. All proposals may be revised to reflect comments received from the public. Written submissions should be presented at the hearing or delivered or mailed to Massport's executive offices, Massachusetts Port Authority, 99 High Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02110. Written submissions should state that they are intended for inclusion in the record of this public hearing and must be received prior to the completion of the hearing, except that at the discretion of the Chairman the written comment period shall be extended to May 23, 1980. The Authority shall maintain a register of written submissions as they are received at its executive office which shall be available for public inspection.

Persons desiring to make statements and presentations at the hearing are invited but not required to advise Massport in advance in order to assist scheduling. This may be done by contacting Nick Lamberti, whose telephone number is 482-2930, ext. 243.

Only Girl In Quincy Little League

The Shortstop's

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Some might find the idea of a 10-year-old girl on a Little League team shocking, humorous or radical.

To Nancy Flukes of 91 Exeter St., Wollaston, it's as natural as going to the local playground to play baseball, which she's been doing for several years now.

Although nobody's quite sure, Nancy's believed to be the first Quincy girl to play at the Little League level. In any case, she's the only one in the city this year.

She says she's played the game for three or four years now, both in the Koch Club girls' league and in neighborhood sandlot games.

"There aren't many girls her age in the neighborhood," said her mother, Mrs. Frederick Flukes, "so her brother (Brian, age 12), always included her in everything."

Last September, she asked her parents if she could try out for this year's boys' Little League.

"I said, 'Sure, go ahead,'" said Mrs. Flukes. "There was no pushing at all. I felt that if she was not capable of playing, they would certainly know."

Nancy admits she was "kind of" nervous during the tryouts which involved fielding a few grounders and flies and taking a few swings at bat.

"We were shocked when we got that phone call, (notifying them Nancy had made the team)," said Mrs. Flukes.

Judge Uninformed, Says Mahoney

Kramer Criticized On Drug Statements

By TOM HENSHAW

When it comes to the drug problem in Quincy, especially among its youth, Judge Albert L. Kramer doesn't know what he is talking about, says John W. (Butch) Mahoney, social health coordinator in the Quincy public schools.

He offered to conduct a seminar on the physical and psychological dangers of the use of drugs, marijuana in particular, for the edification of the presiding justice and his staff at the Quincy District Court.

Mahoney said he was "flabbergasted" at some of the comments made by Judge Kramer last week in an article in The Quincy Sun's series on drugs problems in Quincy.

"A good judge ought to know a little bit more about what he is talking about before he makes statements like those," said Mahoney.

"As much as I respect him, as much as I feel he's doing the best he knows how, I feel maybe he ought to learn a little bit more about what's going on, whether it's marijuana or the street scene.

"I would be more than happy to offer him anywhere from a six-week to a 10-week seminar on what just marijuana alone has done to our city and our state and our country.

"I think he has a moral obligation, if not a legal responsibility, to learn the effects that marijuana has on young people. Young people have enough problems growing up, physically and emotionally, without dealing with drugs."

Mahoney said he takes exception to the statement by Judge Kramer that "about 40 per cent, maybe 50 per cent, of the kids in high school smoke joints."

"I don't agree with that," he said, "and I'm the one who really feels that the problem has become incredible and that we have to do more in dealing with it.

"But I don't believe 50 per cent of our high school kids smoke marijuana. I believe some have experimented. I believe some occasionally use. But I don't believe 50 per cent smoke joints on a regular basis."

He was particularly upset, said Mahoney, by Judge Kramer's statement that he sees real drug dealers "honest to God people who are actually selling drugs for profit"—only occasionally in his court.

Mahoney said he recalled a case where 17 youngsters were brought into court on warrants and "I can show him on paper where a kid had come in (to school) on a day-to-day basis with the explicit intent to make profits by selling."

"Were they given a fine?" he said. "They were given suspended sentences. We were happy to get that. I want to make it very clear. I'm not suggesting we send kids away to jail but I think we should at least fine them."

"We've placed the almighty dollar on the top of the mountain. If the money is important to the kid who's selling, then we should take it away from him. If a kid is making $200 to $300 a week—or $4,000 like one kid—he should be hit with a heavy fine."

"Give him a year or two to pay it off. Put him in the Earn It program. But let him think about what he's been doing. I don't want to put a 13-year-old girl in jail for selling a joint. But I certainly want to see her understand what exactly has

No Conflict With Pope's Edict

Fr. McCarthy Staying On Housing Board

Housing Authority Chairman Fr. William McCarthy is not stepping down from that board, he says, because a Papal order which forced Cong. Robert Drinan to retire from politics does not apply to him.

Fr. McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, Quincy Center, says that, because he holds an appointive and not an elective post, and because of the "charitable" nature of the QHA's work, he is not in conflict with Pope John Paul II's edict.

Cong. Drinan, who is also a Catholic priest, announced his retirement from Congress this week after a reaffirmation of church policy against priests taking part in politics.

Fr. McCarthy said he reached his decision this week after conferring with officials of the Boston archdiocese, who agreed with his opinion that the QHA is not a political post.

Fr. McCarthy said he felt the ban did not apply to him because "my position is appointive, not elected, and because the purpose of the Housing Authority is to serve the community and help people get suitable low-income housing, which is a charitable purpose. I'm not profiting from it at all."

Fr. McCarthy was appointed to a three-year term to the QHA in March, 1978 by Mayor Arthur Tobin. Last month he was elected chairman by his fellow board members.

He has been pastor of the Quincy Center parish since 1977 and is also chaplain to the Quincy Fire Department.

Cites Retail Space Loss

Raymondi Seeks City Control Over Public Agencies Locations

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi has moved to give the city some licensing and zoning control over the establishment of group homes such as halfway houses in Quincy.

He introduced an ordinance change at Monday's Council meeting that would require proprietors of such places to get a license from the city and a special permit from the Board of Zoning Appeal.

"We will be breaking new ground in a sense because not many communities have become involved in dealing with these kinds of things," he said.

"We could have a positive impact on the neighborhoods of this city by defining an ordinance that is fair, practical and reasonable and tends to protect the integrity of the neighborhoods."

Raymondi told the Quincy Sun that his proposed ordinance changes are not aimed at any particular organization or group.

"With the decentralization of services by the state," he said, "more and more tax producing property is being purchased by these organizations and taken off the tax rolls.

"A lot of retail space in downtown Quincy has been taken over by these public and quasi-public agencies and the city should have some ability, through the License Board or the Zoning Board, to regulate them."

"A lot of these organizations have not been that cooperative with officials and the neighborhoods and there should be some board that you can go to if you have a complaint."

Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. said that a recent publication of the Massachusetts Municipal

'Operation Pride' Cleanup To Start May 12

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin and Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti, announce the annual spring clean up, "Operation Pride" will be held Monday, May 12, Tuesday, May 13 and Wednesday, May 14.

Quincy residents will have the opportunity to discard materials from attics, closets, playrooms, cellars, storage areas and backyards that are not ordinarily picked up on a weekly schedule by the rubbish contractor.

The massive undertaking will be under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works. City Councilors are being notified as to the schedule.

All materials must be placed on the sidewalk no later than 7 a.m. on Monday, May 12.

Items to be picked up will include discarded furniture, appliances and other bulky items, not generally picked up by the contractor. Articles not included under Operation Pride are trees, stumps and branches as well as large items of lumber.

The law requires the removal of all doors from refrigerators or other appliances.

The schedule:

Ward 1: Monday, May 12 - Precincts 1 and 3; Tuesday, May 13 - Precincts 2 and 4; Wednesday, May 14 - Precincts 5 and 6.

Ward 2: Monday, May 12 - Precincts 1 and 2; Tuesday, May 13 - Precincts 3, 4 & 5; Wednesday, May 14, Precincts 6 and 7.

Ward 3: Monday, May 12 - Precincts 1, 2 and 3; Tuesday, May 13 - Precincts 4 and 5; Wednesday, May 14, Precincts 6 and 7.

Ward 4: Monday, May 12 - Precincts 1, 3 and 4; Tuesday, May 13, Precincts 2 and 5; Wednesday, May 14, Precincts 6 and 7.

Ward 5: Monday, May 12 - Precincts 1 and 7; Tuesday, May 13 - Precincts 3 and 4; Wednesday, May 14 - Precincts 5 and 6.

Ward 6: Monday, May 12 - Precincts 1, 2 and 3; Tuesday, May 13 - Precincts 4 and 6; Wednesday, May 14 - Precinct 5.

After Wollaston Hill Complaints Council Moves To Raise Fines On Uncontrolled Dogs

The City Council, prodded by residents of Wollaston Hill, has taken steps to do something about the dogs that are running loose in Quincy.

Councillor Stephen J. McGrath filed home rule petitions for legislation permitting the city to hike fines to $25 for unrestrained dogs and to $15 for first violation of the dog control law.

McGrath said he was prompted to ask for the petitions after a meeting with residents of Wollaston Hill.

"It's a problem that relates to the size of our dog pound and the adequacy of that size," said McGrath.

"It was the feeling of the group we met with on the Hill that the size of the fine is a deterrent. The issue should be discussed by the Council. This is a way to do it."

Councillor James A. Sheets said he didn't think that a home rule petition to the legislature is necessary since cities are empowered to fine up to $200 for violation of their ordinances.

Blood Pressure Program Seeks Out Younger People

The Quincy Health Department started its annual high blood pressure screening and detection program this week with a special emphasis on younger people who don't normally respond to such opportunities.

The program, which is free to all Quincy residents and employees, will begin at 6 a.m. on some days and continue to 6 p.m. in order to give working people a chance to show up and be examined.

It started Tuesday and continues today (Thursday) from 6 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the John F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St.

The remainder of the schedule for the month of May includes: Tuesday, May 13, 2 p.m. to 4

Wednesday, May 14, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Thursday, May 15, 6 a.m. to 8:30 a.m.; 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Tuesday, May 20, 6 a.m. to 8:30 a.m.; 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Thursday, May 22, 6 a.m. to 8:30 a.m.; 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Tuesday, May 27, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Thursday, May 29, 6 a.m. to 8:30 a.m.; 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Germantown Meeting Thursday

The Germantown Heritage Society will sponsor a community meeting at the Snug Harbor School tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.

All residents of the Germantown community are invited to attend and bring a friend.

Reports will be received and discussed from various task forces formed at the last community meeting on April 18. Six task forces have been meeting and will present reports on neighborhood concerns such as litter, dogs, youth, vandalism, apathy, and property improvement.

The litter task force co-chaired by Bernard Macauley and Verne Bomar are expected to report on final plans for the Germantown Community Clean-up scheduled for Saturday, May 10.

Mrs. Marilyn LeBlanc will report on the annual Mothers Day Cake Sale proceeds of which will be used to finance community beautification projects.

Secondary Release Date May 20

Given More Power But

New Council Rules Limit President To Single Term

The City Council has approved new rules for itself, giving the Council President more power in preparing for a meeting but limiting him to only one consecutive two-year term with the gavel.

The rule changes, which will also tighten up the Council's agenda, were devised by the Rules Committee, chaired by Councilor Joanne Condon, at the request of Council President Leo J. Kelly.

They specifically exclude Kelly from the one-term restriction but Kelly, who was first elected in January, said he will go along with the spirit of the rule and not seek a second term.

"I don't believe that any one person should dominate the Council," he said. "The new rules, giving the President new powers over the agenda, will make him stronger than he has ever been."

The new rule does not prevent a Council President from running for a second two-year term provided it is not consecutive with the first.

The new rules specify that the agenda is to be prepared by the city auditor, the city clerk and the mayor and be approved by the Council President before it is presented to the Council.

Right now, said Kelly, the rules do not specify who is responsible for preparation of the agenda, which sometimes contains extraneous matters.

The new rules limit the agenda to include all financial matters, ordinances, public hearings, street acceptances and abandonments and Council confirmations.

All items for the agenda, including communications from the mayor, must be submitted to the city clerk no later than noon of the Wednesday before the meeting and copy of the agenda delivered to the Council no later than Thursday.

Late items would require a two-thirds vote of the Council.

The new rules also do away with special committees and create eight new standing

Once Called '3 Dumb Broads'

3 Local Women Named Small Business Persons Of Year

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

The Massachusetts Small Business Persons of the Year are "three dumb broads" who built their company from scratch, based on a product no one else thought would sell.

Charlotte Volinn and Estelle Sugarman of Quincy and Sylvia Schwartz of Braintree, formerly of Quincy, are the moving forces behind Quincraft Corporation. The company began about 12 years ago in their cellars and garages and now occupies a 20,000 square foot plant in Hingham.

The three women started out by investing $100 apiece in the corporation, which now grosses an estimated $6 million annually, according to the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

The three will be honored Friday by the South Shore Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration (SBA) at a reception in the Chamber's Faxon Conference Room at 9:30 a.m.

They are also in the running for the SBA's National Small Business Persons of the Year and will be greeted next Wednesday by President Jimmy Carter at a White House reception honoring the winners from each state.

Quincraft manufactures and markets stained glass-like plastic kits, which can be used for decorative "wind-catchers," jewelry boxes, picture frames and other uses.

The three had known each other for about 10 years when they formed the company in 1968, according to Mrs. Volinn, president of Quincraft. The three were bridge partners at the time, she said, "which ruined a perfectly good bridge club."

After about five years of operating out of "cellars and garages," she said, the trio rented space at 184 Washington St., Quincy Center. Within two years, the company expanded into space next door and, later, leased a 33,000 square foot building at the Squantum Marina.

Last year, with the aid of the Chamber's South Shore Economic Development Corporation, the company obtained an SBA loan to finance its new building in Hingham's South Shore Industrial Park.

The name of the realty trust formed to own the building—TDB Realty—is a needle intended for both the women themselves and those who thought their company would never make it.

They fondly recall that a businessman admitted to the women that, during the company's early days, he had called them "three dumb broads" trying to market a product that would never sell. The name "TDB Realty" commemorates that phrase.

Mrs. Volinn and her husband George, have three children and have been married 27 years. She serves as Quincraft president, managing sales and promotions.

Mrs. Sugarman and her husband Rubin have three children and have been married 28 years. She is vice president and clerk of Quincraft.

Mrs. Schwartz and her husband Joseph have two children and have been married 30 years. She is treasurer of Quincraft, handling financial control, purchasing and budgeting.

NOW FOR NOW

(or payment by check
is coming back in style.)

In this topsy-turvy economic period, there is one stable, safe way to handle your money—open a NOW account at our Bank.

What can a NOW account do for you and your money management?

Well, as the use of credit cards becomes more and more restricted, a NOW account lets you switch to a cash operating basis, thus avoiding interest charges for time payments. And your money in your NOW account is earning 5% interest per annum. Thus you get the best of both worlds—you avoid interest charges while collecting interest for yourself.

But, you say, going on a cash basis means I can't make larger or more costly purchases and spread the payments. In this economy with interest charges going up almost daily, maybe that is not all bad.

It depends on how much you need a "big ticket" item. If you have a wife and five youngsters and your washing machine breaks down hopelessly, you need a washer, of course. If you don't have the cash, you charge it. But if you can switch to a cash only (or check) basis for most items, you will save money.

The trouble with cash itself is that cash is dangerous. You can be robbed or you run the risk of losing it. NOW account checks are safe and you have an ongoing record of your expenditures.

Think about it.

Should your household budget be keyed into a NOW account?

Will it save substantial interest payments?

Will it be safe and convenient for you?

If you don't have a NOW account and want to open one (for as little as $10.00) come in to our main office or one of our branches.

We think a NOW account is the simplest and best way you have to help fight inflation.

Are "Free" NOW Accounts Really Free?

You will notice in this advertisement we did not use the term "free NOW account." That's because we want no confusion about our NOW accounts even though we feel that we come as close as anyone in offering NOW accounts at a basic minimum cost with no hidden charges.

Here is the way we work our NOW accounts:
You can open an account for $10.00.

As long as you maintain a balance of $10.00 or more you will get interest credited monthly at 5% per annum.

Overdraft charges are $5.00 each, which covers the paperwork in notifying the customer.

Stop payment fees are $5.00 for the same reason.

And the only other charge is $3.85 for each book of 200 plain checks imprinted with your name, address and account number.

What about those which claim to have "free" NOW accounts? They can demand a $300 monthly balance—or $500.00. The only minimum at our bank is $10.00 if you want to earn interest.

The thing to think about when someone says "totally free NOW account" is this: if you don't keep your balance at $300.00 all month long, you can be charged 20 cents for every check you write that month even if you bring your account up to $300.00 within 24 hours. Nothing like that at Quincy Cooperative!

We remind our customers that nothing in life is really free.....but the cost of a NOW account at our bank is very much less than for most other banking institutions.

From left, seated, are Margaret Mason, 27, tied for youngest mother; Lucy Richardi, 80, Carolyn Gerstel, 80, tied for oldest mothers; and Mary E. Alcott, mother of most children with 11. Standing, program speaker Norfolk County Sheriff Clifford Marshall; Rita Kipp, tied for youngest mother; program chairman George R. Alcott, Elks past exalted ruler; and exalted ruler Joseph McAdell.

Quincy Elks Honor Mothers At Special Program

The Quincy Lodge of Elks held its 19th annual Mother's Day Program Sunday, under the direction of exalted ruler Joseph McAdell, and the Quincy Lodge officers.

James Elwell, of the Lynn Chapter order of the Demolay, and Norfolk County Sheriff Clifford Marshall were the speakers.

Bouquets were presented to the oldest mothers, Caroline Gerstel, 80, of 23 Beebe Rd., Germantown, and Lucy Richardi, 80, 329 Washington St., Quincy. Tied as the youngest mothers were Rita Kipp, 27, 34 Farnum St., Quincy Point, and Margaret Mason, 27, 34 Harrison Ave., Braintree.

Mother of the most children (11) was Mrs. Mary E. Alcott, 15 Dorchester St., Squantum, who is the mother of the chairman, George R. Alcott, past exalted ruler.

Immediately following the service, a breakfast was served for some 200 people by Elks entertainment chairman John Christello and his committee.

An Argument To Keep Schools Open

By FRANK ANSELMO

"THINK" — For years that word was the driving slogan used by I.B.M. to inspire its employees to do their best in achievement and production. It was generally found on the walls of its many executive offices.

Now let us also apply that "THINK" process to what I might call a mathematical equation, that is, that "Quality of Education is equal to Quality of Life."

Think, review the history of any individual, city or nation, past or present and see how that equation proves itself in the perpetual struggle for survival, for betterment and to help hand the torch of enlightenment, freedom and prosperity to our loved ones, and our children. Hopefully, they will, in turn, repeat the process onward and upward so that the torch shall not be extinguished.

Think, look, review the pages of history and you will see that wherever there was lack of education you found, naturally, ignorance, poverty, crime, violence, and all the evils brought about because of a lack of rational thinking, because of lack of education.

I am also reminded of another truism that "whether you buy it or not, you pay for it, just the same!" That can be applied to public education, the solid foundation upon which our forefathers built this nation.

Money spent to educate our young people is a very cheap investment compared to what it usually costs society to support those who were denied an educational opportunity, or those who failed to avail themselves of that opportunity.

Compare, think, how much more it costs to support the vast numbers that wind up in correctional institutions. Yes, it sure is much cheaper to educate them. Yes, you pay for it just the same, unless you want your society to crumble over your head.

Now to the present issue — shall we close the four schools in Quincy that is the present subject of debate? Again, let's do rational thinking.

What we may do now will affect the quality of education and therefore the quality of life to the youth of Quincy for the present and for the future.

Let us look at the economics of the question. It is alleged that by closing four elementary schools, we can save $250,000. That represents 0.002% on our city budget of $12,500,000. That is the budget our Mayor has submitted to the City Council for consideration. Now let us again THINK. Is this a real tangible savings?

When this estimate was made, it was figured that the cost of busing would involve gasoline cost at $1.00 per gallon. Now it is about $1.30, and it is a common prediction that it will go up to $2.00 per gallon. Likewise, the cost of maintenance, replacement, salaries to drivers, matrons when needed, will have to fall in line with inflation. This alone will offset the alleged savings. All right, lets close the schools, how long will they remain in a sound useful condition? What is the history of all abandoned buildings; how long before they are gutted, vandalized or burned? What will it cost to replace them five or ten years from now, when enrollment again is bound to increase. Those in the future who might look back on our blind, stupid, conduct will justly say, what a bunch of imbeciles administered the affairs of the city?

Much has been said about the safety of the children. You do, also, some rational thinking. Old timers, like me, brag that "I walked 2 or 3 or 4 miles to school." Walking is good for your health. But, are walking conditions the same today, with all the dangerous traffic that prevails?

And finally, is it not true that the quality of education is better in a small, neighborhood school, close to home and parents which naturally maintains a better quality of life for all concerned, including all taxpayers in the long run? THINK, my friend; THINK with an open mind; THINK with your pocket book if you will, for in the long run you will pay just the same, only more so, unless you think constructively for a better tomorrow.

I, personally, have nothing to gain, one way or the other, but I have to live with myself, and you can be assured that I will vote not to close the schools, not when you save 0.002% of the City Budget.

I am confident that we will find other ways to save money. Also, I hope that other city departments will fall in line, constructively, and find ways to better management.

(Frank Anselmo is serving his 20th year as a member of the Quincy School Committee.)

Points To Ponder

- Some people think the MBTA is a two-bit operation, but it's going to cost you three times that to use the Quincy facility.
- Familiar conversation nowadays: "Dad, I have a date tonight. Can I borrow the car and about $50 for some gas and a movie?"
- 20/20 vision is something everyone has when it comes to hindsight.
- Quote from an arrogant business executive concerning success: "It's not necessary to be nice to people on the way up, if you don't intend to come back down."

A Note From The Pope

Pope John Paul II was unable to visit a South Quincy home last October. But he appreciated the invitation.

Andrew and Francis Ruggiano of 271 Water St. sent a letter to the Pope just before his October visit to Boston inviting him to their home.

"It was just a spur-of-the-moment thing," Mrs. Ruggiano says. "But I thought, maybe in just a small way, that he just might come."

The Pontiff's whirlwind schedule kept him from the Ruggiano home. "And," says Mrs. Ruggiano, "I just forgot all about the letter."

But, the Pope didn't.

JOHN PAUL II

The Ruggianos recently received a letter from the Vatican Secretary of State noting the Pope had received their "kind letter" and that he wished to "express his thanks and convey his blessings."

The letter contained the Pope's signature and included a photograph of him.

"I really got excited and I'm still excited," says Mrs. Ruggiano. "I'm so proud of this—I know I'll treasure it forever."

For Mrs. Ruggiano and her husband, a long-time Quincy barber, the Pope's letter has already become a family heirloom.

COUNCILLOR John Lydon isn't exactly what you would call a staunch supporter of some "modern" educational methods.

At last week's hearing on proposed school closings, Lydon, who is chairman of the council's Finance Committee, told the School Committee it should eliminate "hundreds of expensive and frivolous items" in its budgets before closing schools.

Instead of paying for film projectors, tape recorders, stereos and other "expensive gimmickry," the Wollaston funeral director said, the school system should get back to "teaching with just chalk and a blackboard."

To which one School Department wit retorted: "I wonder how Jack Lydon would feel if people got back to having wakes in their own homes."

IS HE OR isn't he? Councillor James Sheets already has political observers wondering if he's getting ready to make his bid for mayor next year. He came close to running last year but decided to go again for the Ward 4 council seat.

What has observers wondering about next year is a recent fund-raiser held for Sheets at Faxon Commons. There were an estimated 200 people there. Tickets were $50 a head. If all the heads paid, that's $10,000.

SHEETS

And $10,000 is a lot of money for a ward council race, especially if there might not be any challenger to contend with. Last year Sheets got a free ride to re-election in Ward 4.

As for the mayor's race, $10,000 is only a down payment. Next year's mayoral campaign might run in the neighborhood of $100,000.

OLD FRIEND Ed Spargo of Quincy, former long-time newspaperman, hasn't lost his touch with words. In a recent letter in The Sun, he recalled the "good old days" in West Quincy and paid special tribute to the Finnish people.

"I had a flattering response," Ed writes. "Many phone calls from folks I haven't chatted with for 30, 40, and in some cases, 50 years. Quite a few notes and many in-person compliments."

"My 'bride' of 45 years—capable Kae—has been prodding me for over a week to 'tell Henry about Mr. Hautala's nice note and his mailing The Sun to those distant points—the far corners of the country."

Ed now quotes from a letter he received from Tauno Hautala of 63 Bartlett St.:

"Enjoyed your piece in The Sun about the old days in West Quincy. People nowadays have little or no conception what a beehive of activity West Quincy was at one time. I've shown the 'article' to my two sons and their families so they can get some idea of 'how it used to be' as I was growing up. Also sending copies of the paper to Houston, Seattle and Florida where relatives, friends, and ex-neighbors from West Quincy have settled."

Ed, continuing, says:

"So you see your popular little paper has widespread appeal, just as did 'Josiah's Journal'—from your presses—which I sent to relatives in Brewster, Falmouth, Marietta, Ohio and Oakland, Calif."

"If you ever have a small space to fill in 'Sunbeams', wouldn't it be nice to surprise a sentimental soul like Tauno Hautala who took the trouble to mail The Sun to those far reaches?"

Okay, Ed, why not!

Herbert Takes Issue With Coverage Of His Remarks

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I am appalled and disturbed by the distortion by The Quincy Sun of my remarks to the Rotary Club of Boston. Obviously the person who wrote the article was looking for a sensational approach and he got it by distortion of the facts and by going so far as to attribute a statement to me that I did not make. The reporter wrote the story from the text of the talk—he was not present when I spoke at Boston.

The Boston Club had asked me to speak on the current economic situation, which I did. Toward the end of the talk, I quoted the concern of Professor David Reisman of Harvard (in a recent Boston Globe interview) about certain conditions today that reminded him of Weimar Germany. I said in my remarks that I shared this concern and that in the case of a severe depression with high inflation it was possible that a demagogue might evolve in this country. Your reporter claims I said that this condition could produce a "Hitler like" demagogue. I never said this. I never used the expression "a Hitler like demagogue." Furthermore, your reporter claims I said "The mental attitude of our population may be ready for it under current existing conditions."

I defy you or your reporter to find any such statement by me in my text, which I followed word for word. I feel your headline and your first two paragraphs totally distort the remarks that I made. The reporter took random paragraphs from the text and packed them in after his inflammatory lead paragraphs as if to support his presumption of what he wanted to convey to your readers regardless of the facts.

All of us hate and despise the Hitler era and for your paper to distort my remarks to imply that this country is in the mood for a dictator of this ilk is not only a horrible distortion of my remarks but it is certainly out of character for The Quincy Sun which has earned a reputation for fairness and accuracy.

A Banker Asks: Where Do We Go From Here?

Editor's Note: Last week's Quincy Sun carried an article on a talk given to the Boston Rotary Club April 16 by John R. Herbert, president and chairman of the Board of The Quincy Cooperative Bank.

Title of the talk was "A Banker Asks: Where Do We Go From Here?"

Mr. Herbert, former editor of the Boston Herald and the Patriot Ledger, has taken issue with The Sun's handling of this story. A letter from him on the matter appears in today's Readers Forum.

In fairness to all concerned - including our readers - The Sun this week is presenting the complete text of Mr. Herbert's remarks to the Boston Rotary Club.

status, can take a relaxed view of the state of today's economy. Ted Kennedy thinks this is the main issue and he leans upon it in the hope it will give him some delegate strength. Reagan has pounded on the subject from the early days of his campaign. And the President knows the issue could defeat him if some dramatic turn around does not become evident soon.

From the point of view of the bankers, I have to recall the word of Chairman Volcker of the Federal Reserve Board when he spoke some months ago to 8000 bankers at their annual convention. Said he: "You are living in a somewhat different world."

That is probably the understatement of the year.

But we should be consoled by the fact that change in itself may not always be bad. I think it is best summed up by Marcus Aurelius in his Meditations when he said "observe constantly that all things take place by change and accustom thyself to consider that the nature of the universe flows nothing so much as to change things which are and to make new things like them."

I am sure that old Marcus was talking about constructive change. What I want to talk about is change that is destructive, confusing and threatening.

And when I say confusing, let me cite to you some random statements that have been made by business experts in the past few days.

Business Week for April 7 says: "Economic events are moving so swiftly and unexpectedly that business forecasters have lost their bearings."

The Wall Street Journal for April 9 says:

"Some observers contend that the markets have been so volatile that forecasting is now impossible."

Or take the First National Bank Money Market Center Review of April 7:

"With the consumer in the process of retrenchment, with a slowing of investment spending and a Federal budget moving sharply toward restraint, the chances of avoiding a recession in 1980 appear to be very slim."

Sam Nakagami in the Kidder Peabody Economic Perspectives for April 3 says:

"In our judgement the economic downturn should begin within a month or so."

And Henry Kaufman, a member of Salomon Brothers executive committee observes:

"I find nothing in the present policies of our government to suggest that any of the problems will be dealt with decisively. On the contrary, the three main policy approaches utilized today--limited income, fiscal and monetary policies--all indicate efforts to muddle along."

But Charles L. Schultze, Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, gives it to us both ways: "there are a number of signs of a weakening economy," adding, "it is also true that we have been fooled in the past."

Well, take your choice. My own simplistic approach is to look at the realities before us.

Some of them represent real tragedies in that they hasten the destruction of the great American dream:

First is the virtual end of single family house construction. Single family homes are simply priced out of the market for most people.

Second, for those who want to buy a new or second-hand house, the interest rates are almost prohibitive. And many banks are not writing mortgages or confining them to customers only.

The third problem is the destruction of the incentive to save or because of inflation, the inability of people to save. And on this issue, Tom Holt, who publishes an Executive Advisory, says in April 7 Barrons that "the decline of personal savings is a very dangerous thing because in the final analysis, personal savings are the only source of long term capital."

The fourth major problem is the precarious state of the American Automobile industry. Chrysler may not survive and Ford and General Motors have some real problems reflected in the drastic decrease in sales.

Next is the so called underground economy or, putting it bluntly, the evasion of taxes, which, it is estimated, costs our government 18 billion dollars a year or enough to balance the budget. Rep. Ullman who heads House Ways and Means says "we have an eroding tax system" while the New York Times on Sunday quoted a former IRS compliance chief as saying that "we are moving into a tax avoidance mood."

Finally, and perhaps most frightening is the almost blind acceptance of the fact that the American standard of living is going downhill and that we have to accept a sharply reduced standard of living for the long term future.

None of these--and others I could add to the list--do anything to bolster confidence in the

5,000 Fans Turn Out For City League Baseball

An estimated 5,000 baseball fans, 2,500 of them at Merrymount Park for a doubleheader, turned out for the opening five games of the Quincy City League season.

Boston Gear Works scored five runs in the last inning on singles by Reid and Righini and three errors to defeat Wollaston, 5-3, in the first game at Merrymount.

The Boston Gear lineup included: Kramer ss, Reid c, Thompson rf, Joyce 3b, Righini cf, Campbell lf, Devine 2b, Ainslie lb, Lenox p.

In other games Quincy Pirates beat Quincy Market, 7-3; Blessed Sacrament defeated Boulevard Associates, 6-5; West Quincy Eagles topped Karhu AC, 12-6; West Quincy AC triumphed over Quincy Cubs, 9-8.

WAGE CUT AT YARD

The 4,685 workers at the Fore River Shipyard were given 15 per cent wage cuts as General Manager Harry E. D. Gould said there was no truth to rumors the yard would close when present contracts are finished.

"I have been with this plant for 30 years now and this is one of the hardest things I was ever forced to do," said Gould of the pay reductions.

VETS CONVENTION FOR QUINCY

Plans were announced to hold the 33rd annual convention of the United Spanish War Veterans of Massachusetts in Quincy in June with 2,000 delegates as guests of the John A. Boyd Camp.

Also invited to attend the convention were Sen. David I. Walsh (D-Mass), Rep. Richard B. Wigglesworth (R-Milton), Gov. Joseph B. Ely and Boston Mayor James Michael Curley.

DRIVER SENTENCED

A prominent Boston insurance man was fined $100 and sentenced to three months in the House of Correction for drunken driving by Judge Albert E. Avery in Quincy District Court.

Police testified they chased the defendant two and a half miles in his car at speeds up to 60 miles an hour on straightaways and 35 miles an hour around curves.

CIVIL WAR VETS DINED

The four surviving members of the Paul J. Revere GAR Post were guests of honor at a testimonial banquet given by the Quincy American Legion Post at the Spic and Span Grill.

They were Commander Frederick H. Bishop, Vice Commander Elwood Litchfield, Adjutant James H. Webb, and Officer of the Day Charles A. Brown.

But they do point out that our country is in deep, deep trouble.

The basic question for those of us worried about business planning for the future is whether we are in a recession or are we well on the way to a full scale depression. Or putting it another way, if we are into a recession, will it lead to a major depression?

After Asa came about doing this talk today. I did some very unscientific polling by simply talking to people I met. My question to a fair number of persons was this: if you had to have one or the other, would you pick a depression or continued inflation.

I found some strong feelings both ways but I think most people feared a depression. They saw inflation as something they could understand better, even though they had trouble coping with the results. Small business-men were more for inflation than depression and this is understandable. They can add on inflation costs but they might lose their businesses if a deep depression came about.

Of all the things before us to avoid a depression, the only viable plan is to bolster the defense department. This will do nothing about inflation and it may be at least a year before the effect of strengthening the defense activity will be felt.

This approach is something like that of Franklin D. Roosevelt when he really ended the depression of the thirties with preparation for World War Two.

The mood of our country today, I feel, is that our nation can be pushed around. Whether or not we have respect in the international field is open to debate.

The old days of gunboat diplomacy are over although many an American longs for a modernized version of this approach when we are up against such problems as the holding of 50 Americans hostage for an interminable time.

There are two other items to mention:

One is the question of when interest rates will peak. There is some sign that we may have reached this point. The T Bill rate has been going down for three weeks now after reaching an all time high of 16.553.

Second is the possibility of wage and price controls which may sound good as an idea to control inflation but which in reality are not workable.

So you see, I have not come up with answers, perhaps because there are none.

But the warnings should frighten all of us.

We are used to business cycles.

We know they are a natural part of the law of supply and demand. I think part of our confusion today is that there is not much confidence in our President's prescription for curing the economic ills of the country.

Nor is he getting much in the way of media support for his efforts.

The net result is truly tragic.

I don't mean tragic for the President; I mean it is tragic for our country, which should be strong, prosperous and moving into the 80's with a sure sense of direction.

When America celebrated its bicentennial, the London Economist took a long, hard look at our American Democracy.

One of the writers said we had had 200 glorious years but there could be grave doubts about our ability to survive intact for another 200 years.

He pointed out that the decline of the British Empire started in the late 1800s but its full effect was not felt until 50 years later.

And the writer saw exactly the same symptoms setting in for our country, with productivity declining and incentives for achievement gradually drying up.

Can we today have a full scale depression without emerging as a socialist country?

We are well on the way to state socialism but the process could well be speeded up with a serious depression....

Government spending, whether city, county, state or federal is blamed for much of the downfall of our way of life.

However, this is not a political talk - it is a call for action now by all thoughtful and concerned citizens. Elected and appointed officials who are willing to stand up against the force of inflation need your support.

I think it is tragic today to see good citizens who own their own homes, which they hoped they could have for retirement now finding they can't afford them. They are being forced to sell and to move into a one or two room apartments in private or government owned housing projects.

I am old enough to have lived through the depression era of the 1930's, and because Rotary is often referred to as an old man's club, there may be some others here who remember the collapse of everything in the last quarter of 1929.

Anyone who lived through the great depression, and who witnessed its tragic effects, cannot get enthused about starting a recession as a course to combat inflation. The danger of a depression following is too great. It's the old story of kids playing with matches.

What really bothers me about a depression of major proportions is whether or not this country can go through such a traumatic experience now and emerge with our way of life intact and our democratic government and our business institutions unharmed.

In the previous depression we had a different kind of national mentality. As battered and beaten as they were, our people still had faith in democracy and they still believed that prosperity would return. They had faith in America.

Today the mental attitude of our population may be different.

Today too many people have a cynical feeling about our way of life. Viet Nam and Watergate certainly did nothing to strengthen our national image. And add to this disillusionment the widespread moral rot in our nation and you can ask yourself whether we can successfully ride out a major economic storm.

Finally, I would like to point out what could very well be the most frightening thing about our present economic situation.

Suppose for a moment that we did in fact slip from a recession into a major depression while inflation continued upward.

And suppose, too, that a demagogue appeared on the scene, a real live dangerous character who could stir the masses to action. I wonder whether our democracy could be in real danger at that time. I think of what happened, for instance, in postwar Germany when Hitler realized that he could ride into power by concentrating on the beaten and depressed mood of the Germans. And, as I speculated on this possible threat, I was fascinated to read in the first edition of the Boston Globe's revised Business Section an interview with Professor David Riesman of Harvard in which he started out with the statement that "the intractable problems of recent months reminded me of Weimar Germany and filled me with similar foreboding. There is nothing more corrosive to a society than inflation. It distributes its benefits, which some reap, and its inequities in unpredictable and arbitrary ways. It is one of the reasons why we see so much egotism and hedonism."

Obviously the professor was thinking as I have been about the real dangers to a nation when the economy is out of control.

Now that I have spelled out to some extent the economic problems of our country, you have a perfect right to ask me what ought to be done about it.

I am reminded of a friend in Peru who published the leading paper in Lima. He complained so much about the Peruvian economy that the government made him prime minister. The government attitude was that if he knew so much about what was wrong, perhaps he could turn things around. Incidentally, one of the first things he did was to hire Arthur D. Little to make a study of the financial problems of his country. I should tell you he finally ended up having the government seize his paper and he had to go into exile. Perhaps his country didn't want to hear tough answers to tough questions.

So I don't have any simple answers today.

I do, however, feel very strongly that people such as we have here today should try to follow these recommendations:

1. Don't lose your faith in your country.

2. Don't think that you are helpless in the face of this terrible problem.

3. Keep active and make your voice heard.

4. Participate when you can in any economy related activity even on a community level.

I would say to all of you here today that we must find some workable answers soon or we run the risk of irreparable damage being done to our democracy and to our way of life, both of which are in real danger today.

And our country has to count on you folks to work our way back to fiscal sanity.

House Approves $150,000 More For Quincy Junior

An amendment to the 1981 state budget providing Quincy Junior College with an additional $150,000 to meet administrative costs and expenses has been accepted by the House.

The budget is now in the Senate for action.

The amendment was filed by Rep. Michael Morrissey (D-Quincy) and supported by the entire Quincy delegation.

In debating the amendment, Morrissey noted that QJC is the only municipally sponsored two-year college in the state.

"Its enrollment has continued to grow to a full time day enrollment of approximately 1,000 students, 2,700 students in the Division of Continuing Education and 1,550 students in the Summer Session," he said. "The tuition charges are currently $600 a year for residents and $700 a year for non-residents."

Morrissey said that about 50 percent of the full-time students are non-residents.

"The City of Quincy can no longer be expected to subsidize the cost of higher education for non-Quincy residents," he said. "We should the community be expected to be the only Massachusetts city which must pay the higher education expenses for its citizens."

"If Quincy Junior College were to close its doors and the thousands of full-time students were to enroll in community colleges, it would cost the state close to two million dollars."

New Recreational Therapy Room

QCH Stay Now Brighter For Senior Citizen Patients

Days are a little brighter for senior citizen patients at Quincy City Hospital recently, thanks to the hospital staff, the QCH Women's Auxiliary and others.

A recreational therapy room at the hospital, for use by the hospital's senior citizen patients, was recently opened. The room was dedicated in memory of Joyce Deacon of Weymouth, who died recently after working as a nurse at QCH for over 20 years.

The project got underway last December, according to Judith Scarry, R.N., QCH medical-surgical supervisor.

"We recognized a real need for this sort of thing," said Miss Scarry, noting that about 40 percent of the hospital's patients are senior citizens.

Many have no family and no friends, she said, and have the attitude of "I've got nothing to live for, just let me die."

A committee of nurses, social workers and patient care coordinators was formed to start a program on behalf of the hospital's geriatric patients. They got the support of the hospital administration, which donated space for the project, and the Women's Auxiliary, which donated $600 for materials and equipment.

Among the activities offered in the recreational therapy room are bingo, cards and other group games, painting, coloring, modeling clay and other crafts, exercise, puzzles, reading, music and letter writing.

Staffing the center are community volunteers, retired nurses, Women's Auxiliary members, members of church groups and others.

The program has many advantages for the hospital's geriatric patients, Miss Scarry said.

It gives them something to do, and provides variety in their daily routines. It provides a setting for patients to meet and socialize, provides motivation for improvement of their health and allows for contact with the community.

Most of all, she said, "it shows them that people really do care."

"The real reward is seeing this program become a reality: the smiling faces and enthusiasm of our geriatric clients," Miss Scarry said.

300 Volunteers In Germantown Cleanup Saturday

More than 300 volunteers will turnout Saturday at 8:30 a.m. for a four-hour litter cleanup in the Germantown area.

The event is being sponsored by the Germantown Heritage Society. "Germantown residents have already demonstrated their leadership in litter control, having won first place in The Litter Olympics three years ago," noted Harold Crowley, society president. "While there will be no Litter Olympics competition this year, a turnout of 300 speaks well for the determination of the residents of this area to set an example for the rest of the city."

The drive marks the third successive year that such an event has taken place under the sponsorship of the Germantown Heritage Society.

Supporting the campaign is the Corporation for a Cleaner Commonwealth, a privately funded, public service organization spearheading a statewide litter control and recycling campaign. Thirty gallon trash bags will be distributed bearing the legend, "Massachusetts, Let's Clean Up Our Act," and passing motorists will be given car litter bags as reminders to stash their trash inside their vehicles, rather than on the streets.

The Corporation will also be distributing Litter Patrol tee-shirts for the Germantown youngsters, who will pick up tons of trash for consignment to the city dump.

W. Scott Parr, president of the Cleaner Commonwealth Corporation, commented: "Carelessly discarded trash is an eyesore and a health hazard, and the people of Germantown are to be commended for their local initiative."

The corporation welcomes inquiries from other Quincy community groups about technical assistance, materials, and possible limited financial support for developing local clean-up programs.

Information about community support programs offered by the Corporation for a Cleaner Commonwealth, may be obtained by phoning Richard L. Anderson, Director of Public Affairs at (617) 482-7977.

Wary Council Refuses To Get Involved In Dump Dispute

The City Council tiptoed warily around an invitation to get involved in the expansion of the city dump Monday night and finally wound up turning it down.

The invitation was a request from Mayor Tobin and DPW Commissioner James J. Ricciuti that Phase 4 landfill applications be filed with the proper agencies.

This made the Council wary because it is Ricciuti and not the Council that is required to file the applications.

"Even if this City Council unanimously votes 'no,'" said Councillor Daniel G. Raymond, "the mayor can do it anyway."

"I don't think we should get involved in those kinds of disputes unless we can resolve something or have an impact on the decision."

The dispute involves preservation of the 90-year-old Lyons Turning Mill, a ruined relic of the great days of granite, that stands in the midst of the expansion area.

Ricciuti told the Council that the applications for permits had to be filed pretty soon since there was only about a year left on Phase 3 of the landfill.

"We are in a stagnant position," he said. "We are not doing anything for the future. We are filling up Phase 3."

"You put the rubbish out at 7 o'clock in the morning and it disappears rather conveniently but we've got to have some place to put it."

It could boil down to a question of Phase 4 or preserving the old mill, Ricciuti said.

"We've had 300 letters supporting it," he said, "and I think you're going to have some reaction."

"I don't want to rip anything down or propose that it be ripped down but its location poses problems."

He said preserving the mill and disposing of rubbish other than in Phase 3 of the landfill might cost $1 million.

"We must look into this Lyons Turning Mill to see if there is any possible means that it can be retained as a historic site," said Councillor John J. Quinn.

He moved that the mayor's communication be put in the Disposal and Sanitation Committee for study but withdrew the motion once, he said, he had achieved his purpose of getting a discussion going on it.

The Council then voted to let Ricciuti file the necessary applications.

New Council Rules Limit President To Single Term

committees, all of which now exist as special committees.

They are the Committees on Oversight, Tourism, Federal Funds, Public Transportation, Senior Citizens Activities, Environmental Control and Disposal and Sanitary Problems.

Mayor Tobin took mild offense at the inclusion of the mayor in the rule governing preparation of the budget.

"They cannot make an order and say something will be prepared by the mayor," he said. "They can't direct the mayor to do anything. Their rules are only binding on themselves."

"There really doesn't have to be an agenda anyway. All the charter says is that I must send to the City Council those matters that are to be acted on. I'm bound only by the charter.

"The agenda is only a courtesy. Nothing says I have to operate with an agenda. It's just that we always have. All I have to do is make presentations to the Council and I'll continue to do that."

"And I don't need anyone's approval to do it."

Republicans Choose Presidential Delegates

Republican delegates pledged to presidential candidates Ronald Reagan, George Bush and John Anderson were chosen from the 11th Congressional District Saturday at a caucus in the Wollaston Methodist Church.

Three delegates and three alternates will attend the Republican National Convention in Detroit in July.

Joseph M. Cunningham of Milton and Alternate Thomas Humphreys of Brockton were pledged to Reagan.

Andrew H. Card Jr. of Holbrook and Alternate James Coyle of Boston were pledged to Bush.

Vera Smith Barnett of Braintree and Alternate Marjorie Crispin, also of Braintree, were pledged to Anderson. Since the March primary in Massachusetts, Anderson has withdrawn as a Republican candidate and plans to run as an independent but he still has 13 Bay State delegates.

The delegates chosen Saturday have five working days in which to be certified by the Republican State Committee.

Raymondi Seeks City Control Over Public Agencies Locations

Association recommended that city councils draft such ordinances for handling neighborhood residences.

"There is nothing in existence now," he said. "This is the first step by Quincy to exert some control over the community residences that will be coming into the city."

Raymondi said he will not "push for a vote on this for some time until I explore some of the ramifications but it is important that people know we are discussing this issue."

The ordinances would set up rules for buildings used for "associations of persons living together in a common dwelling, dormitory or other educational institutions, or community residences used as medical facilities."

Licenses would be denied unless "the facility meets all safety, fire and wiring codes and that the said license will not tend to impair the status of the neighborhood."

Also "that the said license will not adversely affect the health or safety of persons living in the neighborhood or be injurious to the neighborhood or detrimental to the public welfare."

Mark Scanlan Author Of Mass. Fields Editorial

A "Young Ideas" four-page pullout section written by youngsters at the Massachusetts Fields School appeared in last week's Quincy Sun and has been highly acclaimed.

One of the best articles was an editorial entitled "Cambodia: Hell On Earth."

Inadvertently, the name of the young author somehow vanished.

So for you who have been wondering, it was written by Mark Scanlan of 337 Billings Rd., Wollaston, a sixth grader at the school.

And, in case you didn't catch the editorial last week here it is:

Cambodia: Hell On Earth
This article is about the people of Cambodia who are gentle people, but because of their position are threatened with battles constantly. Because of this, they are dying not only of fatal wounds, but also of starvation! The Cambodians have nothing to do, but hope and pray that someone will help them. Many nations have offered to help the Cambodians, but the Cambodian Government has denied their people the privilege of having enough to eat. Like many species the Cambodians may be wiped off the face of the earth, if we do not respond to their needs.

"KISSING DISEASE"

One of the most common diseases among college students is infectious mononucleosis. It is popularly known as the "kissing disease", supposedly because it is transmitted by kissing.

It is also called glandular fever, or simply mono. Mono means "one nucleus", which is characteristic of certain white cells in the blood. These cells become numerous in the blood of a person with the disease.

Although the disease has been recognized for more than a century, it still remains somewhat of a mystery. Some physicians have suspected that it is caused by a virus, but the U.S. Medical Laboratories states that "no infectious agent has actually been isolated."

It generally attacks young people between 15 and 30. However, it seems to be impossible for some people to be infected. In many cases, one student will contract the disease while his roommate was not.

"When kids are selling drugs to other kids, some kids could overdose and die. The kid who's selling it has got to be made to realize this and think about it. I don't think 'continued without a finding' is going to give him much to think about."

Mahoney said he also disagrees with Judge Kramer that "alcohol is more serious than marijuana."

"Because he doesn't drink," he said, "or because his generation has had a terrible experience with the health and social hazards of alcohol, he can't even begin to conceptualize what marijuana is going to do because he doesn't know."

"We don't have all the answers but those of us who have been working in the area know that, medically speaking, marijuana is far more dangerous than alcohol."

The medical danger of marijuana and other drugs is one of the subjects Mahoney would like to cover in the seminar he proposes for Judge Kramer and his staff.

"The medical findings clearly point out," he said, "that marijuana as a drug, the THC (the active ingredient), has damaging effects to the brain, to the heart, to the lungs, to the immune system, not to mention the psychological aspects in terms of apathy."

"We're not talking simple monthly or occasional use; we're talking kids who smoke five joints a week."

"Medical evidence points out that marijuana is a fat soluble as opposed to alcohol being a water soluble. It points out that the cancer-causing chemicals in the marijuana plant itself far exceed anything we know with the exception of DDT."

Mahoney said he would also show the judge motion pictures of kids dealing drugs, pictures that were taken just prior to the raid in which 17 young people were arrested.

"I would try to make him understand that I'm not out there trying to croak kids or hurt them," he said. "My job is just the opposite. But there are kids who have to understand that we're just not going to tolerate it."

"Like Al Kramer as a person, but Judge Kramer is being, in my opinion, somewhat irresponsible in making statements about things he doesn't understand."

"Historically, the district court was designed to reflect the attitudes of the community. More and more I'm seeing that the Quincy District Court does not reflect the values of the people of Quincy, Braintree and Weymouth."

"I would remind the good judge that after he makes a decision and leaves his court, he drives back to Brookline. He doesn't live with the problems of the community. He doesn't see the kid when he's out there dealing. He sees him only in court."

"He ought to have some understanding of what is happening in the community, that's all. It's okay to love a kid and care for a kid but, from time to time, you've got to get angry with them. You've got to help them understand, even if it hurts you more than it does them."

Mahoney noted that he is chairman of the Quincy Youth Commission which is made up of representatives of the schools, the police, the recreation department and the courts.

"What we are lacking at this point is not so much the court's involvement but its participation and understanding of where the community is coming from," he said.

This is the 12th in a series of articles on the drug problem in Quincy.

The Shortstop's Name Is Nancy

Nancy's Boston Gear team, has been a big help, they both said.

"She could have had a rough time, but his attitude has been super," said Mrs. Flukes.

"He's nice," adds Nancy. Nancy, who's blond, fourteen-eight and weighs 78 pounds, says her teammates have treated her like "one of the guys."

She made her debut at shortstop Monday night in a 10-10 tie with Houghs Neck, called because of darkness. Like most nine and ten-year olds in the nine to 12-year old league, she played just two innings.

According to Mrs. Flukes, Nancy made "a couple of good stops" in the field, let another ball get past her and struck out on a call that enraged Coach Duncan.

"I think the excitement got to her," Mrs. Flukes said. "Ten minutes after she got home, she was asleep."

A fourth grader at the Montclair School, Nancy also enjoys tennis, which she just took up in November, and bowling.

"She has an 89 average," said Mrs. Flukes, "which aggravates me. That's the same as mine."

Aside from sports, Nancy says, "I love drawing." She enjoys drawing cartoon characters.

Eligible to play in the Little League for two more years, she says, "I'll play as long as I can."

2 Others Win $150, $50

Quincy Center Man Wins $300 Prize In QCBPA Promotion

Tom MacKay, of 32 Gay St., Quincy Center, won the $300 top prize in the recent Lucky Bucks shopping promotion conducted by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

Other prize winners were Mrs. Joseph Jodanis, 56 Norman St., Milton, winner of $150 and Mrs. Stella Iocchio, 21 Edinboro Rd., Quincy Point, winner of $50.

The names of winners were drawn from among coupons clipped from a QCBPA advertising tabloid and deposited at one of 24 participating Quincy Center businesses.

MacKay, 20, deposited his winning coupon at Burger King, 62 Granite St. He is a 1979 graduate of Quincy high working in construction.

He was unable to use the last prize he won, a pair of Celtics tickets awarded by a stereo store, because he was out of town on vacation that week.

Mrs. Jodanis, a retired widow, says she's won several small prizes from the state lottery before, "but this is the biggest thing I've ever won."

Her winning coupon was deposited at Tag's Discount Furniture, 1486 Hancock St.

Mrs. Iocchio, whose husband, Hugo, works at the South Station Postal Annex, says this is the first prize she can recall winning. "It's great," she said. She deposited her winning coupon at Cummings, 1479 Hancock St.

Council Says No

ENC To Try Again To Get Wendell Ave.

A NEW STEEPLE was delivered by crane for Wollaston Church of the Nazarene's new annex Tuesday. The glass steeple will top off the 8-foot high annex to the existing church, which is targeted for October completion.

Eastern Nazarene College is not going to give up in its attempt to obtain a portion of Wendell Ave. in Wollaston in order to improve security on the campus.

The City Council Monday night voted 8-0 not to abandon a section of the residential street that splits the campus. Councillor James A. Sheets, an ENC grad, did not vote.

President Donald Irwin called the vote "a mild setback."

"We will continue to work for the abandonment of Wendell Ave.," he said. "and I will make another request at a future date. "In the meantime, we will try to minimize the objections to the closing of the street."

During a public hearing on the proposed abandonment two weeks ago, Richard Schubert, an ENC trustee, said the college might revive plans to leave Quincy if it could not get the street.

Irwin said the trustees will gather at their regular quarterly meeting May 24 "and undoubtedly they will discuss this. I won't predict what action they'll take."

But, he said, the college will go ahead with plans to replace Canterbury Hall, build a new library and "generally upbuild and refurbish our present campus."

"Abandonment of this avenue," said Irwin, "would improve the safety and welfare of our students and children who attend our day care services and the community at large."

"It would greatly reduce the amount of vandalism by those who freely drive through our campus on Wendell Ave."

But the councillors, led by Stephen J. McGrath, the local ward councillor, saw it as a police problem that would not necessarily be solved by abandoning the street.

"I think the proposed abandonment would create more problems than it is meant to solve," said McGrath. "I'm not convinced that the safety problem or the vandalism would be solved."

"There are adverse effects, especially on traffic in the Sachem St., Willow St., Sewell St., and Ridgeway St. areas, as well as causing great inconvenience to residents."

He noted that many residents of the area spoke with considerable feeling in opposition to abandonment at the hearing.

"The City Council," he said, "should reflect the will of the majority and it is quite obvious public support is against abandonment."

"I will work with the college on solving some of the problems of security, which I feel is a police problem to be solved by the police. Abandonment is not going to address that problem."

Councillor Daniel J. Raymond had a more pragmatic reason for voting against abandonment.

"The thing that disturbed me at the public hearing," he said, "was the amount of skepticism people have about public officials."

"If I took one thing home from that meeting it was probably 85 per cent of the people who spoke in opposition came up with the idea that they didn't think the city should abandon the property but that their opinions weren't going to have much weight with the City Council."

"We have to assure those people that their opinions do count, that we did listen and that we are not going to have the matter sit in committee without due reason."

Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia moved to delay the vote at least until the next Council meeting so he could "review the issue in more depth and make an honest judgement."

But McGrath pointed out that the question had been before the Council for two years and "it's time we voted on it one way or the other."

Montclair Men Nominate Bereszniewicz President

William Bereszniewicz was nominated for president of the Montclair Men's Club at the recent monthly business meeting. The formal election will take place in June.

Also nominated were Leo J. Doyle, vice president; Edward P. Adams, treasurer; Andrew A. Orrock, recording secretary; Richard E. Post, financial secretary; Herbert Baker, corresponding secretary; James F. Kelley St., trustee; and Thomas F.

Bridges, sergeant at arms.

Installation of officers will be held at a dinner-dance Saturday, Sept. 6 at the Clubhouse.

Club members voted to continue their opposition to construction of two four-family dwellings at 19-25 John St. as proposed by the Salvaggi Trust of Weymouth.

City Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. and Joseph N. Gildea Sr. of the Civic Committee, urged that all concerned citizens appear at a hearing before the Board of Appeals Tuesday, May 13, at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

Mike's Corner

This is the 43rd in a series of articles written

By Representative
Michael W. Morrissey

The pace of Legislative activity is fast and furious. If you are interested in any piece of legislation and wish to know its current status, please don't hesitate to call my office.

The state budget has passed the House and will shortly be before the Senate. The most controversial section of the House budget is the proposed reorganization of Higher Education in the Commonwealth. The Budget includes a 4 percent cost-of-living increase for state retirees, and a 5 percent cost-of-living increase for A.F.D.C. recipients, and local aid has been level funded.

The Committee on Urban Affairs, of which I am Vice-Chairman, has reported out a bill to protect renters from Condominium conversions. The proposed bill would give renters a six-month notice to seek other housing, while giving the low and moderate income people a year's stay and will prohibit the eviction of people 62 years or older. The bill would allow the tenant the right of first refusal to purchase the units. The bill also gives any city or town the right to restrict by special permit condo conversions when 10 percent of the rental stock becomes condominiums. If you have any questions or if I can be of any assistance, I can be reached at 727-7035, or at home by calling 328-0900.

AT THE STARTING LINE—The runners are off in Sunday's second annual "Run For Your Life" road race. More than $5,500 in pledges has already been collected and final contributions are expected to top last year's $13,000 total. The winner was Robert Thorne, 22, of Quincy Center, who finished the five miles in 25:58. Thorne is visible at the front left, wearing number 447.

$6,000 Raised For Hospital

Thorne Wins 'Run For Your Life Road Race'

Former Quincy High star Bob Thorne was the overall winner of last Sunday's second annual Quincy City Hospital 5-mile "Run for Your Life Road Race" which raised an estimated $6,000 for the hospital's cardiac and intensive care units.

Quincy Sons of Italy donated $500. All 251 starters finished.

Thorne, 22, finished in 25:58, followed by Jim Carpenter, 25, of Quincy, 26:16, and Craig Binney, 18, of North Weymouth, 27:06.

Linda Kennedy, 14, of Quincy, was the first female finisher in 30:40, followed by Sheila Barrett, 14, of Quincy, 31:32, and Donna Reardon, 18, of Quincy, 31:41. Kennedy and Reardon are top athletes at Quincy High and Barrett at North Quincy.

The first Quincy city employee to finish was Police Officer Joseph Murphy and the first female employee was Carol Howes of Quincy City Hospital.

Medals for the youngest finishers went to Tracy Coull, 12, of Quincy; Jill Iann Fitzgerald of Quincy; and Maureen Murphy of Randolph, both 11.

City engineer Eddie Leone and Dr. Paul Ossen of Quincy, finished 1-2 for those 60 and over.

Among other finishers were Sen. Paul Harold (113th), Assistant City Planner Richard Meade (127th), City Solicitor Robert Fleming, whose son, Ed, 13, barely beat him out for 136th place, Councillor Stephen McGrath (181st) and Councillor Joseph LaRaia. LaRaia finished 223rd and his son, Joe Jr., finished 105th. Dick Koch Jr., son of Parks Dept. executive secretary, Dick, placed 95th.

Also finishing were Nancy Noble, secretary to Mayor Tobin; Tobin's daughter, Kelly Ann, and Lois Murphy.

Councillor Jim Sheet and his sons, Jimmy and Tad, Councillor Frank McCauley and Rep. Mike Morrissey, all walked the route.

Meade was given a desk set for his work on the committee and his wife, Kathy, who also worked hard to make the affair a success, was given a gift certificate for dinner for two at Houlihan's at Quincy Market.

More than 500 hot dogs were served, as well as 500 ice cream bars donated by Hendrie's; 500 drinks donated by Burger King; 300 cups of coffee donated by Mug 'n' Muffin, and 600 slices of cake made by the CETA training center in North Quincy.

Laracy Wins 3 Events In AAU Meet

Bob Laracy, 10, of the Quincy AAU swim team, won the 100-yard freestyle, 100-yard breaststroke and the 100-yard backstroke and finished second in the 100-yard butterfly in an AAU meet at Cranston, R.I., featuring AAU swimmers from Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

The 1980-81 AAU season will commence in September, but young Laracy will probably swim in some meter (long course) meets this summer.

Pitching Good But*Quincy, North Victims Of Power Shortage

The Quincy and North Quincy baseball teams received pitching gems last Friday but the batters faltered and both teams lost pitching duels.

Quincy, losing its fourth in a row after winning on opening day, dropped a 1-0 squeaker to Cambridge Rindge and Latin and North, after two impressive wins in a row, lost to Waltham, 2-1. Friday night Quincy plays at Brookline at 7 o'clock and Monday night at 7:30 Quincy and North Quincy meet under the lights at Adams Field. Wednesday, Quincy hosts Brockton at 3:30 at Adams.

Junior Andy Carrera, who has been one of Quincy's outstanding two-way performers, went all the way against Cambridge and allowed just two hits over the seven-inning route. However, the one run he gave up in the second inning proved enough for Rindge and Latin to win it.

North received a great pitching performance from junior Mark Millane who, in his first varsity start, went all the way as the Raiders lost in extra innings to Waltham.

Millane would have won, 1-0, in regulation time, but an error enabled Waltham to tie the score in the seventh and the Hawks won it in the eighth.

Tony Camillo walked with the bases loaded in the third inning for North's only run.

Millane had a perfect game for five innings and finished up by striking out seven and walking only one.

Lack Of Depth Hurts North

The North Quincy boys' track team, after impressive wins in its first two meets, took its share of individual wins last week but lack of depth resulted in losses to Weymouth South, 77-68, and to powerful Newton North, 85-60.

Lou Tozzi's Raiders will compete in the state coaches meet Saturday and will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin next Wednesday at 3:30 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

In the Weymouth South meet Lou DiPietro was first and Bob Pound second in the shot put, Dave Penzo was second in the javelin, Tim Allen third in the discus, Joe Dudek won the long jump, Walt McConaghy won the triple jump, Jack Leone won the high jump with Kevin Wood second, Rich McCarthy won the pole vault with Jake McCarthy third; Tom Pound was second in the low hurdles, Leone second and Steve McEachern third in the high hurdles, Steve Mastroianni won the 100, Dudek was second in the 220, John Mantalos won the 440 with Mike Ayles second, McConaghy was second in the 880 and Gary Morin was edged in the final few yards in the two-mile. The mile relay team of McConaghy, Mantalos, Wood and Bill Timmins won.

In the Newton meet DiPietro was third in the shot put, Mastroianni second in the long jump, undefeated McConaghy won the triple jump, Leone won the high jump, Bill Dailey was third in the vault, Tom Pound won the low hurdles, Leone won the high hurdles with McEachern second, Mastroianni won the 220, North swept the 440 with McConaghy, Mantalos and Wood finishing 1-2-3, Timmins won the 880, John Barrett won the mile, Morin was second in the two-mile and the mile relay team of McConaghy, Mantalos, Timmins and Rich McCarthy won.

"We have some outstanding performers but, as I said at the start of the season, we have our smallest squad and we lack depth, which is hurting us," Tozzi said.

Quincy Tennis Team In 2 Shutouts

Quincy boys' tennis team, playing consistently well, added two impressive shutout wins last week to improve its record to 4-2.

Friday the Presidents blanked Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 5-0, with Gary Durante, Tony O'Malley and Dave Hamburger winning in singles and the teams of Peter Fain and Jeff May and Mike Nigro and Mike Shea completing the sweep in doubles.

Earlier in the week shut out Weymouth South, 5-0, yielding just one set point in the singles play. Durante and O'Malley won their matches, 6-0, 6-0, and Nigro won, 6-1, 6-0.

In doubles, Hamburger and Fain won, 6-0, 6-1 and George O'Kane and Shea won, 6-2, 6-4.

Quincy plays at Brookline Friday and will play at North Quincy Monday, both matches at 3:30.

Rides To 3 Wins*QJC In High Gear On Road

By PETE ZOIA

The Quincy Junior College baseball team proved itself a good road team last week when it romped at Wentworth, 10-0; breezed at Blue Hill Technical, 16-4, and was awarded a forfeit win at Bristol.

The sweep gave Dave Burke's Jaguars a 6-2-1 record. They play at North Shore Friday at 3:30.

Superb hurling by Bob Thomas, whose record to date is 30-1, sparked the Wentworth win. He was nipped for a fifth inning single and was never in trouble, striking out seven and walking none. This is the second time this tall right hander has pitched a one-hit shutout.

QJC lost no time racking up runs, scoring two in the first, three in the second, four in the third and getting its 10th run in the fifth inning.

Big hitters for the winners were Paul Vespaziani, smacking a double and two singles, Dave McLaughlin, punching out three singles, Brian Condon, getting a three-bagger and a single, Dave Moran, with two triples, and John Newcomb, connecting for a 310-foot double and a single. Eric Carrera topped off the 13-hit barrage with a base hit. He also instigated a welcome double play maneuver, helping toward the shut out.

A great catch in center field by Mike McCormack, who then managed to double up an errant base runner, was another defensive highlight.

The Saturday morning encounter against Blue Hills was a standstill for one full inning, each club chalking up three runs.

Bob Olgey, the Jaguar starting pitcher, settled down and blanked the home team the remaining four innings he pitched, for his second win, while his teammates added two more runs in the second and 11 tallies in a big fifth inning bombardment.

Burke decided to give Jim Sweezy a chance to show his stuff on the mound and he didn't do too badly, giving up only one run in the two innings he worked.

Catcher Ed McElaney and Thomas, who was filling in at first base, each rapped out three singles.

McLaughlin continued to pound the ball with two singles, Vespaziani contributed a two-bagger and Olgey and Mike Colon added singles to give QJC its highest run total for the season to date.

A great outfield catch by Moran of the winners, who fell down but came up with the ball, was the defensive gem of this game.

● Softball*First Ladies Win Pair, Raiderettes Bow, 15-8

Barbara Webster's Quincy girls' softball team continued to roll along last week with wins over Weymouth South and Cambridge Rindge and Latin, the First Ladies' fifth and sixth wins in a row after losing their non-league opener.

Meanwhile, Lou Ioanelli's North Quincy girls suffered their second defeat, bowing to Waltham, 15-8.

Friday, Quincy hosts Brookline and Monday will be home to North Quincy, both games at 3:30 at Faxon Field. North is idle Friday.

Quincy (6-9 in the Suburban League and 4-1 overall) stayed tied for the league lead with Newton North as Susan Gallery, the workhorse for the pitching corps, improved her record to 5-1 Friday as the First Ladies topped Cambridge, 19-10.

Mary Kamb, Maureen Maher and Nancy MacDonald had two hits apiece. Quincy took advantage of seven errors and six walks.

Earlier in the week Quincy scored three runs in the last inning to squeeze by Weymouth South, 10-9.

With the bases loaded in the seventh, Kamb singled in a run and Nancy Chudzinski singled home the two winning runs. Gallery picked up the victory.

North had another good day at the plate but its pitching fell down against Waltham. Joan Runge had three hits and scored three runs and Patrice Negus had three hits and drove in three runs.

Atlantic Center Street Hockey Champ

Atlantic Center defeated Wollaston Center, 6-3, to win the Quincy recreation Department All-City Street Hockey Championship.

Atlantic advanced to the finals by defeating Squantum, 4-2 in the semi-final game. Atlantic's Pat O'Sullivan scored two first period goals to put his team ahead, 2-0, at the end of one period. David Fasano and Tony Losordo added two more goals for a 4-0 lead after two periods. Squantum would not quit and Patrick Harrington scored for Squantum, while David Danton closed the score to 4-2. Squantum continued to apply pressure until the final whistle, but Atlantic's defense held on for the win.

Wollaston advanced to the finals by defeating Adams, 3-1, in the semi-finals. Adams, the tournament Cinderella team, scored first on a William McArdle goal. The 1-0 lead was short-lived as Wollaston answered with goals from Mike Barron, Pat Feeney and Paul Lester to lead 3-1 at the end of the first period. Although both teams had numerous chances no goals were scored in the last two periods and the 3-1 score proved to be the final.

The Championship game

between Atlantic, coached by Paul Bregoli, and Wollaston, piloted by Steve Mele, was hotly contested with both teams scoring frequently. Wollaston scored first on one of Paul Lester's two goals and assists were by Mike Barron and Pat Feeney. Atlantic tied the score with Dave Fasano scoring and O'Sullivan assisting. O'Sullivan then pumped in the first of his two goals with assists from Kevin McCloskey and Derek Holt. Atlantic lead 2-1 at the end of the first period.

Wollaston's Paul Lester scored with an assist from Mike Barron to tie the score at 2 each. Atlantic pulled ahead with a David Fasano goal assisted by O'Sullivan. Wollaston answered with a Pat Feeney from Paul Lester goal before O'Sullivan and Tim Burke put Atlantic ahead, 4-3, at the end of two. The third period was all Atlantic as Fasano added to the lead with an assist from Mark Scanlan. O'Sullivan rounded out the scoring with an unassisted goal to make Atlantic city champions.

Girls Track

North Girls Defeat Weymouth, Lose To Newton

The North Quincy girls' track team broke even in two meets last week and has a 2-2 record.

The Raiderettes will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin Monday at 3:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The North girls defeated Weymouth South, 67-51, with the brilliant Michelle Millane, as usual, winning the discus and shot put. She is far and away the best in these two events in the Suburban League and North is assured 10 points in these events in every meet. North swept the discus with Cheryl Ayles second and Karen Smith third.

Laurie Adams was second in the javelin. Mary Kate Kennedy was second and Karen Crehan third in the long jump. Crehan and Loretta Garrigan were 1-3 in the high jump. Garrigan won the low hurdles and Martha Donaghy was second, the 440 relay team of Nancy McCarthy, Kathy McCarthy, Eileen McKenna and Garrigan won. Kathy McCarthy was second and McKenna third in the 100. Kennedy won the 220 with Ayles third, Nancy McCarthy won the 440 with Ellen Robertson second, Ann Goryczka was second in the mile, Robyn O'Donnell was third in the two-mile and the mile relay team of Kennedy, Robertson, Lisa Cavanaugh and Mary Ellen Timmins won.

The Raiderettes lost to Newton North, 66-52, despite the usual double win by Millane in the discus and shot put.

"Michelle got her start with the Quincy Track Club, and several other girls also compete with the club, which is doing a fine job with boys and girls in its program," Coach Lou Tozzi said.

Ayles was third in the discus and Smith was third in the shot put. Adams was second in the javelin. Kennedy won the long jump with her best jump, 16-1, and Kara Crehan was second. Crehan was second and Garrigan third in the high jump, the 440-yard relay team of Kennedy, McKenna, Garrigan and Kathy McCarthy won. McKenna was second and Garrigan third in the low hurdles. Kennedy took second in the 100. Ayles was second and Kathy McCarthy third in the 220. Nancy McCarthy won the 440 in her best time, 62.6, and O'Donnell was second in the two-mile.

First Ladies Winless But Making Progress

The Quincy girls' track team, under coach Joe Amoroso and assistants Doug MacFarlane and John Franceschini, has its biggest squad, 24, with some outstanding individuals.

The First Ladies' coaches hope, as their many sophomores progress, they will develop more depth and be able to give the other Suburban League teams some trouble.

Although Quincy is 0-4, the coaches are pleased with the progress being made by several girls. The First Ladies will be at Brockton Tuesday and at Weymouth North next Thursday, both meets at 3:15.

"We have several girls who will give us first places and a few seconds and thirds but we lack depth and must develop more scorers if we hope to compete with the other teams," Amoroso said. "These kids have a lot of desire and I know we will be improving in every meet."

an outstanding sprinter and long jumper. Sue McLaughlin is a veteran sprinter and long jumper who looks good. Patricia Ilacqua is a middle distance runner and long jumper. Rita Pasqualone is outstanding in the discus and shot put and won both events in the first meet with Weymouth South.

Other members of the First Ladies' squad are Nancy MacDonald, middle distances and long jump; Anne Hannon, hurdles and javelin; Anne MacDonald, 220; Lois Latini, dashes and javelin; Jackie Irvine, two-mile and javelin; Susan Murray, dashes and long jump; Louise Flemming, shot put; Joanne Medicke, distances; Andrea Brown, high jump and dashes; Jean Dulligne, distances; Chris Irvine, distances; Mary Kerins, 440; Kathy MacKinnon, distances and field events; Maria Burke, distances and field events; Lorraine Coulter, two-mile; Karen Hassey, distances; Cathy Brown, dashes and long jump (an excellent prospect); Maureen Lamie, middle distances and high jump; Pam Doyle, hurdles, and Linda MacDonald, dashes.

Donna Reardon joined the team after the opening meet and is unbeaten in the mile. She and Burke in the two-mile were the only individual winners in last week's 71-46 loss to Brookline. The mile relay team also won.

The boys' team, also handled this year by the three girls' coaches, is 0-3, but John Furey is unbeaten in the two-mile and Roy Higgins is still undefeated in the 440 and long jump. Both won in last week's loss to Brookline, while John Varrasso won the shot put for the Presidents.

"There is little interest among the upper classmen and the many sophomores are our hopes for the future," Amoroso said. "If they stay with us, things should look better next season."

Here's a surprising fact... The baseball team that had more future Hall of Fame players on it than any other team in history -- the 1930 Yankees -- not only didn't win the pennant, but they didn't even come close. The Yankees had an incredible total of 11641 players in their lineup that year who made the Hall of Fame -- catcher Bill Dickey, first baseman Lou Gehrig, outfielders Babe Ruth and Lyle Combs, and pitchers Red Ruffing, Lefty Gomez, Herb Pennock and Walter Hoyt -- and yet oddly enough, they wound up 16 games out of first place.

What are the most tournaments any golfer ever won in a row on the U.S. pro golf tour?... The record was set by Byron Nelson who won an amazing 11 consecutive tournaments in 1945... To realize how incredible that record is, consider that today it's unusual for a pro golfer to finish first in even 2 or 3 straight tournaments -- so Nelson's record may stand a long time.

Of all the current managers in major league baseball, only one ever won a batting title in the big leagues. Who is he?... Answer is the manager of the Mets, Joe Torre... Torre led the National League in batting in 1971.

Cancer Crusade Reaches $6,500 Mark

Richard J. Koch, chairman of the 1980 Quincy Cancer Crusade and house-to-house coordinator reports today that $6,500 of the $8,500 goal has been reached.

Koch requests those volunteers who have been unable to complete their assignments to do so as soon as possible and make returns to the main office of the Hancock Bank, 1495 Hancock St., or any of its local branch offices.

Hundreds of volunteers were unable to conduct the neighborhood canvas last week due to the rain and inclement weather but will resume the solicitation throughout the current week.

Some 1,500 residents volunteered to assist in the house-to-house visits providing cancer education material and soliciting contributions for the continuing programs in cancer research and patient services.

The American Cancer Society does not receive money from the United Fund nor is it government funded but depends upon voluntary gifts to support its programs.

Those not at home during the time of the volunteer's visit are left envelopes and are requested to enclose a donation and mail to the American Cancer Society.

Persons not receiving the materials distributed or the donation envelopes and desiring the same, may contact Koch at 241 Newbury Avenue, North Quincy.

A number of crusaders, because of illness, were unable to visit their neighborhood section assigned and additional volunteers are needed to solicit those areas. Those wishing to assist may contact Koch or any of the following ward chairmen: Ward 1, Richard J. Koch Jr.; Ward 2, Theodore DeCristofaro, Ward 3, Janet Crowley; Ward 4, David Donaghue; Ward 5, Joseph E. Burke and Ward 6, Mrs. Linda Bowes.

Chamber Seminar For Small Businesses May 15

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce is repeating its Estate Planning Seminar for the Close Corporation and Family Owned Business on Thursday, May 15.

The seminar will be held between 9 a.m. and noon at the South Shore Bank Conference Center, Chestnut St., Quincy Center.

Panelists will include John C. Doody of Arthur L. Doody and Mahakessett insurance agencies;

Susan S. Stone of Needel and Siddall, CPA; Attorney Ralph Rivkind of Rivkind, Baker and Golden and Dennis Kennedy, trust officer for South Shore Bank.

Focusing on the small business owner, topics will include establishing a fair market value of your company, reducing estate taxes, should the business real estate be part of the business or treated separately, should a trust be established for your spouse and family, what should the terms of the trust be, should you retain joint or split property between you and your spouse, gift taxes, and choosing your trustee or executor.

Registration fees are $35 for Chamber members and $45 for non-members and includes materials and refreshments. Reservations may be made by calling the Chamber at 479-1111 or by mail to the Chamber at P.O. Box 488, Quincy, MA 02169.

Thayer Academy Reunion Day May 10

35-Foot Cartoon Strip Illustrates Story Of Jonah At Squantum First Church

A 35-foot cartoon strip depicting the story of the Old Testament prophet, Jonah, was unrolled Sunday morning during the worship service at the First Church of Squantum.

As the story was told, some of the characters in the drawings "stepped off" the page and sang the song "Jonah" to the congregation. These parts, all sailors on Jonah's ship, were played by members of the Boys' Choir and the tune was a traditional sea chanty. They were accompanied by Brian Colwell, playing the wood block, David Scott playing the finger cymbals, Billy Gerry playing the tambourine and Kathi Fluhr, their director, who played the autoharp.

The cartoons were presented by Susan Mildram, Steve Williams, Bonnie Adams and Steven Williams.

All of the hymns had to do with the sea. The Senior Choir led the worshippers in a special reading from the book of Jonah. The choir also sang "Come, All Ye Saints" by George P. Telleman.

Rev. Gene Langevin, pastor, preached on the topic, "Called Into Mission." He mentioned that two mission groups from the church were being recognized that afternoon for their work with the patients at Long Island Hospital.

Ralph and Del Dougherty were greeters for the morning. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Hazel Mayne, Gretchen Bumpus, David Mildram, Sue Sullivan and Tom Adams.

The service next Sunday will be preceded by a Mother's Day breakfast at 9:15 a.m. It will include orange juice, French toast, ham and a beverage. The meal will be prepared by Orange Crush, a youth group in the church, supervised by Stewart Scott, Richard Colwell and Kenneth Johnson. Proceeds will benefit the "New Stove" Fund. Reservations can be made by calling the church office at 328-6649. The public is invited.

The Mother's Day service will begin at 10:15 a.m.

Awards and exhibits will highlight the Quincy Art Association's fourth annual Arts Festival Friday and Saturday, May 9 - 10, at Adams Academy, 8 Adams St., Quincy Center.

Friday's activities will begin with a champagne reception at the Academy, 7 to 8 p.m., at which time visitors can view the artwork competition of Quincy students in grades nine to 12.

At 8 p.m., School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon will award the 1980 Quincy Art Association scholarships. Councillor Steven McGrath will award prizes to winners of the juried art show.

Councillor Francis X. McCauley and Cape Cod artist Dan McElwain, the art association's first president, will speak on the organization celebrating its 15th anniversary as Quincy's only art association.

Saturday, weather permitting, an all-day out door art show will be held, featuring the largest members' show yet.

Craftsmen will display their work, and a children's workshop will be held with sand sculpture, paper cutting, face painting and other activities.

The public is invited to both days' activities.

4 Quincy Residents In Curtin Call's 'South Pacific'

Four Quincy residents are featured in the Curtin Call Theatre's production of "South Pacific" to be presented May 9, 10 and 11 at 8 p.m. at the former Central Junior High School, Braintree.

The residents are Vicki Mucci who plays the Polynesian girl, Liat, who falls in love with a Navy Lieutenant; Maree Edge, who portrays the daughter of the French plantation owner Emile DeBeque and sings "Dites Moi"; Cathy Robertson and Mary Ellen Mean with roles as nurses who sing and dance in the number, "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outta My Hair".

Tickets can be obtained in advance at Braintree Savings Banks or by calling Pat Edge, 479-4657. Tickets will also be available at the door. A discount will be offered to students and senior citizens.

ENC Concert Band To Perform Friday

The Eastern Nazarene College Concert Band under the direction of Michael Bankston, will perform Friday, May 9 at 8 p.m. in the Student Center Auditorium at the college.

The band will play Choral and Shaker Dance by John Zdechlik. Prologue by Stephen Razo, Festive Overture by Dmitri Shostakovich, Light Calvary Overture by F. Von Suppi, Crown Imperial by William Walton, Concertino for Flute by Cecile Chaminade and Inner Kleiner by Adolf Schreiner.

The concert is free and open to the public.

Doris Oberg of Quincy will lecture on the Dorchester Pottery Works, Wednesday, May 14, at 8 p.m. at the First Parish Church, 10 Parish Street, on Meeting House Hill, Dorchester.

The Dorchester Pottery Works, which produced stoneware pottery for both industrial and home use from 1895 to 1979 is currently under study for designation by the Boston Landmarks Commission. According to Russell Doucette, a noted ceramicist and a dean at the Massachusetts College of Art, the works could be the country's only surviving example of a large primitive-type beehive kiln which was used industrially to make pottery.

Mrs. Oberg's slide lecture entitled "Dorchester Pottery: The Making of a Collector's Item" reviews with photographs and commentary the process employed at the pottery works including forming pieces, painting designs, and loading and unloading the unique beehive kiln. Examples of the pottery will be on exhibition.

Mrs. Oberg is vice President of the Quincy Historical Society.

Board Notes Opposition

Sam's Restaurant Withdraws Beer, Wine License Request

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
A continued request from Athanasios Koutoulas of Braintree for a common victualer-wine and beer license for Sam's Restaurant, Inc. 423 A Hancock St., was withdrawn without prejudice at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

The request was withdrawn after City Clerk John M. Gillis told board members and Koutoulas that he received letters from the North Quincy Development Corporation and Ward 6 Councilor Joanne Condon opposing granting of the license.

Gillis said the business group felt the license would not be in the best interest of businesses and the community. Mrs. Condon said there were adequate liquor establishments in the area.

Koutoulas, who has operated the business for seven months, originally requested the license April 22, saying he wanted to satisfy customers that said they would like a glass of wine or beer with their lunch or supper.

At this week's meeting, Gillis suggested that Koutoulas try to satisfy the North Quincy business district and Mrs. Condon by talking to them about the matter.

"I don't honestly see anything wrong with the beer and wine license request," said Gillis. "There have never been any problems there".

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald moved to allow withdrawal of the request, which was seconded by Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh. Police Chief Francis X. Finn and Fire Chief Edward Barry were not present at the meeting.

In another matter, the board continued for one week a request from the Quincy Track Club for a permit to conduct its annual tag days Friday, June 13, 6 to 9 p.m., and Saturday, June 14, noon to 8 p.m.

David Hamilton, representing the club, told the board the organization has never used intersections to solicit for tag days, and wouldn't now, referring to the board's recent concern over the safety of such practices.

MacDonald moved to grant the license with the stipulation there be no soliciting at intersections, but the motion died after no second was made. Dr. McKeogh has withheld his vote on tag day permits since the issue of soliciting at intersections came to a head last month.

In other action, the License Board:

- Granted a request from T.J.'s Red Carpet, 12-16 Brooks Ave., South Quincy, for a bowling machine in the restaurant, with the stipulation the machine not block any doorway.

- Granted a permit to Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., for a flea market Saturday, June 7 (rain date June 21) 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the church parking lot.

- Granted a permit to Broad Meadows Junior High School for a flea market Saturday, May 24, (rain date May 31) 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., on the Quincy Junior College grounds.

Both the church and school must check with the Health Department with regard to selling food and used clothing.

Creedon To Give Keynote Address

WEEK OF MAY 8.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19
Natural charm shines, social life begins to sparkle. Temperature rising over some little crises; you might experiment with new types of solutions. Strive for more independence on weekend.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20
Casual visits turn into memorable occasions, spontaneous this touch you deeply. Healthwise, remember your sign rules the feet. Check for callouses, treat yourself to a warm soak after a hard day.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20
Week has carnival feeling; children, laughter, and buzz of excitement are all part of scene. Two special areas of caution: clothing (it's easy to dress inappropriately) and diet (it's easy to forget meal-times).

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22
Intellectual powers are strong, and week offers potential for major accomplishment. Friends may return old favors, and beg for new ones. Noisy surroundings can drive you out of home on weekend.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21
Competition present keyword. You're in mood to go after everything — from first place in work game to new job opportunity. Some find your attitude refreshing, others can be intimidated.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22
A quiet week, but good time for getting in touch with yourself and mapping out short-range goals. Recent uncertainties — especially regarding domestic situations — are favorably resolved.

LEO — July 23 - August 22
You're about to catch up — and about to be overwhelmed once again with work and people. But — and it's an especially important 'but' for singles — don't miss out on social functions.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22
Could find yourself untangling web of conflicting ideas on job and in community. Pay attention to most minute of financial details, and don't be so easily convinced you're wrong.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22
Family members decide to show their devotion — it's been a while since you felt this pampered. VIP may be visiting your home or office on weekend; do some homework on his/her field.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21
Suggestions you give family prove so "on target" that you're regarded as an inspired advice columnist. Oddly, you don't prove your own best counsel. Financial mystery solved by Wednesday.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22
A week of puzzles, and you need to draw on wisdom of older person to solve mysteries. If traditional approaches don't bring expected results, opt for more experimental style.

CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20
You switch back and forth between hectic and lazy days during this curious week. Friends approach you for advice and/or sympathy. Teachers or employers ask for more of your smashing ideas.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Practical in everything you do... able to create beauty wherever you go. With loved ones, you're kind and attentive — but when love isn't returned, you can grow moody and silent. Life seems predictable till August, when you realize that one of your faraway goals is within reach.

BORN THIS WEEK
May 8th, President Harry S. Truman; 9th, composer Giovanni Paisiello; 10th, dancer Fred Astaire; 11th, composer Irving Berlin; 12th, Nurse Florence Nightingale; 13th, actress Beatrice Arthur; 14th, conductor Norman Luboff.

Kickers Blank Easton, 11-0

The North Quincy Kickers under 16 team dominated Easton, 11-0, last weekend in the South Shore Spring Soccer League as Mike Bourikas and Barry Higgins each had a hat trick.

The Kickers' aggressiveness and strong intensity were the main factors in the victory. John Hallahan and Alex Coutts played well together on defense. Other scorers were Greg DiBella, with two goals, Dan Dodd, Jim Boudreau and Ken Nutley.

Dave Marcham stood out in goal with many fine saves. George Woodman and Rich Palmer also played well as the team improved its record to 1-1-1. North's under 19 team dropped a 6-0 decision to Abington as it was a gain undermanned and the players tried in the second half. North fell behind, 2-0, in the first half, despite fine work in goal by Paul Mallory. Abington's last two goals came in the final minute of play. Paul Gill, John Keenan, Steve Hawes and Bill Koch played well in a losing cause.

Earlier the Kickers' under 12 team remained in first place in the league with a 12-0 bombing of Hanson. The team scored 20 goals in its first two games.

North was sparked by the fine goaltending of Teddy Shionis and the outstanding play at right wing of Eric Roukey, who scored four first half goals. North led, 10-0, at the half. Other first half goals were scored Pat Harrington (2), Dave Fasano, Mark Scanlan, Bobby Salton and Mike Ceurvels. Scanlan, Fasano and Tony Losordo had two assists apiece and Roukey, Brian Morris, Timmy Burke and Kevin McCloskey one each.

Losordo and Fasano scored the second half goals with an assist for Mark Durkin. Jimmy Cahill, Joey Rabs and Rob Bradley played strong defense.

The under 16 team lost to Raynham, 3-0, despite the excellent play of goalie Mark Tenney. Playing well for the undermanned North squad were Barry Higgins, Greg DiBella and Jim Boudreau.

North Quincy's under 19 team dropped to 0-2 when it lost to Bridgewater, 6-1. Bill DeCarli had the only goal. Chris Dunn, Bill Bradley, Tim Burke and Steve Hawes played strong games in a losing cause.

More Suits Seen

City Sues Three For $618,000 In Back Taxes

By TOM HENSHAW

The city has filed the first of its long-promised suits against three delinquent property taxpayers who, it is claimed, owe Quincy more than $600,000 in taxes going back, in some cases, to 1970.

The three suits, it was learned Tuesday, were filed in Norfolk Superior Court in the last few days of April and list the following defendants and their delinquencies:

John J. Duane and the John J. Duane Realty Corp., $484,075.20, some of it going back to 1976.

Vini St. Pierre, as an individual and as trustee of Boatyard Realty Trust, North Quincy, $57,414.54, back to 1970.

Joseph Koskow for property at 221-227 Quincy Ave. to the rear of Presidential Plaza, $77,238.16, going back to 1973.

The figures are for taxes only and do not include interest.

City Solicitor Robert Fleming said that other suits will be filed "in another month or so, as we have the time to do it."

Court crackdowns on delinquent taxpayers were promised by Mayor Arthur H. Tobin in his second-term inaugural address in January. He also promised that "no political interference will be tolerated."

Court crackdowns on delinquent taxpayers were promised by Mayor Arthur H. Tobin in his second-term inaugural address in January. He also promised that "no political interference will be tolerated."

Fleming said the first suits were delayed because the city wanted to wait for the latest tax deadline to go by.

"Why start the suit now when we can wait a month or two and include the next tax bill?" he said. "Besides, it takes a couple of months to coordinate everything.

"Bringing the suit is not that difficult but you've got to plug everybody in. The treasurer has to get the figures together. We have to check with the assessor's office. It's time-consuming."

Fleming said it was decided to move against Duane first because "Duane happened to be on the list as the largest outstanding tax delinquent and we felt the responsibility with the amount of money involved."

The others were chosen simply because they were on the list.

"We are not showing any preference or priorities," he said. "We're going after all of them eventually."

The defendants have 20 days from the time of service to file answers and pleadings.

Close Vote Expected On 4 Proposed School Closings

A close vote was expected Wednesday night, when the School Committee was scheduled to vote on the proposed closing of four elementary schools.

Member Francis Anselmo was expected to vote against the closings, with member John Sullivan hinting he might follow suit. With six members expected to take part in the vote, three votes would be needed to reject the four closings.

In question were the Cranch, Hunting, Myles Standish and Great Hill Schools, the four smallest in the school system.

The school committee's citizens' panel on school closings last month recommended that those four be closed this year and that the committee act on further closings for 1981.

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon's recommendation last year that the same four schools be closed was rejected in May, 1979 by a 5-2 vote. Members Mary Collins and Patricia Toland supported those proposed closings last year.

Vice Chairman Christopher Kennedy said last week he was still studying the matter and had not decided on his vote.

Member Joan Picard also would not disclose her vote, but said Tuesday, "I think we have to close some schools and then act on a reorganization plan."

Anselmo, in a statement to the Sun last week, said, "You can be assured I will not vote to close the schools," noting that the predicted savings from the four closings would amount to only $206,000.

Sullivan said Tuesday he would not make his vote known until Wednesday night, but added, "I guess you could say Frank (Anselmo) and I are pretty much on the mark."

The vote was expected to take place despite the absence of Mayor Arthur Tobin, out of town on an Air-Force sponsored tour of Air Force bases in Oklahoma, Louisiana and Colorado.

Tobin said his participation in the two-day tour was scheduled

Planning Board Ends 5-Year Wait, Approves Quarry St. Sale To Elks

A five year waiting period appears to be over for Quincy's patient Lodge of Elks.

The Planning Board voted Tuesday to recommend that the City Council proceed with the sale of eight acres of city owned land on Quarry St. for $35,000 to the Elks so they can build a new home.

The Elks have had a check for $25,000 on file with the City Clerk to show "good faith" for the past five years.

James Corbin of the Elks said they plan to hire an architect to design the new home by June 1 and that groundbreaking could begin in April, 1981, if the council approves the sale.

A last-minute hitch in the sale almost developed when Planning Board member Geoffrey Davidson sought to tie sale of the land with some form of city control over disposal of the old Elks Home on Hancock St.

Board Chairman the Rev. Bedros Baharian noted the city can only act as a catalyst in the sale of private land to a private developer.

"Our role is to expedite this sale as rapidly as we can," he said. "It has been dragging on much too long."

The Planning Board wound up amending its recommendation to read that it is "based on the representation that it frees up the property" on Hancock St. to be developed.

Baharian said the city has a developer interested in the old Elks property who is even willing to build around it if the property does not become available. But that, he said, is less desirable.

Much of the eight acres on Quarry St. is not developable land because of old, filled-in quarry holes.

Delahunt Aide Says:

'Cooperation, Involvement' Keys To Drug Solution

By TOM HENSHAW

"Right now," said David J. Hayes, "we're just stopping. The answer to the drug problem really gets down to a common sense cooperation and involvement of the parents, the schools, community agencies and the police."

Hayes, who is director of the Juvenile Division in the office of Dist. Atty. William D. Delahunt, is in charge of the juvenile diversion program which deals with many youngsters who are in trouble with drugs and the law.

And next Wednesday, May 21, Hayes is expecting to hear whether Quincy and Norfolk County are successful in landing a $59,000 grant from the State Department of Education to set up a similar pilot program in "school diversion."

Hayes feels that the diversion programs along with Judge Albert L. Kramer's Earn-It program and a restitution program set up by the State Division of Youth Services represent the best approach yet to the problems of drugs and youth crime.

"What you see here is the evolving of a comprehensive approach that is really unique to Norfolk County," he said. "I'm pretty happy that this type of thing is happening."

The key, now and in the future, is cooperation. Even those who see eye to eye on little else more or less agree to that.

"If they want to look at judges and say, 'Why aren't you doing this' or 'Why aren't you doing that,' they can do it," Judge Kramer told The Quincey Sun in a recent interview. "But it's not the way. The way is to form a community partnership with the schools, the police, the parents, everyone, to lick a common problem."

"I think the answer is really one of education, which is very hard. We've got to start talking about an education program with the parents. We've got to start talking about using the few jail cells we have effectively."

"The answer is not to make a splash in the headlines. It's not to make it look good to justify your job. It isn't just a PR problem. Somebody's got to be serious about it. It's not good to debate the issue on the basis of rabble-rousing statements."

"I'm frustrated but I don't tell the cops the problem is you don't bring me in the dealers. I know they can't catch the dealers. I know the federal government can't guard the borders. I don't blame anybody for allowing drugs to come into Quincy."

John W. (Butch) Mahoney, social health coordinator in the Quincy public schools, tends to agree with Kramer, even though he says he feels that the judge doesn't understand the problem of drugs in Quincy.

"I really respect the good judge," he said, "and I would welcome that opportunity to hear him say, 'Let's stop blaming each other and let's work together.' We have to be consistent. When two parents are inconsistent the kid takes advantage of that."

The school diversion program, which is known as "Best Yet," an acronym for Basic Education Skills To Youth Experiencing Trouble, is similar to juvenile diversion, which has been operating --- successfully says Hayes --- in Norfolk County for the past four years.

Quincy and Norfolk County make up one of two finalists for the pilot program, which is expected to be announced Wednesday --- unless funding becomes a problem and the Department of Education drops the whole concept.

Under juvenile diversion, a youngster who is in trouble with the law is referred --- or "diverted" --- into the program by the arresting police officer before he or she makes a court appearance. Only first time or early offenders are considered.

Hayes calls it a throwback to the "Dutch Uncle" system of raising fractious children.

"The first people you go to when a kid gets into a legal problem are his family and the community that surrounds them," he said. "If the family or the agencies are capable of handling the situation better than the system then we let them and we monitor them."

Agencies used in Quincy include Survival, The Way, and Greater Boston Family Services.

"What we're really doing is institutionalize the old Dutch Uncle that you and I grew up with --- the cop who brought you home because he knew your father would take care of the problem," says Hayes.

"The police still have the same awareness and sensitivity but the problem is we've professionalized the police to the point where the management system just doesn't allow them to do this. So we give them a chance to do it and we back them up."

"In the old days, the aunts and uncles used to take over where there was poor parenting. The aunts and uncles helped out. That's not realistic anymore."

"What is real is that there are neighbors and community agencies who are willing to help Ma and Pa out at that level so that we can re-establish some respect for the family and for that front line police officer."

"That's why I only take referrals from cops. I believe we can redevelop the respect for him that was lost. As far as the kid is concerned the officer is a s.o.b. for busting him. We work hard to make sure he knows that the only reason he got a break was the cop."

Hayes said he feels juvenile diversion has been successful by two standards.

For one thing, over the past three and a half years, the program has handled 2,122 cases and only 66 have been rearrested or failed to follow through with the plan laid out for them.

"In the concept of being successful in the sense of the police using us, it has been a smash," said Hayes. "Police don't eagerly get involved in programs. There are still some problems with the police but generally we've had good cooperation."

Under the pilot school diversion program, the school would replace the police officer as the source of referral.

Hayes, who has worked with drugs out of the district attorney's office for 10 years, said that it has taken almost that long to get parents, communities, police and courts to share their expertise in an effective program.

"The hard thing to deal with is the community that does not understand what it is dealing with," he said. "That doesn't understand the difference between a joint and harder drugs, that doesn't understand the fears of so many parents of their honest ignorance."

"The honest ignorance has resulted in a lot of parents who really feel that they are not capable of handling their kid's drug problems. They are capable. They just need to know what they're facing."

"When you have parents who absolutely go out of their minds over a relatively minor incident because of their own personal fears and love for their kid they become useless in the sense of redirecting the kid."

"So we have an obligation then to encourage parents not to be so afraid of these substances. I don't mean they shouldn't have a genuine concern but they can't allow fear to get in the way of honest dealing with their kids."

Hayes said that too many people tend to pass the buck when drugs appear in their neighborhoods.

"A lot of people immediately say, 'Why isn't the DA doing anything?' or 'What's wrong with the judge?'" he said. "They don't understand that often times these agencies don't have jurisdiction, that they should do their part, which is prevention and deterrence, and not pass the buck."

"Eventually, if we do our part and they do theirs, slowly but surely... well, we'll never solve the whole problem but we will make a major dent."

"The whole idea of diversion at any level is to put the responsibility back where it belongs, right in the laps of Mama and Papa and, if they're not capable, in a support system from the community."

This is the 13th in a series of articles on the drug problem in Quincy.

Phipps St. To Be Polled On Rezoning

A proposal to rezone a small plot of land on Phipps St. from Residence B to A is going back to the neighbors to see if they are willing to sacrifice to get it.

The Planning Board voted to table the matter Tuesday in the light of fears that the city could be charged with 'spot zoning' if it rezoned the small piece of land in the vicinity of 118 Phipps St.

It will be taken up again Thursday, May 22, at a 4 p.m. meeting.

In the meantime, residents of the neighborhood, who fear that a 24-unit apartment house could be built on the land, will be polled to see if they are willing to have the whole Phipps St. area rezoned.

"If they are willing to give up some rights in their own property," said Board Member Geoffrey Davidson, "we could avoid the accusations of spot zoning."

The building restrictions in a Residence A zone are considerably more restrictive than those in Residence B.

Norfolk Bar Holds Annual Meeting May 21

The Norfolk County Bar Association and Norfolk County Bar Advocates, Inc., will hold their annual meeting Wednesday, May 21, at 5:15 p.m. at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

A social hour will begin at 5:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m.

The association will also hold its election of officers, and present their "Man of the Year Award" to Samuel R. Hoffman, past president of the bar association and retiring Justice of the Probate and Family Court.

The nominating committee has submitted the following nominations: Norman B. Silk, president; Harold B. Nash, vice president; Paul B. Carroll, secretary; and George F. Himmel, treasurer.

Nominated council members are Arlene L. Bernstein, Robert Ficco, B. Joseph Fitzsimmons, Jr., Paul C. Gay, Charles J. Hely,

The Hibernia Savings Bank

To: EVERYONE who came to Our "HI" Grand Opening...

Thank you for coming by and making our Grand Opening so exciting! It was a lot of fun for all of us at the bank... the radio broadcast, the prizes, the winners... and especially, meeting so many terrific new neighbors. As time goes by, we want to remember it all.

Our photographer, Ed Barnes, took great pictures of many of you which will be on display next week at the bank. If you see yours and want it, let us know. We'll be sure to save it for you!

Most of all, we just want to thank you for giving us a "perfect" welcome to Weymouth Landing -- and an extra special "thanks" if you also opened an account with us. We want you to think of us, not just as your banker, but as your friend.

So come in and say "HI"... often, O.K.?

Sincerely,

Bill Karen

Lori Donna

Debbie Betty

For 'Devoted Service'

Beth Israel Council Honors 'Woman Of The Year' Rena Silverman

Rena Silverman of Quincy Point was honored recently as the "Woman of the Year" of the Women's council of Beth Israel Synagogue, 33 Grafton St., Quincy Point.

Council president Mrs. Jack Klaver, said Miss Silverman was selected "for her devoted service to the organization".

Miss Silverman, who joined the organization some 20 years ago, has been an active member for the past 10 years, serving as publicity and gift shop chairman.

A graduate of Laselle Junior College, she is the daughter of Mrs. Ida Silverman, also of Quincy Point, and the late Mr. Morris Silverman for whom the Beth Israel social hall was named.

The council presented Miss Silverman, an avid traveller, with a travel bag. She will be presented a citation at the organization's June meeting.

Some 65 people, including many of Miss Silverman's relatives and friends, attended the meeting. Refreshments were served by hostesses Mrs. Klaver and Mary Kurlansky, vice president and program chairman of the hospitality committee.

New CARDS Pass Hearing; Another Planned For Quincy Point

Two new Commercial Area Revitalization Districts (CARDS) passed through public hearings unopposed Monday night and Asst. Planner Joseph McLaughlin said another is in the works for Quincy Point.

The CARD designation, which still has to be approved by the state, enables commercial firms in the area to borrow at reduced rates of interest to make capital improvements.

CARDS that were heard Monday include the area covered by the Boston Harbor Marina, known as Harborview CARD, and an extension of the existing Quincy Center CARD to include a third of a mile of Quincy Ave.

Walter J. Hannon of Marina Industries, Inc., told the hearing that a firm has indicated it has $4 million worth of plans for one section of the proposed CARD and is waiting only for a more favorable money market.

McLaughlin said he expects the State Department of Community Affairs to approve both CARDS this week and that they will be submitted for City council approval Monday, May 19.

Other CARDS in Quincy include the Gateway CARD (State Street South area of North Quincy), the North Quincy CARD, the Wollaston CARD, as well as the Quincy Center CARD.

McLaughlin said the Quincy Point CARD is planned to include the area from Southern Artery down Washington St. to the Fore River Bridge. It would be the sixth CARD in Quincy.

The Harborview CARD, which encompasses land owned by Boston Edison Co., Jordan Servicer Inc. and Ken-Ron Realty, drew the most attention at the public hearing.

This was because the lessee of most of the Boston Edison Co. land is Marina Industries, which was represented by Hannon, a former mayor of Quincy.

And one of the city councilors who was sitting in on the hearing was Joseph J. LaRaia, who defeated Hannon in a bitter election for mayor in 1975 that eventually wound up in a court issue.

LaRaia wanted to know what business firms were currently operating in the area and McLaughlin gave him a list that included:

New England Telephone, a steel fabrication company, Vent-O-Matic, Vending Systems, J & R Distributors, New England Tractor Trailer School, Greenlaw Storage, Boston Harbor Marina, Glancy & Sons.

Clark Craft Marine, Marina Room Lounge, Layton Industries, a real estate office, a flea market, and storage space for Boston Harbor Marina and the Quincy Public Schools.

The list satisfied LaRaia. Hannon told the hearing that he has spent the past year talking to potential developers of the area and each one has asked him: What kind of financing can we get?

He called the CARD designation "a tool we have to have to properly develop that portion of the land that is zoned Industrial A."

Hannon showed the hearing a letter from Lawrence J. Sperber, who was involved in the Quincy Market development in Boston, in which he told of a client who is ready to move into the area.

The client wants to spend some $4 million to refurbish one of the existing buildings but is waiting for the money market to change.

"A few months after the CARD designation is approved," said Hannon, "they'll apply for a commercial revenue bond."

McLaughlin said the city hopes to create an area on the old Squantum Naval Air Station similar to the State Street South complex in North Quincy.

The city would have no financial investment due of the CARD designation, he said, nor would provide any guarantees for private loans.

The Quincy Ave. extension of the Quincy Center CARD would extend from School and Elm Sts. to Scammell St. and include such major business firms as the Firestone Co., Shaw's Market, Quincy Motor Co. and Mass Electric.

It is designed primarily to aid the developers of the proposed Pilgrim Shopping Plaza on Scammell St. between Quincy Ave. and Martensen St., who have been running into problems financing the project.

The owners and developers are James Cattaneo and Daniel Salvatore, proprietor of Danny's Diner on the corner of Quincy Ave. and Scammell St.

The CARD prospectus said that "an insurance firm is willing to put the bonds conditional upon CARD entitlement."

Both CARD bids went unopposed at the hearing.

Dog, Cat Rabies Clinic May 17

The annual rabies immunization clinic for dogs and cats three months and older will be held Saturday, May 17, announces City Health Commissioner Dr. Robert McKeogh.

The clinic will be held from noon to 4 p.m. at the Public Works Garage, 55 Sea St., Quincy Center.

Dr. McKeogh urged pet owners to take advantage of this opportunity to have their animals receive this anti-rabies "shot" as protection against animal rabies. "State law requires animals to have the rabies vaccine every three years, and our clinic on May 17 is the only rabies clinic we will have this year", Dr. McKeogh said.

Dr. Alan Morse of the Emerson Animal Hospital, North Quincy, will conduct the clinic. A fee of $3 for each animal will be charged.

Thank you.

Banking, the American Way is now a proud part of Quincy. And 1st American Bank for Savings wants to thank all the people of Quincy and the South Shore for making our Grand Opening Weeks so grand.

People turned out in record numbers for our star-spangled prizes and premiums. Many became customers of our 77 Granite Street office. And while 1st American may be the newest bank in town, we've always been a next-door neighbor. We trace our roots back to 1894 when we were known as Dorchester Savings Bank.

We're also the most convenient bank in town. Because along with a better brand of banking services, 1st American offers the handiest banking hours. We're open Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 8 to 6, Thursday and Friday from 8 to 7 and Saturdays from 9 to 1.

And speaking of Saturday banking, 1st American will continue its Grand Opening practice of providing free coffee and donuts every Saturday morning. It's our way of continuing to say thank you for the warm welcome we've received.

Miss Litchfield

Was A Wonderful Woman

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Just finished reading your article on Miss Litchfield. I also had her as a fourth grade teacher and also many of the other teachers mentioned in the article.

Like you I also wish I had wrote to her but I thought she had passed away years ago. I remember Miss Litchfield well as she used to park her car in the garage of our next door neighbor.

I'm a Quincy Point native having lived here all my life, at this address since 1937.

I went to school with the brother of Rev. George Hodgkins who conducted Miss Litchfield's funeral. We graduated in the class of Quincy High, 1946. Mrs. Hodgkins' mother now resides at 1000 Southern Artery. Another long time friend of mine is a class mate of yours - Dr. George Scrimshaw of San Francisco. I first met George when he was in charge of the Pollard schoolground in the summer of 1940. George will be up to a medical convention next month in Pennsylvania but doubts if he'll have time to make it up this way.

Well there's been a lot of changes in the Point since Miss Litchfield's day.

Do you remember the old horseshoe courts next to the cliffs behind the present 1000 Southern Artery? Do you remember when they used to flood the meadow every winter for ice skating? Today the Faxon Commons are located on this site? Scot's market is closed, Jimmy Coriarty is gone but his little store still stands at the end of River Street. The Lincoln Theatre, Primes Hardware, Jakes shoestore, chinese laundry and Point library are all gone along with Stones', Sagamore and Baxter drugstores.

Do you remember Browns' market at the end of Broadway? Last I hear Brownie and Sarah were retired at 1000 Southern Artery.

Well in closing I want to tell you I thought your article was a fitting tribute to Miss Litchfield and one she deserves - she was a wonderful woman.

Inflation Disabled Vet's Enemy

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I would be remiss if I didn't remind Americans of the plight of the disabled veteran. This is especially true now when most of the attention is on the problems of the Middle East and how to stop inflation.

To those on fixed incomes, inflation is their worst enemy. The disabled veteran, in order to receive an increase in compensation, must seek relief from congress.

Our organization seeks to have veterans compensation tied to the cost of living index and for it to be reviewed and adjusted if necessary every six months.

If you agree with me, please find time to talk to your congressman and express your views.

I will thank you and the 98,000 disabled veterans in Massachusetts will also thank you.

Sincerely,
Frank B. Shumski

Points To Ponder

- Love is blind; luck is blind and justice is blind. It's amazing our lives have any direction at all.
- If others take a long time, they're slow. If we take a long time, we're thorough. If others don't do something, they're lazy. If we don't do something, we're too busy. If others succeed, they're lucky. If we succeed, we're talented.
- It's possible that if someone pats you on the back, he may be trying to help you swallow what he just told you.
- You can get a lot accomplished, if you don't care who gets the credit for it.

What Did He Say?

What did he say?

When Jimmy Carter was running for President four years ago I used to sometimes wonder what he was saying. I was never quite sure what he meant.

Now, four years later, I find myself wondering even more than I did in 1976.

I'm still trying to figure out his recent explanation as to why—after six months of seclusion in the Rose Garden—he decided to get out and travel "in a limited way".

I could hardly believe I heard him right when he said:

"A lot of the responsibilities that have been on my shoulders in the past few months have now been alleviated to some degree."

Alleviated?

□ Eight charred bodies of American commandos left in the Iran desert with twisted plane and helicopter wreckage after an aborted attempt to rescue the 53 hostages held prisoners for six months. A snafu mission that still leaves a lot of questions to be answered.

□ American allies angered because after they agreed to join in sanctions against Iran in hopes American military action would not have to be taken—military action is taken without their knowledge beforehand.

□ Iran's announcement it was dispersing the hostages to a number of hiding places so that it would take a virtual door-to-door hunt throughout Tehran to find them, greatly reducing the chances of another rescue mission. The hostages—short of an all-out war—may be trapped now until Iran is good and ready to give them up.

□ The resignation of Secretary of State Cyrus Vance—an honorable man and veteran diplomat—who opposed the rescue mission as too risky to succeed and too detrimental to relations with our allies. Vance is a man with a cool head on his shoulders, cooler than the one on the shoulders of National Security Adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski. The latter, it sometimes seems, would have us in a showdown shootout with Russia.

□ Inflation is still imitating a rocket.

□ Unemployment jumped to seven per cent in April—biggest monthly hike in more than five years. Some $25,000 more Americans joined the jobless ranks in April bringing the total to 7.3 million.

All that, and the President tells us he's going to be getting out to here and there now and then because "a lot of responsibilities that have been on my shoulders in the past few months have now been alleviated to some degree."

And, a Carter aide explains the President can get away now because the abortive rescue in Iran makes it unlikely there will be much diplomatic activity between Tehran and Washington. This he notes, will free the President for trips out of town.

Hub?

The nation's image and reputation hit an all-time low, conditions at home and abroad couldn't be worse short of a depression and after World War III, but "a lot of responsibilities have been alleviated" from the President's shoulders.

It's hard to believe he said that. But he did.

If ever a President was needed in Washington to lead the way, it is now. The whole world could suddenly blow up. If conditions were crucial enough six months ago to keep him in Washington, they are ominous enough now.

It would seem the real reason he is getting out of town is to do some badly needed campaigning. He is slipping fast politically.

Those two narrow defeats to Senator Edward Kennedy in Pennsylvania and Michigan probably had more to do with changing his mind about staying home than anything else even though it appears he will win the nomination. According to the polls, however, Carter is slipping against Ronald Reagan and apparently has got to get out and campaign. And, is going to, despite his vow about not leaving the White House until the hostages were freed. Question: If it was so important to stay in Washington six months ago when the hostages were seized, why is it any less important now? If anything, with conditions worse now, it would seem more important to stay put.

It would seem that politics is still politics. I don't often stray from Quincy in this column. But now and then (like during Nixon's Watergate) I feel I should. This is one of those times.

A lot of people still shrug off the President's ineffective domestic programs and his confusing, zig-zagging foreign policies that change like the weather. "Well," they say, "he's doing the best he can."

The question: Is his best good enough? If there was a surgeon at Quincy City Hospital who lost one out of every three or four patients would they say, "Well, he's doing the best he can." And, if they needed surgery, would they trust him with the knife?

Sometimes it seems like we have had a four-year amateur hour in Washington. And you wonder if maybe it isn't time for the gong.

Public Works Plans Sale Of City Dump Equipment

The Public Works Department is planning to sell three pieces of heavy equipment that will no longer be used when the job of covering rubbish in the city dump is contracted out on July 1.

Commissioner James J. Ricciuti said he hopes to advertise soon for bids on two bulldozers and a front end loader, which, when new, are valued at between $500,000 and $600,000.

Meanwhile, street sweeping in Quincy has been done for the past month by Browning Ferris Industries under a $135,000 contract and Ricciuti is making plans to farm out snow plowing and removal next winter to save money.

"We are anticipating bidding out the dump covering, which is done on a daily basis by city forces and city equipment," said Ricciuti. "The machinery is getting older and the cost of replacement is getting high."

"Capital outlay kills you. Bonding is such that you are still paying off with interest on the bonds sometimes when the equipment is worn out and obsolete," Ricciuti said he has discussed selling the equipment to the town of Braintree for use at its incinerator.

He said the front end loader goes for about $100,000 when new; one new bulldozer would be valued at nearly $300,000 and the other at about $200,000.

Ricciuti said he plans to bid out the dump covering contract before June 1, shooting for a Wednesday, May 21, date for advertising.

The city, he said, will retain the permits it currently holds with commercial dump users, which nets the city some $300,000 a year.

BFI started sweeping the city streets April 15 and Ricciuti conducted an inspection tour of the streets Tuesday.

"So far, it has been satisfactory," he said.

Snow plowing and removal will be bid out during the summer, he said, "but I don't know if we will continue to sand with city workers and equipment."

Decision Due June 11

Doomed Lyons Turning Mill Eligible For National Register?

By TOM HENSHAW

The Massachusetts Historical Commission will decide June 11 whether the 86-year-old Lyons Turning Mill in West Quincy is sufficiently steeped in history to be included in the National Historic Register.

The designation would give the Quincy Historical Society a potent new weapon in its fight to protect what is believed to be the nation's largest granite column turning mill from the advance of the city dump.

The tumbled down stone walls lie in the heart of the fourth and final phase of the city's landfill operation which is scheduled to begin in about two years, according to Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti.

The Quincy Historical Society feels that the remnants of the old mill should be preserved "as a memorial to the thousands of men who worked in the granite industry and contributed to Quincy's industrial greatness."

Stephen Cole of the Massachusetts Historical Commission said the mill is included in a package of historical and archeological sites in the Blue Hills area that will be nominated for the national Historic Register June 11.

"Listing on the Register does not guarantee protection," said Cole, "but if federal or state funds are involved in any project that will have an impact on the mill it means that the project will be reviewed very carefully."

If the mill is nominated June 11, he said, it could be placed on the Register sometime in the fall.

Meanwhile, the Quincy Historical Society opened a last ditch campaign on the local level to save the old mill from the encroachment of the city dump.

William A. O'Connell, president of the QHS, urged friends of the mill to send a postcard to the Mayor's office asking him to "Save the Lyons Turning Mill and the Quarry Site."

In a letter to Mayor Tobin, the board of directors of the QHS suggested two uses for the area which would preserve the structure of the mill.

One would "take advantage of the renewable natural resources of the site" by converting it into a park and recreation center and part of a proposed nature trail from Quincy to the Blue Hills.

The other would turn the mill and quarry site into a "heritage center" around which condominiums or corporate headquarters could be built "as an investment and a permanent relief to the ever-increasing tax rate."

"With roots in the past, a new building concept is more quickly accepted," said the letter. "The increase of land value would more than compensate the feared increase in the tax rate."

Commissioner Ricciuti told the City Council recently that if Phase 4 is not utilized "we will have to think about constructing a transfer station and eventually hauling out of the city the rubbish which is being produced daily."

The mill was built in 1894 on the site of what used to be called the Bed Bug Quarry. H. Hobart Holly of the QHS calls it "the sole reminder of the many granite-working structures that once stood in the quarry area."

It was operated as a granite column turning mill until 1917 when it closed and the lathes were shipped to Utah. The site is currently owned by Peter J. Ruscito.

Right On Red Okayed For 18 Intersections

Motorists can make right turns on red at 18 more intersections in Quincy.

The City Council voted last week to have "No Right Turn On Red" signs removed from the intersections, all of them in Ward 3, despite the opposition of Police Capt. Paul LaHive, chairman of the Traffic Commission.

LaHive, quoting a letter from Edward Lynch, superintendent of general services, cited pedestrian dangers present at the intersections.

Intersections from which the signs will be removed are:

- Granite Place at the Turn-style parking area.
- Burgin Parkway and Granite St.
- Burgin Parkway and Dimmock St.
- Burgin Parkway and Adams St.
- Granite St. and Whitwell St.
- Quarry St. and Common St.

'Boys Town' Proposed For Old Squantum Air Base

Sen. Richard I. Furbush of Waltham, president of the State Senate, urged the Legislature to support a plan that would convert the former Squantum Naval Air Station into a Boys Town of Massachusetts.

Mayor and State Rep. Amelio Della Chiesa opposed the plan to bring "practically every potential delinquent in the Commonwealth" to Quincy, a proposal already turned down by Hingham and Hull.

"This land should be used for desirable industries to bring in tax revenue for Quincy, create jobs and help the small homeowner by reducing his tax bill," said Della Chiesa.

The air station was decommissioned three years ago.

FAVORS ADAMS STAMPS

State Secretary Edward J. Cronin protested a Post Office plan to replace the 2-cent John Adams stamp and the 6-cent John Quincy Adams stamp with stamps honoring Thomas Jefferson and Theodore Roosevelt.

"In hiding the face of Adams you hide the heritage of the republic from the sight and minds of men," said Cronin, adding, "There are no citizens of Massachusetts on any United States stamps."

QUINCY IN 13-INNING TIE

Quincy High School Coach Bill Sullivan started seven jayvees against Lowell in an effort to break a losing streak and they led 1-0 at the end of three before leaving to play their own baseball game.

The Quincy varsity then went on to tie heavily favored Lowell 3-3 before the game was halted by rain at the end of 13 innings.

The Quincy lineup—Smalley ss, Bonvie ss, Kelly cf, Rockwell 1b, Taylor 1b-p, Muir 2b, Conroy 2b, Tedrow 1b, Mattie 4f-lb, Smollett, Cahill, Pulsifer 3b, Tantillo 3b, Chase lf, Brown lf, Reardon lf-c, Asnes, rf, Halloran 2b, Lomanno p, Devine, McGlone rf.

INDICTED IN BRINK'S JOB

Thomas J. Ballou Jr., 26, of North Quincy was indicted by a Grand Jury on four charges of harboring James L. Faherty and Thomas F. Richardson, accused in the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery of 1950.

EXPLOSIVES LICENSE OKAYED

The Licensing Board granted James D. Shea a permit to store 50,000 pounds of dynamite and 100,000 detonating caps off Willard St. after he was forced to move from Ames St. by construction of the Southeast Expressway.

Senior Interns Assisting In Donnelly's Office

Six senior citizens, four of them Quincy residents, are working in the Quincy office of Congressman Brian Donnelly as part of a new Senior Intern program.

Interns are working part-time in Donnelly's Brockton and Quincy offices, assisting his regular staff and aiding constituents.

"I am grateful to these interns who have volunteered for this program," Donnelly said. "They not only bring a new perspective to my district offices, but have provided invaluable knowledge in a wide area of concern to the constituents of the 11 Congressional District."

Among the Quincy office interns are Quincy residents Mary Coyne, Winifred Burchill, William Sheenan and Frederick Sterritt.

Mrs. Coyne, a resident of Quincy for the last 40 years, has three grown children and one granddaughter. She is a member of the Quincy Art Association and has attended Quincy Jr. College Art classes.

Mrs. Burchill has volunteered in community programs and also teaches at Quincy High School. She has also worked at her husband's place of business in Quincy.

Sheenan is a veteran of 39 years of government employment and is a graduate of Boston University Law School. He is married with no children.

Sterritt served 37 years with the U.S. Postal Service, retiring last April as manager of the North Quincy Post Office. He is married with three sons and active in community affairs.

Also serving as interns at the Quincy office are Frederick E. Ricketts, Sr. of Dorchester and Frank M. D'Angelo of Milton.

CAN YOUR SAVINGS PLAN STACK UP TO BAYBANKS NEW 2 1/2 YEAR CERTIFICATE?

We call them "Two and One-Half Year Certificates" but, in fact, you can let them mature for up to eight years. And when you do that, big things can happen: you more than double your money!

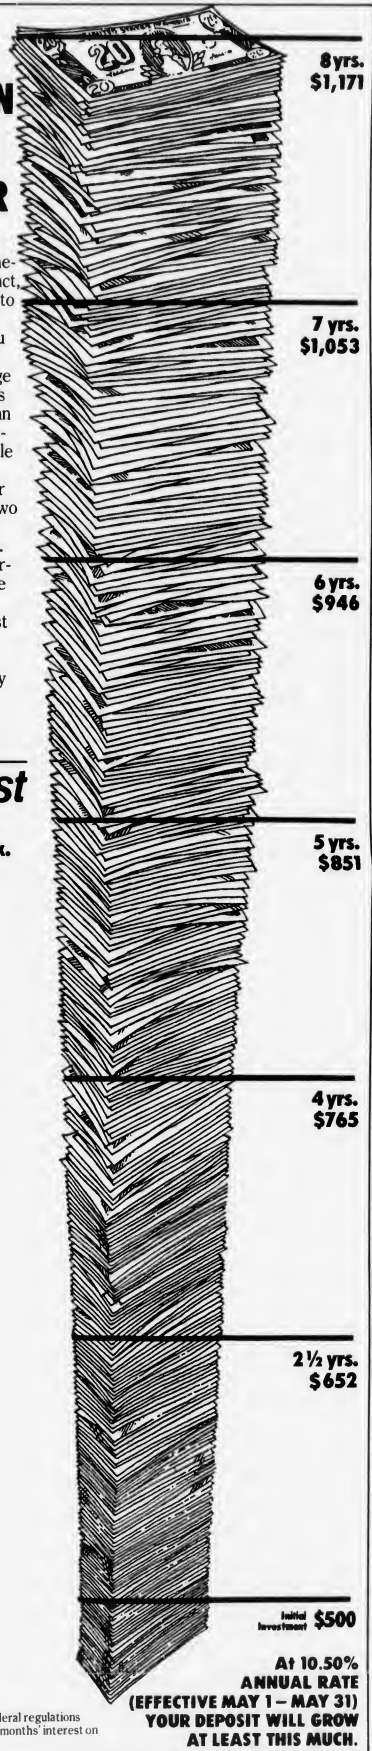

Up until recently, only large investments could earn you this kind of interest, but now you can open a BayBanks Two and One-Half Year Certificate with as little as $500.

Your rate is guaranteed for whatever term you specify—two and one-half, three, four, five, six, seven, or even eight years. And, we'll compound your interest continuously. New rates are set monthly for certificates issued the following month. Just call 1-800-342-8888 (toll-free) any time for rate information. We'll tell you about a better way to save.

Flair Stack Pack today.

If your heating costs have gone right through the roof, maybe it's because your fuel dollars are going right up the chimney. You see, the chimney of your furnace is like an open window to the outside. And just like an open window, heat rushes out. If you could close the chimney when the burner is off, you could save a substantial amount of fuel and money. And that's exactly what the Flair Stack Pack does.

The Stack Pack is an automatic flue damper for oil and gas furnaces. It closes the flue when your furnace is not operating and keeps the heat in your furnace to heat your home.

SAVE UP TO 23% ON FUEL.

Independent tests have shown that the Flair Stack Pack can save up to 23% on fuel. The Federal Energy Administration calls flue dampers "the most important fuel saving contribution short of everyone driving a compact car." And HUD states that automatic vent dampers save more energy per dollar invested than insulation, storm windows, or siding.

The Flair Stack Pack has been laboratory tested and design certified by the American Gas Association and is UL listed. And it qualifies for the 15% energy tax credit.

The sooner you have it installed, the sooner you'll begin saving energy and money.

Close Vote Seen On School Closings

and confirmed in February, two months before the committee scheduled its May 15 vote on the four closings.

"I really don't take that many trips," Tobin said. "Most of my time is spent here at city hall solving problems."

Although he didn't say how he would have voted on the proposed closings, Tobin said he felt the subject was being approached in a "piecemeal" fashion:

"I'm going to demand that the School Committee present a total reorganization plan. I think that would be more acceptable, even to the neighborhoods affected. I think we all want to see the school system and School Committee address the entire problem."

"We can't have layoffs all over the city and not address a total reorganization of the school system," Tobin said.

Creedon has said that a total reorganization of the school system, if it went into effect for the 1980-81 year, could result in the closing of up to 11 schools, layoffs of 50 to 60 teachers beyond those already planned, and cut about $2 million from the system's proposed budget.

Tobin's remarks echoed those of J. Thomas Mullaney, a member of the School Committee's citizens task force on school closings. At the committee's April 29 hearing, Mullaney said four closings was the "absolute minimum that should be done."

"If the School Committee wanted to be tough, they could close more. They could easily close eight, they could possibly close 10," he said.

Dramatizing the number of empty seats in the school system, Mullaney said, "We could absorb the Braintree school system in our unused seats. If you don't like Braintree, we could merge Milton and Hingham and absorb them."

The panel recommended the following schools for closing this year:

- The Great Hill built in 1956 to handle the overflow from the Atherton Hough School, it now houses about 66 students, out of a capacity of 150.

If open next September, the school department predicted enrollment would drop to about 48 students. "It is in the process of closing itself," said Creedon.

The closing of the Great Hill caused virtually no comment at the committee's recent public hearing.

Closing the school would save an estimated $59,000, or about 19 cents on next year's tax rate, according to the school department.

- The Myles Standish - built in 1957 to house the children of Navy personnel in the area, the school's enrollment dipped to about 111 this year as the Navy continues to phase out its housing in the neighborhood.

Enrollment was expected to drop to about 90 next year, out of a capacity of 150. Closing the school will save an estimated $46,000, about 16 cents on the tax rate.

- The Cranch School closing has attracted the most controversy, thanks to a vocal PTO group which has worked to keep the school open.

Enrollment at the Cranch, now about 140, is expected to drop to about 130 next year, according to the school department. The school's capacity is 200.

If the Cranch were to remain open, Creedon said, it would require $300,000 to $400,000 in renovations in the next few years.

Closing the Cranch would save about $34,000, or 11 cents on the tax rate, according to the school department.

- The Hunting School, in Adams Shore, has also mounted some opposition to the proposed closing.

Enrollment at the school is expected to dip from 110 this year to about 90 next year, out of a capacity of 225. Closing the school would save about $65,000, or 21 cents on the tax rate.

Community Action Honors Three, Installs Directors

The Quincy Community Action Organization honored three persons and installed its board of directors for 1980-81 at its annual meeting recently at the George F. Bryan Post.

The organization also received a citation from City Council President Leo Kelly on behalf of the council and the mayor, honoring the group's 15 years of service to the city's low-income residents.

Director Stewart Sargent, federal coordinator for the Quincy Public Schools, received a special award for his service. He has served 10 years on the board of directors and is a member of the executive committee.

Sargent also received citations from Sen. Paul Harold, on behalf of the State Senate, Rep. Michael Morrissey, on behalf of the House of Representatives and Councillor Joanne Condon, on behalf of the City Council.

Community service awards for outstanding service to low-income residents was presented to Frank Villa, owner of Villa Oil, and Robert Morrissey, Comptroller for Stop and Shop Companies.

The following persons were appointed to represent city elected officials: Bella Krovitz, Clement O'Brien, Anne Kane, Marilyn LeBlanc, Richard Meade, Marjorie Doolin, Ronald Iacobucci, Jane Ford, Janet Crowley, Councillor Stephen McGrath and Thomas Nutley.

Elected to represent their respective neighborhoods were Rosemarie Hanley, Carmen Couchard, Andrea Lombardi and Christine LaPlume of Germantown; Beatrice Ekholm, Josephine Mattina, Barbara Griffin and Helen Coughlin of South-West Quincy; Dr. Carol Goodman and Anthony DiGiacomo of Quincy Point and Patricia Grady of Atlantic.

Appointed to represent local business, labor and agencies were Michael Dwyer, representing South Shore Day Care; Karen LoPorto, Head Start Policy Council; Marcia Gladstone, Family Planning Advisory Council; Mary Lucier, Aid For Individuals with Disabilities; Susan Luckman, South Shore Mental Health; Major Charles Waddington, Salvation Army; Charles Sullivan, Hancock Bank; Mary Collins, Social Service League; James Murdoch, Stop and Shop Companies and Joseph Carroll, Meat Cutters Union.

An additional vacancy will be announced May 21.

Bryan Post Installs Officers June 7

The Bryan VFW Post, 24 Broad St., Quincy Center, will hold its installation of officers Saturday, June 7, at 7 p.m., not June 10, as reported in last week's Quincy Sun.

City Hospital 'Birthing Room' Couples Enjoy Reunion

Over 20 couples, veterans of Quincy City Hospital's "alternate birth center", enjoyed a reunion recently at the hospital.

Opened in July, 1978, the birthing room provides a home-like atmosphere in which the mother may labor and deliver her child, assisted by the father and obstetrical nurse, and other hospital personnel.

Couples who had delivered their child in the birthing room enjoyed a buffet dinner and were able to meet each other and discuss their experiences.

After-dinner speeches were given by Dr. Alan Bello, chief of QCH's obstetrical department, Micheline Russell, director of nursing, Richard Betrocchi, assistant director of QCH and Dr. Richard Adams, member of the obstetrical staff.

Other invited guests included Maureen Binogano, assistant director of nursing; Jennie Pentz, president of the QCH Women's Auxiliary and Barbara Papile, past president. The Women's Auxiliary provided funds to help furnish the birthing room.

MONEY TALKS

Annual salary of $656,000?
It's no big deal!

By Philip J. Lawrence, President
Colonial Federal Savings
and Loan Association
of Quincy, Holbrook & Wareham
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursdays

"Average annual salary to rise to $656,000!"
This scary headline over an Associated Press story out of Washington, D.C., must have provoked nightmares in retirees and those anticipating retirement. The source was not a crackpot economist nor a politician seeking election. It was a Federal agency — the Social Security Administration — and its projection was based on the conservative assumption that prices will rise 4% and wages 5.5% annually to the year 2050.

In that incredible age, the average worker will be earning $656,000 a year as compared with $16,500 today. Whatever that prospect might generate is timed by projected prices of $17.50 for a loaf of bread, $9.40 for the daily newspaper, $25,000 for a medium-sized car and $3.4 million for a home now worth $55,000.

Don't take comfort from the fact that you don't anticipate being around to celebrate the New Year in 2050. Prices like these won't happen all at once. They will inexorably rise year by year — in all probability at a much higher annual rate than the 4% Social Security was arriving at these figures.

Somewhere along the way, you will fall off the earnings slide and find yourself with status income as the horses of inflation romp onward and upward. This is what is happening today to a large segment of the over-65 population.

The specter of the German economy in the 1920's comes to mind, when a wheelbarrow full of German marks was needed to buy a loaf of bread and it took 320 trillion marks to mail a letter from Berlin to Chicago. In terms of $656,000 salaries, we begin to realize how it happened.

Everybody realizes that the inflationary spiral is intolerable. But who is doing anything about it? We hear that a Federal deficit of $40 billion in the current fiscal year is a major cause of inflation. On top of that, we learn from another Federal agency, the General Accounting Office, that the Federal Treasury has squandered as much as $44 billion through their and poor management.

Coping with inflation means dealing with hard issues. Our political leaders seem more concerned with getting the selves re-elected than facing up to these issues. We are reminded of the comment of our political science professor back in college: "No person has the right to public office who has not the guts to give it up."

Marina Flea Market License Extended To June 30

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board voted Tuesday to extend the second-hand license for the Boston Harbor Marina Antique Craft & Flea Show to June 30, 1981.

Former Mayor Walter J. Hannon, representing the marina, had asked that the license be extended to April 30, 1981.

City Clerk John M. Gillis told board members that City Councilor Joanne Condon recommended a six-month extension.

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeough said he was against granting the license for six months, claiming problems with the marina in the past in regard to selling second-hand clothes and moving operations out of doors.

Dr. McKeough also noted the marina was two weeks late in re-applying for the license since it expired at the end of April.

Hannon said his own office was late in notifying him of the license's expiration. He also conceded there were some problems with the operation in the beginning, but that they had worked to clean them up.

In regard to the extension, Hannon added "anything you (the License Board) do is agreeable to me."

The board agreed to a two-month extension, retroactive to the license's expiration on April 30, so that the license renewal will come up for consideration before the board recesses for the summer at the end of June.

Hannon is scheduled to appear before the board June 24, for further extension of the license.

In another matter, the board granted a request from George P. Marangos of Dorchester to be licensed as manager of School St. Sunoco, 59 School St., Quincy Center, formerly Port Oil Co.

The request was made March 18, and was continued until the station was upgraded to the board's satisfaction.

Fire Chief Edward Barry reported at this week's meeting that the station's appearance had improved, and that, in fact, the grounds were being swept when he drove by.

The license was granted with the stipulation that the station's premises be maintained or improved.

Dr. McKeough voted against granting of the license.

In other action, the License Board:

- Granted Peter M. Mullarkey of South Quincy an auto body license and motor II license for 27 Sampo Place, South Quincy.

- Granted the Quincy Track Club a permit to conduct its annual tag days Friday, June 13 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. and Saturday, June 14, noon to 8 p.m., with rain dates of June 20 and 21.

Dr. McKeough did not vote on the request.

Olympic Champion Speaks At Quincy School Career Week

Former Olympic figure skating champion Dr. Tenley Albright was among the speakers at the Quincy Elementary School's recent Career Week which talked with students about their careers.

Now a surgeon, Dr. Albright explained to students surgical procedures and the day-to-day duties of her profession.

Dr. Albright brought with her some surgical clothing which she had three of the students model.

Secretary of the U.S. Olympic Committee, she was asked about her life as an Olympian as well as surgeon.

At the close of the session, Dr. Albright signed autographs and also signed the surgical garb which the "models" were allowed to keep.

Career Awareness was begun

VFW Poppy Drive For Disabled Veterans Starts May 15

The Bryan VFW Post asks local residents to "Honor the Dead by Helping the Living" by supporting its annual 'Buddy Poppy' Drive conducted today (Thursday) through Saturday in Quincy.

The sale of poppies preceding Memorial Day is the traditional way to bring attention to sacrifices made by the nation's war dead.

The poppies are assembled by disabled and needy veterans in hospitals throughout the United States.

Funds raised during the sale, conducted nationwide since 1922, are used exclusively for the aid, relief and comfort of disabled and needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans.

The VFW asks citizens to buy a Buddy Poppy and wear it on Memorial Day.

Koch Club Awards $500 In Scholarships To 6 Graduates

Anthony T. Delmonico, chairman of the Koch Club Scholarship Awards Committee, announced the following winners for 1980:

North Quincy High School, Janet Kineavy, 55 Arnold Rd., and Anthony W. Camillo, Jr., 204 Wilson Ave.

Quincy High School, Donna M. Deschenes, 121 Edwards St. and Frank McLaughlin - 61 Edison Park.

Quincy Vocational Technical School - Paula Bowlen, 53 Taber St. and David E. Elmore, 48 Sea Ave.

The awards will be formally presented at the Koch Club 29th annual Flag Day observance Saturday, June 14 at 11 a.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The scholarship applications are made available each year at the Guidance Offices of the three high schools for interested boys and girls to submit for consideration by the Scholarship Committee.

The Koch Club of Quincy will again this year award a total of $500 in scholarships to graduates of North Quincy and Quincy High Schools and the Vocational Technical School.

Scholarships of $100 will be awarded to the boy and girl graduates of North Quincy and a boy and girl graduate of Quincy while $50 scholarships will be presented to the boy and girl graduate of Quincy Vocational Technical School.

This year's awards will total

$8,900 in scholarship funds presented by the Koch Club since the inception of the awards in 1959.

The committee includes: Delmonico, chairman, Thomas F. Nestor, vice chairman; Mrs. Gerry Delmonico, Richard J. Koch, Jr., Howard F. Crowley, Mrs. Simone N. Koch and David J. Donaghue.

The Koch Club Scholarship Fund began in 1959 in the North Quincy District with a $100 scholarship each to a boy, a girl graduate of North Quincy High School and, in 1964, with the addition of the Broadmeadows District of the Koch Club, the awards were expanded to include Quincy High School.

In 1968, the Koch Club added a $50 scholarship for a boy graduate of the Vocational Technical School and in 1970, a girl graduate was also presented a $50 scholarship.

Although the Koch Club is largely involved in athletic and recreation programs, the purpose of the scholarship awards is to impress upon the boys and girls the fact that the organization is also concerned with the education of Quincy's youth.

With this year's awards 100 boys and girls will have been recognized in the 22 years, including 44 graduates of North Quincy High School, 34 graduates of Quincy High School, and 12 boys and 10 girls of the Vocational Technical School.

'School's Out' Friday For High School Seniors

Seniors at North Quincy High School, Quincy High School and Quincy Vo Tech will complete their academic year Friday, May 16 at 2:30 p.m.

The final marking period for seniors ends May 16. Seniors' report cards are to be distributed at the schools on Tuesday, May 27.

To be entitled to a diploma, members of the graduating class must complete all administrative requirements and obligations, and fulfill all personal obligations to their school.

Participation in graduation exercises requires that students must take part in all activities relating to the graduation event, including instructional and practice sessions.

The Quincy High - Vo Tech graduation ceremony is scheduled for Monday, June 2, at 6 p.m. Rain date is Thursday, June 5.

The North Quincy ceremony is to be held on Tuesday, June 3, at 6 p.m. Rain date is Wednesday, June 4.

'A School With Heart'

Central Celebrates 85th Anniversary

By MARK DENNEEN

During the month of May, Central Junior High School will be sponsoring numerous activities in conjunction with the celebration of Central's 85th Jubilee, honoring Central's 85th birthday. According to Miss Mary Catherine Iannoni, Head Guidance Counselor at Central, the jubilee celebration is intended to show Quincy that "Central is a school with heart!"

The celebration will begin with an Alumni Night on Thursday evening, May 15, from 7-9 p.m. The evening has been in the planning process since January. Lucille DiGravio, John Flynn, Thomas Henderson, Kathleen Kelly, Nancy Saffer, Mark Roberts, Lucy Marchant, Ann MacDonald, William MacDonald, Paul Perito and Stella Krupka have met faithfully since then to organize the event.

The evening will give former students and teachers the opportunity to visit the school and visit the memorabilia on display throughout the various classrooms and learning areas.

Dr. Richard K. Chrystal, a former principal of Central, and Principal Vincent R. Moscardelli will address the "Central Family". A slide show entitled "Remember When?" will be presented by Miss Iannoni in the Learning Center. The slide show will include slides of various activities taking place at Central dating back to the early 1950's. Parent volunteers have offered to bake pastries and will serve coffee and pastry during the course of the evening.

On Wednesday, May 28, the "Central Historical District Walking Tour" will be conducted. Groups of students will leave Central and visit historical landmarks such as The First Parish Church, The Adams Academy, The Adams Mansion, Quincy City Hall, and Mount Wollaston Cemetery. Students will carry sketchbooks and will concentrate on the architecture of the historical buildings. Awareness of Quincy's attributes is the goal of this program.

In preparation for the walk, Mrs. Doris Oberg of the Quincy Historical Society will present a program entitled "Historic Quincy". Mr. Owen Della Lucca,

HAPPY BIRTHDAY DEAR CENTRAL

also a member of the Historical Society, will present a program called "Old Bones". Other friends of the students of Central who helped plan the program are: Mildred Harrison, William O'Connell, Laurence Yerdon, Gordon Nelson, Representatives Michael W. Morrissey and Robert A. Cerasoli and Senator Paul D. Harold.

At the conclusion of the Walking Tour, a reception will be held at the Dorothy Quincy Homestead, located next door to Central on Butler Rd. Outdoors, on the grounds of the large house, a reception will be held for the students. The Cooking Department, under the direction of Mrs. Lillian Belasalle, will conduct a formal tea inside the mansion for parents and invited guests. The reception will begin at 1 p.m.

On the evening of May 28, Family Night will be held at the Adams Mansion. The mansion will be open to Central students and their families along with incoming seventh graders and their families from 7-9 p.m.

Central students will present musical, dramatic, and oratorical programs under the supervision of Marion Clancy, Bernard Goldstein, Dr. Laurence Osborne, Marcia Rosenblum, John Bokas, Kathleen Kelly, and Mary Catherine Iannoni.

Instrumentalists, readers, and orators will perform in the mansion, in the garden, and in the Carriage House. Opening remarks will be made by Mr. Moscardelli, Miss Iannoni, and John Harrington, Coordinator of Social Studies for the Quincy Public School Department. Central is deeply indebted to Wilhelmina Harris, curator of the Adams Mansion, for the assistance she has provided.

In the event of rain, the evening will be rescheduled for Thursday evening, May 29.

Unfortunately, Miss Ruth Gordon, a famous actress who attended Central many years ago, will not be able to attend. She expressed her deep regret, but told Miss Iannoni in a recent letter that she is presently committed to filming in Hollywood with actor Clint Eastwood.

The celebration of Central's 85th jubilee will be a joyous occasion for all. The high quality of education received at Central and the active role it plays in the community will be displayed throughout the celebration.

Central's mascot, the ram.

21 Students Earn NEDT Certificates

Gym Show May 19, 20

By JANE LEONHARDI

Central will be presenting its annual Gym Show under the direction of Coach Barbara Donelin on May 19 and 20 beginning at 7:30 p.m. Miss Donelin is being assisted by Sharon Blacker, a senior at North Quincy High School.

The Gym Show will take place in the Quincy National Guard Armory at 1000 Hancock Street. As in the past, there has been a fabulous response from students as there are 95 participants.

The opening of the Gym Show will include a warm-up exercise. This will be followed by individual stunts and routines from 7th, 8th and 9th graders. The girls have a great deal of school spirit and have put a tremendous amount of effort into their routines to make it a sure success. We hope you will come to the Armory and see the talented and creative gymnasts of whom Central is so proud!

Spotlight On Teachers

By MARY GANNON, DOUGLAS GUTRO,
and VINCENT TAGLIERI

Central Junior High School would like to pay tribute to two teachers who have spent many years educating the students of Central.

Miss Marjorie Greene, a ninth grade Latin teacher, and Mr. Walter Hittl, an eighth grade Social Studies teacher, have been teaching at Central for nearly 30 years.

Miss Greene is a ninth grade Latin teacher at Central. She came to Central in 1952, and has been teaching here ever since.

Miss Greene's first interest in Latin came in her ninth grade year of high school when she chose it for foreign language course. She "fell in love with it and has never stopped loving it". Her great interest in Latin "just happened". It was never planned.

Miss Greene has worked in other communities such as Old Saybrook, Connecticut, and Acton and Medford, Massachusetts. She has also worked as a substitute teacher in the Boston schools. Miss Greene has also taught Language Arts.

Her outside interests include foreign films, poetry writing, and listening to Broadway show tunes. Of course, anything having to do with Latin is of great interest to Miss Greene.

Miss Greene isn't sure about the future just yet. Eighth grade students have just passed in their course selections, and her job may depend on how many students elect Latin.

"One thing is for sure though," says Miss Greene. "I'll never stop loving Latin!"

Mr. Walter Hittl, an eighth grade Social Studies teacher, has been teaching at Central for 30 years, and has also taught at a Naval prep school for three years. "And that's too long!" he says jokingly.

We talked with Mr. Hittl on various subjects, but he seemed to emphasize just one. "I think that the kids of old aren't smarter than the kids of today, but I feel they were more skilled in their basics. The problem was lack of emphasis on basics, but that's changing."

"When I'm teaching a class, I feel that the atmosphere should be relaxed and fairly easy-going within reason," says Hittl. "I treat the kids like I would like to be treated. You must remember, learning is a two-way street. Teachers, as well as students, should give in order to receive. I don't believe in a formal atmosphere. It's just not the way I teach."

To Miss Greene and Mr. Hittl, we the students of Central, say, "Thank you for all you have done for us."

CENTRAL TEACHERS Walter Hittl and Marjorie Greene haven't lost their love of teaching after years on the job.

Dramatic Reading Contest

By MARY GANNON and MAUREEN GORHAM

For the second year in a row, Central students participated in the Louisa May Alcott Dramatic Reading Festival.

This year, 84 students took part in the contest. The students, aided by their Language Arts teachers, had to select a writing from literature, write an introduction to it, and deliver the introduction and selection in front of three judges.

The judging proved to be quite difficult whereas all the students performed to the best of their abilities. Many students had taken part in the contest last year. It was a good experience for all of them.

In each of the three grades, first, second, third, and honorable mention prizes were awarded. However, each of the participants received a certificate of recognition. The standings were as follows:

7th Grade: 1st - Karen Sweet, 2nd - Missy Silkwood, 3rd - Julie Costa, Honorable Mention: Mike McCormack, Tracey Coleman

8th Grade: 1st - Ann Carroll, Jennifer McCauley, 2nd - Maura Feeney, 3rd - Kristin Howard, Honorable Mention: Carolyn Mercier, Lauren O'Rourke

9th Grade: 1st - Pauline Pappas, 2nd - Phillip Seifert, 3rd - Linda Welby Honorable Mention: Garth Petracca, Kathy Donnelly, Joanne Pappas.

Everyone was considered a winner, however, as they had all benefited from this experience. In some cases of the judging, winning scores were a matter of only one point. All the students who participated should be congratulated. Special thanks are to be extended to Miss Iannoni, Mrs. Propp, and Mr. Caudle for taking on the difficult task of judging, to Miss Rosenblum for organizing the contest and to the teachers for all their help.

Student Clubs Helping Others

By SHARON COPP and PAM KEDDY

Three groups of students at Central Junior High participate in helping people.

One such group is called the Service Club. In this club seventh graders make things for children. They have sent projects to the pediatrics ward at Quincy City Hospital for Halloween, Christmas, Valentines Day, St. Patrick's Day and Easter. The following students now participate in the Service Club: Michelle Daigle, Debbie Marshall, Roscanne De Angelis, Vickie Sanderson, Sue Thompson, Nicole Zannis, Patty Murdock, Brenda Jordan, Monique Pedrale, Donna Fahey, Sharon Copp, Elise Tobman and Michele Kalmbach.

Another group dedicated to helping others is "Crafts For Others." This group involves eighth graders who get together and make crafts for the Pediatrics Ward at Quincy City Hospital and for various nursing homes. The members of this group are Jennifer McCauley, Pam Keddy, Liz Toland, Diane Veale, Lisa LeBlanc, Julie Nee, Bernadette Murphy, Robin Lytle, Suzanne Picard, Kristin Howard and Michele McLaughlin.

The third group of students helping others is a group of ninth grade students who volunteer at Quincy City Hospital on Tuesday afternoons. Among their jobs are delivering flowers and showing patients to their rooms. This group includes Kathy Donnelly, Kim Johnson, Liberty Quito, Joyce Larson, Allison Fuller, Marcy Shaw, Nancy Hubbard, Jill Nelson, Carla Carlson and Lisa Reynolds.

Central is very proud of these girls.

Students Play 'The Career Game'

By LISA PASSALACQUA

Central students recently had a chance to play "The Career Game". It was a chance for students to make a career decision based upon a multimedia presentation. The movie and the special effects by actor Jim Hill gave the students some help in starting to think about future careers.

"The Career Game" had students asking questions of themselves regarding the values they consider important. It asked questions such as:

"What do you enjoy?"
"What do you do well?"
"Whom do you admire?"

Mr. Hill also had the students "play detective". They took a look at the students' rooms in the movie to see what their environment showed about their styles of doing things. Then students were asked to answer the questions:

What is your room like?
Is it neat or messy?
What kind of posters and hobby materials are in your room?
Do you like music?
Do you like sports?
What types and styles of clothing do you enjoy wearing?
What books and magazines do you read?

These questions were asked so the students could see how the appearance of their rooms could help them decide their careers.

Booklets were available from the Guidance Counselors on careers, so if someone did not have a chance to view this presentation, he or she could still play the career game.

"The Career Game" was provided by the Boston Red Sox and Channel 38. The students at Central thank them, as well as Central's Head Guidance Counselor Mary Catherine Iannoni and the Guidance Department for the opportunity to participate in the program.

Central Hosts Greek Visitors

By PAULINE PAPPAS and JOANNE PAPPAS

On Wednesday, March 26, Central Junior High School was proud to welcome visitors from Greece, Mr. and Mrs. Alexis Dimaras.

Mr. Dimaras is headmaster at the Moraitis School in Athens, the capital of Greece. He holds full responsibility for the middle school which includes students ages 12 to 15. Aside from having a great deal of teaching experience, Mr. Dimaras has also written numerous books and articles on educational matters.

Mr. Dimaras came to Central for several reasons. One reason he came was to investigate the American school system and make comparisons with the Greek system. He believed that by doing this, he might find things in our system that might be beneficial to the Greek educational system. Another reason he visited us was to speak with teachers and administrators about their method of teaching.

Seventh and ninth graders were invited to meet with Mr. and Mrs. Dimaras. At this time Mr. Dimaras spoke about the Greek educational system. Central students were then allowed to ask questions. It was a very interesting and informative meeting.

Seventh Graders Study Foreign Languages

pleted in grade eight.

French students Valerie Papapetros and Missy Silkwood report that the majority of seventh graders taking a foreign language like it. They believe their text and workbook are fairly easy except for the irregular verbs. They also believe that since French is spoken all over the world it is a useful second language to know.

Spanish students Lysa Lynch and Elise Tobman have some more to tell. They asked Linda Cefal what she thought about the program. Linda's reply was, "I enjoy studying the Spanish language and customs". Another seventh grader, Cathy Hooley, says she likes it so much that she wants to be a Spanish Interpreter. Lysa and Elise recommend the program to all sixth graders coming to Central.

Miss Caroline Stevens, who has been teaching this pilot program in foreign language, is to be complimented for the fine job she has done.

National Mime Theater Performs At Central

By CAROLYN LEONARD

Central Junior High School students were privileged to have Kenyon Martin and Drucilla Markle of the National Mime Theater perform on Thursday, April 17. They quickly captured the attention of the audience with their humorous and creative acts.

The mime performer, "a master of illusion," attempts to make the audience imagine a scene or object that is really not present. Climbing a ladder, eating a lunch, and having a sword fight were some of the scenes portrayed humorously in pantomime by the visiting performers.

This act has been perfected by Mr. Martin during his 19 years of performing and teaching in Europe and the United States.

MIMES Drucilla Markle and Kenyon Martin of the National Mime Theater recently entertained Central students.

Creative Arts Festival 'An Exciting Experience'

By MAURA FEENEY, BERNADETTE MURPHY and ELAINE SUGARMAN

Being among the 100 finalists chosen to have our creative writing displayed at a conference on March 22 at Northeastern University entitled "Celebrating The Creating Child", was an exciting experience.

Our writings were entitled, "I Don't Have a Family Anymore" and "An Ant's Memories" by Bernadette Murphy, "A Day in the Life of a Fruit Fly" by Maura Feeney, and "School and Other Poems" by Elaine Sugarman.

The Conference was held in the Ell Student Center at Northeastern University. The writing and audio-visual materials were put on display in the ballroom. In another section, some students performed mime while there was a "mural making" area for anyone to attend. Later the winners of the poetry class read their award winning poems for all to hear.

In the afternoon, workshops were offered for people of all ages. There were workshops for students on poetry, prose, and Polaroid portraits. For the adults there were workshops on "Nurturing Your Creative Child in the Home and Classroom". The afternoon also included films on creativity.

Bernadette Murphy attended the prose workshop entitled, "Writing to Reach an Audience."

She was taught the eight basic rules of creating a character by Professor Ruth McDonald, a teacher at Northeastern. After that, the class split in to three small groups. Each group created a character following these eight rules. After each group had created a character, the whole class voted to see which one they thought was the best. The one that was chosen the best won a ribbon.

Another workshop offered was "Polaroid Portraits or Angles on Yourself" which Elaine Sugarman attended. Those who attended paired up with someone they didn't know. They then took pictures and interviewed each other and wrote a summary about each other. The photographs and summaries were mounted on a piece of black paper and then hung around the room for everyone to read.

The day came to an end with an awards ceremony.

'Step Into Society' Week Starts May 12

By TRICIA GOVONI

This year's annual Step Into Society Week at Central Junior High School will occur during the week of May 12.

This event is coordinated by Mary Catherine Iannoni, Head Guidance Counselor at Central. The theme of this year's program is "Quincy, A City of Firsts."

During the week, various people will be coming to Central to discuss their special fields of interests with students and others will deal with Quincy's historical background. Doris Oberg will present two slide shows entitled "Quincy, a City of Firsts" and "Walk With Me." Both presentations focus on Quincy's past and present. Owen Della Lucca will share some unique features in a set of slides which he has entitled "Old Bones." Mary Catherine Iannoni will show slides of activities, special events, and students and staff that date back to the 1950's. Harold Crowley, James Lydon, and Walter Hannon are also among the speakers who will deal with the history and future of Quincy.

Speakers are also scheduled to talk about their careers. Among these speakers are Marianne Bender Powers, Barbara DiNatale, Representative Michael Morrissey, Senator Paul Harold, Attorney James McIntyre, Sheriff Clifford Marshall, Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti, Vincent Sullivan, and Francis X. McCauley.

Still other guests participating in "Step Into Society" week are: Dr. Douglas MacDonald who will show slides of his trip through Finland, Poland, and Moscow; George Roberts, who will present slides of his trip through Switzerland, The Pacific Islands, Great Britain, and Scotland; Tom White, who will discuss A Gambling Casino; Jacqueline Wenz who will answer the question "What the Devil Is L.N.G.?"; Carmen Mariano who will discuss "Keeping Fit"; and George Ward, who will stage a mock trial to show "How Probation Works." Lt. Robert Kelly will demonstrate the need for smoke detectors in the home. Mr. Pal Pantano and a group of Voc-Tech culinary arts students will demonstrate cake decorating.

The week of activities has been organized to help Central students understand aspects of different jobs and various career opportunities by allowing them to "Step Into Society" and to develop a deeper appreciation of Quincy's heritage.

Book Fair Held At Central

During the week of May 5, Central Junior High School conducted a Paperback Book Fair in the school Media Center.

The program was coordinated by Miss Mary Ann Cronin, media specialist, and Mrs. Edith Proff, reading specialist, with the assistance of Mrs. Mary Ferris, media aide.

The purpose of the Book Fair was to encourage students to read. The profits will be shared by the Media Center and The Reading Program to purchase new materials for student use in these areas.

All students in the school were scheduled to visit the Book Fair during Language Art's classes to make selections and purchase books from over 300 titles.

The Fair was such a success that we are sure many students have become bookworms!

Students Take Part In Science Fair

By NATALIE RICCIUTI

The fourth annual Science Exposition at Central Junior High School was held on May 8.

The purpose of the exposition is to afford students a chance to investigate their interest in a specific area of science. There are always many participants in the Science Exposition, and the projects are quite varied. In the past, students have submitted projects on such topics as: anatomy, plants, light, bacteria, and the environment.

To enter the exposition each participant must have a project which consists of:

1. A question which the student attempts to answer with proof.
2. A log, which is a "diary" of the actual steps that the student took in doing his project.

3. The development of an experiment or survey to collect some information to answer the original question.

The judging of the exposition is a very interesting process. The participant receives a sheet of paper with questions on it about his or her project such as:

1. Did you write down a question before you started your project?
2. Do you have an original notebook (diary) about your project?

The participant gets a certain number of points for the answer he chooses. Then an expert (or more than one) comes to the participants display and answers such questions as:

1. Did the participant attempt to answer an original question?

2. Does the participant have an original notebook which is clear, concise, and efficient?

The participant receives a score from the expert, adds it with the score he gave himself, and that is his total score.

Mr. McWeeny, one of the science teachers at Central who organized the Science Exposition, said that the exposition is "non-threatening". There is nothing to lose; it is a very advantageous experience.

The students at Central would like to thank Mr. McWeeny, Mr. Moscardelli, the staff of Central Junior High School, and those people who served as judges for making the Science Exposition possible.

Ninth Grade Girls Learn About 'Looking Good'

By KATHLEEN CORRIGAN

Are ninth grade girls interested in good grooming, safety, nutrition, and spending their money wisely?

The answer is definitely "yes".

A group of about 25 ninth graders met on Tuesday afternoons for a mini-course called "Looking Good". This course was introduced this year at Central Junior High School by two ninth grade teachers, Mrs. Janet Corrigan and Mrs. Eileen Sadof. The students and their teachers talked about the improvement of self-appearance and self-esteem. Attention was given to many areas:

1. Buying and maintaining a wardrobe
2. Posture
3. Face and skin care
4. Diet and nutrition
5. Exercise
6. Safety and poison prevention
7. Babysitting procedures
8. Make-up
9. Hair care

The activities were varied. The course included a field trip to the Gloria Stevens Figure Salon in Quincy. Here an instructor lectured on exercise and posture. All the students participated in an exercise routine with a specialist from Gloria Stevens. The girls were also able to work-out with the exercise equipment.

Many letters were written to large companies with requests for samples and information. The response was terrific. Avon products sent free booklets and filmstrips on the use of make-up and good-grooming. They also sent many free samples that the girls enjoyed using.

Mrs. Dorothy Raimondi, the school nurse at Central, paid the girls a visit and discussed good nutrition. The students were weighed every two weeks and they kept up with weekly menu planning and charts on daily food records.

Sessions on giving manicures were also fun, as well as discussions on the chemical make-up of shampoo and hair-dye.

The more serious note of the course was presented when materials were received from the Massachusetts Poison Control System. Poison awareness, poison control in the home, and emergency procedures that should be followed in the event of accidental poisonings in the home were carefully studied and discussed.

The highlights of the half-year mini-course occurred before the Christmas vacation. The girls prepared a Holiday bulletin board where the major themes of their course were outlined in pictures and words. They hoped to share some of their enthusiasm with other Central students and hoped that more interest in the course would spread by next year.

The culminating activity that the girls presented was a baby-sitting service and holiday party. Members of the faculty and members of the class were encouraged to invite small children to Central for an afternoon of songs, games, and art projects.

Annual Musical Production: 'The Wizard Of Oz'

By LINDA MARINELLI

This year, Central Junior High School's annual musical production was L. Frank Baum's "The Wizard Of Oz."

The play, which was under the direction of music teacher Mrs. Marion Clancy, was performed on April 8, 9, 10 and 11 in the school's auditorium. Central's Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Bernard Goldstein provided the instrumental music.

After a double cast was chosen, the students rehearsed with determination in hopes of presenting an entertaining performance. According to Mrs. Clancy, a double cast was necessary because of the immense talent shown throughout the auditions.

The comments heard were encouraging. One gentleman who attended commented, "I thought the students did a great job."

"I found it amusing and enjoyable," said a Central student who attended the performance.

"It was a chance for the students of Central to express their musical talents," commented another Central student.

The students of Central would like to thank all those people who helped make "The Wizard Of Oz" a success.

OFF TO SEE THE WIZARD are Chris Roberts, Mark Cimino, Carolyn Mercier and John Thorne, in Central's recent production of "The Wizard of Oz."

DOROTHY AND THE GOOD WITCH were played by Suzi Finnegan and Suzanne Welby.

MUNCHKIN MAYOR Mary Ann Nolan, [center] is surrounded by her subjects.

WICKED WITCHES were played by Pam Keddy and Lauren O'Rourke.

NEWSBRIEFS

Seventh Graders Will Go To Camp

By MICHELLE DUNN

Central will not be as crowded as usual during the week of June 2. This is because 150 seventh grade students will be attending Camp Bournedale, a unique outdoor education center on Cape Cod.

Most former participants remember sailing, canoeing, water skiing and volleyball as the "best" activities; yet Bournedale is by no stretch of the imagination merely a vacation.

The purpose of going to the camp for a week is to provide students with the opportunity to learn in a setting quite different from that of the classroom. Attendance at Camp Bournedale teaches students how to act responsibly without excessive supervision; how to make the best use of their time. Bournedale offers students the chance to utilize whatever creative talents they may have.

As a former participant, I found Bournedale to be an incredible experience because it gives students a chance to enrich themselves in ways that are impossible in a school setting.

The Oratorical Contest

By NANCY CUNNINGHAM

During the second week in May the preliminary round of the Annual Josiah Quincy Oratorical Contest will be held at Central Junior High under the direction of Dr. Laurence Osborne.

This year the theme of the contest is: "The United States should continue to function as a world political and economic leader." The winners of this preliminary contest will then compete in the city-wide finals May 29 at United First Parish Church. We wish them luck.

'You Must Have Been A Beautiful Baby'

By RACHELLE ROMBERG

Why were there so many baby pictures in the Media Center?

Why were there so many ninth graders and teachers carefully looking over the bulletin board? This excitement was caused by "baby faces" that were on display at Central's Media Center.

Mrs. Corrigan and her ninth grade science class sponsored a baby contest. The contest included pictures of ninth graders and faculty. The purpose of the contest was to show how an individual's features are present even at an early age. Mrs. Corrigan's science class have been studying genetics this term and were able to see how these features were recognized. The baby pictures were displayed in the Media Center and a sheet with the names of those whose pictures were displayed was distributed to all who entered. The contest involved guessing the most faces and matching faces with the names.

The winner of the contest was Jill Nelson. She received a prize of a $25 gift certificate to Sawyers Campus Shop in Quincy Square.

Drama In Progress

By BETTY McLOUGHLIN

Scenes from the plays "Twelve Angry Women" and "A Murder Well Rehearsed" will be presented at Central Junior High in May. The plays are being directed by Michael Moschella, a math teacher, who is very interested in drama.

Thirteen Central students are participating in these productions. They are: Faith Brooks, Brenda Bryant, Dianne Carbonneau, Ann Carroll, Kathy Corrigan, Emilie Donlan, Suzie Finnegan, Kristin Howard, Dawn LaPenna, Jennifer McCauley, Dee Millar, Lisa Miller, and John Thorne.

All of the participants are working hard to perfect their parts. I'm sure they will all give great performances.

The 'Centrivocals'

By TONI VEADER

The Centrivocals, a new choir at Central under the direction of Catherine Carnabucci, is made up of a group of very talented students. Nine of these students participated in the Southeast District Junior High Music Festival in Yarmouth, Massachusetts, this year.

The Centrivocals meet for rehearsal once or twice a week to sing four-part music: Soprano, Alto, Tenor, and Bass. They also sing Madrigal Arrangements, which are unaccompanied songs.

Their first performance will be in the Merrymount Spring Concert on May 22. Some of the students participating are: Patricia Briggette, Ann Carroll, Nancy Cunningham, Blair Hamaty, Shaun Kelly and Jane Leonhardt. Other students participating who will sing solos are: Diane Carbonneau, Ralph Gioncardi, Carolyn Mercier, Garth Petracca and Toni Veader.

Fighting A Wind War

By PAULINE PAPPAS

Wind, blowing through my hair,
Frantically swirling about,
Trying to overcome me.
I, sensing every movement,
Trying to keep my balance,
Trying to hold onto my possessions.

Fighting a war with wind,
Is tricky business.
I realize this, and the wind does, too.

There are no guns,
No cannonballs,
Just two trustworthy soldiers,
On a battlefield.
A sudden surrender.
Winds cease,
It's peacetime once again.
I stop to glance around me.
There are no wounds,
No injuries,
There are no winners,
On either side.
All that remains is satisfaction,
For the wind and its opponent.
For the wind and I.

Everlasting, neverending
Always there, and impending.
I am leaf.
I am tree.
I am you.
You are me.
Always have been, always will
All powerful, gentle still.

For all has happened as I've planned.

I Never Hoped To See

By MARGARET CROWLEY

I never hoped to see so calm a sight,

As that of rows of cactuscommonness

Growing free and easy-sharing the delight
Of a simple dignity-the wilderness.

Meris feet have trodden down the earthen soil:
Have bent its will with worn and calloused hands.

They have turned and twisted it in labored toil,
Yet, few have seen the secret of such a land.

This is good soil that conceives the cactus plant.

The flashy stems and branches have spines that glare
In sun-ridden moments of fanciful chance.

Well covered are the plains and hillsides fair.

God has shown to us a power not unknown.

He has given it a beauty of its own.

My First Job

By MARIA PAZ

[The following essay by Maria Paz, a ninth grade language arts student at Central, was recognized by The Scholastic Writing Awards as "having considerable literary merit", and "placing high among thousands of manuscripts" they received. We hope you enjoy reading Maria's personal recollections in her essay entitled "My First Job".]

It happened during last winter. My father told me about a housekeeping job at a house on our street. He said that the old man who lived there by himself was in a wheelchair and his housekeeper had just quit. A neighbor of ours told my father about the opening and recommended me.

The next day after school, I decided to check on this job. I did this as any other normal person with my financial situation would. This could be a great opportunity for me. I never really knew anyone lived in this house, and I never paid much attention to it. It seemed such a lifeless place to me in the past.

As I approached the abandoned looking house, I realized I was scared stiff. I finally had enough nerve to knock on the door. All of a sudden, to my surprise, I heard a loud piercing bark. I barely heard the voice saying, "Come in!" When I opened the door, a little dog kept jumping up and barking at me.

I saw that the inside of the house was just as foreboding as it looked outside. The room was dark, with but one lamphshade gleaming next to an old-fashioned high chair where a little old man sat. He was very tiny and skinny. His wheelchair rested next to where he was sitting as he watched T.V.

Even as the little dog persisted barking, the old man managed to introduce himself as Mr. Richardson. I then identified myself and why I was there. He smiled as I asked what I should do. First he told me to sit down and relax. I guess he noticed how scared I was.

As I looked at him, I was scared and shocked at the same time to see he had only one leg! I was relieved when he explained to me that he couldn't possibly do the housework with this condition. As he talked, he told me that his wife, Mitzi, and he were in a car accident two years ago, and she had died, while his leg had to be amputated. Since then, Mitzi, the dog, was his only company. Mr. Richardson explained that Mitzi was a three-year-old Pomeranian, but the dog reminded me of a little cream puff. He also added that her bark was worse than her bite.

He told me I didn't have to clean that day, and eventually all we did was talk. The awkwardness of meeting each other was gone, and I found him quite interesting. His voice was calm and soothing. He reminded me of the perfect grandfather. Meanwhile, Mitzi and I were finally on friendly terms and I patted her gently.

I came to the house usually two or three times a week, and I earned $5.00 a day. I really enjoyed the old man's company and his stories entertained me as I cleaned. He usually just sat watching T.V. everyday.

Mr. Richardson, Mitzi and I got along great. He once told me that Mitzi never took to the other housekeeper as well as she did me.

But the sad moment came when I found he was moving to an apartment for the elderly. Not really because of the money, but I was sad because Mr. Richardson had become a part of me. He said he liked the idea of moving except for the fact that he was leaving his home and that Mitzi wasn't going to be allowed in the apartment.

My last day at work, he tripped my salary and we shook hands saying goodbye. I found myself with a tear in my eye as I closed the door. I can't believe how fond I became of him.

1980 Spelling Bee Tops Last Year's Total

The 1980 Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Spelling Bee has already topped last year's fundraising total, with more money coming in.

As of Monday, $9,269 had been received by the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Last year's spelling bee raised $8,464 and was the top event of its kind in the country.

Although the May 9 deadline has passed for fundraisers to be eligible as the top fundraisers at their schools, all students sending in pledge money will still receive a Jerry Lewis iron-on transfer and patch, a Spelling Bee certificate and a photograph of Jerry Lewis.

All pledge money should be sent to "Muscular Dystrophy Association," care of Hancock Bank, 415 Hancock St., North Quincy 02171.

The spelling bee was sponsored by the South Shore Telethon secretary for the city Parks and Recreation Board.

Janet DiTullio, coordinator of language arts for Quincy Public Schools, coordinated the spelling bee.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Daniel P. Sweeney, D.D.S.

Orthodontic treatment is usually thought of as the straightening of teeth, and generally it is. It is usually best to have necessary orthodontic treatment done as a child's permanent teeth come in and the problem becomes evident. Badly placed teeth not only affect appearance, they can also cause other teeth to wear down leaving wide spaces for collection of food debris and often leading to other tooth decay. Adults can also have orthodontic treatment done. Teeth will move with proper braces. Dental technology has realized that the old braces were not terribly attractive. There are now devices which are much less visible. An attractive smile is important to everyone and your dentist will help you keep yours a smile you'll be proud of. DANIEL P. SWEENEY, D.D.S. at 539 Adams St., East Milton Square knows the importance of keeping your natural teeth and catching dental problems while they are small. At this time they are easier to treat, less painful and less costly. Loss of natural teeth results in further tooth loss affecting your oral health and general well being. With proper dental care and good oral hygiene chances are you'll feel like smiling. Call 698-3636 for an appointment.

DENTAL TIP:
Do not ignore decay in first teeth. Problems with gums can follow.

Stay Alive!

By Jack Silverstein

PICKWICK SYNDROME

There is a new malady in medical annals whose name is attributed to Charles Dickens' "Pickwick Papers" in which a very extraordinary boy could go on errands fast asleep and even wait on tables while he was snoring.

It is called the Pickwickian Syndrome. It usually, but not always, affects obese persons. Sufferers from it live in an overpoweringly drowsy state and sometimes literally fall asleep standing up. For reasons as yet unknown, although it possibly involves a brain malfunction governing respiratory rates and depth of respiration, such patients are unable to exhale efficiently. They retain carbon dioxide in their lungs and circulatory systems, crowding out oxygen and creating a condition close to sleep or drowsiness. The are accident prone, since they may fall asleep while driving.

With a sound diet and more exercise, patients lose weight and increase oxygen intake thus finding it easier to stay awake.

QJC Finishes Season 8-2-1

By PETE ZOIA

The Quincy Junior College baseball team completed its most successful season in years last week with two easy victories.

QJC walloped Wentworth, 13-4, and North Shore Community College, 14-1, to finish with a record of 8-2-1.

Eight runs in the second inning coming from two walks, a hit batter, and seven singles, were more than enough to give Coach Dave Burke's Jaguars their seventh win over visiting Wentworth.

John Newcomb walked to open the inning followed by Dave Moran being hit and Mike Colon getting a base on balls to load the bases. Successive singles by Ed McLaney, Eric Carrera, Paul Vespaziani and Mike McCormack netted five runs. Brian Condon rapped a deep fly ball to right to drive in Vespaziani, Newcomb, for the second time in the inning, singled to bring home McCormack, and Colon, also batting twice, got a hit to drive in Newcomb for the eighth run.

QJC added three runs in the third inning after two were out. McCormack walked, Dave McLaughlin reached on an error, Condon singled, driving in McCormack and Newcomb doubled, enabling McLaughlin and Condon to score.

Meanwhile, ace twirler Bob Thomas, coming off his second one hitler of the season last week, was mowing down the Wentworth batters. Fourteen went down in order before an infield error allowed a man to reach base. The miscue didn't cause any damage as the next batter popped up to catcher McLaney.

Thomas had a no-hitter for five innings, striking out five and walking none, eventually giving up three hits for his fourth win. In the visitors' sixth, shortstop Dom Francis blasted a home run to deep left nullifying the no-hitter and second sacker Chris Aitken tripled to center and then scoring on a fly ball to give Wentworth their first two runs. Two more runs on a hit, and three errors gave the losers their last scores. Carrera and Newcomb had two hits each to lead QJC.

In the season's finale against North Shore, Thomas again showed great pitching form, closing out his Junior College career with a four-hitter, striking out four and walking none. He also belted a home run and a double to help his own cause.

The home town North Shore nine got its only run in the second inning, being shut out the remainder of the fray. It took QJC four innings to get started in the scoring column, but once it started it kept on scoring, getting two runs, three more each in the fifth and sixth innings, and six more in the seventh.

This devastating 16-hit attack in the final game was shared by the entire team. Vespaziani continued his torrid hitting, garnering a triple, double and two singles. McLaney sprayed out three hits, Carrera and Condon each had two singles, and McCormack, McLaughlin and Moran added a hit apiece.

Thomas, the mainstay of the pitching corps, had a record of five wins, and one tie. His wins were impressive as he notched two-one hitters, a three-hitter and a four-hitter. He had two shutouts to his credit.

Generalizing on his team's accomplishment this past season, Burke said, "This club was as strong as any QJC team I have been associated with for the past 12 years. Scoring an average of 13 runs in each of our last four games showed tremendous improvement in our attack. Our defensive play also showed a marked improvement midway into the season, progressing in each game."

Jogathon May 18 For North Track

North Quincy High will hold a Wheaties Sports Federation jogathon Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium to raise funds for the boys and girls' track teams.

Students, faculty and administration of the school are asking members of the community to participate in the effort through contributions or participation as joggers. Persons wishing to contribute, sign up or secure additional information can call Coach Lou Tozzi at 1-837-5185.

Contributions are made for each mile jogged by individual participants. All money raised remains with the school for the designated cause, and the Federation awards cash prizes and championship banners to schools judged to have held the most outstanding jogathons.

This is the third year of the WSF jogathon program. Last year North Quincy won a $250 prize from Wheaties

Edward Mitchell Memorial

Committee Meeting Thursday

The Edward Mitchell Memorial Committee will meet tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Ed Mitchell was one of the founding fathers of Quincy Youth hockey and served on the board of directors at its inception. He was also one of the driving forces in Quincy Youth Hockey building its own arena and oversaw the construction while serving on the building committee.

Ed's untimely death last July affected many people in hockey and last January a committee was established to create a lasting memorial to his memory.

The committee, headed up by Bob Hayes and Harry Messina, urges everyone interested in helping out to attend tonight's meeting.

Quincy Girls' Softball Sports 9-1 Record

By TOM SULLIVAN

Barbara Webster's Quincy High girls' softball team is rolling along at the top of the Suburban League with a 9-1 record (nine straight victories after dropping a non-league opener).

Last Monday the First Ladies edged North Quincy, 12-11, scoring the winning run in the bottom of the seventh on a bases loaded walk.

Quincy hosts Waltham Friday at Faxon Field, plays at Weymouth North Monday and goes to Weymouth South next Wednesday, all games at 3:30.

Lou Iannilli's North girls will be at Brookline Friday, will host Brockton Monday at Welcome Young Field, Tuesday will play at Waltham and Wednesday will be home to Weymouth North, all games at 3:30.

Kim Alberti, who had two hits, drove in the tying run for North in the top of the seventh Monday, but the First Ladies came right back to win it.

Sue Gallery started on the mound for Quincy but relief pitcher Debbie Ohlson was the winner. Maureen Worley pitched for North and did well but some costly errors early put her and her team in a hole.

Sue Callahan had three hits and Gallery two for Quincy. For the improving Raiderettes sophomore Joanne Runge had four hits, including two triples, and drove in four runs, and Tish Negus had two triples and three RBIs.

The Quincy girls took over sole possession of first place last week with a 5-3 victory over previously undefeated Newton North.

Gallery improved her record to 6-1 as she pitched all the way. Nancy Chludinski and Maureen Maher paced the attack. Nancy hitting a two-run homer in the sixth, tying the score at 3 and Maureen won it with a two-run single in the eighth.

Later in the week the First Ladies kept right on rolling with an 11-5 decision over Brookline.

Gallery made her pitching record 7-1 and also drove in three runs. Mary Kanib and Chludinski drove in two runs each.

Quincy lost Junior Ann McCarron, who was due to be the starting catcher, in the first league game with Brookline. Maher, last year's league all-star catcher, moved to shortstop and, after McCarron's injury, Chludinski, took over as catcher and has done an excellent job.

"Ann McCarron tore the ligaments in her right knee and is still in a cast," Miss Webster said. "She was operated on at Children's Hospital right after that opening game."

Quincy played without three starters in the first few games, the trio being away on vacation and the Quincy coach praised the girls who stepped in and took over. Ohlson moved from second base to left field, Karen Kozloski moved up from the jayvees to play second, and other girls moved to different positions.

Gallery is one of the top pitchers in the league and Kanib is the third leading batter, hitting nearly .500.

Barring a complete collapse, Quincy appears well on its way to a tournament berth.

Hank Conroy is again Quincy's junior varsity coach and he has a good squad of underclassmen including Marie Callahan, Kozloski, Jackie McLaughlin, Debbie Peach, Karen Robertson, Cheryl and Cathy Carmody, Ann Sullivan, Janet Witham, Robin Veneto, Cathy Duggan, Barbara Schumacher, Robin Grant, Cindy Sagar and Tricia Powell.

The North Quincy girls, after a promising start, have found the going rough and last week lost two games.

They dropped a 10-7 decision in eight innings to Weymouth South despite three doubles by Laura Apollo, and then absorbed a 21-5 beating at the hands of Weymouth North.

"Although we have only a 2-6 record, we have been coming along well," Iannilli said. "We are awfully young. We were outclassed in only two games and we lost this toughie to Quincy, another close one to Quincy earlier and one in extra innings."

Crushes Brookline, 99-46

Leone, Dailey Set North Track Records

Two school records were broken last week as the North Quincy boys' track team defeated Brookline, 99-46, to improve its record to 3-2.

Friday the Raiders will be at Brockton at 3:30 and next Tuesday they will host Quincy at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Jack Leone set a school mark with a 6-4 leap (the previous mark was 6-2) in the high jump and Bill Dailey vaulted to 12-1 to top the former mark of 12 feet. Leone also won the high hurdles, Joe Dudek won the 220 and the long jump and Walter McConaghy won the 400 and triple jump. Steve Mastroilli won the 100, Tom Pound took the low hurdles and the shot put and Tim Allen won the discus.

Both North relay teams won, the 440 yard team of Mastroilli, Dailey, Kevin Wood and Dudek and the mile team of Pound, McConaghy, Bill Timmins and John Mantalos.

North second places were taken by Jack Brown, 100; Mantalos, 440; Timmins, 880; Rich McCarthy, pole vault; John Barrett, mile; Gary Morin, two-mile; Steve McEachern, high hurdles; Wood, high jump; Lou DiPietro, shot put and Dave Penzo, javelin.

Placing third were Wood, 220; McCarty, low hurdles; Mastroilli, long jump; Pound, high jump.

Quincy Track Club Sixth In Suffolk County Meet

The Quincy Track Club put on an awesome performance last weekend against some outstanding competition in the second annual Suffolk County Police Athletic League invitational meet sponsored by the Sunrise Striders of Long Island, N.Y.

Competing against 13 other clubs, QTO had only 13 athletes in competition but won 13 gold medals, five silver and three bronze and finished sixth overall against clubs with 30 and 40 entries.

The team received a large engraved plaque presented to Coach Jeff Hennessey by the Suffolk County Police.

Quincy winners were Lorrie McNeil, fourth grade 220; Denise Petta, seventh grade 220; Georgia Traficante, seventh grade 880 and high jump; Tracy Coull, seventh grade mile in the time of 5:50.7; Maureen Roche, eighth grade 220 and high jump; Kristine Picarski, eighth grade long jump and 60, and the eighth grade relay team of Petta, Hamilton, Roche and Picarski.

The boys also did well, despite no first places. Mike Petta took second in the third grade 60 and 100, Paul McLennan took third in the third grade 100 and 220, Harry Morash was justipped in the sixth grade 880 despite his best time of 2:35.7, Mike Ross was second in the eighth grade long jump and third in the eighth grade 100.

Bryan Ellis took second in the eighth grade high jump, Terry Hamilton won a fourth place ribbon in the eighth grade 100 and John Delapelle did likewise in the eighth grade high jump.

The invitation to participate came about when the Sunrise Club was invited by Quincy Track Club President Irene Kelly to take part in the annual Frank Kelly Meet last August.

"When you take 13 kids and win 13 first place medals, that's pretty good," said Hennessey. "Several kids did their best ever, others just did what they could to win and to finish sixth was quite a feat considering no other club had under 30 kids in the meet and the competition was by grade. Some clubs had someone in every event. We'll make this an annual trip. The Sunrise team put on a super meet and they will come up for the Frank Kelly Meet in August and I hope we do as good a job."

Quincy Boys' Tennis Split Two Matches

The Quincy boys' tennis team broke even in two matches last week, defeating Weymouth North, 4-1, but losing to Newton North, 3-2.

Against Weymouth Dave Hamburger improved his record to 7-1 as the Presidents gained their fifth win. Gary Durante and Peter Faim won to clinch the victory and in doubles Mike Nigro and George O'Kane won their match but Mike Shea and Jeff May were defeated.

In the Newton match Tony O'Malley provided a major upset by handing Newton's Bob Bernstein his first defeat of the season, and Hamburger won his match but Durante was defeated and Newton swept both doubles matches with Faim and Nigro and O'Kane and Shea going down to defeat.

The Quincy girls evened their record by topping Weymouth North, 4-1, as Bridget McCarthy, and Patty Garrity won their singles matches while Lisa Hannon lost. In doubles Quincy swept with Patrice and Janet Lenehan and Julie McCauley and Donna Mascin winning.

The North Quincy boys topped Weymouth South, 4-1, with Wayne Peterson and Henry Seto winning their singles and North sweeping the doubles. Carl Nelson lost his singles match. In doubles Ken Watt and Dave Yee won as did Bob Strauss and Brian Rapolie.

The North Quincy girls lost to Weymouth South, 4-1, with Janice Currant and Lisa Welby giving the Raidersettes their lone win in doubles. Ann McElaney, Martha Gallagher and Mary Toland lost in singles and Jean Voelkel and Julie Watts lost in doubles.

Police Softball Team Wallop By Dedham

The Dedham Police unleashed a 20-hit attack and took advantage of seven Quincy errors to wallop the Quincy Police, 24-12, Sunday in the Eastern Mass. Police Softball League.

Tom Malvesti had two home runs and a single for Quincy and Jim Bugle snapped out of a slump with three hits.

"In my four years of managing, this was the worst collapse in fundamentals I have encountered," said Quincy Manager Gerald Queeney. "The only consolation is that the game was not played before our home fans."

Quincy will be idle until June 3 when it will play at Norwood.

500 See North Top Quincy, 9-6, On 7-Run Inning

A crowd of more than 500 packed Adams Field Monday night for the baseball game between Quincy and North Quincy and they were rewarded with an exciting game as North came from behind to win, 9-6, and improve its record to 5-3. The loss dropped the Presidents to 3-7.

Friday Quincy will play at Waltham, Monday will host Weymouth North at Adams and Wednesday will be home to Weymouth South at Adams. All games will start at 3:30.

North will host Brookline Friday at Adams and will be at Brockton Monday and at Weymouth North Wednesday, also at 3:30.

Charlie Bunker's North team, which could be unbeaten with a little luck, exploded for seven runs in the fourth to overcome a 4-2 deficit and go ahead 9-4.

Leo Graham, who has starred in relief, made his first pitching start and went all the way. He pitched well but four errors kept him in trouble early. Bruce Tobin started for Quincy but was relieved by Gary DiNardo, who pitched well.

North's Bob Biagini continued his torrid hitting with a bases loaded triple and a single to raise his average near .500. He also stole his 15th and 16th bases of the season without being thrown out. Mark Millane went three for four with three RBIs and Chris Petrillo had two hits.

For Quincy Mike Scurti had two hits, Walter Kilgallon had two hits and Jim Austin hit the ball hard.

Last Week Biagini hit two home runs, one a grand slam, and drove in three runs as North walloped Weymouth North, 13-3.

Rich Hallberg was the winning pitcher, going all the way, allowing five hits and striking out five.

Biagini and Jamie Walsh each drove in two runs to pace the Raiders over Newton North, 5-2, as Bob Bolster pitched up the win in his first varsity start, striking out five.

North dropped a 17-15 slugfest to Weymouth South, losing a 15-7 lead gained after a five-run fifth. Weymouth came back with four runs in the fifth and six in the sixth.

Glenn Segalla had two triples, one with the bases loaded, for North.

Quincy turned in one of its better performances and edged Newton North, 3-2, with Tobin pitching out of two bases loaded situations and gaining the win.

Quincy scored twice in the first on singles by DiNardo, Austin, Andy Carrera, Scurti and Mitch Johnson, and scored the winner in the second when Kilgallon singled, moved up on a stray pickoff throw and Hugh Campbell singled.

● Junior Farm League

Richard Golden Pitches No-Hitter

Richard Golden turned in the pitching masterpiece as the Quincy Junior Farm Baseball League got under way last week as he pitched a no-hitter and struck out 17 of 18 batters as the Giants rolled over the Dodgers, 11-0. Dan Ward, Brian Mosher, Jay Rodriguez, Sean Burke, Sean Caplis, Dave Murphy, Matt Collins and Peter McLoughlin all had hits.

The Red Sox walloped the Tigers, 14-3, with Gary Silverman the winning pitcher, striking out 11. Kevin Daly, Jackie Green, Nick Levine, P.J. McDonough, Diane Heeney and Chris Kyler all had hits.

The Orioles edged the Red Sox, 6-5, despite an 11-strikeout performance by losing pitcher Diane Heeney. Glen Morales had a triple and drove in two runs and Kristin Curtin, Chris Boudreaux and Pat Murphy collected hits.

The Angels romped over the Yankees, 16-3, with Ricky Ames pitching a five-hitter and striking out 10 in four innings. Mike Ainsley hit two home runs and Teddy Stevenson and Chris Noble one each, while Jim Barbox drove in two runs with a double.

The Mets topped the Cubs, 11-7, with Robbie Cinquagrano the winning pitcher and Jose Manning the loser. For the Mets Paul Adams, who pitched the first two innings, had a three-run homer. Chris Higgins and Richie Connelly had homers, Bill Mulkern had two hits, Steve Connelly and Kieran Fahey had triples and Jamie Crump and Vin Moran had singles. Cinquagrano came in to pitch in the second and gave up just one more run in the sixth inning and had nine strikeouts. For the Cubs Manning struck out 11 and also had a hit, Steve Carey and Alipe Zaccheo each had two hits and Dan Reynolds and Terry Hack also had hits.

The Mets edged the Giants, 3-2, despite being held to one hit. Chris Higgins was the winner and Brian Mosher the loser. The Mets scored all three runs in the first inning. For the Mets, Higgins pitched 5-2/3 innings of fine ball, giving up four hits and striking out seven and Cinquagrano came on with the bases loaded in the sixth and struck out the final batter on three pitches. Mulkern had a three-run homer for all the team's runs. Bobby Austin made the defensive play of the game, a diving catch in center field. For the Giants Rodriguez pitched three innings of scoreless relief and had a home run, Burke drove in a run with a double and Capplis and Mike Rooter had singles.

Other scorers: Dodgers 9, Cubs 1; Braves 20, Pirates 2; Indians 8, Orioles 8; Dodgers 14, Pirates 13; Braves 3, Giants 2; Mets 9, Pirates 7; Braves 11, Cubs 11, and Yankees 13, Indians 12.

● Junior Baseball

Cristiani Pitches 4-Hitter In Burgin Platner Opener

John Cristiani pitched a four-hitter as Burgin Platner opened the Quincy Junior Baseball League season with a 5-0 victory over Foley Chrysler-Plymouth. He struck out 11 and walked four.

Jay Osgood had a triple, Cristiani had a homer and single, Matt DiMaggio a double and Bob McDonald and Mike Baron a single each. For Foley Chris Marshall had two singles and Dave Phillips and Kyle Robertson a single each. Cristiani and Osgood for Burgin and Dave Phillips and Peter Furtado for Foley made fine defensive plays.

Burgin also walloped Houghs Neck Legion, 14-6, with Eric Neck pitching four-hit ball and striking out 11. He also had a triple and single. Cristiani had two triples and a single, Tom Donald a triple, Derek Holt and Billy Caplis a double each and DiMaggio and A. J. Pugliese a single each. Caplis made an outstanding defensive play at third base. For Houghs Neck Bobby Kane and John Ainsley had triples, David Nabsted a double and Mike Haynes a single.

Sears blanked the Elks, 7-0, with Robbie Callahan pitching the shutout. Chris Aimola had a three-run homer, Billy Connolly had two hits and Bob Hubbard, Dan Ramondi, Matt Ramondi, Steve Austin and Joe Zaccheo a hit apiece. For the Elks Mark Simonelli had a double and Sean Barry had a single.

Colonial Federal scored a run in the final inning to edge Sears, 7-6, with Steve Constatas the winning pitcher. He also sparked the attack with a triple, double and single. Steve Haggas had a double and single and two RBIs. Joey Gleba drove in two runs with a double and Jim Kane made three outstanding plays at third.

Boston Gear, after losing its first two games, got on the winning track by defeating VFW, 7-2, with a five-run fifth inning. Gear took a 2-0 lead after two innings but VFW tied it in the top of the fifth. Two runners were cut down at the plate with Billy Heffernan making a great throw to cut down a run and catcher Chad Hallett making a good catch and tag.

Gear exploded in the bottom of the fifth on a walk to Darren Koss, a single by Heffernan, a three-run tape measure home run by Tad Sheets and two more runs. Ron Reichert was the winning pitcher and he and Larry Taglier had hits. Mike Pacetti, Maurice Houlihan, Scott Miller, Tom Donovan, Mike Cronin and Jim Adams all played well for Gear and Nancy Flukes and Matt Furtado excelled at second base. For VFW Chris Grey and Dave Cooke played well and each had three hits.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By ROBERT COLMAN

Fate plays strange tricks in sports... Did you know, for instance, that it was an accident that made Stan Musial into one of the greatest baseball players of all-time? Musial started out as a pitcher, but as a pitcher, he was only an average player... Then one day he fell on his shoulder... That accident gave him a sore arm and ended his pitching career... He was ready to quit baseball but someone suggested he try to become an outfielder—and as an outfielder, and a hitter, Musial reached stardom... But, just think—if Musial had not fallen and hurt his shoulder, he might have remained a pitcher, and probably would have remained just an ordinary player, instead of a great one.

... Did you know that in all the years of the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race, NOBODY has EVER led the race from start to finish... Closest anyone ever came was Billy Arnold in 1930... He led for all but 12 laps.

... Do you know what percentage of gate receipts the visiting team gets in the major pro sports?... In basketball and hockey, it's zero percent [home team keeps all]... In football, 40%... And in baseball, 20%.

I bet you didn't know... That Colman's has everything for all outdoor activity and at lowest prices ever. Whatever sport, you can get equipped at Colman's at the best prices.

Sun Now 3-0 In St. John's Little League

The Quincy Sun is off to a fast start in St. John's Little League with a 3-0 record and is leading the American League.

The Sun blanked the Social Club, 5-0, last week, for its third win in a row as Kevin Jolley pitched a two-hitter and struck out five. Dan Santny provided all the runs needed with a bases loaded triple in the third inning. Sang Yoo had two singles.

The Sun, rained out of its first two games, walloped Alpine Restaurant, 10-0, for its second win in a row with lefty Eddie Gore pitching a two-hitter and striking out 15. Sun catcher Tom Narciso provided the offensive punch with a three-run homer and a triple. Jolley also homered and made two outstanding plays at shortstop. Gore, Sang Yoo and Frankie Carlos each had two triples and a double and Danny Casey preserved the shutout with a key play at second base in the last inning.

The Sun also rolled over President Pharmacy, 12-3, as Gore and Dan Santny combined for a one-hitter and 11 strikeouts. Eddie Flynn provided all the offense needed with a grand slam homer. Billy Santny made the defensive play of the game, catching a line drive at second base to stop a President threat.

Over 100 At Braintree White Sox Reunion

The Braintree White Sox hosted their 12th annual reunion for oldtime South Shore League players, umpires and friends last week and it was one of the most successful yet with more than 100 in attendance.

George Lane, manager of the old Weymouth Pals and a former Weymouth selectman, was master of ceremonies and kept the party going at a lively pace following a roast beef dinner.

Many former South Shore baseball greats attended, including Jack Kalsen, Bootus Chapman, Ike Whittum, Les Wetmore, Art Ballou, Frank and Bob Osborne, Jay Desmond, Charlie Bird, Tom Mackielson, Lou Lubarsky, Arnie Almqvist, Dave Frazier, George O'Rourke, Ellie Hughes, Paul Erickson and George Clark.

Also, Dibby Baker, Joe Zapustas, Leon Bacton, Art Sarney, Norm Dorey, Dick Casey, Herb Boardman, Sam Long, Paul Cheverie, Art Weathers, Hank Keen, Charlie Copeland, Aldo Feroli and many others.

The group gives a portion of the proceeds to the Jimmy Fund each year.

4 Sons Following In Dearden's Basketball Shoes

Ron Dearden was one of the top players on the 1954-55 Quincy High basketball team which lost to Somerville in double overtime in the Tech Tourney finals, and his four sons are following in his footsteps in Tallahassee, Fla.

Ron, in a recent letter to the Quincy Sun, acknowledged receipt of a copy of the Sun's story on March 13 noting the 25th anniversary of that never-to-be-forgotten game, and included information on his sons as well as details of his own ventures since his graduation in 1955 from Quincy.

"My four sons are all basketball players," Dearden wrote. "Brian (18), Mike (17), Craig (15) and Bob (13), all reside in the Tallahassee, Florida area and the three attend Lincoln High School."

He explained that Brian, as a senior this past winter, was voted the Most Improved Player on the team and is a 6-4½, 190-pound forward. Mike (6-0) was a starter as a sophomore with Brian on last season's team and made the All Big-Bend Regional all-star team as a junior. Craig (6-1) and still growing, was a starter on the junior varsity team, and Bob, 5-6, averaged 16 points a game in the recreational league. The Tallahassee Democrat

Newspaper noted that "Lincoln's Mike Dearden may be best remembered for the desperation jumpshot that beat Rickards in the district tournament. But Dearden was not valued for his scoring punch as much as for running from tap to buzzer, breaking their press and making the assist."

The elder Dearden, after graduating from Quincy High, played four years of basketball at George Washington University and later earned a BS, MA and Ed.D degree there. Following this was career as a teacher, assistant principal, associate professor at George Washington, research and evaluation specialist, assistant and associate director of a Center for Effecting Educational Change and a program planner in Fairfax, Va. and Montgomery County, Maryland.

He moved to Tallahassee as Associate Superintendent for Instruction in the public schools. Presently he works for the Louisiana State Dept. of Education as the director of the Bureau of Development, Office of Research and Development.

"Twenty-five years since graduation have been extremely busy for me," he concluded.

• Triple A

Braves Outslug Dodgers, 18-12

The Braves outslugged the Dodgers, 18-12, Monday night in the Quincy Triple A Baseball League. Mike Kubera was the winning pitcher.

Billy LaForest, John McGovern, Tom Tegen and Mark Sandanato had three hits each for the Braves. Sandanato pitched well in relief and Leo Rooney made an outstanding defensive play in right field, preventing the Dodgers from rallying. For the Dodgers Peter Schuerch had a double and two singles and Ray Dunn two singles.

The Yankees topped the White Sox, 11-7, with Peter Quevillion the winning pitcher. He struck out nine and also had a double, as did Ed Flavin, Pat Feeney and Danny Quill. Eddie Wiejkus and Jimmy Bille each had a single. For the White Sox Chris Barry and Mike Hugbo had doubles and Eddie O'Brien, Tony Orlando and Brian Flukes a single each.

The Mets topped the Dodgers, 9-3, with Billy Roche the winner. Jimmy Cahill had a triple and a single and drove it in two runs for the Mets. Billy Lynch had a double and single, drove in a run and scored two, and Mike Dever had a single. Sean Joyce had two singles and Paul Mantia a double for the Dodgers.

Bob Collyer was the winning pitcher as the Indians slugged the Tigers, 9-4. Collyer also had a double and two singles and two RBIs, Paul McGhee had two doubles and two RBIs, Greg Harper and John Kayes a double and single each, Dan Smith a double, Mike Ceruvels two singles and Matt Healey a single. Dave Fasano had three singles and an RBI for the Tigers.

The Braves walloped the Pirates, 10-1, with winning pitcher Kubera striking out 12. He also had two singles. Billy Conroy, Al Julian, Sandanato and Billy LaForest had two singles each. For the Pirates Steve Collins had a double and Kelly Hennessey and Lisa Steen each had a single.

Now 3-2

North Girls Track Beats Brookline

The North Quincy girls' track team defeated Brookline, 68-50, last week to improve its record to 3-2.

The Raiderettes will be at Brockton Friday and will be host to Quincy Tuesday at Veterans Memorial Stadium at 3:30.

One of the highlights of the Brookline meet was Mary Kate Kennedy setting a school record of 20.1 in the 220 but she could finish only second. She also held the previous mark.

For North Kara Crehan finished second in the high jump; Kennedy was second and Crehan third in the long jump; Karen Lindenfelzer was second and Cheryl Ayles third in the discus; Michelle Millane remained unbeaten in the javelin and Laurie Adams was second; Millane also stayed undefeated in the shot put with Caren Smith third; Eileen McKenna won the low hurdles; Kathy McCarthy was third in the 100; Nancy McCarthy won the 440 with Ellen Robertson second; Mary Crehan won the 880; Robyn O'Donnell won the mile with Erin Horrigan second; Deirdre Corrigan won the two-mile with Ann Gorczyca second; and the mile relay team won. The quartet included Joanna Toole, Kathy Moriarty, Lisa Cavanaugh and Mary Ellen Timmins.

In last Saturday's state coaches meet Millane remained undefeated against all competition by winning the discus.

Central Opens Season With 13-3 Win

Central Junior High's baseball team opened its season with a 13-3 victory over Broad Meadows.

Bob O'Brien and Jim Kelly led the attack as each hit a two-run homer. Four Central runs were unearned as the result of four errors and three wild pitches. Bob Mudge drove in two runs and John Furland, Bob McLaney, Ken Wright and Chip Mallory each drove in one. Each team stole three bases, Mallory stealing two and O'Brien one for Central.

Sterling opened by beating

Point by the same score as Glen Oriola, John Kozlowski and Brian Callahan shared the pitching chores.

Chris Draicochio had three hits and Sterling ran the bases wild with 16 stolen bases.

George A. McCall, 65, Active In Labor, Sports

A funeral Mass was celebrated Monday at St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point, for George A. McCall, 65, past president of the Norfolk County Labor Council and active in local sports leagues.

Mr. McCall, a lifelong Quincy resident, died May 14 at Quincy City Hospital after a long illness. He was a General Dynamics sheetmetal worker and a member of Local 5 Shipbuilders Union.

He also served as manager of the Sagamore Plebes of the Park and South Shore leagues. He coached three of the city's American Legion baseball teams: Morrisette, Quincy and Wollaston posts.

He was appointed to the Parks and Recreation Board by former Mayor Joseph LaRaia and served two years on the board.

Mr. McCall was also a World War II Navy Veteran.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary E. (Powers) McCall; three brothers, John McCall of Quincy, Thomas P. McCall of Camden, N.J., and Charles W. McCall of San Diego and several nieces and nephews. He was also the brother of the late Reynold C. McCall and James E. McCall, both of Quincy.

Parents Anonymous In Need Of Funds

Parents Anonymous, a non-profit, self-help organization, involved in breaking the cycle of child abuse and neglect, is in a crisis.

In order to receive a contract that will provide the money to maintain the crisis hotline and fund the resource office, funds must first be donated.

Without the funds, a spokesman said, the parents and children who rely on PA for help, support and referral reach a dead end.

To insure the continuation of this support network across the state until June 30, when our funds arrive, $4,000 is needed.

Call 482-4695 or write Parents Anonymous, 120 Boylston St., Rm. 519, Boston, MA. 02116, for any solution to the problem.

Wollaston Nazarene Church Steeple

The new steeple for Wollaston Church of the Nazarene is atop the sanctuary of the existing 750-seat auditorium, and not an annex to the church, as reported in last week's Quincy Sun.

In addition, a typographical error reduced the height of the steeple, which is actually 96 feet, six inches.

First Church Of Squantum Marks Mothers' Day With Special Service

The First Church of Squantum's Mothers' Day service Sunday was led largely by mothers in the congregation and their children.

The service began with "The Magnificat," Mary's words when she first learned that she was to be the mother of Jesus, read by Gretchen Bumpus and her daughters, Holly and Blythe. Genevieve Todd led the opening prayer.

The Junior Choir sang "All Things Bright and Beautiful" to words by C. Alexander and music by Hal Hopson. Lillian Shonis, Kim Olson, Amanda Young and Kerry Galvin played the finger cymbals.

Pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin spoke on the theme, "Mothers Are People, Too." Richard Williams offered the Children's Prayer. Special Christian cartoon strips were given to each person who was at the service.

Joan Hansen and her daughter, Katherine, joined with the pastor to lead a series of Mother's Day prayers. The Scripture reading from the 66th chapter of Isaiah was read by women and men in the congregation.

Mary Ruth Scott, church organist, announced the offering with her daughter, Susan. Then, in a Mother's Day turnabout, Susan went to the organ to play while her mother stayed with the choir and led them in William Boyce's "Alleluia." The Scotts also gave the prayer of dedication.

Dr. Langevin preached on "The Motherhood of God," based on the text from Isaiah, "I will comfort you in Jerusalem, as a mother comforts her child."

Greeters for the morning were the Ted Adams family. Ushers were Lore Wallin, Bonnie Adams, Susan Mildram, Tom Adams, William Cogswell, Donna Stevens and Paul Paulson. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Orange Crush, a church youth group.

Before the service, a Mother's Day breakfast attracted the largest crowd ever for such an early morning breakfast. Sponsored by Cinnamon Toast, an inter-generational Christian education group in the church, the breakfast was supervised by Ken Johnson, Stewart Scott and Richard Colwell. Proceeds went to the "New Stove" Fund.

The service next Sunday at 10:15 a.m. will be based on the Book of Daniel.

PSSB Walkathon Winners To Be Honored May 16

Over 150 guests are expected to attend an appreciation party Friday, May 16, at 7:30 p.m. at Bethany Congregational Church for participants in last month's "Walk-for-PSSB".

The walk, a major fund raising event for the Protestant Social Service Bureau, is expected to raise some $22,000 for the family counseling and adoption services of the Quincy-based agency. The walk attracted 655 participants from 41 South Shore churches and was the largest event in the seven year history.

A total of 21 prizes will be presented to winners in the under 12 years of age group, the 12 to 17

STARSCOPE

Clare Anuswell

WEEK OF MAY 15.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19
Movie script could be fashioned from week's activities — and it would be slapstick comedy. Lover's quarrel and patch-up, wrong turns and misunderstandings are among probable events.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20
Instructions can be misinterpreted all week — ones you issue Thursday - Friday, ones you receive Monday - Wednesday. Important goals come into view, and you feel ready to combat recent insecurities.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20
Key career or academic decision could be made with confidence by weekend, thanks to interest of an older friend or relative. If decorating or expanding your wardrobe, go for bolder touch.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22
You're in limelight again, and you're enjoying it more and more. Unexpected bill could mean that exotic plans will have to be simplified. Surprise invitations complicate your calendar.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21
It's more than usually difficult to maintain high standards, but you can get through week without making compromises. Teamwork and team travel are both accentuated on weekend.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22
Attitude is present keyword. A casual approach to finance could be incorrect, a too-serious romantic style could meet with something less than enthusiasm. Study each situation before deciding on tactics.

LEO — July 23 - August 22
Outstanding week for bargain hunting, working out philosophical questions, and entering sports contests. But not so favorable for selling, inventing, or patching up quarrels of others.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22
An almost completely adventurous, carefree week. Relationships improve because you're more relaxed, and job tensions ease. One warning: prepare to deal firmly with guests who overstay welcome.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22
Hasty decisions are to be avoided; encourage events to take natural course. Differences of opinions with partner could create stress — but only if you insist on reminding each other about ancient history.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21
Old business ventures could bring extra cash now, and casual friendship could blossom into something more important. Good period for making lifestyle changes.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22
Good week for acting on first impressions, especially in career environment. Watch out for emotional fireworks on weekend — and don't lose sense of humor. Monday - Wednesday find you luck in love.

CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20
Someone you've put on a pedestal may prove — to your relief — that he/she is human. Busy week in personal and career areas, but with a little help from friends — and do drop some hints — you cope beautifully.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
If you appear stubborn, it's because you need time to work your way into an idea. Not one to sulk, you're famous for your ability to forgive and forget. Money-making opportunities open up by September, and you begin to feel more secure emotionally and materially.

BORN THIS WEEK
May 15th, actor Joseph Cotton; 16th, actor Henry Fonda; 17th, vaccination discoverer Edward Jenner; 18th, singer Perry Como; 19th, philosopher Johann Fichte; 20th, painter Albrecht Durer; 21st, actor Raymond Burr.

Hibernia Savings Bank Opens Braintree Branch

The Hibernia Savings Bank celebrated the opening of its new Braintree branch at 51 Commercial St. (Weymouth Landing) Saturday with balloons, refreshments, prizes and "Peanuts" the clown.

The bank also hosted a four hour radio broadcast on WNTN. According to Bill Sebet, branch manager, prizes were given away to people who answered on air-challenges ranging from trivia and "golden oldies", to walk-in contests.

Regular banking hours for the branch will be 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday to Wednesday, 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Thursdays and Fridays; and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturdays.

Betty Keith Wins Trip In First American Bank Drawing

Mrs. Betty Keith of Quincy was the grand prize winner in a drawing celebrating the recent opening of the First American Bank For Savings' Quincy Center office.

Mrs. Keith received a five-day trip for a family of four to Washington, D.C. and Williamsburg, Va.

Second prize, an Amana Radar Range, was won by Susan Quinn of Quincy.

Third prize, an RCA 19-inch color TV was won by Don Gohl of Weymouth.

The names of the lucky winners were drawn by Bank President Robert G. Lee, Vice President Loretta Philbrick and Quincy Center Manager Thelma Wilde. The branch, at 77 Granite St., is the bank's tenth branch in Greater Boston.

City Of Quincy Tour Guides Needed

Applications are available from the Quincy Youth Commission for local youngsters ages 14 and over interested in becoming official City of Quincy Tour Guides.

Tour guides in the volunteer program, co-sponsored by the Planning Department, will work part time during July and August. Applicants will take part in a training seminar and receive instruction on many of Quincy's popular and historical sites.

Following completion of the seminar, participants will be tested on walking tours before being certified as official guides. Mayor Arthur Tobin will present membership cards and certificates to those who successfully complete the program.

Guides will be required to volunteer eight hours of work during the summer months.

For more information, call Brian Buckley at the Quincy Youth Commission office, 773-1380, ext. 348, or Carol Pisano at the Planning Department, 773-1380, ext. 442.

LEGAL NOTICE

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
Norfolk, ss. Probate and Family Court

No. 78F1075-A1

Notice of Fiduciary's Account
To all persons interested in the estate of DUNCAN KERR late of Quincy, in said County, deceased.

You are hereby notified pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 72 that the first and final account of MARION D. MACKENZIE as Executrix [the fiduciary] of said estate have been presented to said Court for allowance.

If you desire to preserve your right to file an objection to said account, you or your attorney must file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham on or before the fourth day of June, 1980, the return day of this citation. You may upon written request by registered or certified mail to the fiduciary, or to the attorney for the fiduciary, obtain without cost a copy of said account.

If you desire to object to any item of said account, you must, in addition to filing a written appearance as aforesaid, file within thirty days after said return day or within such other time as the Court upon motion may order a written statement of each such item together with the grounds for each objection thereto, a copy to be served upon the fiduciary pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 5. Witness, ROBERT M. FORD, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, the twenty-third day of April, 1980.

To KEVIN J. MAHONEY of 10 Pierce Street, Quincy in the County of Norfolk and the 1ST AMERICAN BANK FOR SAVINGS, 572 Columbia Road, Dorchester in the County of Suffolk, and to all other persons interested.

A petition has been presented to said Court by GLORIA J. MAHONEY of 149 Scott Circle, Dedham, in the County, Norfolk representing that she holds as tenant in common an undivided part or share of certain land lying in Quincy in said County and briefly described as follows:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, now known and numbered as 10 Pierce Street, Quincy, and being the lot designated "A" on a "Plan of land in Quincy, MA," subdivided May 9, 1923," by Ernest W. Branch, Civil Engineer, recorded with Norfolk Deeds, book 1556, page 504. Containing according to said plan 4,000 square feet of land.

Setting forth that she desire that all the following described part of said land may be sold at private sale for not less than thirty thousand ($30,000.00) dollars and praying that partition may be made of all the land aforesaid according to law, and to that end that a commissioner be appointed to make such partition and be ordered to make sale and conveyance of all, or any part of said land which the Court finds cannot be advantageously divided, either at private sale or public auction, and be ordered to distribute the net proceeds thereof.

If you desire to object thereto you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham before ten o'clock in the forenoon on the eighteenth day of June 1980, the return day of this citation.

Witness, ROBERT M. FORD, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this seventh day of May, 1980.

NOW FOR NOW

(or payment by check
is coming back in style.)

In this topsy-turvy economic period, there is one stable, safe way to handle your money—open a NOW account at our Bank.

What can a NOW account do for you and your money management?

Well, as the use of credit cards becomes more and more restricted, a NOW account lets you switch to a cash operating basis, thus avoiding interest charges for time payments. And your money in your NOW account is earning 5% interest per annum. Thus you get the best of both worlds—you avoid interest charges while collecting interest for yourself.

But, you say, going on a cash basis means I can't make larger or more costly purchases and spread the payments. In this economy with interest charges going up almost daily, maybe that is not all bad.

It depends on how much you need a "big ticket" item. If you have a wife and five youngsters and your washing machine breaks down hopelessly, you need a washer, of course. If you don't have the cash, you charge it. But if you can switch to a cash only (or check) basis for most items, you will save money.

The trouble with cash itself is that cash is dangerous. You can be robbed or you run the risk of losing it. NOW account checks are safe and you have an ongoing record of your expenditures.

Think about it.

Should your household budget be keyed into a NOW account?

Will it save substantial interest payments?

Will it be safe and convenient for you?

If you don't have a NOW account and want to open one (for as little as $10.00) come in to our main office or one of our branches.

We think a NOW account is the simplest and best way you have to help fight inflation.

Are "Free" NOW Accounts Really Free?

You will notice in this advertisement we did not use the term "free NOW account." That's because we want no confusion about our NOW accounts even though we feel that we come as close as anyone in offering NOW accounts at a basic minimum cost with no hidden charges.

Here is the way we work our NOW accounts:

You can open an account for $10.00.

As long as you maintain a balance of $10.00 or more you will get interest credited monthly at 5% per annum.

Overdraft charges are $5.00 each, which covers the paperwork in notifying the customer.

Stop payment fees are $5.00 for the same reason.

And the only other charge is $3.85 for each book of 200 plain checks imprinted with your name, address and account number.

What about those which claim to have "free" NOW accounts? They can demand a $300 monthly balance—or $500.00. The only minimum at our bank is $10.00 if you want to earn interest.

The thing to think about when someone says "totally free NOW account" is this: if you don't keep your balance at $300.00 all month long, you can be charged 20 cents for every check you write that month even if you bring your account up to $300.00 within 24 hours. Nothing like that at Quincy Co-operative!

We remind our customers that nothing in life is really free.....but the cost of a NOW account at our bank is very much less than for most other banking institutions.

'I Consider T Judge Death Penalty For Drug Smugglers Advocates

By TOM HENSHAW
Judge Henry H. Chmielinski Jr. would like to see certain traffickers in drugs put to death.

And, the drug problem being what it is, he says, the death penalty may be coming. Judge Chmielinski, who is currently sitting at the Norfolk Superior Court in Dedham, is known for dealing harshly with cases involving the sale of drugs. He sees a lot of them.

The Weymouth resident and former Quincy attorney says:

"Probably 80 per cent of the serious crimes that I sit on are directly or indirectly connected with the drug traffic," he says, "and that's a minimum figure."

"I'm very severe on the sale of drugs for profit. I'm not talking about the addict who sells them to get enough to support his own habit. I'm talking about people who go into the business to make money."

"I regard these people as merchants of death."

"Several years ago I suggested at a White House conference that the only solution to stopping drugs from coming into this country would be to impose capital punishment on importers of heroin, cocaine and that sort of stuff.

"I still think that's the practical solution and I think eventually we'll get to that step because the country is being inundated with all sorts of drugs."

From his vantage point on

NEW PAPERWEIGHT for Dean Donald Young of Eastern Nazarene College is actually a 450-pound cornerstone left on his desk by pranksters.
(Quincy Sun Photo)

Graduation Hijinks

ENC Dean Gets 450 lb. 'Paperweight'

Eastern Nazarene College Academic Dean Donald Young has solid evidence about 450 pounds of it that the days of student ingenuity and graduation hijinks aren't over.

Young showed up for work Monday morning to find a 450-pound granite cornerstone on his desk. An attached note read "A gift from the class of 1980."

The cornerstone had been scheduled to become part of the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene's new sanctuary on Sunday.

"It had been sitting under a tree for a week or so," said Rev. Russell Metcalfe, pastor of the church on Eastern Nazarene Campus. "I kept telling the foreman, you don't leave something like that lying around. Not on a college campus."

Sometime between Sunday morning services at the church and Monday morning, the stone was spirited about 100 yards and through two locked doors onto Young's desk.

"It was quite a feat of engineering," said Rev. Metcalfe. "Actually, I would have been a bit disappointed if somebody hadn't pulled off something like that."

Young's new "paperweight" is about a foot high, two feet long and 18 inches wide.

So far, no culprits have come forward to take credit for the stunt, Young said.

"Maybe it will come out at some Alumni Day, but not this one," he said.

The cornerstone will be returned to the church and take its rightful place in the church building Sunday morning. The cornerstone laying will take place after the ENC baccalaureate (graduation) service, which begins at 10:30 a.m. in the school gymnasium.

Creedon Warns:

Council Axe Will Close 8 Schools, Trigger Heavy Layoffs

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Eight more schools and hundreds of employees now face the axe as a result of what School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon calls the City Council's "destruction of the school system."

The $4.7 million in cuts made by the council Monday night will force the school system into a total reorganization, cancel summer school night programs and all sports, and eliminate jobs for about 15 administrators, 40 teachers, 125 teacher aides and an unknown number of other employees, Creedon said Tuesday.

Creedon was scheduled to present his recommendations at an emergency meeting of the School Committee Tuesday night. Vice-Chairman Christopher Kennedy said Tuesday the board would probably take no immediate action, but would delay any vote on the cuts until at least its May 28 regular meeting.

Meanwhile Mayor Arthur Tobin, who had urged the Council to cut the school budget to within the state's four-percent spending cap, said of Creedon's statements: "I don't buy it."

Related stories, Page 3.

"I don't believe that," Tobin said Tuesday. "I believe that some of the statements being made publicly by the school department were totally scare tactics."

"I think a message went back to cut the frills. It didn't say to cut out the reading and writing and arithmetics. What it said was that the taxpayers of this city are screaming for property tax relief and they don't want public officials who aren't listening to be up there screaming about fiscal autonomy and all that garbage."

Any suit seeking to restore the cut $4.7 million "would not prevail," Creedon said Tuesday. The council "acted in a legal way" in slicing the school budget to the four-percent cap, he said.

Meeting with about 50 teachers at the Squantum School Tuesday afternoon, Creedon said he would make the following recommendations as to how the school system would live with $34.3 million next year instead of the $39 million in its proposed budget:

• The last, and most drastic, involve the closing of eight schools in addition to the three closed last week by the School Committee. They are the Atherton Hough,

2 Arrested, 4 Hurt In Germantown Fight

Four people were injured and two arrested Monday as a result of a Monday afternoon fracas in Germantown.

Arrested were Paul Knowles, 18, of 56 Yardarm Lane and Charles Dooley, 18, of 14 Sextant Circle, both of Germantown. Both men pleaded innocent Tuesday in Quincy District Court.

Knowles, a machinist, was charged with three counts of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon, a broken bottle; two counts of assault with intent to murder, and assault and battery with a dangerous weapon, a rock. Bail was set at $1,000 by Judge Albert Kramer. Knowles was being held in Dedham House of Correction Tuesday.

Dooley, a student, was charged with one count of assault and battery with dangerous weapon, a rock and one other count of assault and battery. He was released on $100 bail.

May 29 hearings were set for the pair.

Captain Frederick Tighe of the Quincy Police Department gave this account of the incident: About 3:15 p.m. Monday Rodger Belanger Sr., a Wollaston

VFW Commander McDonald Speaker

Memorial Day Parade, Ceremonies Set For Monday

Thomas M. McDonald of Quincy, the state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be the speaker of the day Monday, May 26, when Quincy honors its dead of all wars with a Memorial Day parade.

Chief Marshal for the parade will be James P. Lynch, commander of the Quincy Veterans Council (QVC). His aides will be John M. Gillis, senior vice commander, and Roger Whitcomb, junior vice commander.

The parade will begin at 10:30 a.m. at School St. and Ross Parkway and proceed to Mt. Wollaston Cemetery where memorial services will be held at the World War II podium.

The parade and ceremonies are sponsored by the Quincy Veterans Council (QVC), representing all Quincy veterans organizations.

The two-day schedule of events includes:

SUNDAY

• 9:45 a.m. - Quincy Legion Post will conduct traditional exercises of the Grand Army of the Republic (GAR) at United First Parish Church after which Sunday School children will decorate graves of veterans in Hancock Cemetery.

• 11 a.m. - All veterans organizations, their auxiliaries and the public are invited to attend services in United First Parish Church.

• 1 p.m. - Bryan VFW Post and auxiliary will proceed to the Boulder and Doughboy Monument at Adams Academy, the GAR Monument in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery and the Shea Memorial at South Weymouth Naval Air Station.

• 2 p.m. - Morrisette Legion Post and Quincy Cavanagh Chapter DAV will decorate the graves of John A. Bowd, Cyril P. Morrisette and Charles J. Cavanagh in St. Mary's Cemetery, West Quincy.

At the conclusion of these ceremonies, Morrisette Post will decorate the war memorial in Liberty Square, South Quincy, and the war memorial at the West Quincy Fire Station.

Cavanagh Chapter will decorate the Cavanagh Boulder at Cavanagh Stadium, North Quincy, and the Doughboy Statue at Adams Academy.

MONDAY

• 7 a.m. - Bryan VFW Post will hold memorial exercises at George F. Bryan Square, Franklin and Water Sts., Fr. Tierney Square, School St., and the George F. Bryan Memorial in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

• 8:30 a.m. - Houghs Neck Legion Post will hold memorial services and decorate O'Hara Square, Adams Shore Memorial, Houghs Neck Memorial and Frederick C. Murphy Memorial.

• 7 a.m. - Wollaston Legion Post will decorate the graves and hold memorial services in the Wollaston Lutheran Church, 550 Hancock St.

• 8 a.m. - Caddy Detachment, Marine Corps League (MCL), will decorate the William R. Caddy Memorial at Caddy Park, Wollaston, John Jackson, Paul Grasso and James Caviechi Memorials.

THOMAS MC DONALD

• 8 a.m. - Veterans of all wars will assemble at Morrisette Post and proceed to Hall Place and conduct GAR memorial services, after which the line will reform and proceed to the post where marchers will disband.

• Morning - Nickerson Legion Post will decorate Nickerson Beach, Gilbert Memorial and Bayfield Memorial.

• 10 a.m. - A short memorial service will be held at Christ Church Burial Grounds.

• 9:30 a.m. - All marching units will assemble on School St. and the Ross Parkway. The parade will start at 10:30 a.m. over School St., Hancock St., Washington St., Coddington St. and Sea St. to Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

• The parade will rest at Quincy Square while wreaths are placed on the tombs of John Adams and John Quincy Adams.

• Chief Marshal Lynch and honored guests will review the parade from a stand on Sea St. across from Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

'Insanity In Wee Hours'

Tobin Hits Council On 'Unrealistic' Cuts

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Tobin stood in the shambles of his $112.5 million budget and allowed that he could live with the "realistic" cuts made by the City Council in bringing it down to $101 million.

But, he added, "I'm going to speak out on the unrealistic cuts," that were accomplished during the marathon Finance Committee and Council budget session that finally ended about 1 a.m. Tuesday.

"The insanity of some of the things that went on in the wee hours of the morning reminded me of the Legislature when it met on Halloween night to vote itself pay raises," said Tobin.

"I think they should have taken a coffee break and gone home. Some of the action taken by the Council was totally unrealistic and is going to have a devastating effect on the city."

Strangely, among the councilors whose votes on the budget cuts appeared to agree with the Mayor's conclusions were those of Councilors Joseph J. LaRaia and Francis X. McCauley, usually his sternest critics.

Tobin ticked off these "unrealistic" cuts:

- The $868,000 taken out of his request for the Retirement Account.

"It was a phony cut," he said. "They don't have the authority. It is protected by state law. It is required to be placed on the tax rate by the assessors no matter what the Council does."

- The $300,000 cut in Blue Cross-Blue Shield payments for city employees.

"We had sufficient money in the budget to cover Blue Cross-Blue Shield," said Tobin. "That's all negotiated in collective bargaining. These are the costs. This is now going to bring an appropriation deficit."

"You will remember two years ago I had to go to the Council to float a $7.5 million bond for an appropriation deficit. I told the Council then that this would not be repeated, that budgets would be fully funded."

- The $270,000 trimmed from the Police personal services and expense budget.

"When the Council was requesting additional police officers out on the street," said the Mayor, "we directed the chief to have an internal reorganization to achieve that."

"We determined that it would cost taxpayers less money to have civilians do clerical work. We could put a $20,000 policeman on the street and replace him with an $11,000 civilian. We did. The Council cut it out."

"What this means is that if a city councilor says he has a vandalism problem in a certain section of the city I'm not going to have the money to attend to it."

"If I do not have the funds to put these civilians on, then police officers will have to go back to doing clerical work and you've got to pull them in off the streets."

- The $300,000 slashed from the Reserve for Appropriation Account.

"We put the money into that account pending negotiated wage settlements because when the budget was put together many of these contracts were not signed," said Tobin.

"We could not prejudice the position of the city to be plugging in the figure for wages while they were still in negotiation. We could get an unfair labor charge."

"The City Council may have forced another huge layoff of city workers."

- The $950,000 cut from the Hospital budget.

The Hospital is what they call an "enterprise" account," said Tobin. "If you can prove your receipts will offset your expenses, then it's no burden on the tax rate."

"Before we sent the hospital budget to the Council we took it to the state and produced estimated receipt figures to see if they were realistic. They were."

"The expenses that were cut would be equated to a more efficiently run operation to operate in the black and the damn thing was cut. They asked how can we put jobs in the Hospital when we're cutting other jobs. We're talking apples and oranges."

"This is one of the greatest arguments for taking the Hospital out of politics."

"How can anybody sitting out there in the Council chamber make a determination at 1 o'clock in the morning on health care services? I hope the medical staff raises hell."

- The $300,000 lopped off temporary loan interest on borrowings in anticipation of taxes before the tax rate is set.

"Maybe we'll get the tax rate set a lot quicker," quipped Council President Leo J. Kelly.

"They fully realize," said Tobin, "that we mark time on the tax rate until the state sends out the cherry sheet and it hasn't been out on time in years."

"When I get the budget back," he added, "and I'm able to scrutinize it, I may have further things to say."

LaRaia, McCauley and Councilor James A. Sheets voted against the budget following the Council cuts. They also voted against some of the deletions, notably the $4.8 million cut in the school budget.

"I'm concerned," said McCauley, "that we'll wind up in the situation we wound up in two or three years ago, when the Council drastically reduced the budget in the LaRaia administration."

"We wound up with a budget deficit and a revenue deficit and the credit rating of the city declined drastically."

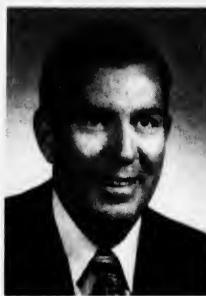

"I just hope we're not going to be faced with a serious situation around May or June, 1981, and we have another $7 million short term borrowing."

"I'm not against cutting," said LaRaia, "but I don't know how the Mayor is going to operate with the

Despite Support

Tobin, McCauley Exchange Barbs Over Budget

Politics may make strange bedfellows but the economics of the budget make them even stranger.

One of the ironies of Monday night's City Council meeting was that Mayor Tobin received most of his support on the budget from Councilors Joseph J. LaRaia and Francis X. McCauley.

LaRaia, a former mayor, and McCauley are his two strongest critics on the Council.

But Tobin failed to see the irony at all and neither did McCauley.

Tobin called McCauley and LaRaia's support of the full school budget the result of a "sweetheart deal". Teachers who were present at Monday's meeting applauded one of McCauley's statements.

Tobin said that the two councilors both received the support of the Quincy Education Association (QEA) in last fall's election.

"They were supporting their own sweetheart deal," he said. "You endorse me and I'll hang in there and vote for you."

McCauley said he was asked by the QEA on a questionnaire sent to all candidates if he would vote for teachers' pay raises.

"I said that if they were properly voted by the School Committee and approved by the rank and file I would support them," he said.

"The reason they supported me was that I wasn't a hypocrite. The Mayor pleaded poor mouth with them while he was taking care of his own political employees."

McCauley said he also told the QEA that he was not in favor of fiscal autonomy and the right of teachers to strike, positions that the QEA favored.

LaRaia was unavailable for comment at press time.

City Loses Again In Apartment Appeal

Quincy has lost another round in its bid to reassess apartment houses with four or more units.

Supreme Court Justice Robert Braucher dismissed the city's appeal of an order by Superior Court Judge Paul Garrity to roll back the assessments that were raised last year.

City officials had not yet decided whether to appeal the ruling to the full bench of the court.

If the assessments are rolled back, it is estimated the city will lose some $500,000 in tax revenues, although Chief Assessor John Comer said some of the apartment owners have already accepted abatements.

NOW FOR NOW

(or payment by check
is coming back in style.)

In this topsy-turvy economic period, there is one stable, safe way to handle your money—open a NOW account at our Bank.

What can a NOW account do for you and your money management?

Well, as the use of credit cards becomes more and more restricted, a NOW account lets you switch to a cash operating basis, thus avoiding interest charges for time payments. And your money in your NOW account is earning 5% interest per annum. Thus you get the best of both worlds—you avoid interest charges while collecting interest for yourself.

But, you say, going on a cash basis means I can't make larger or more costly purchases and spread the payments. In this economy with interest charges going up almost daily, maybe that is not all bad.

It depends on how much you need a "big ticket" item. If you have a wife and five youngsters and your washing machine breaks down hopelessly, you need a washer, of course. If you don't have the cash, you charge it. But if you can switch to a cash only (or check) basis for most items, you will save money.

The trouble with cash itself is that cash is dangerous. You can be robbed or you run the risk of losing it. NOW account checks are safe and you have an ongoing record of your expenditures.

Think about it.

Should your household budget be keyed into a NOW account?

Will it save substantial interest payments?

Will it be safe and convenient for you?

If you don't have a NOW account and want to open one (for as little as $10.00) come in to our main office or one of our branches.

We think a NOW account is the simplest and best way you have to help fight inflation.

Are "Free" NOW Accounts Really Free?

You will notice in this advertisement we did not use the term "free NOW account." That's because we want no confusion about our NOW accounts even though we feel that we come as close as anyone in offering NOW accounts at a basic minimum cost with no hidden charges.

Here is the way we work our NOW accounts:

You can open an account for $10.00.

As long as you maintain a balance of $10.00 or more you will get interest credited monthly at 5% per annum.

Overdraft charges are $5.00 each, which covers the paperwork in notifying the customer.

Stop payment fees are $5.00 for the same reason.

And the only other charge is $3.85 for each book of 200 plain checks imprinted with your name, address and account number.

What about those which claim to have "free" NOW accounts? They can demand a $300 monthly balance—or $500.00. The only minimum at our bank is $10.00 if you want to earn interest.

The thing to think about when someone says "totally free NOW account" is this: if you don't keep your balance at $300.00 all month long, you can be charged 20 cents for every check you write that month even if you bring your account up to $300.00 within 24 hours. Nothing like that at Quincy Cooperative!

We remind our customers that nothing in life is really free.....but the cost of a NOW account at our bank is very much less than for most other banking institutions.

Dr. James Cameron Elected Historical Society President

Eastern Nazarene history professor Dr. James Cameron was elected president of the Quincy Historical Society at the organization's 87th annual meeting last week at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

Cameron, of 64 Davis St., Wollaston, has been a member of the society for 20 years.

He has taught history at ENC since 1951, and has written seven works on New England's history. His wife, the former Ruth Allen, is also an ENC professor, specializing in English literature.

Cameron succeeds William O'Connell of 109 Putnam St., Quincy Center, president of the society for four years and a member for 35 years.

Vice president of the Quincy-

DR. JAMES CAMERON

South Shore Chamber of Commerce for 21 years, he also worked for many years at the Granite Trust Bank, now South Shore Bank. He was also president of the Quincy YMCA before his retirement in 1971.

Other officers elected were: Doris S. Oberg, first vice president; David R. Day, second vice president; William P. Farrar, treasurer; Gordon F. Nelson, corresponding secretary; Lila M. Vorce, recording secretary; H. Hobart Holly, historian, and Judi R. Johnson, registrar.

Elected to the board of directors until 1983 were Joyce I. Baker, Henry W. Bosworth Jr., Margaret M. Buck, Forrest I. Neal Jr., and William A. O'Connell. Edward W. Hanson was elected to the board until 1981.

Following the business meeting, Dr. William Fowler, Northeastern University history professor, discussed "John Hancock, a Personal Portrait".

Dr. Fowler is the author of the recently published biography of John Hancock, "The Baron of Beacon Hill," and was honored at a reception preceding the annual meeting.

20 Vo-Tech Students To Cater Tall Ships Banquet

Members of Quincy Vocational Technical High School's culinary arts program have been invited to cater two banquets celebrating the arrival of the Tall Ships in Boston, May 29 and 30.

The banquets, which are political fundraisers for Boston City Councillor Rosemarie Sansone, will be served aboard a cruise boat which will meet the Tall Ships in Boston Harbor on each day.

The invitation was extended to the Vo-Tech students by the Massachusetts Chefs de Cuisine after their recent first-place finish in the culinary arts division of a recent Hotel and Motel Management competition in Boston.

About 20 members of the Vo-Tech post-graduate culinary arts program will assist in preparing the menu and ordering food, transporting and preparing the meals and serving about 160 guests each day, according to Paul Pantano, director of the program.

"This invitation is a tremendous opportunity for our students," Pantano said.

Registration May 27-30 For QJC Summer Session

Registration will be held May 27-30 for Quincy Junior College's summer session.

Registration hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. on May 27 and 28 and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. only on May 29 and 30.

The summer session will be held between Monday, June 2 and July 10, according to Richard Mula, Dean of Continuing Education.

"The class schedule has been arranged to allow students maximum flexibility," Mula said. "The six-week session is designed to allow working people to attend classes in the early morning or evenings."

Anyone interested, whether regular QJC students or not, can register for these courses. Students from other colleges who need to make up a course or accelerate their program will find a variety of courses at Quincy Junior.

Courses offerings include Psychology, Sociology, History, Government, Literature, Science, Math, Fine Arts, Communication, Business, Early Childhood Education, Criminal Justice, and Secretarial.

Classes meet Monday through Thursday 7:30-9:15 A.M.; Monday, Wednesday and Thursday 9:25-11:45 A.M.; Monday and Wednesday 6-9:30 P.M. and Tuesday and Thursday 6-9:30 P.M. For further information and a brochure, call Mula at 786-8741.

Honored At Ceremonies

Sun Publisher Presented Granite Grange Service Award

Quincy Sun publisher Henry Bosworth was honored by the Granite City Grange at recent ceremonies.

Bosworth was presented the grange's Community Citizen Award by Vernon West, Worthy Master of the Massachusetts State Grange and treasurer of the National Grange.

The award cited Bosworth's "outstanding service to his community and mankind" and his "dedication and personal involvement."

He is the third recipient of the award. Past winners are Richard J. Koch, executive secretary to the Quincy Park-Recreation Board and Mrs. Marion Andrews, executive secretary of the Quincy Council on Aging.

Worthy Lecturer Sadie Wesley cited Bosworth's long-time involvement in charitable and civic projects in the city.

Among them, she noted, is his co-chairmanship of the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee that in its three-year existence has raised nearly a quarter million dollars—$102,000 of it last year—to help fight that disease.

His sponsorship of youth baseball, hockey and bowling teams was also cited.

His personal and The Quincy Sun's support of numerous other charitable and civic programs in Quincy was also recognized.

In addition to the award, Bosworth was also presented the Grange insignia with his name engraved in white marble.

Special guests included Richard J. Koch who serves as co-chairman of the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee, Mrs. Dorothy Bosworth, Win Bettinson of WJDA and Mrs. Jean Bettinson.

Helping Hand Program Aids Youngsters In Emergencies

The Quincy Police Department in cooperation with Quincy elementary schools has revitalized its Helping Hand Program, and approximately 740 new families have volunteered to participate.

The program is geared to protect children from child molesters, but is more frequently used in situations in which young children need adult assistance.

Helping Hand participants put a Helping Hand card in a prominent window or door which identifies the home as a safe place. Children have been instructed to go to a home displaying the Helping Hand card in the event of an emergency—accident, stranger incident, bothersome dogs, fights, when in an unfamiliar neighborhood, or if they can not make it home.

Helping Hand participants then should determine the nature of the assistance needed and telephone the appropriate agency—police, school or the child's home. That is the only responsibility of a Helping Hand participant.

During the past year, the program has been used in several situations involving bothersome dogs, stranger incidents, accidents and in cases in which older children were harassing younger children.

For more information, contact the Quincy Police Department, Crime Prevention Division.

The following are recommended procedures to follow if a child requests your assistance as a Helping Hand participant.

- Do NOT treat the child under any circumstance.
- As Helping Hand participants, your ONLY responsibility is to telephone the proper agency for assistance: Quincy Police—911 (emergency), 479-1212 (non-emergency), school, child's home.

emergency), school, child's home.

- Call the police first in any emergency—medical, molesting or exposure incident. Try to get a description of the car if it is still in the area.

- If school is in session, call school next. The hospital needs permission of parent to do any type of treatment, beyond first aid. The school has the emergency contact information readily available, and can get in touch with parent.

- If there is no emergency, if the child is lost or frightened, call home, or call the school.

- If you are suspicious of the person requesting assistance—remember, only grammar school children are participating. If someone wants to use your phone, have them wait outside. You can make the call if you want.

- Remember to take the Helping Hand window card out of the window when no one is home or able to assist someone in need of help. We do not want a situation in which a child needs assistance at your home and have no one available to help.

Pay Raise For The Mayor?

It's probably a bad time to even mention it with the economy flip-flopping—or flop flopping—but don't you think the mayor of Quincy should get a pay raise?

Not Arthur Tobin. But the mayor of Quincy—the office.

Right now, the mayor makes $25,000 a year as chief executive running an annual business of more than $110 million.

Some 60 or more subordinates—including something like 36 policemen in the Police Department—earned more than the boss last year. The patrolmen's earnings included extra work details.

It doesn't make much sense.

But, this is nothing new. Back in the time of Amelio Della Chiesa and James McIntyre—and long before them—the mayor was making less than a number of employees working under him.

The mayor's salary was only $10,000 then—but it was a part-time job. Della Chiesa was also a state representative. McIntyre was also a state senator and attorney.

The salary went up to $25,000 in 1973 when Walter Hannon became Quincy's first full-time mayor. Joseph LaRaia drew $25,000 as the next full-time mayor and now, Arthur Tobin.

Full-time is right. The mayor of Quincy—regardless of who he is—puts a lot of hours into his job. In fact, he virtually works two shifts. In addition to his duties by day at City Hall, he's out almost every night at function after function.

The $25,000 salary isn't much, considering the responsibilities that go with the job. And, the headaches. Wonder how much of the $25,000 goes for Excedrin?

The job is getting tougher and the salary less attractive.

As time goes by, there are going to be fewer and fewer good candidates. How, for example, are you going to lure a businessman with know-how away from his job to take on the awesome duties of a mayor at $25,000 per?

Not with all the problems and abuse that go with the job.

The mayor of Quincy should be making at least $50,000 a year.

The city is going to have to face up to that fiscal fact soon. Or Quincy is going to be getting less and less for its $25,000.

- Poster Slogan: Insanity is hereditary—you get it from your children.
- If you want a reputation for being clever, you can always outlive everybody who knew you when you were dumb.
- The fact that anyone can grow up to be President in this country is enough to give nightmares to most children.
- Old Proverb: Give a man a fish and you've fed him for a day. Teach him how to fish and you've fed him for the rest of his life.

Quincy Quiz

How well do you know Quincy?

The Quincy Sun is starting today a weekly Quincy Quiz to test your knowledge of the city in which you live, its history, its geography and its people.

The first person each week to bring to The Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., the correct written answers to that week's five questions asked in the Quincy Quiz will receive a Quincy Sun T-shirt.

The second and third persons to bring the correct answers to The Sun will receive Quincy Sun bumper stickers.

This week's questions:

1. What well-known building stands at 1305 Hancock St?
2. Who was Louisa Catherine Adams?
3. The Morrisette Legion Post is named for Cyril P. Morrisette. Who was he?
4. What is the name of Quincy's Public Works Commissioner?
5. In what section of the city is the Quincy Yacht Club?

The answers will appear in next week's Quincy Sun.

If a car is moving at 55 miles an hour it will travel about 56 feet before the average driver can shift his foot from accelerator to brake.

Urges Action On Contract Awarding Reform Bills

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Testimony before the Special Commission on State and County buildings has revealed a pattern of poorly designed and shoddily constructed buildings in this state, costing us taxpayers millions of dollars to erect and further millions to repair. Why? Because contracts have been awarded on the basis of political contributions rather than on merit.

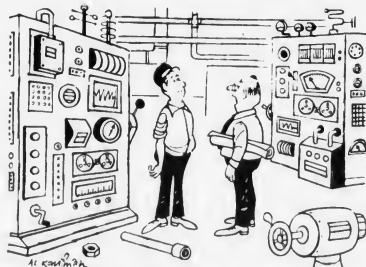

The Special Commission now holding hearings shows up the need of reform in the system of contract awarding and thus it has filed two bills to improve this system. H5619 creates an independent office of Inspector General to prevent and detect fraud in state-funded programs. H5620 completely restructures the system of awarding and supervising state construction projects.

Senator Paul Harold is a member of the State Administration Committee which has been holding these bills several months for study. These bills are in danger of dying before coming to the full General Court for a vote. As the Court will soon adjourn, I urge Senator Harold to see that these bills are reported out without further delay.

Guests In Quincy Point

Arab Visitors Find Americans 'Friendly, Organized'

By BERNIE O'DONNELL
Quincy's Moslem community welcomed 10 "brothers" from Arab lands Monday night during a reception at Quincy Point's Islamic Center.

The group included two persons each from Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Morocco, Sudan and Egypt. Their two-week tour of the United States, sponsored by the State Department and the American Council of Young Political Leaders, has taken them to Washington, D.C., Houston, New York City and most recently, to Quincy's mosque, the only one in New England.

Americans have given the group a warm reception, says Bahaeidin Abdel Hamid Ahmed of Sudan.

"They have been quite friendly and want to know about our own countries and want to talk about events in the world," said Ahmed, assistant secretary-general of the Sudanese Youth Union.

One of the chief topics, he says, is the Iranian situation. "We feel the hostages are innocent people. It's not right at all for the Iranian government to hold them so long without release," Ahmed said.

Abdul Wahab Kashaf of Saudi Arabia agreed, partially: "I feel the hostages are innocent people. The whole case should not have happened. But I also feel the United States government should not have received the Shah and should not have supported him when he was in power," said the director of the Jidda bureau of the government-run Saudi Press Agency.

Kashaf didn't want to talk about another recent controversy, the "Death of Princess" film recently shown on American television. The film depicted some of the allegedly sexist sides of Saudi society.

"I cannot answer this question for a newspaper," he said. "Please don't mention it."

Like Ahmed, he found Americans "very friendly."

So did Ahmed Abdul Razeq Abdorrazik of Egypt, who viable Muslim community in the Boston area. We are proud of you, no matter what other circumstances."

culturally and humanitarly."

Abdorrazik is a professor of medicine and head of his local Socialist Labor Party. His countryman, Abdel Rahman Lofiy El-Layeh, found Americans to be "very organized . . . and they love to be organized."

Both Egyptians said the most impressive part of their trip has been the size of American cities and buildings. To that, El-Layeh of the Egyptian Labor Party adds, "and all that green."

The reception, hosted by state Sen. Paul Harold, was yet another highlight of a tour which has taken the Arab leaders to the Houston Astrodome for a baseball game, Texas rodeo, the Boston Pops, Quincy Market and Baltimore to observe the Maryland primary.

"We are very happy to find a viable Muslim community in the Boston area. We are proud of you, no matter what other circumstances."

Woodward Considers Non-Quincy Born Girls

Trustees of the Woodward School for Girls met to discuss the possibility of admitting girls who were not born in Quincy in order to increase the student body.

Rev. Charles A. Wing, minister of the First Parish Church and chairman of the board, said that no definite action was taken at the meeting.

Attorneys told the board that court action would have to be taken to secure a change in entrance requirements and much action probably would be contested by Dartmouth College.

Under the terms of the will of Dr. Ebenezer Woodward, who founded the school, the property would be turned over to Dartmouth if the trust were dissolved.

PR VOTE COUNT SLOW GOING

The results of the Student Council elections at North Quincy High School indicated that it would take 11 days to count the votes in Quincy's first proportional representation Plan E election in the fall.

It took two hours to count 815 ballots cast at North Quincy, leading to the assumption that it would take 11 eight-hour days to count the 36,000 ballots expected to be cast in the fall.

Or, said an optimist, less than four days if the counters worked around the clock.

PADDOCKS TRIUMPH

Singles by Bob Lints and Jimmy Pena highlighted a four-run last inning as the Paddock Club of South Quincy whipped the Quincy Knights, 5-3, for its third straight South Shore League win.

Paddock Club—Bodik 3b, A. Reggie ss, Donovan rf, Duggan cf, DeCelle 2b, Lombardi lf, Babbitt lb, Gumpwright p, Lints c, P. Peggie ph, Pena lb.

Knights—Wills ss, Foynes cf, Conley lb, White c, Durante lf, Cattaneo 3b, Crowley rf, Harrison 2b, Jetter p, Jordan p.

NEW TEACHERS CHOSEN

The School Committee elected 11 new teachers, 10 for the elementary schools and one for the high school, and Supt. Dr. Paul Gossard said that about 20 more were needed.

Chosen were Jacqueline Bragg, Elizabeth Grandfield, Anne Connolly, Kathleen Tivnan, Eunice Chatterson, Constance MacKin, Pearl McConney, Phyllis Gallagher, Rosella Mitchell, Priscilla Darling and Joseph Bennett.

2 Presented Scouts Merit District Award

Two scouting leaders from Quincy and Milton were honored recently for service to the youth. They were presented the District Award of Merit at the Blue Granite District Recognition Dinner.

District Chairman Harold S. Crowley Jr. in presenting the award to Donald Pound, Scoutmaster of Troop 24 in Squantum, commended him for his 16 years of service to the young people of Squantum. In addition to having served as Scoutmaster of Troop 24 for the past seven years, he has been active in CYO, Little League, and Squantum Community Association youth activities.

District Commissioner Adele Gormley presented the District Award of Merit to Henry Reed, Troop Committee Chairman of Troop 6, Milton. Reed, in addition to his service with Troop 6, has served as a Cub Scout and Webelos leader as well as providing leadership to District recruitment and fund-raising efforts for many years.

The Blue Granite District Award of Merit is presented annually to registered Scouters who have rendered noteworthy service to boys and youth both within and outside of the Scouting program.

Results Of Dredging

Study Sees Black's Creek Returning To Normal

The aquatic environment of Black's Creek is gradually returning to normal following the recent dredging disturbance, according to the report of an ecological study of the marsh and estuary.

The study was made by Robert Dano, consulting biologist, for the Conservation Commission with a $5,000 grant from the Massachusetts Coastal Zone Management Community Grant Program.

The report said the dredging has resulted in colonization by reeds of certain areas, considerable damage to the soft shell clam population and a disruption of the food supply for aquatic birds.

It suggested that future dredging of Black's Creek be prohibited.

The 60-page report, which is on display for public examination at the Conservation office, 100 Southern Artery, in Merry Mount Park, reached the following conclusions:

Results of the vegetation analysis indicate that the kinds and patterns of vegetation observed in the salt marsh are typical and do not reflect gross alteration of habitat as a result of the dredging.

The only possible exception to these observations might be the colonization by Phragmites Communis (reed) of areas at the mouth of Furnace Brook and adjacent to Caddy Park.

The aquatic environment appears to be in a state of restoration after the disturbance of the dredging.

While fish are abundant, populations of shellfish, as reflected by soft-shelled clams and ribbed mussels, still show effects of the dredging.

The evidence suggests that the dredging activity was very damaging to the Mya population (soft shell clam). Results of the ribbed mussel samples confirm that shellfish populations were adversely affected.

Fish are able to avoid a disturbance like dredging and were not subject to the massive mortalities characteristic of bivalves.

In the past Black's Creek has supported an eel fishery of commercial importance. The dredging probably eliminated a great deal of suitable habitat, however, results of the study indicate that eels have returned in large numbers.

The marsh is also an excellent bird habitat especially for aquatic birds which prey on the fish and invertebrate populations.

Consideration of the entire aquatic system suggests that the effects of dredging are abating and that the food supply for birds is increasing with the reestablishment of a stable ecological system.

The study includes a section on management and use which suggests prohibition of future dredging, maximum use of the entire open space complex for active and passive recreation, maintenance of the tide gates currently in disrepair.

It also recommends looking into the possibility of some type of limited, low intensity shellfish culture program in the area like those started in some towns on Cape Cod.

Rent-A-Kid Program Offers Household Help

The Quincy Youth Commission invites local residents to "help yourself while helping others" by using the Rent-A-Kid program for assistance with babysitting, yardwork, housework and other chores.

Boys and girls in the program are ages 11 to 16 and are interviewed and screened by program director John Gustafson, then placed in jobs suited to their ability.

For more information on the Rent-A-Kid program, call the Quincy Youth Commission office, 773-1360, ext. 348.

Tobin Hits Council On 'Unrealistic' Cuts

budget he's going to get back from us now.

"I'm sure he'll be shocked at some of the cuts being made in the departments. Some of them are totally unrealistic."

Sheets took angry exception to a cut of $150,000 in the Public Works Department expense budget, which Commissioner James J. Ricciuti said might give him problems with dump covering

"I want to make this clear," Sheets told his colleagues. "The first time that disposal is not properly covered, I'm going to ask the state to close it."

"If it is not covered properly because of the kind of budget we're passing, I want every councillor to know why it is going to be closed."

LaRaia noted that School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon had predicted that a $4.8 million cut in the school budget would virtually destroy the school system.

"I don't want to be any part of that," he said.

McCauley moved to pass the full $39 million budget requested by the School Committee but it was voted down with McCauley, LaRaia and Sheets voting in favor.

Sheets, an instructor at the Quincy Junior College, abstained from voting on the QJC portion of the budget.

Raymond noted that if the school and hospital budgets were deleted from the total budget and the fixed costs were left out, the Tobin administration would have only $36 million left to run the city.

"The School budget is just one of many," said Councillor Joanne Condon. "It has to be addressed like the others. The increase in the school budget over last year represents roughly $24 on the tax rate."

"I don't think the city of Quincy can afford a $24 tax hike for one department."

Just 2 Words Away

School Maintenance Union Near Contract Agreement

Two words now separate the school maintenance union from signing an agreement with the School Committee, according to President Thomas Picard.

The maintenance men, now without a contract for almost two years, would be the last of the six school unions to fall in line.

Picard said last week he thought his union had reached an agreement until he received a final copy of the contract from the school system. One clause, covering seniority, had been altered from the agreement negotiated in December or January, Picard told the School Committee.

It had been agreed that, in the case of the absence of a foreman due to vacation or illness, the senior member of his work crew would be acting foreman, Picard claimed. When he received the final version of the contract, the words "or illness" had been scratched out, he said.

Picard appeared before the committee to ask why the negotiated clause had been changed and to request that the two words be restored to the contract.

The committee decided to discuss Picard's complaint in closed-door executive session and took no action on the matter.

According to Picard, all other issues between the union and school committee have been settled. He declined to reveal the terms of the contract until it received final approval.

However, The Sun has learned the contract calls for retroactive raises of four and three percent during 1979-80 and four and one-half percent during 1980-81.

Federal Funds Ready For Town Brook Project

Funds have been made available to complete preparations for the long-awaited flood control work along Town Brook in Quincy and Braintree. It was announced by Cong. Brian J. Donnelly (D-Dorchester).

The Appropriations Committees of both the House and the Senate have approved a transfer of $100,000 that will enable the Army Corps of Engineers to finish its study of the project.

A 1978 administration ruling that threatened to kill the Town Brook project has been overcome and it now appears that planning and actual construction should proceed without further delay, said Donnelly.

The project will include rehabilitative work in the area of Braintree Dam, construction of a 12-foot flood control tunnel, and the enlargement of the brook's culverts. Work is expected to cost $18 million of which the federal government will pay 75 per cent.

VA Rep's Schedule Set For Donnelly Office

Arthur Hurley, a Veterans Administration representative, is spending the first and third Tuesday of the month at the office of Cong. Brian J. Donnelly on the second floor of the Quincy Post Office.

"I am happy to be able to continue this very worthwhile service to my constituents," said Donnelly.

"Mr. Hurley has proven to be a great benefit to many persons who would otherwise have found it extremely difficult to deal with problems they have experienced in the Veterans Administration."

Donnelly said Hurley's office hours will not supplant the ongoing assistance that is provided by the military affairs advisor who is a member of his fulltime staff at the Quincy office.

Amity Aide Program

Kids Are The Same, Though Schools Differ, Say Foreign Visitors

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Five months in Quincy schools have confirmed that kids everywhere are about the same, though the schools they attend may differ, say three foreign visitors to the city.

The three are members of Quincy Public Schools' Amity Aides program. Since January, they've been meeting with foreign language classes in each of the city's secondary schools, discussing their homelands.

The program, in operation since 1970, brings several foreign college students or recent graduates to Quincy each year, according to North Quincy High Spanish teacher Kathleen Swanson. Its aim she says, is to make foreign languages more exciting to students by giving them a first hand experience with the culture they are studying.

The students he met in Quincy are much the same as those in his native country, says Aleardo Ferretti of Switzerland.

"They enjoy the same things and are interested in learning about other countries," he says.

Daniele Meilhan of France says students here don't have to take school as seriously, though. Students in her homeland have to pass annual exams to graduate or move on to the next grade.

The emphasis of American high schools is different, adds Fatima Barberon of Spain. High schools in Spain provide more specific job training to students, so they can get a good job immediately after graduation, she says. "High school here is quite generalized."

A fourth Amity Aide, Suvia Spence of Costa Rica, was unable to take part in the interview.

Social activities are different, too, the three noted.

For Miss Barberon, the biggest adjustment while living here was "having supper at six o'clock. In Spain, we eat supper at 10 or 11 at night." If teenagers are out socializing there, she says, they will go out at 6 or 7 p.m. and return at suppertime.

American youths have a wider range of social activities to choose from, adds Ferretti, including church activities, school functions sports and others.

School sports, in fact, are emphasized much more here than in most European countries.

"We don't have school teams at all, just town teams," says Miss Meilhan. "And they don't have bands, cheerleaders and things like that."

Because of the differences in the school systems, students here have more time for social activities and the like, she says.

"It's very different here," she says. "The high school seniors start fooling around and having fun halfway through the year." French students, who have to pass exams at the end of each year, have to bear down until June, she says.

The same is true in Spain, adds Miss Barberon:

"You have to pass that test in June to move on. If you fail that, you have another exam in September, after vacation. The students have to study much more; they need to pass those exams."

In Switzerland, the law requires only that students attend school for eight years, says Ferretti, the 40 per cent who complete the full 12 years are those most interested in advancing their careers, and education, he says.

Those who do complete high school in France are better prepared to take a job in a field like economics, computers chemistry, or engineering, says Miss Barberon. High school provides more specific job training than American schools, she claims.

Whatever the differences, the three found a lot in common with Quincy junior high and high school students.

"I got along very well with the students," said Miss Barberon. "I really enjoyed the time I spent in class with them."

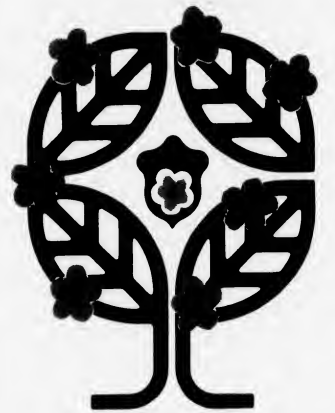

"They accept us very well," adds Miss Meilhan. "I enjoy the junior high school student best. They have thousands of questions and some of them are very funny."

A frequent question, Ferretti says, is "what is the drinking age in Switzerland?"

"One boy," adds Miss Meilhan, "wanted to know if we had McDonald's in France."

During their stays in Quincy, Miss Meilhan is living in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gilliland of North Quincy; Ferretti with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wrigley of Wollaston and Miss Barberon with Mr. and Mrs. John McGowan of Wollaston.

Creedon Warns Of 8 School Closings, Heavy Layoffs

Beechwood Knoll, Cranch, Gridley Bryant, Mass Fields, Parker, Quincy School and Quincy Point Junior High School.

Students at the Parker, Quincy and Massachusetts Fields would attend what is now Atlantic Junior High School, which would become an elementary school. Seventh and eighth grade classes at Atlantic would switch to North Quincy High School, which would become a six-year school.

All other schools would be reorganized along the lines of kindergarten to grade five in elementary schools, grades six to eight in "middle schools" and grades nine to 12 at Quincy High School.

The remaining schools would be "filled to capacity and not overcrowded," according to Wilfred Nolan, director of elementary education.

• The sixth, and thus next-to-last step, would eliminate all athletic programs for 1980-81, Creedon said. Further savings would be made by the elimination of buses, drivers and matrons not needed as a result of the sports cuts.

• Adult oriented programs—those which go beyond the system's "primary mission" of education from kindergarten to grade 12—would be among the first to go, Creedon said. This would include night classes, the Quincy Community Theatre and the use of school facilities by community groups.

• Summer schools for 1980 would be cancelled.

Three or four "research assistants" and about 12 "curriculum coordinators" in the school administration would return to the teaching ranks, bumping teachers with less seniority into unemployment.

About half of the system's 250 teacher aides would be laid off. Only those aides paid for by the federal government or required by state law would be retained, Creedon said.

A 20-percent cut in the instructional materials repair budget and a 10-percent cut in the school maintenance budget are also planned.

• Between 35 and 40 teacher layoffs, beyond the 25 already planned for next year, would have to be made, Creedon said. If the School Committee decides to close the eight schools, more teacher layoffs will follow.

Those steps add up to between $3.5 and $4 million," Creedon said. "We need $4.7 million. Where is the rest coming from? Right now, we don't know, other than from further cuts."

School system employees will probably differ about which programs and personnel should be cut, Creedon said. He warned the teachers that they "should be very careful about becoming a house divided. The city government would like nothing better than to have the left hand saying the right hand isn't worth it."

while loading it on the truck, were pelted with several rocks from onlookers.

Rodger Belanger, Jr. went to speak with one of the youths, who then assaulted him with a broken beer bottle. His father, who came to his aid, and Eileen Mason of 12 Quarterdeck Road, Germantown, who also tried to break up the fight, also received lacerations,

Chmielinski Advocates Death Penalty For Drug Smugglers

the Superior Court bench. Judge Chmielinski deals with much more serious drug cases than does Quincy District Court Judge Albert L. Kramer, some of whose views in a recent interview have been criticized by law enforcement officers.

"I suppose," said Judge Chmielinski, "that I can't exactly fault Judge Kramer for making the observation about liquor being the major cause of crime and disturbance in his area."

"But he only sees things from the very narrow perspective of the District Court, where you handle a lot of misdemeanors, driving under cases, simple assaults and things of that nature."

"What he doesn't realize, apparently, is that there are an awful lot of very serious crimes that are committed, either under the influence of drugs or because of the profit motive, that never hit a district court."

"I had a case a short while ago of a man who was caught with quite a large quantity of narcotics, pills, PCP, LSD and various other hallucinogens. I suspended his sentence because of various factors but I fined him $5,000."

"I gave him one week to pay the $5,000, which is a considerable sum of money. He raised it within a week. That is something very few people can do. It shows you the tremendous profit in this business."

"I consider people who make money that way the most reprehensible people in the world. I consider them mass murderers. They murder, not the body, which would be merciful in most cases. They murder the soul."

"I had a case in Cambridge court before I came here involving two fellows who set out to rob a drug dealer. They not only robbed him but they stabbed him. The medical examiner estimated they stabbed him at least 50 times."

They made hamburger out of him.

"Each one of these defendants had smoked some PCP, or angel dust, just prior to the murder. I think that in great part explains the sadism. They simply reverted to savagery. That's only one instance. I've seen many of those."

Recently, a fairly large drug dealer appeared in Judge Chmielinski's court with a guilty plea that had come as the result of a bargain struck by the district attorney and the defense counsel. The DA recommended a four to five year suspended sentence.

"I would not go along with that," said the Judge. "I gave him a nine to 10 year sentence in Walpole. Then I suspended it. I wanted something heavy hanging over his head in case he stepped out of line. That's the way I felt about it."

"Incidentally, he was a first offender."

Judge Chmielinski has little truck with current theories of dealing with the drug problem.

"The accent, of course, has been on rehabilitation for years," he said. "If you look at the record, the increase in crime on a weekly basis, the theories of the do-gooders have proved to be a dismal, dismal failure. The whole philosophy has failed."

"I believe the purpose of sentencing is, first, punishment. I still think people should be punished for what they do."

"Equally important is deterrence and by deterrence I mean a man getting a substantial sentence, well publicized, serves notice to people of like ilk that there is punishment and this is what they're going to get."

"Third, I would think of the safety of the community. It strikes me that when people are proved to be dangerous to society in general they should be segregated from society, even if it's for a short period of time. They won't infect other people."

"Last, I put down the element of rehabilitation ... and I mean true rehabilitation, not just furnishing them with color TVs and giving them special diets in prison and things like that."

"Rehabilitation starts from within. In order to be rehabilitated a man has to consciously want to be straightened out."

"I think the trappings that they put on all these so-called social programs, these halfway houses, and so on are a lot of nonsense. If a man wants to go straight, he'll go straight. If he doesn't want to do it, nobody can make him."

"We have enough laws on the books now. What we need is stricter enforcement. And certainly less accent on social reform and more on punishment, if you want to put it that way. People should be punished when they transgress."

In some circles, that's pretty strong talk and it has earned for Judge Chmielinski the reputation of being a "hanging judge." He disputes that. "Perhaps I'm old fashioned," he said.

"I think I'm known for severe sentences but you look back and see what crimes were involved, really horrible crimes with a lot of sadism, brutality, murder and so on. Frankly, I think the punishment should fit the crime."

"But I think if you ask anybody in this courtroom, you'll find that I'm as compassionate as anyone else, perhaps more so ... but certainly not to the point of insanity."

This is the 14th in a series of articles on the drug problem in Quincy.

A seven-year-old unidentified girl, who was sitting in a nearby car, was also hit with a stray rock, Tighe said.

EAR WAX AND HEARING LOSS

Government studies show that hearing problems and age go hand in hand. These studies also show that many hearing problems are merely due to excessive ear wax. Of course anyone suspecting a hearing problem should consult a physician to determine the cause.

One way for ear wax to impair hearing is very simple. We all have many tiny hairs lining our ear canals. As we grow older, these hairs become coarse and unyielding. Eventually, they can act as a barrier and keep ear wax, which forms daily, from getting out. This in turn muffles sound trying to get in. Because it happens gradually, your hearing can diminish without your realizing it.

If it is a problem of ear wax building up, fortunately, it is not a difficult problem to solve. There are simple and safe techniques and products to remove it. But whatever you do, never try to remove ear wax by sticking anything sharp into your ear. You may end up with a real hearing problem.

Utility Costs Share Asked

Social Agencies Balk At QHA's Rent Proposal

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Like innumerable tenants past and present, social service agencies in Germantown are having a bit of disagreement with the landlord, the Quincy Housing Authority.

Unlike most tenants, the agencies were able to get a state representative, a state senator and a City Council president to back them up.

The Housing Authority wants the several social service agencies which use office space at the QHA's 9 Bicknell St. offices to pay their share of utility costs in the buildings.

That proposal has been opposed by the Quincy Community Action program, one of the agencies in question. Marjorie Doolin, president of the Community Action board of directors, told the authority last week it had a "legal and moral obligation" to continue to supply free office space for the non-profit social agencies, as other housing authorities do.

Charging rent to these groups would cut down on the number and quality of services available to Germantown residents, she claimed. Over 400 Germantown residents have signed a petition opposing the rent charges, she said.

Community Action and groups like it have used free office space at 9 Bicknell St. for years. This is the first year in which the QHA has suggested that the groups pay rent.

According to QHA Administrator Clement O'Brien, the rents were suggested by the state Department of Community Affairs, which oversees the QHA, as one way of keeping down housing costs.

Community Action and other groups are only being asked to pay on a per-square-foot basis, their share of utility costs at 9 Bicknell St., O'Brien said.

Quincy Community Action is being asked to pay rent of $200 per month.

City Council President Leo Kelly listed the services offered Germantown residents by various social agencies at 9 Bicknell St. and told the QHA:

"I think we should encourage it in any way we can... We should be saying 'Let's open the door and get as many services in here as possible.'"

State Senator Paul Harold said the Department of Community Affairs' backing of such rent is "a suggestion, not a policy". The rent should not be forced upon service groups if it becomes "an issue," he said.

State Rep. Thomas Brownell said "any kind of fees would jeopardize the attraction of services to the Germantown service center".

The QHA promised to discuss the matter in executive session and took no action on the matter.

A TEACHER'S FOOD DOLLAR BUYS LESS, TOO.

Quincy Teachers faced the same 13% cost of living increase in 1979 as you did.

We all face a devastating 18% increase this year.

In the 1979 supplementary budget, teachers are asking for their bargained 5% increase never yet paid.

Teachers have to pay for groceries, medical bills and other day-to-day expenses just like everyone else in Quincy.

In light of the rising cost of all these things, does a 5% raise seem unreasonable to you?

Project LINC

15 NQHS Seniors In On-The-Job Internships

By DIANE DiBLASI

Fifteen seniors at North Quincy High are serving on-the-job internships through Project LINC [Learning in the Community] in such places as Quincy City Hospital, Quincy District Court and The Quincy Sun.

Fifteen Quincy High School seniors are also in the program.

The LINC internship program gives 15 seniors from each school the opportunity to explore the field they will study in college or in a vocational education.

Paul Stanton, North Quincy High Social Studies teacher and community organizer for Project LINC said, "What better way to learn about a career than by actually doing the work involved."

The program is for the last semester of the senior year, January through May. The students do not attend classes this semester or get paid.

Some of the jobs held by the 15 North Quincy High seniors: Quincy City Hospital has four students interning there, JoAnne Burke is working in the children's ward. She plans to attend Bridgewater State College. Laure Leonhardt, working in the blood and chemical labs of the hospital, will attend Massachusetts Bay Community College to pursue a career as a lab technician. "The internship will help tremendously for my future," says Laure.

Carolyn McAleney is working in the X-ray department, and Debbie Sherlock is working in the emergency ward.

Mary Ford and Amy Kane are in the probation department at Quincy District Court. Amy will be attending Assumption College where she will be majoring in political science.

Edward Miller has his internship at Norfolk County Superior Court, in Dedham, working in the district attorney's office. He will be attending Westfield State College and plans to study criminal justice. Ed said, "I've learned a lot about the law since being at the court house."

Paul Romano is with the Mass Port Authority at Logan Airport. He observes ground operations [emergency procedures]. He will attend Northeastern University to study transportation management.

Paul said, "The internship at Logan will help a lot for next year."

James McAvoy is interning at the Quincy Police Station. He will attend Quincy Junior College to study law enforcement.

Robert McDonough is working with computers at State Street South in North Quincy and will attend Sylvania Tech to study computer maintenance.

Brian O'Hanley is working in carpentry maintenance at Quincy Vo Tech.

Kim Galasso is working for Quincy Atty. Martin Fisher as a paralegal secretary. She will attend Aquinas Junior College and will continue to study secretarial work.

Laure Marella is working at the Razor's Edge in Quincy Center and she will attend hair dressers' school.

Anne Conroy is working for State Rep. Michael Morrissey at the State House in Boston.

"It is an asset to have the experience, especially in the State House," she says.

Anne researches bills in the house and attends public hearings. She will be attending University of Massachusetts, Amherst.

I am interning at The Quincy Sun, will attend Suffolk University to study broadcast journalism. I also have an internship at U.Mass. Boston as a broadcast journalist at radio station WUMB.

"There's nothing better than hands on training," I would recommend the LINC internship program to next years' seniors."

Matthew Burns Pinewood Derby Winner

Ten year old Matthew Burns, of Cub Scout Pack 14 sponsored by Wollaston Congregational Church, won first place in the annual Blue Granite District Pinewood Derby recently at St. Ann's Youth Center, Wollaston.

Second place went to Jeffrey April, 8, of Pack 21 of St. Ann's Church; and finishing third was Bret Batson, 9, of Pack 36 sponsored by Blessed Sacrament Church.

Forty derby cars from 10 Quincy and three Milton packs were entered in the race which had scouts and parents cheering on the sidelines.

Scouts qualified for the derby by winning competitions in their packs. The wooden cars were made by scouts, assisted by their fathers.

Derby co-chairmen and hosts were cubmasters Frank Levesque and Brian Timberlake of Pack 21 of St. Ann's. Committee members were Henry April, Adele Gormley and Rod MacDonald.

Wollaston Traffic Problem Studied

The Traffic Commission is studying the feasibility of banning parking on Holbrook Rd., from Newport Ave., to Fayette St., in Wollaston to solve a traffic problem at the entrance to Pneumatic Scale Corp.

An alternative also being considered by the Commission would prohibit parking at least 25 feet in on either side of the driveway to the company on Holbrook Rd.

Also under study are requests to place two-hour parking signs in the Vane St. parking lot, Norfolk Downs and to put no parking signs in front of 83 Whiton Ave., Quincy Point.

Alicia Burns Receives Trinity Book Prize

Alicia K. Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Burns of 31 Buckingham Rd., Wollaston, has been awarded a Book Prize for Excellence in German at Trinity College.

The presentation was made at Peter C. Larrington of Quincy was among some 20 members of Adventure Unlimited who volunteered their time on World Service Day, April 26, to beautify the park by Sunset Lake, near South Braintree Square.

Members of the group, run by Christian Scientists for the educational and spiritual development of young people, planted shrubs and flowering plants and placed planter boxes and pine bark mulch donated by the City of Braintree.

The workers also cleaned the surrounding area of brush, cans, tennis and golf balls, barrels and other items.

When the work was completed, workers went over to Franvale Nursing Home and brought some of the residents to the park to enjoy the new beauty.

The park will be named and dedicated the end of May.

Political Liquor License Request At Wollaston Facility Withdrawn

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A political group withdrew its request Tuesday for a one-day all alcoholic license for use at the Wollaston Recreational Facility after The License Board indicated it would once again oppose such a license at the facility.

Anthony Porcaro, representing the Committee to Elect William F. Walsh to the Governor's Council, told board members the license was for a political fund raiser Tuesday, May 27.

Fire Chief Edward Barry, board chairman in the absence of City Clerk John Gillis and Police Chief Francis Finn, told Porcaro the board has objected to a liquor license at the facility in the past because the club is for use by the general public.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald added that the area is used by youngsters as well as adults and the board has always objected to "mixing booze with kids".

Porcaro said it was his impression that one-day licenses had been issued for use at the facility in the past, and that the function area could be closed off from the rest of the facility.

Chief Barry said that to his knowledge, the board has never granted such a license.

"It's the precedent we have to be careful of", said MacDonald.

MacDonald also said a liquor license would violate the zoning law, and questioned the legality of closing off a section of the facility "built with public funds, for the public".

Chief Barry suggested referring the matter to the City Solicitor for a ruling before voting on the request. Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeough said that if the request does come to a vote, he would vote against it. Barry suggested that Porcaro withdraw the request without prejudice "because it doesn't look good" (for granting of the license).

License Board members indicated they would still seek the opinion of the City Solicitor on the matter for reference in case of any future requests.

In other action, the board:

- Granted a request for change of manager of Wollaston Supreme Liquor Stores, 615 Hancock St., from the late Crosbie Pompeo to John A. McDonald of Braintree subject to a routine police check.

- Granted one-day all alcoholic licenses to the Quincy Women's Softball League for a dance July 18, at the Fore River Club House and for use in conjunction with a Las Vegas Night June 20, also at the Fore River Club House. No hours were given.

- Granted St. Joseph's

Mother's Guild a permit to conduct a flea market Saturday, June 14 (rain date June 21) 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., in the school yard, with a mini auction in the school hall.

- Continued to May 27, a request from Linda Mullen and Holly Smith for a one day all alcoholic license for a fund raising event for the benefit of the family of the late Barry Santino, Saturday, June 6, 7 p.m. to midnight at the Fore River Club House.

A request from Jordan Marsh Warehouse, 500 Commander Shea Boulevard, for a one-day all alcoholic license for a press party Thursday, August 14, will be heard June 3.

Cancer Crusade Reaches $10,300 Mark

Richard J. Koch, Quincy Cancer Crusade chairman, announces today the house-to-house Cancer Crusade has exceeded its $8,500 goal by reaching the $10,300 mark. Several hundred volunteers have still to complete their assignments.

Cancer Crusade Identification Badge when calling on the area residents.

The total Quincy goal for the 1980 Cancer Crusade is $26,475. Some $19,000 of it has been received from the various categories including memorials, special gifts, special events and business and industry gifts.

Last year, a total of $24,643.27 was realized when the 1979 campaign was completed.

Koch praised the volunteers including the chairmen of each ward and precinct and the 1500 crusaders who accepted neighborhood assignments.

"The generosity of the Quincy people has proven outstanding during a period of difficult economic times for all people," Koch said.

Koch urged all crusaders to complete their assignments before May 31, final day of the door-to-door visit.

Harold S. Crowley, Jr. is coordinating efforts of a number of Boy Scout Troops who are assisting in visiting those sections where volunteers are ill and unable to visit the assigned territory. The troops are nos. 21, 24 and 25. The boys will be in uniform and will each wear a

Environmental Program Winner

A North Quincy student was selected for highest honors in the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's annual Elementary Education Ecology Poem and Poster Program.

Gregory Clifford is a third grade student at Sacred Heart School, North Quincy.

In addition, three other Quincy students were selected as finalists in the program. Selected were: Mark Folan, grade 5, St. Mary School, West Quincy; Craig Ruitner, Sacred Heart School, North Quincy; and Michele Ekblom, grade 5, Adams School, Quincy. This is the second highest award in the program.

An awards ceremony was held recently in Boston. Those receiving highest awards were presented plaques from U.S. Senator Paul Tsongas and Paul Keough, Director of EPA's Office of Public Awareness. Finalists received certificates.

This is the eighth year that EPA has carried out this environmental education program in New England.

About 3,500 teachers and 100,000 students from New England participated this year.

Rabies Clinic

It Looked Like An Army Induction Physical

By FRANK MORTIMER

It looked like an army induction physical.

The recruits were somber. There was little conversation. Each seemed absorbed in his private anxiety about what lay ahead.

But there was nothing to fear.

A single, painless injection defeated the enemy for each of them, and all returned to civilian life.

About 400 dogs and 75 cats were immunized against rabies Saturday afternoon in the public works garage. The shots cost pet owners $3. The rabies clinic is sponsored annually by the City Health Department and run by Winthrop Wade, director of environmental services.

City Clerk John Gillis issued over 100 dog licenses. Gillis volunteered his time.

Shots were administered by veterinarian Alan M. Morse, who helped found the clinic in Quincy a decade ago. He was assisted by Marie Worden of Weymouth, an Emmerson Animal Hospital co-worker.

Morse stressed the danger of rabies. "Once the symptoms show, the disease has reached the incurable stage and is fatal."

Morse said treatment is available to people who've been bitten by a rabid animal, but the treatment is painful.

"Prevention is the key," he said. "I'd rather prevent a condition than treat it."

"Rabies shots are fast, painless and effective," he added.

But the pets could not share the doctor's enthusiasm.

"She's very nervous," said Mary Ellen Riordan as she patted Molly, her Irish setter. "She knows she's going to get something."

"They sense they're going to get a shot," explained registered nurse Shirley Connor of 52 Faxon Rd., who left work early to have her dog immunized.

"They're so petrified they don't know enough to bark," added Micky Rosen of 59 Pontiac Rd.

"It only takes a minute, Silky," Ralph Wheeler of 42 Mill St. assured his trembling german shepherd.

There were some light moments, however.

Bill Sellers of 57 Coddington St. proved that the cat didn't have his dog's tongue. Sellers leaned close to his huge sheepdog and said, "Shep, do you want to take a bath?" Shep answered with the first growl of the day.

Four Health Department staff members worked to minimize the discomfort for all concerned.

Secretaries Dorothy Vinal, Beatrice Kaplan and Patricia McNeely rapidly handled the certification process.

Food Inspector Fred Prezioso showed owners how to position their pets for the shot.

Wade later said the $3 fee just covers the cost of the serum, disposable syringe, certification, and the immunization necktags. The same service would cost between $9 and $15 in a private office, he estimated.

The good turnout may have been spurred by a recent case of rabies in Boston, Wade said.

James Dillon of 28 Sextant Circle summed up the attitude of many:

"We've taken Midnight to this clinic three times. The price is right and the service is fast."

"I have one daughter and there are a lot of other kids in the neighborhood. I've never seen rabies and I never want to."

South Metro Health Council Program May 27

The South Metro Health Council will conduct an educational program Tuesday, May 27, on the role and responsibility of health systems agencies in meeting health care needs of the local population.

The meeting, which begins at 7:30 p.m., will be held at Weymouth United Methodist Church, 747 Broad St., East Weymouth.

Directing the program will be Barbara Rubin, acting president of the Health Planning Council for Greater Boston, the Health Systems Agency for 65 towns and cities in eastern Massachusetts. South Metro is a branch of the Health Planning Council serving 11 South Shore communities.

HPCGB executive director Joanne B. Bluestone will also participate in the program.

Also on the agenda is election of officers for 1980-81. Local residents are invited to attend the meeting and learn more about the activities of Metro. For more information, call Madeline Hill at 426-2022.

North Takes Brockton, Quincy Bows To Weymouth N.

North Quincy's baseball team kept its tournaments hopes alive Monday when it defeated Brockton for the second time in three days, 8-4, to improve its record to 9-4.

Last Saturday Charlie Bunker's Raiders edged Brockton, 2-1, to knock the Boxers out of a first place tie in the Suburban League. Monday's win lifted North into a third place tie with Brockton. Weymouth South leads the league and Waltham is second in the close race. North now has defeated Brockton five straight times.

Saturday night North will host Milton at 7:30 at Adams Field in a non-league game. Tuesday the Raiders will host Newton North at 3:30 at Adams.

Quincy, which has been having its ups and downs, will play at Cambridge Friday at 3:30.

Junior Mark Millane, the most pleasant surprise for North Quincy this spring, was the hero again Monday as he pitched four innings of excellent relief for the win and also had three hits.

"Mark has been our big surprise and he has been superb," Bunker said. "He has pitched well and has been hitting the ball hard."

Bob Biagini, batting nearly .500, was walked intentionally three times and had a hit. Dave Nagle had three hits. Jamie Walsh had two hits and three RBIs and Leo Graham had a run scoring double.

Bob Bolster pitched three innings and was relieved by Millane with the bases loaded and no outs in the fourth and North leading, 5-2. Millane gave up two runs, then shut the door the rest of the way.

Graham pitched a four-hitter against Brockton Saturday and also drove in the winning run in the seventh with one of only two North hits. Using a good breaking ball, Graham struck out six and walked only one.

With the score tied at one in the last inning, Graham failed twice to bunt Tony Camillo along, then rifled a shot down the left field line scoring Camillo.

North had taken a big step toward a tournament berth last week with a 10-4 romp over Cambridge, then saw its hopes dim when it was blanked by Brookline, 4-0.

In the Cambridge game designated hitter Ken Mann drove in four runs with two hits in his first varsity game. Graham had two hits and drove in a run. Rich Hallberg pitched all the way scattering nine hits and allowing only two earned runs.

The batters were handcuffed in the Brookline game and Millane, pitching a fine game, was a hard luck loser. Biagini had two more hits.

Quincy was defeated by Weymouth North, 6-4, Monday, dropping the Presidents to 4-9.

After being bombed by Brockton, 18-0, last week, Quincy bounced back with an excellent performance to edge Weymouth North, 3-2, then was thumped by Waltham, 9-2.

In the win over Weymouth Andy Carrera hit a two-out double in the seventh to drive in John Kavanaugh with the winning run. Kavanaugh had hit a two-out pinch single. Mitch Johnson was hit by a pitch and Carrera, who has had an outstanding all-around season, hit his game-winning double.

Gary DiNardo pitched a five-hitter for his first win and threw only 76 pitches. He also drove in a run and scored one.

Quincy Girls Qualify For E-Mass. Tourney

Barbara Webster's Quincy girls' softball team qualified for the Eastern Mass. Tournament Monday with a 7-4 victory at Weymouth North.

The victory improved the First Ladies' Suburban League record to 12-1 and their overall mark to 12-2.

Quincy will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday and will be home to second place Newton North next Thursday. Both games will be at 3:30 at Faxon Field.

Sue Gallery was the winning pitcher Monday, improving her record to 11-1.

Nancy Chludzinski had a two-run double, Maureen Maher was two for three and stole three bases and Laurie Miller had four stolen bases.

Quincy suffered its first league defeat last Friday and lost it big, 14-2, to Waltham.

"We had a bad day but we've played well all year and we were bound to lose one on the way, but it still hurts," Miss Webster said. "The loss had to come sometime but we'll be back, we want to make the tournament."

The First Ladies scored a run in the third and its second run in the fourth on Nancy McDonald's sacrifice fly which scored Miller, who had tripled.

In its previous game Quincy had defeated Weymouth North, 9-6, as Gallery improved her record to 10-1 and pitched a six-hitter. The First Ladies trailed, 6-3, but scored six runs in the sixth inning.

Chludzinski doubled home the tying run with a two-run double. Miller drove in the winning runs with a two-run single. She had three for four.

Earlier Quincy had survived an eight-run rally in the last inning to hold on and top Brockton, 14-11.

Gallery got the win and drove in five runs with three hits, while Chludzinski had two hits and an RBI.

Quincy Netmen Keep Tourney Hopes Alive

The Quincy boys' tennis team kept its slim tournament hopes alive last week with two victories, 3-2 over Waltham and 4-1 over Brockton.

The Presidents [8-4] who needed four wins in their last five matches to gain the tournament, will play at Cambridge Friday and next Thursday will be at Newton.

both matches at 3:30.

In last Friday's win over Waltham, the singles players swept their matches for the third time during the week. Tony O'Malley won to up his record to 10-2. Gary Durante handed Byron Reed his first defeat and Dave Hamburger improved his record to 10-1.

The Presidents needed the sweep as both doubles teams, Peter Faim and Mike Shea and Mike Nigro and George O'Kane lost.

O'Malley, Durante and Hamburger also swept the singles against Brockton and Shea and Nigro won their doubles match. Faim and O'Kane were defeated.

Local 1139 Wins 2, Police Bomb HN

Quincy Employees Local 1139 opened the Babe Ruth League season with two wins, topping defending champion Sons of Italy, 11-7, and Morrisette, 12-6.

Bill DiMattio pitched a complete game in defeating Sons of Italy last Saturday. Mark Righini, Frank LeVesque, Joe Goyette, Paul Ryan, Steve Turynowicz, Steve Kelley and DiMattio sparked a balanced hitting attack.

Sunday Mark Hubbard, Rich Comeau and Goyette shared the pitching duties against Morrisette. Hubbard, DiMattio, Righini and Ryan paced the attack with two hits each. LeVesque, Comeau and Jim McNamara contributed fine defensive plays.

Quincy Police walloped Houghs

Neck, 12-1, with Jim Bandera the winning pitcher. He pitched a three-hitter, struck out 10 and walked only one. He also went three for four and drove in four runs. Chris Dracchio was two for three with a two-run homer and excelled on defense. Kevin Cabezas had a hit and played strong defense. Angelo Russo had a 350-foot triple and did a fine job catching. Mike Notarangelo had a hit and three RBI and stole three bases. Dennis Croke had a home run and Dennis Cronin, only 13, had a hit in his first time at bat.

For Houghs Neck Gary Wilcoxon had two of the hits, scored the only run and pitched well in relief. Marty McLoughlin had the other hit, a double and drove in the only run.

The longest known singles game was one of 80 points between Anthony Fawcett of Rhodesia and Keith Glass of Great Britain in the first round of the Surrey Championship at Surrey, England in 1975. The game lasted 51 minutes.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By ROBERT COLMAN

Here's an amazing baseball fact... If you list the players at each position in big league history who hit the most homers in a season, the 2 greatest home run hitters of all time - Hank Aaron and Babe Ruth - would NOT make the list... Hank Aaron spent most of his career as a leftfielder and the most homers Aaron ever hit in one year were 44... Meantime, Ralph Kiner, playing leftfield in 1949, hit 54 homers... And Babe Ruth, primarily a rightfielder, hit his high of 60 homers in one year, in 1927 - but Roger Maris, playing rightfield in 1961, hit 61 home runs to top Ruth.

Did you know that a race horse was once assured of winning a race B I O R E it was run... For the 1948 Primto Spectal, 20 horses were entered, but one of those horses was the great Citation, and when the other owners found out that Citation was definitely going to run, they withdrew one by one, figuring they had no chance to win, so great was Citation's record then... So, only one horse - Citation - went to the post that day... 'Citation ran the race all by himself and chalked up the easiest win in his successful career.

I bet you didn't know... That Colman's has everything you need for summer fun action... Whatever your sport, Colman's has the equipment for it, and... at the lowest prices anywhere. Shop Colman's and Save.

Kickers Tie Abington

The North Quincy Kickers' under-12 soccer team tied Abington, 1-1, in a South Shore League game.

Missing seven starters and playing with only 10 players, North Quincy took an early lead on a goal by Rob Bradley with Eric Roukey assisting. Earlier, outstanding goaltending by Patrick O'Sullivan and excellent defensive plays by Scott Ceurvels and Derek Holt had kept Abington off the board in the first half.

North's tiring defense held until the final three minutes of the game when Abington scored the equalizer.

Bradley was all over the field playing super defense and Jimmy Cahill and Tony Losordo also played excellent defense. Roukey, Paul Kurtzman, John Mooney and Kevin McCloskey played well on offense.

North's under 16 team lost a hard-fought 6-4 decision to West Bridgewater. W. Bridgewater scored first but Mike Bourikas tied it with an assist for Greg DiBella. Trailing 3-1, in the second half, Bourikas scored again with DiBella assisting and Rich Palma tied it up with Jim Boudreau having an assist.

Bourikas scored his third goal with DiBella assisting again. It was Bourikas' eighth goal in three games. Goalie David Marcham played well as did George Dolbec and Barry Higgins.

Rockland's first place under 19 team wallowed North, 8-0, dominating the undermanned and smaller North team. John Keenan, Bill Koch, Bill Bradley and Lester Gerry played well for North.

Shore Taxi In Easter Seals Softball Marathon

Softball teams from South and the South Shore area are now registering for the third annual Softball Marathon for Easter Seals on June 21 and 22. Games will be played in Quincy on Saturday, the 21st, and in Randolph on the 22nd.

Last year 22 teams raised $5,000 to support Easter Seal programs and services for physically handicapped persons. Marathon organizers hope to double the number of teams this year.

Information can be obtained by calling Cheryl Lloyd at 482-3370.

Men's and women's teams will play and many team managers are requesting matchups with teams from other towns or company leagues that they usually don't play during the regular season.

Among Quincy teams already entered is Shore Taxi, managed by Ed Russell, which finished second in the Boston Division last year.

Debra Koch Team Wins Koch Women's Crown

Debra Koch and her teammates defeated Betty Ann MacDonald's unit 1403-1323 in the championship rolloff of the Koch Club Women's Bowling League to decide the 1980 winners.

Pat Murphy paced the winners with 320 while Debbie Koch had a 285. Betty Ann MacDonald's 284 was top for the losers.

MacDonald's team had won the first half in team competition while Debra Koch's team captured the second half and rolloff.

Debra Koch, second generation bowler in the league, topped all individual performers in her first year of league competition with high average of 98 and most spares with a total of 135.

Others finishing in the top 10 included:

Gerry Cavicchi with an average of 96.1, high individual three string total of 353 and most strikes with 26, Linda Bowes, 94.5, Betty Ann MacDonald, 93.79 and high individual single string of 140, Pat Murphy, 92.0, Maureen Robertson, 91.53, Barbara Donelin, 90.82, Susan Batts, 90.12, Claire Fitch, 90.04 and Charlotte Josephs, 89.67.

Elected to lead the Koch Club Women's Bowling League during its 1980-81 Season was Debra Koch, President. Her mother, Simmy Koch, founded the league 25 years ago, and was its first president and top bowler.

Other officers chosen for the League's 25th season were Pat Murphy, Secretary and Karen Moody, treasurer.

North Girls Win Pair

The North Quincy girls' track team won two meets last week to improve its record to 5-2.

Michelle Millane, as usual, was a double winner as she continued undefeated against all competition Friday as North topped Brockton, 66-52.

The Raiderettes will take part in the state meet Saturday and next Thursday will be in the Suburban League meet.

Millane, who automatically gives North 10 points in every meet, won the javelin and discus in the Brockton meet.

Other North winners were Mary Kate Kennedy, 440; Kara Crehan, high jump; Mary Crehan, mile; Eileen McKenna, hurdles, and Caryn Smith, shot put.

Taking second places were McKenna, 100; Kennedy, 220; Robyn O'Donnell, two-mile; Lorraine Garrigan, hurdles; Kennedy, long jump; Cheryl Ayres, shot put and discus.

Finishing third were Nancy McCarthy, 440; Deidre Corrigan, two-mile; and Kara Crehan, long jump.

Earlier in the week Millane again won the discus and javelin to spark the Raiderettes over Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 75-43.

Other North winners were Kara Crehan in the long jump, Mary Crehan, 880; Kennedy, 220;

Nancy McCarthy, 440; O'Donnell, mile; McKenna, hurdles; and both relay teams. The 440 team comprised Kathy McCarthy, McKenna, Garrigan and Martha Donaghy, and the mile team was made up of Joanna Poole, Kennedy, Nancy McCarthy and Karen Lindenfelzer.

Taking second places were Kathy McCarthy, tied in the 100; Deidre Corrigan, two-mile; Siobhan Corrigan, hurdles; Ayres, discus, and Laurie Adams, javelin.

Finishing third were Elaine Robertson, 440 and 220; Kennedy, long jump; Smith, shot put; and Lindenfelzer, discus.

Newcomers Sparkle For Track Club

The Quincy Track Club brought 90 members to the third Youth Games Development Meet last Saturday at White Stadium in Boston and several veterans and some newcomers were outstanding.

Winners for the QTC were Ed Munroe, 12-13 high jump; Sean Munroe, 9 and under 100; Maureen Roche, 12-13 100 and long jump; Georgia Traficante, 12-13 high jump; Tracy Coull, 12-13 880, and Tracy Wilson, 10-11 440.

Taking second places were Matt Norton, 9 and under 220; Paul McLellan, 9 and under 100;

Greg McGrath, 9 and under 880; Julie Croke, 10-11 100; Maureen Roche, 12-13 high jump; Lorrie McNeill, 10-11 long jump; Bernadette Murphy, 14-15 880; Deidre Murphy, 9 and under 100; John DeLap, 12-13 high jump, and Mike Ross and Dave Courvals, tied for second in the 14-15 high jump.

Finishing third were Mike McGrath, 10-11 880; Karen Rodgers, 10-11 440; Eileen and Kristen Dever, tied in the 12-13 long jump, and Jack Henaghan, 9 and under 100.

Club membership has swelled to more than 325 and the following registration cutoffs have been announced: June 1 for all elementary school boys and girls living in Quincy, June 10 for junior high students and June 20 for high school and college students and non-residents. No registrations will be accepted after those deadlines.

Registration fee is $5 and those interested can sign up at Veterans Memorial Stadium Monday through Thursday from 6 to 8 p.m.

Further information can be obtained by calling 328-7329.

Atlantic Girls Defeat Sterling

The Atlantic Junior High girls' track team, coached by Ron Adams, won 15 of 20 events to defeat Sterling, 96-65, last week, in a combined varsity-junior varsity meet.

The varsity girls won six of 10 events and the junior varsity girls took nine of 10.

Maria McGurl led the varsity by winning the high jump and hurdles and running anchor on the winning one-lap relay team. Patti Markham, Laura Coughlin and Patti Salton completed that relay team. Markham also took a third in the 100-yard dash and third in the shot put, while Salton took second in the shot.

Linda Kennedy lapped the field in a runaway victory in the mile run, while Cindy Rabs took third. Susan Foley won the 440 and Ellen DeLuca took the 880. Amanda Mujica took a strong second in the 880 and Lynne Murphy was third in the 440.

The surprising seventh graders, housed at Squantum, exploded for nine successive first place finishes. Lisa Fitzgerald won the high jump and 100, Donna Woods the hurdles, Diane O'Donnell the mile, Anne Borromeo, Denise Shields and Margie Markham were 1-2-3 in the shot, Jean Ward won the long jump and Cathy Mulloy the 440. Kern Burke was third in the hurdles.

The Sterling varsity had a 42-38 edge over Atlantic, but the Atlantic junior varsity totally overpowered Sterling, 56-18.

Scoring for Sterling were Susan Uhlar, Nancy Martin, Sharon Uhlar, Suzanne Pitts, Diane Morrissey, Terry Hamilton, Paula Shaw, Karen Dunn and Jackie Boire.

Dailey Sets Record

Brockton Too Strong For North

Despite a record by Bill Dailey in the pole vault, the North Quincy boys' track team couldn't handle the depth of the powerful Brockton team and went down to a 92-53 defeat last Friday, dropping its record to 3-4.

The Raiders today (Thursday) are competing in the Suburban League meet at Newton.

Dailey did 12-31 in the pole vault for a new school record but North could win only three other events, including the mile relay.

The only other individual winners were Bill Timmins in the 880, Gary Morin in the two-mile and Jack Leone in the high jump. The winning relay team comprised Steve Mastorilli, Tom Pound, John Mantelos and Joe McDonald.

Second places were taken by Mastorilli, 100; Jack Brown, 220; Walt McDonaghy, 440; Tom Pound, long hurdles; Steve McEachern, high hurdles, and McEachern, triple jump.

Placing third were Mantelos,

440; John Barrett, mile; McDonald, two-mile; Rich McCarthy, low hurdles; Kevin Wood, high jump; Tim Allen, discus, and Dave Penzo, javelin.

Earlier in the week the Raiders were edged by Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 74-41, as Cambridge won both relays to clinch the victory.

Winners for North were Mastorilli, 220; Leone, high jump; McDonaghy, triple jump; Dailey, pole vault, and Bob Pound, shot put, as Cambridge dominated the running events.

Second place finishers were Brown, 100; McDonaghy, 440; Barrett, mile; Tom Pound, low hurdles; Leone, high hurdles; Joe Dudek, long jump; Wood, high jump; McCarthy, pole vault, and Paul Chiarfella, shot put.

Taking thirds were Wood, 220; Mantelos, 440; Bill Timmins, 880; McDonald, mile; McCarthy, low hurdles; McEachern, high hurdles; Brown, long jump, and Tom Pound, high jump.

Quincy Still Chasing Victory

The Quincy boys' track team is still winless after a 99-45 defeat last week at Weymouth North, but some of the Presidents continue to have outstanding seasons.

Quincy today (Thursday) is competing in the Suburban League meet at Newton.

John Furey remained undefeated in the mile at Weymouth with a time of 4:33, and Roy Higgins, who has had a fine season, won both the 440 and high jump. Bill Hall won the discus and Quincy's 440 relay team won.

Taking seconds were Paul Martin, 100; Mike Shaughnessy, 220; Tuberville, low hurdles; Dave Murray, triple jump, and Danny Whyte, javelin.

Third place finishers were Dave Church, 100; Kahler, 220; Bob Kudla, 880; Kevin Chapman, shot put, and Steve Priscella, javelin.

... So Are Girls

The young and inexperienced Quincy girls' track team has yet to win a meet, after losing to Weymouth North, 83-35, last week, but several girls continue to have fine individual seasons.

The First Ladies will compete in the state meet Saturday and in the Suburban League meet at Newton next Thursday.

Donna Reardon remained undefeated against Weymouth in the mile and Rita Pasqualone, who has had an outstanding season, won both the shot put and discus, a feat she has accomplished in most meets this spring.

Darlene Marston took second in the 100 and Maria Burke was second in the two-mile.

Linda MacDonald took a third in the 220, Joanne Medicke third in the 880, and Jackie Irvine third in the 440.

Brennan, Graham On Shriners South Squad

Tom Brennan of Quincy and North Quincy's Leo Graham, two of the outstanding two-way backs in Eastern Mass. last fall, have been named to the South squad for the June 28 second annual Shriners High School Football Classic at Boston College's Alumni stadium.

The 6 o'clock game will be played to support the Shriners Burns Institute in Boston.

Brennan, who became only Quincy's second player to gain more than 1000 yards rushing last season, and also played regularly on defense, and Graham, one of the finest defensive backs in North history who also became an excellent runner last fall, are among 80 players from more than 70 Eastern Mass. cities and towns named to the South and North squads.

Jim Connor, Catholic Memorial High School coach, is the game director. Leon Hannigan of Marlboro will coach the South squad and Lexington's Bill Tighe will handle the North team.

Assisting Hannigan will be coaches Paul Therrien of Canton, Albie Stokus of E. Bridgewater, Jim Cotter of B.C. High and John Doherty of Norwood.

CG Auxiliary Offers Safe Boating Course

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla is sponsoring a free Safe Boating Program Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the Metropolitan Yacht Club, Arborway Dr., East Braintree.

The program will consist of three, one hour lectures to begin at 9 a.m. each day.

Auxiliary member Rita Ross will preside over the program which should be beneficial to the seasoned and novice yachtsman. Yachtsmen will also be able to have their boats examined free of charge during the week end for a Coast Guard Inspection Sticker.

Hall Of Fame Chapter Honors 11 H.S. Players

By PETE ZOIA

The fifth annual scholar-athlete banquet sponsored by the Eastern Mass. Chapter of the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame held recently at Lantana, Randolph.

More than 500 honored 11 high school football players who were tops in their scholastic standings.

John Gorczyca, a line-backer from North Quincy, was among the players honored. He is the third recipient of this award from North. The other two previous scholar-athletes for the Red Raiders were Brian Doherty and Tom Nee.

Two former college coaches honored were Harry Arlanson, who was heralded for his great teams at Weymouth High and his fine record at Tufts, and Dave Morcy, 91 year-old retired coach from Bates College.

Toastmaster Eddie Miller welcomed the many dignitaries of the sports world and friends of the honored guests who were present.

Dick Kazmaier, National President of the Foundation and former All-American at Princeton, commented on how quickly the local chapter has progressed in its five years of existence.

Another Bay State All-American, Joe Bellino, who starred at Winchester and the Naval Academy, introduced the high school players, who received a framed certificate and a plaque.

Both Kazmier and Bellino were Heisman Trophy winners as seniors.

Enjoying the function from the world of sports were Charlie O'Rourke of Boston College and Sugar Bowl fame, Joe Zabliski, teammate of O'Rourke and later coach at Northeastern, present coaches Joe Restick of Harvard and Ed Cheblek of Boston College.

Past coaches were in attendance such as Joe Zapustas of Randolph, Bill Stewart of Boston English, Jack Donahue, Hal Forrest, Lary Rogers of North Quincy and Mike Holovak of B.C. and Patriot fame.

The two local high schools were represented by Coach Dave Burke of North Quincy and Tom Fitzgerald and Pete Chella of Quincy. The gridiron Club of Greater Boston President Bob Barrett (from Hingham) was also present. Scotty Whitelaw, former North Quincy star athlete and now Commissioner of the E.C.A.C., had two tables filled with his staff and friends.

Previous winners of the Contribution to Amateur Football Award present were Joe McKenney, Ed Schluntz, and Jack Fadden.

Two other people honored in the past for The Distinguished American Award were Swede Nelson and Bill Orhenberger.

Normie Wright, who played for Arlanson at Weymouth and Tufts, made the presentation of The Contribution to Amateur Football Award to his former coach.

Both Arlanson and Morey had many former players and associates present.

Arlanson, also retired, stated that he felt he received much more from coaching than he gave to the sport.

Morey, who had an extensive coaching career at Bates, was overwhelmed by being honored. He received the Distinguished American Award from Chuck Toomey.

The recent draft choices of the New England Patriots were introduced along with a yesterday great of the Pats, backfield star Ron Burton.

Roberts Standout On Naval Academy Team

Jim Roberts of Quincy, who played his high school baseball at Ahp. Williams and American Legion ball in Quincy, is having an outstanding season as third baseman for the U.S. Naval Academy team, which is in one of its best seasons.

Three years ago, as a freshman, Roberts played third base for Brandeis' NCAA Division III runner-up and last spring handled the position for Navy's NCAA playoff team. He finished with a .250 batting average, had a home run, three doubles and 15 runs batted in.

This year, as a junior, Roberts is enjoying his finest season, batting nearly .400, is one of the team's tops in RBI and was moved from ninth to second in the batting order by Coach Joe Duff.

Last year Roberts hit six doubles the entire season. This spring he had six in his first eight games.

"I've just been lucky," he says. "I get all the good pitches hitting in between (Mike) Mullikin and (Rich) Seiler."

"I think what hurt Jimmy the most was having to sit out the season two years ago after coming here from Brandeis," Duff said. "He's just now catching up to where he used to be—he's a tremendous player."

Navy, with one of the best records in the East, appears certain to make the NCAA playoffs again and young Mr. Roberts should be heard from.

Kleinas Tennis All-Star

Arunas Kleinas of Quincy was one of five members of the Massasoit Community College tennis team named all-New England by the National Junior College Athletic Association.

Massasoit finished third in the N. E. Regional playoffs in its first season of tennis under coach Gil Aronson of Duxbury.

Junior High Baseball

Sterling Wins 3rd, Broad Meadows Takes 2

Sterling Junior High's baseball team improved its record to 3-0 with an 8-5 win over Central.

Glen Oriola was the winning pitcher with relief help from John Kozlowski. Chris Draichio had three hits and four RBIs and Jeff Timberlake and Paul Gilbody had two hits each.

Sterling had topped Broad Meadows, 4-2, with Gilbody and Oriola combining for a two-hitter. Timberlake had a double and single and three RBIs. Oriola, Kozlowski, Draichio and Mark Righini played strong defensive games. Ted Walsh pitched well for BM and Rich Monahan had a long triple.

Broad Meadows defeated Point, 8-4, on the strength of Dale Adams' strong pitching. He gave up five hits and struck out five. Mike Miller had three hits. Monahan had a long homer and Jim Kennedy tripled.

BM also defeated Atlantic, 8-5, as Walsh pitched a one-hitter and struck out nine. Kennedy caught a strong game and had a double. Monahan had a triple, Chris Mattheus two hits and Mike Notarangelo and John Spencer one hit each.

Point Wins Girls' Basketball Crown

Point Center won the Quincy Recreation Department's Girls Senior basketball championship with a 58-33 win over Montclair.

The best of three series saw the teams split the first two games which led to the final game. Eight players scored for Point led by Ann McCarren with 13, Linda Brennan and Marv Travers each added 10 while Nancy McDonald chipped in with eight and JoAnne McBride, Kathy Mahoney, Barbara Mahoney, and Heather McGuinness scored four points each.

Montclair was led by Kim Alberti's 12 points while Mary Shea added 10. Other Montclair scorers were Sheila Connolly with seven, Faith Lindberg and Winnie McHugh with two each.

Championship trophies were presented to the winning team from Point while 2nd place certificates were given to Montclair.

Quincy Legion Post To Hold Memorial Day Observances

Officers, members and the auxiliary of Quincy Legion Post, Revere Rd. and Mechanic St. Quincy Center will hold their annual Memorial Service Sunday at 9:45 a.m. at Hancock Cemetery, next to City Hall.

Also participating in the service will be Rev. Keith Munson and the Sunday school children and teachers from First Parish Church.

During the service, the children will decorate the graves of veterans with spring flowers. The post firing squad will salute the dead with three volleys, and the bugler will sound "Tags".

All veterans and their families are invited to attend the ceremony as well as the service which will follow at 10:30 a.m. in First Parish Church.

Friends and neighbors are invited to attend the post's Open House Memorial Day, May 26. There will be a buffet and other refreshments.

Quincy Post which received its charter in 1919, is the oldest American Legion post in the city. It has presented school awards for many years at Sterling Junior High School and Central Junior High School, as well as sponsored legion ball teams each year with members of Quincy High School teams.

The post also sponsored the championship drum and bugle corps, "The Renegades".

2 Quincy Residents Named PSSB 'Men Of The Year'

George MacDonald and H. Wallace Sylvester, both of Quincy, shared the Protestant Social Service Bureau's Man of the Year presentation, announced recently at the organization's annual meeting.

In addition, seven Quincy residents were elected officers or directors of the Wollaston-based group, at the meeting.

Mary Lou Glaman, 42 Victoria Rd., Merrymount was named first vice president of the PSSB, while H. Wallace Sylvester of 16A Edison St., Quincy Point was elected second vice-president.

Rev. Arthur Curtis of Atlantic Methodist Church, Mrs. Frieda Dirks, Silas Porter, Florabel

Stevens and Emily Stephens, all of Quincy, were named to the PSSB's board of directors.

Men of the Year MacDonald and Sylvester spent over 1,000 hours remodeling the interior of a house purchased by the PSSB at 772 Hancock St., Wollaston. The home will be used as the family counseling and adoption agency's counselling center.

"We could not have done it without their work," said Robert H. Taylor, executive director of the PSSB. "They have made a contribution that saved us at least $20,000."

The Protestant Social Service Bureau is located at 776 Hancock St., Wollaston.

SALVATION ARMY WEEK was proclaimed recently by Mayor Arthur Tobin [center] to celebrate the organization's 100th anniversary in the United States and 85th in Quincy. With Tobin is Major Charles Waddington [left] head of the Quincy Salvation Army and Peter O'Connell, head of the Salvation Army's Citizen's Advisory Committee.

Koch Club Memorial Mass At Sacred Heart May 29

The third annual Memorial Mass for deceased members and friends of the Koch Club of Quincy will be held Thursday, May 29, at 7:30 p.m. in Our Lady's Chapel of Sacred Heart Church, 388 Hancock St., North Quincy.

Rev. Cornelius J. Heery, pastor, will be the celebrant.

Families of the deceased members and friends are invited to attend the Memorial Mass.

Light refreshments will be served in the Sacred Heart School cafeteria following the Mass.

Officers, members and friends of the Koch Club are urged to participate.

Among the 75 deceased members and friends remembered at the Memorial Mass will be President John F. Kennedy who was the only honorary member of the Koch Club.

President Kennedy received the recognition in October of 1958 when as a U.S. Senator he visited the Koch Club recreational programs at Cavanagh Stadium, North Quincy.

Edward J. Keohane is general chairman of the program, assisted by Mrs. Simone Koch, Mrs. Marilyn Nestor, Mr. and Mrs. David J. Donaghy, Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Crowley, Mrs. Mina Scanlan, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Moody, Mrs. Linda Bowes, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony T. Delmonico and Richard J. Koch, Jr.

St. Anthony's Feast At St. John's June 14-15

The annual St. Anthony's Feast [Festa Di S. Antonio] sponsored by St. John The Baptist Church will be held June 14-15 on the church grounds, School St., Quincy Center.

The two-day celebration is one of the most popular religious, cultural and social events of the spring season and is attracting larger crowds each year.

It features exhibits, arts and craft displays, religious items, and special events and games. Music for dancing and singing will be provided. Admission is free to the general public.

Special Masses honoring St. Anthony will be said each day. An outdoor procession around the church grounds will be held.

Fr. Daniel Graham is chairman, assisted by a committee of parishioners.

Festival proceeds are for the benefit of the parish building and maintenance funds.

Daniel In Lion's Den Dramatized At Squantum First Church

Daniel was thrown into the lion's den again Sunday morning at the First Church of Squantum. But he came out without a scratch.

It was all part of a dramatization of that Old Testament story presented to the congregation during the morning worship service by 12 children and teenagers. Billy Gerry played the part of Daniel; Bonnie MacRitchie, King Darius; Andrew Ogilvie and Kim Galvin, the king's guards; Lori Ogilvie, Amanda Young, Blythe Bumpus and Ruth Adams, the king's advisors, and as the lions, Billy Cogswell, Fred Leona, David Young and Karin Reister.

The lions all wore paper masks and according to Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, Pastor, impressed everyone as being quite ferocious.

Rev. Dr. Langevin preached on the topic, "Can Things Get Any Worse?" taking his text from the Book of Daniel.

The Youth Choir and the Senior Choir sang a special offertory anthem, "Faith of Our Fathers," arranged by Mary Ruth Scott.

Greeters for the morning were Doris Bastei and family. Ushers were Tom Adams, Don Frazer, Jo Ann Warren, Susan Mildram, Steven Williams, Paul Paulson and Bonnie Adams. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Linda Gale, Joan Galvin, Lori Galvin, Sandra Ahearn and Doris Bastei.

The service this Sunday morning, which is Pentecost, will begin at 10:15 a.m.

Walking Tour Maps Of Quincy Are Available

Quincy Center now has an official walking tour of its historic sites, complete with map and fact sheet, designed for visitors who arrive by car and by MBTA.

The tour starts in front of City Hall and winds down Hancock and Dimmock Sts. and Newport Ave. to the Adams National Historic Site on Adams St.

It continues up Furnace Brook Parkway to the Dorothy Quincy Homestead and then down Hancock St., with side visits on Coddington St. and back to City Hall.

Some of the sites include the Woodward School, the old courthouse, Quincy Junior College, Bethany Congregational Church, Thomas Crane Public Library and United First Parish Church.

The map indicates parking areas, statues and markers and rest rooms.

There is also a map of the South Shore showing the major roads into Quincy and a map of the MBTA's rapid transit lines.

The map was designed by Carol Pisano, director of tourism in the Planning Department.

Copies are available in the City Hall lobby, the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association office and the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Point-Webster Students Heritage Day Delegates

Four students at Point-Webster School, Quincy Point, were Heritage Day delegates recently.

Michele Dauphinee, Colman McDonough, Joseph Shea and Annamarie Cicerone were chosen to visit the Kennedy Library in Boston.

The four, who were accompanied by Patricia Gorman, from the student advisory board, were part of a group of nearly 400 in Massachusetts who met with the staff and close associates of the Kennedy family. Following the tours of the library, the students participated in seminars of their choice.

Heritage Day is an annual event sponsored by the Massachusetts junior high/middle school principals association. The event, provides outstanding students with an opportunity for contact with persons, places, artifacts, and ideas that they do not ordinarily encounter in the classroom.

Koch Club Flag Day Parade Set For June 14

The 29th annual Flag Day parade sponsored by the Koch Club will be held Saturday, June 14, starting at 10 a.m. with the Vocational Technical School marching on Coddington St.

All Quincy and South Shore organizations, especially youth groups, are invited to participate. Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Koch Club and parade coordinator, requests that those planning to enter contact him at 241 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, for assignment in the line of march.

Among units providing music are the North Quincy High School band, under the direction of Anthony C. Ferrante, and the Hull High School Marching Pirates, directed by Robert F. Corcoran.

Additional marching bands and drum and bugle corps are needed to provide a musical beat for the 5,000 marchers expected to attend.

Military and veteran organizations are welcome and the Bryan VFW Post and its Ladies Auxiliary will provide color guards and marching units.

Once again, the Youth on Parade Program will be led by Police and Fire Department color guards.

Highlight of the colorful spectacular is the carrying of an American flag by each of the youth participants, who retain their flags as mementoes following completion of the events of the day.

This year's Flag Day parade and observance will be dedicated to the Bi-Centennial of the Massachusetts Constitution of 1780. The theme will be "Freedom Under Our Massachusetts Constitution."

Planning to participate are the North Quincy, Broadmeadows, Montclair and West Quincy Districts of the Koch Club, with boys baseball and girls softball leagues; St. Ann's Baseball Leagues and the Quincy Track Club. Planning to return again this year are the Girl Scout and Brownie Troops, Camp Fire Girls and a number of Boy Scout Troops.

Den 2, Pack 27 Visits Sun

Cub Scouts from Den 2, Pack 27, of the Sacred Heart School visited The Quincy Sun recently to see first hand how a newspaper is produced.

Making the tour were Michael Connors, Sean Mulken, David Campbell, Patrick McNamara, and Alicia Connors, mascot. The scouts were accompanied by Sheila Connors, den mother.

The scouts were shown how news stories are written, set in type and placed on a page, including the story of their visit.

They saw an IBM computer typesetter, two Compugraphic photo typesetters, and a new Varityper phototypesetter that sets news stories, headlines, advertisements, and has a video screen for editing. It is one of the latest typesetters in newspaper production today.

They also saw how a stat camera reduces, enlarges and screens original photographs so they can be used in The Sun.

They were also shown how pages of The Sun are put together for printing.

Overseas NFPA Guests Visit New Home In Quincy

The National Fire Protection Association was welcomed to Quincy once again Tuesday and this time the NFPA brought along some of its friends from overseas.

The NFPA, which is building a new headquarters off Willard St. in West Quincy, is currently conducting its 84th annual meeting in Boston with members in town from all over the world.

Some of them dropped out to Quincy Tuesday to look over the new neighborhood and pick up honorary citizen citations from Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

They included Robert Llewellyn of Australia, Chang Min-chang and Roger Lu of Taipei, S.R. Eiriksson and A. Eiriksson of Iceland, Hamad A. Al-Bader and Capt. Ali Al Qabandi of Kuwait, Major Othman of Saudi Arabia, and Arthur Lim and Jin Thon Tan of Singapore.

NFPA President Robert W. Grant said that when the new West Quincy office building is finished Quincy can expect many visits from NFPA members in the United States, Canada and 85 other countries.

"Quincy already feels like home to me," said Grant.

The visitors made the trip to Quincy after a luncheon at the Sheraton Boston Hotel in Boston where Mayor Tobin was one of the featured speakers.

"I hope the meeting today is just the beginning," he told the 1,000 diners. "I look forward to getting to know you even better in the years ahead as you travel to and from your new headquarters in the historic city of presidents."

A special guest at the Quincy ceremonies on Constitution Common was Dr. Ann Phillips, a specialist in burns prevention at Massachusetts General Hospital and a member of the NFPA board of directors.

Highlighting the ceremonies was a demonstration of four pieces of Quincy firefighting equipment: Aerial Tower 1, Rescue 1, Engine 5 and Ladder 3 companies.

Fire Chief Edward F. Barry and Deputy Joseph A. McShane headed the delegation of Quincy firefighters, which included:

Capt. Roy K. Macdonald, Lt. John V. Cummings, and Firefighters Albert L. Julian, Henry P. Schaffer Jr. and Daniel Polvere.

And, for nostalgia lovers, the Fire Department also hauled out the famed "Granite" of Engine Co. 3, the survivor of three hand type fire engines that were purchased by the city April 29, 1844.

It served Quincy for 49 years before being retired in 1893.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsell

WEEK OF MAY 22.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19
Emotional strain eases up during this social week — with activities ranging from the very earthy to the glittering and glamorous. By Monday, you stumble on solution to domestic dilemma.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20
Don't feel obliged to defend point of view to critical friend. Weekend accents nostalgia — a loving gesture puts you in a sentimental mood. Status at work increases after Monday.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20
Taste is impeccable — but also leans to the expensive. Your parties — intimate dinners or grand buffets — are memorable. Spend more time encouraging loved ones to realize potential.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 21
Remember those recent ventures? Well, this is the week to realize substantial gains. It's also a week that favors real estate hunting, expanding educational horizons — and avoiding gossip types.

GEMINI — May 22 - June 21
Your ideas are valuable things — so guard them closely. On the other hand, express love more freely — to romance partner, and, especially, to youngsters. News of an upcoming visit brightens weekend.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22
Every rule has an exception — as you see throughout the week. Someone you love may need a health hint; issue it by Wednesday. Favorable financial announcement arrives when least expected.

LEO — July 23 - August 22
Could find yourself wearing a new hat by the end of this period — taking on the role of consultant, writer or artist. Opt for more spontaneity on weekend. Contact out-of-town kin — even if not your turn.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22
Every old saying has a new meaning — from beauty is in the eye of the beholder, to haste makes waste. Expected payment may be slow in coming. Healthwise, don't laugh off aches and pains — especially if affecting feet.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22
A mystery week. Among the offerings: a sullen acquaintance turns into charm personified; a missing object is found in the unlikelyst place; a trip becomes more surprising with each twist.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21
If possible, tackle whole jobs rather than single sections. Loved ones may be cynical, but don't press. Intuitive gifts are especially strong after Sunday.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22
Coworkers are inconsistent, and loved one is surprisingly dramatic. Be alert to financial opportunity in domestic environment. Will power is low — particularly regarding diet.

Favorable Report On Brownell Home Improvements Bill

The Joint Committee on Taxation has reported favorably on a bill by Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) that would exempt certain home improvements from the fair cash value of the home.

The legislation would broaden the scope of the Brownell Home Improvement Act of 1978.

The key changes include statewide adoption and the elimination of the $4,000 a year limit for a maximum of three years.

The new law will set no monetary guidelines and the homeowner will be protected for as long as he or she owns the home.

"This legislation will allow homeowners to make home improvements without the fear of experiencing higher property taxes," said Brownell.

"The net effect will be to encourage neighborhood pride and help prevent urban blight. In the long run, a City like Quincy would have a stronger tax base."

Some of the repairs protected by the legislation would be: masonry, wiring, plumbing, roofing, porches, painting, insulation, plaster repairs, siding, burner or furnace replacement, driveway paving and landscaping.

Tennis Lessons Shifted

Suspicious Fire Causes $3,000 Damage To Faxon Fieldhouse

A fire of suspicious origin which caused an estimated $3,000 damage to the Faxon Park Fieldhouse Sunday morning has resulted in a change of location for the Quincy Recreation Department's tennis lessons.

The classes will now be held at the Vocational Technical School Courts on Russell Park, adjacent to the school.

According to Richard J. Koch, executive secretary to the Park and Recreation Board, the fire was reported to Central Fire Headquarters at 5:45 a.m. Sunday by a passerby.

Fire Department personnel responding to the fire noted that the blaze had evidently been burning for some time at the front garage or shelter portion of the building.

The interior wooden frame roof rafters and asphalt roof shingles were burned in the fieldstone structure.

Koch said the stone building was constructed in 1935-1936 under the Federal Works Progress Administration. The front burned out section was used as a shelter and storage area for organizations using the site, Park Department maintenance tools, as well as the electrical panel and service equipment that provides power and lighting for the four outdoor tennis courts. Ladies' and men's restrooms are at the rear of the building.

Koch said that a month ago, the stainless steel playground slide was cut at the cement base, where it was permanently anchored, and the entire unit including stairs and stainless steel bedway were removed intact and stolen from the site.

Abutters to Faxon Park are requested to assist the Park Department and report any suspicious activity to the police.

Service Academy Applications At Donnelly's Office

Congressman Brian Donnelly announces that high school juniors interested in applying for admission to U.S. Service Academies should contact his Boston office to start their admissions file.

The office is in Room 409A of the John F. Kennedy Federal Building, Boston, and the academies are West Point, Naval Academy, Air Force Academy and Merchant Marine Academy. Students will be informed of the requirements and additional information needed to complete applications.

All expenses incurred by students at the Service

Academies are paid by the Federal Government.

Donnelly said, "I encourage all high school juniors to consider this excellent opportunity. Each applicant will be given all possible assistance towards obtaining a Congressional nomination and, hopefully, admission."

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court
No. 80F0057-P1

To KEVIN J. MAHONEY of 10 Pierce Street, Quincy in the County of Norfolk and the 1ST AMERICAN BANK FOR SAVINGS, 572 Columbia Road, Dorchester in the County of Suffolk, and to all other persons interested.

A petition has been presented to said Court by GLORIA J. MAHONEY of 149 Scott Circle, Dedham, in the County, Norfolk representing that she holds as tenant in common an undivided part or share of certain land lying in Quincy in said County and briefly described as follows:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, now known and numbered as 10 Pierce Street, Quincy, and being the lot designated "A" on a "plan of land in Quincy, MA, subdivided May 9, 1923", by Ernest W. Branch, Civil Engineer, recorded with Norfolk Deeds, book 1556, page 504. Containing according to said plan 4.00 square feet of land.

Setting forth that she desire that all the following described part of said land may be sold at private sale for not less than thirty thousand ($30,000.00) dollars and praying that partition may be made of all the land aforesaid according to law, and to that end that a commissioner be appointed to make such partition and be ordered to make sale and conveyance of all, or any part of said land which the Court finds cannot be advantageously divided, either at private sale or public auction, and be ordered to distribute the net proceeds thereof.

If you desire to object thereto you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham before ten o'clock in the forenoon on the eighteenth day of June 1980, the return day of this citation.

Witness, ROBERT M. FORD, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this seventh day of May, 1980.

Drugs In Quincy: Problem Getting Bigger, &

By TOM HENSHAW

Judge Henry W. Chmielinski Jr. hasn't seen many cases involving heroin in his Superior Courtrooms over the past 10 years.

But he is now.

"The good stuff, the white heroin, was cut down when they put a stop to the so-called French Connection," he said. "Then they were getting the brown heroin from Mexico, which was not too good. So heroin died down and it was replaced in great part by pills.

"Then suddenly the connection started up again. We're getting flooded with white heroin again. They're selling it very pure, too. And it is being sold at prices that are much cheaper than they were 10 years ago, in spite of inflation.

"Heroin, all hard drugs, in fact, used to be confined to the slums and the ghettos. It's not any more. It's spread to the middle class, the upper middle class, the wealthy. I've seen some wonderful families devastated by drugs. No one is immune."

For the past 14 weeks, The Quincy Sun has been exploring the drug problem in one of those communities that is not immune — our own city of Quincy.

We have learned that, first and foremost, there is a drug problem in Quincy and it is growing.

In February, Lt. Walter Lynch asked to be transferred after eight and a half years as head of the Quincy Police Department's Drug Unit.

"I've had it," he said. "It's not getting any better. It's only getting worse. The drug business is rolling, rolling, rolling. It's so big now that it seems like there is no stopping it.

"If people knew how much drugs there are on the street, especially in the schools, they would be very upset. Go down to one of the schools some morning and park your car and sit and watch the kids smoking marijuana."

Marijuana, the most frequently abused drug among the young, is near the bottom of the legal scale in severity. There are those who feel that this is a mistake. The marijuana of today is at least three or four times the strength of the marijuana of a decade ago.

John W. (Butch) Mahoney, social health coordinator in the Quincy Public Schools, is fond of quoting Dr. D. Harvey Powelson, a Berkeley, Calif., psychiatrist, whose thinking on marijuana has undergone a 180 degree turn.

Thirteen years ago, he said: "Marijuana is harmless. There is no evidence it does anything except make people feel good. It should be legalized."

$4 Saving On Tax Rate Sale Of 3 Schools Could Net $1.1 Million, Says Baharian

The sale of the three schools closed this month by the School Committee to private developers could net the city about $1.1 million, says Planning Board Chairman Rev. Bedros Baharian.

That would represent a saving of about $4 on the tax rate, in addition to about $250,000 the school system expects to save by closing the Great Hill, Myles Standish and Hunting schools.

Rev. Baharian would not comment on possible uses for eight more schools which School Supt. Lawrence Creedon says might have to be closed because of City Council cuts in the school budget.

But, he added, "there isn't a school in the city which couldn't be put to some use, either through reconversion or a different land use, to get it back on the tax rolls."

Rev. Baharian discussed the following possible private uses for the three schools already closed:

- The Myles Standish, "would make a fine little office park."
- The school offers 10 acres of land, with room for parking and expansion, he said, and would be a suitable home for "some first class offices." The site could be sold for about $500,000, he said.
- The Hunting, "with the cooperation of the neighborhood," could be converted into about 50 units of senior citizen housing, Rev. Baharian said.

The school is now zoned "residential A", which would prohibit such a development.

"It would need a variance," said Rev. Baharian. "You couldn't rezone it - there isn't enough land." Sale of the 1.1 acre site would earn the city about $250,000, he said.

- The Great Hill School's 4.6 acre site would be most suitable for a small condominium development, Rev. Baharian said.

Such a site would "upgrade even further a vastly improved Houghs Neck area" in the same way that "Faxon Commons, Presidential Estates and 1000

Charge 'Half-Truths' 6 Councillors Opposed To School Closings

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Barbs, charges and angry statements continue to fly in the wake of the $4.7 million cut in the school budget made last week by the City Council.

The six councillors who voted to cut the school budget from $39 million to $34.3 million released a statement Tuesday morning saying that "the school department, with approval from the School Committee has chosen to throw fear into the hearts and minds of the Quincy parents and school children."

Last week, after the council's cuts, School Supt. Lawrence Creedon made a series of eight recommendations to the School Committee on how they would live within the new, lower budget.

The eighth, and most drastic, step would close eight schools.

The seventh, and next to last to take place, would cancel next year's sports.

The six councillors - President Leo Kelly, Joanne Condon, John Lydon, Stephen McGrath, John Quinn and Daniel Raymond - called that response "both unprofessional and counter-productive. Instead of budget review and fiscal responsibility, our citizens have received misinformation and distorted half-truths."

"The City Council is opposed to the closing of neighborhood schools and the elimination of school athletics. The School Committee can, and must, find other ways to trim their budget," the joint statement added.

"I hesitate to pour oil on the fire, if there is one," said School Committee Vice-Chairman Christopher Kennedy, who would not comment on the councillors' statement.

Kennedy said, however, that the $6.1 million increase in the school system's proposed budget was caused mainly by the council's failure to approve a $1.4 million supplementary budget for school employee raises.

"That's what makes this look so large," Kennedy said.

Creedon would not comment on the councillors' statement, saying, "the matter will not be resolved in the pages of the press."

County Gets $171,000 In Federal Funds

Norfolk County has received its second quarter revenue-sharing check from the federal government for $171,000 announces commissioner George B. McDonald of Quincy.

The total revenue-sharing allocation to Norfolk County for fiscal 1980 is $704,000 which is applied to the reduction of county debt. Also included is a $40,000 allotment to the Norfolk County Treasurer for the purchase of computer equipment.

The State Legislature mandates where county revenue-sharing will be spent.

Harold's Quincy Development Bill Gets Favorable Report

Senator Paul D. Harold's bill to establish the Quincy Development and Financial Corporation to promote business in Quincy has received a favorable report from the Joint Legislative Committee on Commerce and Labor.

The bill, filed on behalf of a number of Quincy banking institutions, would establish a special non-profit corporation to promote, stimulate, develop and advance business development in the city through low-interest loans.

Banks in the city plan to invest in the corporation, which would then loan money at low interest rates to businesses seeking to locate in the city, or expand or improve existing business, especially in the downtown business area.

The corporation would coordinate efforts with the city's Planning and Development Department to assure the most advantageous economic benefit to the city's economy.

Backing the development corporation proposal are Quincy Savings Bank, Quincy Cooperative Bank, South Shore Bank, Hancock Bank, Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Association, Baybank-Norfolk County Trust Company, Presidential Cooperative Bank and Granite Cooperative Bank.

"This proposal should greatly assist businesses which would locate in Quincy or improved their businesses if it were not for the extremely high cost of money and the tight financial market," Harold said. "The development corporation can provide both new and existing businesses with opportunities for development which would otherwise not be available to them."

Harold said he was encouraged by the favorable committee report and hopes the legislation will be considered by the Senate shortly.

Memorial Day Keynoter

McDonald Hits At Disrespect For Flag

"We have lost respect for each other, and without respect for each other, this country is going to go down the drain," said state VFW Commander Thomas McDonald, Monday in the annual Memorial Day ceremonies at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

Angered by what he thought of as disrespect for the flag during the annual parade, McDonald, a North Quincy resident, tossed aside his prepared speech for the day.

"As the parade progressed, I saw many people who failed to exhibit the proper respect for the flag as it went by. So many didn't even take the time to look. Some even turned their backs," McDonald told the crowd.

"It's gotten to the point that the older people don't respect the young and the young people don't respect the old. I don't think the young are even taught the proper respect for the flag to begin with," he continued.

"If we as veterans were prepared to go to war to preserve this country, it should be very simple for you as citizens to preserve it," McDonald said. "And respect for each other is the first and most important step."

McDonald's remarks earned a standing ovation from the several hundred persons present and many rushed to shake his hand at the conclusion of his speech.

"That's something we've needed for a long time," one woman told him.

The parade through Quincy Center was viewed by about 8,000 people, the largest crowd to see the parade in years.

The Memorial Day Parade and ceremonies were sponsored by the Quincy Veterans Council representing all the veterans organizations in the City.

"WE HAVE LOST RESPECT for each other," said State VFW Commander Thomas McDonald (at podium) during the city's annual Memorial Day Observance Monday.

Tobin Out Of Race

For Governor's Council

Mayor Arthur Tobin announced Tuesday he's bowing out of the race for the Governor's Council, in deference to incumbent Patrick (Sonny) McDonough.

Tobin had filed papers last month for the $4,000-per-year post, but said he would campaign only if McDonough decided not to run.

McDonough has occupied the District 4 Governor's Council post for 33 years and had been ailing recently.

"I just had a conversation with Sonny McDonough," Tobin said Tuesday. "He told me he's feeling much better and that he'll be running for re-election. I told him that for that reason, I am withdrawing from the race."

"I have known Mr. McDonough for years, going back to my years in the House of Representatives. He's a dear guy and of all the years I've known him, he's always been there to help somebody. I told him that I would never run against him."

$343,925 In Plumbing, Gas Fitting Work

The City Department of Plumbing and Gas Fitting Inspection issued 309 permits for work costing an estimated $343,950 during April, reports James A. Erwin, Jr., plumbing and gas inspector.

According to Erwin, 251 plumbing inspections were made, 172 permits issued and $1,002 in fees collected for work costing an estimated $247,825.

For gas fitting work, 188 inspections were made, 137 permits issued and $686 in fees collected for work costing an estimated $96,125.

Seismic Survey Begins For Town Brook Tunnel

The MDC and City of Quincy is requesting the public's cooperation during a three week seismic survey scheduled to begin yesterday (Wednesday) along the proposed alignment for the Town Brook Stormwater Tunnel.

Work will be conducted week days between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. along School and Elm Sts., from Parkway, northeast to Pond St. and the Southern Artery, and along Washington and Revere Sts.

Mechanic St., Miller Stile Rd. and several side streets southeast of Elm Street are also included in this network.

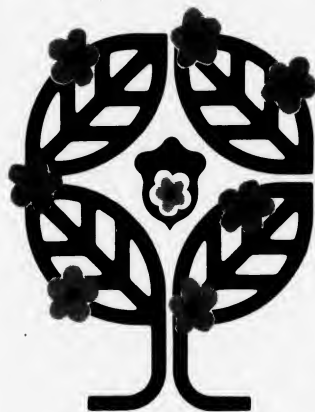

A three man crew will operate the equipment and two Quincy police officers will be on duty to handle traffic problems.

The purpose of the work, conducted by Weston Geophysical Corporation of West-borough, is to determine the depth to bedrock in the vicinity of the alignment, and the type and quality of the bedrock to be excavated for the tunnel.

Hospital Auxiliary To Purchase $6,125 'Birthing Bed'

The Executive Board of the Quincy City Hospital Women's Auxiliary has voted to purchase a $6,125 "birthing bed" for use in the hospital's "alternate birth center".

The auxiliary, which has helped furnish the "birthing room" since it opened in July, 1978, feels this latest purchase will make the facility the best of its kind and encourage more couples to make use of it.

ASTHMA AND EXERCISE

According to a Denver Medical research team which specializes in the treatment of lung diseases, chronic asthma patients do not have to be treated like invalids. Doctors have found that controlled exercise programs work better than prolonged rest in rehabilitating their patients.

Thirty nine patients with the allergic type of asthma were divided into two groups. For three months, one group participated only in routine hospital activity and was not allowed any physical exertion. The other group had daily exercise, including one hour of sports such as basketball. At the end of the three month period, the groups exchanged, the exercisers becoming non-exercisers and vice versa.

None of the patients was made worse by the increased physical activity and no increase in asthma medication was necessary. But 40 percent of the exercisers showed measurable improvement in their breathing.

NOW FOR NOW

(or payment by check
is coming back in style.)

In this topsy-turvy economic period, there is one stable, safe way to handle your money—open a NOW account at our Bank.

What can a NOW account do for you and your money management?

Well, as the use of credit cards becomes more and more restricted, a NOW account lets you switch to a cash operating basis, thus avoiding interest charges for time payments. And your money in your NOW account is earning 5% interest per annum. Thus you get the best of both worlds—you avoid interest charges while collecting interest for yourself.

But, you say, going on a cash basis means I can't make larger or more costly purchases and spread the payments. In this economy with interest charges going up almost daily, maybe that is not all bad.

It depends on how much you need a "big ticket" item. If you have a wife and five youngsters and your washing machine breaks down hopelessly, you need a washer, of course. If you don't have the cash, you charge it. But if you can switch to a cash only (or check) basis for most items, you will save money.

The trouble with cash itself is that cash is dangerous. You can be robbed or you run the risk of losing it. NOW account checks are safe and you have an ongoing record of your expenditures.

Think about it.

Should your household budget be keyed into a NOW account?

Will it save substantial interest payments?

Will it be safe and convenient for you?

If you don't have a NOW account and want to open one (for as little as $10.00) come in to our main office or one of our branches.

We think a NOW account is the simplest and best way you have to help fight inflation.

Are "Free" NOW Accounts Really Free?

You will notice in this advertisement we did not use the term "free NOW account." That's because we want no confusion about our NOW accounts even though we feel that we come as close as anyone in offering NOW accounts at a basic minimum cost with no hidden charges.

Here is the way we work our NOW accounts:

You can open an account for $10.00.

As long as you maintain a balance of $10.00 or more you will get interest credited monthly at 5% per annum.

Overdraft charges are $5.00 each, which covers the paperwork in notifying the customer.

Stop payment fees are $5.00 for the same reason.

And the only other charge is $3.85 for each book of 200 plain checks imprinted with your name, address and account number.

What about those which claim to have "free" NOW accounts? They can demand a $300 monthly balance—or $500.00. The only minimum at our bank is $10.00 if you want to earn interest.

The thing to think about when someone says "totally free NOW account" is this: if you don't keep your balance at $300.00 all month long, you can be charged 20 cents for every check you write that month even if you bring your account up to $300.00 within 24 hours. Nothing like that at Quincy Cooperative!

We remind our customers that nothing in life is really free.....but the cost of a NOW account at our bank is very much less than for most other banking institutions.

$465,000 Available In Transportation Assistance For Elderly, Handicapped

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey [D-Quincy] reports the state will administer a federal program providing $465,000 in financial assistance for transportation of elderly and handicapped persons. This is the fifth year the program has been offered, according to Morrissey.

Administered by the Executive Office of Transportation and Construction, the program provides grants to private, non-profit organizations for the purchase of vehicles, vehicle-related equipment and two-way radio systems.

To be eligible for consideration Morrissey said, agencies must be organized under Chapter 180 of the General Laws of the Commonwealth and should have tax exempt status from the Internal Revenue Service. Vehicles and equipment purchased through the program must be used to provide transportation for the elderly and handicapped within the agency's jurisdiction.

In the first four years of the program, 52 agencies around the state have been selected for grants.

Past program recipients include Home Care Corporations, community centers and United Cerebral

Palsy associations, as well as several specialized private, non-profit transportation agencies.

These organizations receive 80 percent of the cost of the awarded equipment and are responsible for providing the remaining 20 percent cash contribution. The agencies own and operate the vehicle or vehicles.

Morrissey said that interested agencies should contact Russell Thatcher of the Executive Office of Transportation and Construction, One Ashburton Place, Boston.

Preliminary Application is due May 30, and a Final Application, must be submitted by August.

MERRYMOUNT RESIDENT Clarence L. Edwards (center) was recently sworn in as a member of the Board of Registration of Sanitarians for a term to expire in January, 1982. With him are Gov. Ed King and State Sen. Paul Harold, who nominated Edwards for the post.

Cerasoli Announces Denture Program For Needy

The Massachusetts Dental Society has been in touch with Councils on Aging and other social services agencies throughout the state in an effort to develop a full denture program for those unable to afford them.

Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli (D-Quincy) described the program as "aimed at economically disadvantaged persons in the state who need but cannot afford full dentures to have proper professional care."

Cerasoli said that more than 800 members of the dental society have volunteered to participate in the program and are willing to reduce their fees for full dentures according to the patient's ability to pay.

"Massachusetts residents who are not eligible for Medicaid or dental insurance plans, who are financially disadvantaged and who need full dentures may qualify for participation in the program," said Cerasoli.

Prospective patients are urged 1-800-341-8747 between the hours of 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m..

341-8747 between the hours of 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, if they have questions regarding the program.

Survival, Inc. Seeking Crisis Line Volunteers

Survival, Inc., celebrating its 10th birthday this year, is seeking concerned men and women to staff its Crisis Line.

The hot line began as a drug line and has grown to cover every aspect of human emotion and need.

Acknowledged by state and federal government officials as one of the best in the state, the line is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Directing the Crisis Line is a college trained professional who oversees an intensive six week training. Volunteers become proficient in handling many types of problems.

The volunteers are young, old, male and female and all have a concern for others. In addition to manning the crisis line, volunteers participate in community activities such as the Sidewalk Bazaar and Christmas parade.

For more information on Survival, call 471-7100.

Jerry Lewis Spelling Bee Raises $12,350 For MDA

The 1980 Quincy Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Spelling Bee has raised $12,350, almost $4,000 over last year's total.

Last year's spelling bee raised $8,464 and was the top event of its kind in the nation.

More than 1,000 students took part in this year's event.

The top three fundraisers in the city this year and their amounts are:

Snug Harbor School fifth grader Tammie O'Brien, $264.60; Furnace Brook School sixth grader Victor Papagno, $222.30 and Furnace Brook School sixth grader Tad Sheets, $182.30. Tad is a Quincy Sun newscaster and the son of City Councillor James Sheets.

All three received trophies for being the top fundraisers. To be eligible for the prizes, fundraisers must have mailed their pledge money by May 9.

Tammie lives at 391 Palmer St., Germantown and her teacher is Joan Cameron. Victor and Tad live at 102 Glendale Rd., Quincy Center and 926 Furnace Brook Parkway, West Quincy, respectively. Their teacher is Martha Brennan. Louis DiMartino is principal of the Snug Harbor School and Charles Bernazzani is principal of the Furnace Brook School.

The top two fundraisers at each school also received Jerry Lewis wrist watches. They are:

Adams: Kerry Jacques and Hope Spooner.

Atherton Hough: Lori

QJC To Hold Morning, Evening Summer Classes

A wide variety of morning and evening classes will be offered during Quincy Junior College's summer session June 2 to July 10.

Many people think students in summer school are there to make up courses, or complete requirements. "Not true," says Dean of Continuing Education, Richard Mula. "While a number of students are in school for that reason, there are many more who take courses for their own enjoyment or to accelerate their academic program elsewhere. Summer can be a time for academic adventure. Freed from the demands of a heavy schedule, summer is the time to survey courses for which there is no time or opportunity during the regular academic year."

Although the same standards of instruction and academic performance are maintained as during the academic year, classes tend to be smaller and less formal in the summer, allowing for a more personal relationship between student and faculty.

Call Dean Richard Mula at 786-8741 for a brochure.

Quincy Quiz

Frances Adams First Winner

Quincy Quiz, The Sun's new feature, proved a stumper in its debut last week.

Only one person turned in the five correct answers. She was Frances M. Adams of 10 Ellerton Rd., Quincy, who wins a Quincy Sun T-shirt.

Each week, The Sun will present a Sun T-shirt to the first person bringing the correct answers to that week's quiz to The Sun Office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

The second and third persons will receive a Quincy Sun bumper sticker.

Question 3 in last week's quiz was the toughest.

The question: The Morrisette Legion Post is named for Cyril P. Morrisette. Who was he?

The correct answer: The first Quincy soldier killed in action during World War I.

Among the answers submitted but incorrect were: The first Quincy man killed in World War I... The first Quincy man killed in World War II... World War II hero.

Our research department says:

George F. Bryan, son of John T. Bryan of 193 Arlington St., Wollaston, was killed Dec. 6, 1917 when his ship, USS Jacob Jones, was torpedoed by a German submarine off the northern coast of Ireland. He would have been 17 years old in six days. The George F. Bryan VFW Post is named for him.

Cyril P. Morrisette of Company F, 26th (Yankee) Division, was fatally wounded Feb. 23, 1918 during a German shelling of the Chemin-des-Dames sector north of Soissons, France. He died the next day.

The answers to all five questions in last week's Quincy Quiz appear below.

And five more questions for this week's Quincy Quiz also appear.

See if you can answer them.

If you're first to do so, you'll get a Quincy Sun T-shirt.

If you're second or third you'll get a Quincy Sun bumper sticker.

And win or lose, you'll find out just how well you know your city—past and present.

Ready, get set, go!

1. What well-known building stands at 135 Adams St.?
2. Who was Mrs. Edna B. Austin?
3. The Della Chiesa Parking Area in Quincy Center is named for Walter Della Chiesa. Who was he?
4. What is the name of the City Clerk of Quincy?
5. In what section of the city is the Nickerson American Legion Post?

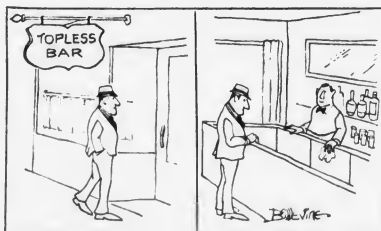

The answers will appear in next week's Quincy Sun.

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz questions:

1. The building at 1305 Hancock St. is City Hall.
2. Louisa Catherine Adams was the wife of John Quincy Adams.
3. Cyril P. Morrisette was the first Quincy soldier killed in World War I.
4. The Commissioner of Public Works is James J. Ricciuti.
5. The Quincy Yacht Club is in Houghs Neck.

Points To Ponder

- It's amazing the amount of antagonism which is caused simply by the wrong tone of voice.
- Even the smallest pencil is more reliable than the longest memory.
- A wise man learns from the mistakes of others. Nobody lives long enough to make them all himself.
- A little kindness from one person to another is more important than a strong love for all mankind.
- Some politicians are like the bottom half of a double boiler—they let off a lot of steam when they don't even know what's cooking.

At The Half Century Mark

Where do the years go? They just go!

Add Arthur Tobin and Jim McIntyre to the believers. They have reached the half-century plateau in life. Both turned 50 last week.

And, that should make a lot of people who have lived in Quincy a number of years feel a little older. It wasn't too long ago—or so it seems—Tobin and McIntyre were a couple of youngsters trying to make it up the political ladder.

McIntyre got his career going earlier when at age 25 in 1955 he was elected to the City Council. Tobin was campaigning back then, too, but for McIntyre, not for himself. He didn't get his own political career off the ground until 1967 when he was elected state representative, succeeding Charles Shea, now city auditor. (He was elected to the City Council the following year.)

The pair were given surprise parties on their 50th birthdays by friends and relatives. Tobin at Hugo's Lighthouse, Cohasset and McIntyre at the Park Plaza Hotel, Boston. Each played a prominent part at the other's party and good naturedly needed the other.

"I'm younger," noted McIntyre. He is—by three days.

"I'm thinner," countered Tobin. He is by ? number of pounds.

Tobin, who emceed the "roast" for McIntyre recalled how forceful an executive secretary present Public Works Commissioner James (Pete) Ricciuti was under McIntyre.

"I remember one day," Tobin recalled, "when Pete barged into the mayor's office and marched right up to the power, went head-to-head and demanded that Sheila force Jimmy to make a decision."

There is a strong bond between Tobin and McIntyre going back to their births.

They were born at Quincy City Hospital in 1930 just three days apart. Tobin May 22 and McIntyre, May 25. Their mothers were in ward beds next to one another.

The pair and their families have been close ever since.

Who'd have dreamed, back there 50 years ago, that those two howling babies at Quincy Hospital would both grow up to become lawyer, city councillor, state representative, state senator and mayor?

INCIDENTALLY, you probably know that McIntyre's middle name is Richard. But bet you didn't know that the "H" in Tobin's middle name is for Henry.

Sunbeams

By Henry Bosworth

AT THE TOBIN party, pantomimist Ann Warren put together an impromptu chorus line of George Riley, Dennis Harrington, Peter O'Connell, Harold Coose, Frank Glynn and Jim Chandler that brought the house down.

With trouser legs rolled up and bells attached to their knees, she led them through a stirring, high kicking rendition of "Ring Them Bells."

SPEAKING OF Ann Warren, she was Ann Haddad out of Quincy Point and a classmate of Tobin's at Quincy High School. They graduated in 1948.

In a class day program that year, the pair did a duet. Ann in tuxedo did an Al Jolson "Sonny Boy" while Arthur, dressed up as Little Lord Fauntleroy sat on her knee. But before Ann could get to the end of the song, Arthur's weight proved too much. Her knee gave way and both wound up sprawled on the stage floor.

□

JOAN PICARD will be going to a number of commencement exercises the next few days as a Quincy school committee member. But Saturday she'll go to one as a graduating student.

PICARD

Joan will graduate cum laude at Bridgewater State College with a B.S. degree in early childhood education. She went five years nights, Saturdays and summers too, to earn the degree after transferring from Quincy Junior College.

During her Bridgewater stint she served eight weeks as a student teacher at the Lincoln Hancock School earning no pay but six credits. She is owner of the Let's Have Fun Nursery School in Quincy.

Mother of three children, Joan says: "I couldn't have done it without my husband Tom, my mother and the children all helping on the home front."

Her mother is Agatha Deschenes, former Quincy purchasing agent. The children are Suzanne, 14, Renee, 11, and Scott, 10.

"You know," laughs Joan, "whenever the kids came home from school and found franks and beans in the pot they used to say, 'Well, guess Mom has a course tonight.'"

All will be proudly watching as Joan receives her degree Saturday.

And, the future?

"I think," says Joan, "I'll go for my master's degree in September."

Opposes Sale Of Quarry St. Land

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I am opposing the City of Quincy sale of the land on Quarry St., to the Elks for $35,000. This beautiful land with panoramic view should interest private enterprise to build a soaring skyscraper, with TV and Radio Broadcast antenna to lease to Radio and TV Stations.

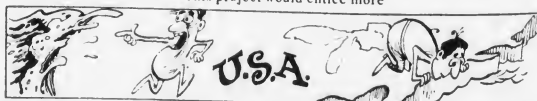

Building of ultra modern design circular view to accommodate functions, business offices, hotel rooms and upper level lounge and restaurant. The filled in land areas can be used for parking and helicopter launching pad. The remaining areas can be landscaped, with the solid areas used for additional buildings at a later date. Millions would be spent for development, generating thousands of needed tax dollars. This would create hundreds of jobs for our young citizens and we could get a great deal more money for the land. This project would entice more business in Quincy. This location is a short distance to shopping areas, expressway and the MBTA.

We are not sorry for State Street South. I see a very definite need for this project as it will accommodate the needs for present and future industries in Quincy. All we have to do is show the way.

Files Bill

Donnelly Asks Federal Aid For First Parish Church

A bill filed by Congressman Brian Donnelly seeks to place United First Parish Church, Quincy's famed "Church of the Presidents", under federal protection.

Such a move would allow the government to assume at least part of the church's maintenance and operating costs, as well as being a boon to downtown tourism, State Sen. Paul Harold said Tuesday.

The bill is the first result of a recent drive mounted by the church's congregation and community leaders to have the church listed as a National Historic Site. The steering committee working to that end is chaired by Harold and church member Richard Foster of Braintree. An honorary committee is chaired by Donnelly and Mayor Arthur Tobin.

The church contains the crypts of Presidents John Adams and his son, John Quincy Adams and their wives.

According to Donnelly, the bill was filed May 21. It was referred first to the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, chaired by Morris Udall of Arizona and then to the Subcommittee on National Parks and the Interior, chaired by Phillip Burton of California.

BRIAN DONNELLY

Burton promised to hold a hearing "expeditiously... probably in the next couple of weeks," Donnelly said.

"I have requested that the hearing be held here in Quincy," Donnelly said.

"That would be appropriate, but I'm not sure if it's logistically possible. That would depend on his (Burton's) schedule."

Passage of the bill "would give the church the sort of dignity and recognition that the nation ought to be giving such a distinguished spot," said Rev. Keith Munson, pastor of United First Parish. "A small congregation of people has maintained this site for 150 years. Now we're sharing it with the nation."

The bill would link the church with the Adams Mansion on Adams St. and the two Adams birthplaces on Franklin St. as part of the Adams National Historic Site.

An agreement would then have to be worked out between the church congregation and the Department of the Interior on what part of the building's operation and maintenance costs would be taken over by the federal government, Harold said.

The church congregation would retain the use of the church for services and other activities, Harold said.

Harold Asbestos Protection Bill Gets Favorable Report

The legislative committee on Commerce and Labor has favorably reported a bill co-sponsored by Senator Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy) to protect people from asbestos exposure.

The legislation, filed with Senator Robert McCarthy, (D-East Bridgewater) directs the state Department of Commerce and Development to establish an asbestos control board to adopt a state asbestos code to regulate the use of asbestos in construction projects.

The control board would include the commissioners of labor and industries and public health, the director of occupational hygiene, the executive director of the State Building Code Commission and a member of the state Consumers' Council.

The legislation also directs the Department of Labor and Industries to establish rules and regulations for the protection of both public and private employees from exposure to asbestos fibers, and provides penalties for failure to follow the regulations, which may be enforced by the Labor and Industries Commissioner in the superior court.

It also makes provision for removal, or enclosure of asbestos-containing materials in public buildings by amending the public contract law to allow for such work.

"I am happy the committee approved of this most necessary legislation for the protection not only of construction workers but also people who may work or live in these buildings, or attend school or other activities there," Senator Harold said.

"Now that we have been made aware of the dangers of asbestos fibers, prompt action to protect the construction tradespeople and the general public is important."

Harold said he is hopeful the bill will be taken up in the Senate shortly.

Brownell, Morrissey File Bill To Aid Children

Reps. Thomas F. Brownell and Michael W. Morrissey (both D-Quincy) have co-sponsored a late-filed bill designed to beef up local councils for children and the office for Children.

The bill proposes to strengthen the ability of the OFC to insure that individual children will not "fall between the bureaucratic cracks."

It would also increase representation on the Statewide

Advisory Council (SAC) and provides for the advice and consent of the SAC on the appointment of the director of the OFC.

QCAO Temporarily Located

The advocacy staff of Quincy Community Action Organization, will be temporarily re-located at the Southwest Community Center, 372 Granite St., Quincy.

Brownell and Morrissey said the bill, which involves no additional state expenditures, will significantly improve the quality of services to children.

All persons seeking assistance with housing, camperships, welfare, food stamps, summer feeding programs, should call Southwest Community Center at 471-0796.

License Board To Act June 3 On Atlas Liquors License Extension

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Following more than an hour of discussion, the City License Board voted Tuesday to continue until June 3, at 10 a.m. action on a request by Atlas Liquors, Inc., for extension of its license.

The request involves inclusion of 659-671 Adams St., 60-70 Hilda St., and 48-53 Eddie St., in Atlas' retail store-all alcoholic license. Atlas was denied a similar request for change of location June 19, 1979.

Atty. John J. Doyle, Jr., representing Atlas manager Robert White, told the board that the store has plans A and B if the license is extended.

Doyle explained that Plan A involves extending the present building which would be legal because of a 1973 zoning variance.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald questioned the legality of the variance, and City Councillor John J. Lydon said that the Planning Board would not approve curb cuts specified in Plan A.

Doyle said that because of the objections, Atlas would concentrate on Plan B which would involve razing the present building and hard-topping the area for 31 parking spaces. There would be one entrance and exit on Adams St., and a new building, with a basement, would be constructed on adjacent property owned by Atlas.

Doyle said Atlas was contemplating the plans because, "the existing traffic problem is terrible and the store needs storage space so it can buy in quantity. Atlas is not trying to expand, but make the situation workable."

The attorney then introduced traffic expert Franklin G. Ching who said that in his professional opinion Plan B was superior to Plan A and to the situation that now existed.

Doyle presented to the board a petition signed, he said, by 2,000 to 3,000 customers favoring the new plans.

Lydon responded that the signatures were mainly from store customers living outside of Quincy, and the issue was one of public safety.

Lydon recounted parking, traffic and youth problems and said that the liquor store was continuing to foster problems in the neighborhood.

"Business is affecting the residential community now, and will affect the community more if the plans are allowed," said Lydon, who also said that City Councillor Frank McCauley opposed the extension.

City Councillor James Sheets suggested a third plan: using Ching's expertise to come up with an improved traffic plan without changing the building.

Several of the 25 to 30 area residents assembled then voiced their opposition to the plans.

Carolyn Reardon, president of the Lakin Square Area Neighborhood Association, said that the neighbors were "beleagued and worn out and that kids can't cross the street" because of the traffic.

"The neighbors have spoken in unison," said Reardon. "We admire businesses that serve the community but that has not been the case in Atlas' 15 years." A new building would be fine but the same people would be responding to the traffic problems and we have no confidence in them because of past action." She presented the board a petition signed by more than 300 residents opposing Atlas' plans.

Fire Chief Edward Barry questioned whether Plan B included the necessary 15 foot set back on Hilda St.

Doyle said he would have a surveyor investigate the situation, and requested that the matter be continued one week when the fifth board member, Dr. Robert P. McKeogh, would be present.

Police Chief Francis Finn asked that Ching confer with the city traffic safety bureau on the matter, and then moved to continue the request. Barry seconded the motion.

In other action, the License Board:

- Granted a request for change of manager of the Quincy Sons of Italy Social Center, 120 Quarry St., from John P. Brown to A. Mario Salvatore, 39 Hughes St.

- Granted a request from Corner Tavern of Quincy, Inc., 3 School St., for transfer of the common victualer-all alcoholic tavern license from Three School St., Inc.

- Approved the transfer by Quincy Oil Company, Inc., of 200,000 gallons of gasoline from 53-59 Federal Ave., to the company's oil terminal at 718-750 Southern Artery.

- Granted a request from the Committee to Elect Robert A. Cerasoli for a one day all alcoholic license for Saturday, July 12, 8 p.m. to midnight, at the Fore River Club House.

- Continued for one week action on a request from H & A Subs & Sweet Stop, Boston Harbor Marina, for a common victualer license for two booths.

- Continued to June 10, a request from Albert and Daisy M. Zero for a common victualer license for 1348 Hancock St., now held by Patriot Lunch.

- Granted a request from Meriot Enterprises, Inc., to rent Cito Service Station at 230 Washington St., from owners Joseph B. Hurley and Marguerite Hurley.

The station's license covers, selling gasoline, performing oil changes and lubrications and minor motor vehicle repairs.

There are to be no junk autos on the premises, and no vehicles are to be sold or leased.

- Granted the Quincy Historical Society a license to conduct its annual Craft and Collectible Show and Sale Saturday, June 7, (rain date June 8) 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the grounds of Adams Academy, 8 Adams St. The license fee was waived.

5 Agencies Receive $180,000 From United Way

Five human care service agencies in Quincy have received a total of $180,000 as their 1980 annual allocations from the United Way of Massachusetts Bay.

Seven others will receive United Way funds through their parent organizations.

The five agencies are Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore, 105 Adams St., whose allocation is $67,000, an increase of $2,448; Quincy Visiting Nurse Association 116 Hancock St., $32,000, an increase of $6,000; Homemaker Services of the South Shore, 1359 Hancock St., $15,000 up $5,000; Quincy YMCA, 79 Coddington St., $51,000, increase of $4,500, and the South Shore Council on Alcoholism, $15,000, its first allocation as a United Way affiliated agency.

The South Shore Council on Alcoholism, 148 Old Colony Ave., Wollaston, is the newest affiliate of the United Way in Quincy and serves 10 communities on the South Shore.

The seven other Quincy agencies which will receive allocations through their parent organizations are Salvation Army Corps Neighborhood Center, 6 Baxter Street; Family Service Association of Greater Boston, 1159 Hancock St., South Shore District, Mass. Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, 1245 Hancock St.; Quincy Office, Greater Boston Legal Services, 11 Cliveden St.; Quincy Jewish Community Center, (part of Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston), 10 Merrymount Rd.; and Quincy Chapter Red Cross, 57 Revere Rd., whose office also serves Braintree, Holbrook and, Randolph.

Another agency which serves local residents and which will receive United Way allocations is The Patriots Trail and Girl Scout Council. The Council formed by a merger of the Blue Hill Girl Scout Council and three other councils in the Boston and North Shore area, has received $267,000 as its allocation. The new council service area will cover 65 cities and towns including Quincy.

Allocations to all of United Way's 163 agencies amount to $17,225,440, $1.1 million more than the United Way allocated in 1979 and 87 per cent of total United Way resources for 1980.

United Way allocations for 1980 are the result of year-long efforts of 110 volunteers who serve on seven citizen-review committees which evaluate agencies' performance in management, service delivery, financial and program accountability, target groups served, service objectives, and volunteer involvement.

Quincy residents serving allocations committees are: Cassandra Grant of Wollaston and Vincent F. Cameron of North Quincy.

A Big Question

Will Budget Cuts Hurt QJC Reaccreditation Chances?

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

It's too early to tell if cuts made by the City Council in the Quincy Junior College budget will kill that school's chances for re-accreditation, say School Supt. Lawrence Creedon and President Edward Pierce.

But, it certainly won't help, they add.

In its May 19 budget vote, the council cut about 16 percent from the junior college proposed 1980-81 budget, from $1.88 million to $1.59 million. The School Committee must decide from which of the QJC accounts the missing $289,000 must come.

The school had been preparing for an October visit from a re-accreditation team from the New England Association of Secondary Schools.

Accreditation by the NEASS certifies that a school meets certain minimum standards in programs, curricula and facilities. While loss of accreditation would not necessarily close the school, it would make students' degrees less valuable in the job market and hurt their chances of transferring to a four-year school. Federal and state aid would also likely be jeopardized.

When asked if the council cut will hurt QJC's chances for re-accreditation, Creedon said, "Yeah, I guess I would have to say it would. There isn't $300,000 in fat in that budget."

Pierce would not comment on the effects of the cuts until the School Committee took some action on the lost funds.

"Until then, we don't know where we would be hurt," Pierce said. "Obviously, it's not going to help. Ours is a very tight budget, there isn't $300,000 lying around."

The NEASS has given QJC a list of improvements that must be made for the school to qualify for re-accreditation. They include increased student services, an expanded library and others.

"Those improvements have been moving forward," Creedon said.

6 Councillors Opposed To School Closings

City Councillors Joanne Condon, Leo Kelly, John Lydon, Stephen McGrath, John Quinn and Daniel Raymond issue the following statement relative to their recent vote approving the 1980-1981 School Department Budget.

On May 19, 1980, a budget in excess of $34,300,000 was approved by the City Council and forwarded to the Mayor. The school budget as approved for the coming school year is $1,300,000 higher than the current year's budget. The City Council, in light of School Committee action closing three (3) neighborhood schools and in light of declining enrollment felt this increase was justified.

The budget for the coming school year forwarded to the Mayor was exactly in line with the state-mandated 4% tax cap legislation. Despite the appropriation increase, the school department with approval from the School Committee has chosen to throw fear into the hearts and minds of Quincy parents and school children. Threats have been made to close an additional eight (8) neighborhood schools and to eliminate school athletic programs.

It was expected that the School Department would react to tax-cap spending limitations. However, we find their response both unprofessional and counterproductive. Instead of budget review and fiscal responsibility, our citizens have received misinformation and distorted half-truths.

The true facts are:

1. School funding for the coming year will be in excess of $1,300,000 higher than last year.
2. Enrollment is down 4,400 students from 1972.

3. There will be three (3) less schools open next year: Myles Standish, Great Hill and the Hunting Schools, have been closed by the School Committee, but there is no reflected budget reduction.

4. The School Committee admits that the budget contains funds to operate these schools but have taken no action to remove the funds to date.

5. Funds for next year's athletic programs have been voted by the Council in the amount of $328,104.40.

6. The budget is now returned to the Mayor and talk of reconsideration is meaningless under our City Charter.

7. The Council cut the budget for other city departments a total of $6,800,000.

8. Council action on the school budget will save $18.00 per thousand on next year's tax rate.

9. The proposed Supplemental budget for the present year which cannot be funded from existing funds has been included by the School Department in its 1980-1981 budget.

10. The School Committee admits that it has requested funds for employee raises in both budgets.

11. The Council has approved all employee raises and required them to be funded in fiscal 1980-1981.

12. Raises as a result of collective bargaining will be paid in full no matter what action is taken by the School Committee, City Council or Mayor.

13. The members of the School Committee vote to close schools not the City Council or Dr. Creedon.

The School Committee is charged by law with the operation of the school system. The argument by the School Committee over the years has consistently been that closing schools will not save money. Now even when the budget will be in excess of $1,300,000 higher than this year, parents and children are told that closing schools will save money. This is inconsistent.

Only the School Committee can close schools. The City Council is opposed to the closing of the neighborhood schools and the elimination of school athletics. The School Committee can, and must, find other ways to trim their budget.

If the School Committee, charged by law to do so, is unable to meet their task, the Council will be happy to point out the cuts and do their job for them. But, Councillors Condon, Kelly, Lydon, McGrath, Quinn and Raymond cannot and will not close schools.

Sale Of 3 Schools Could Net City $1.1 Million

Southern Artery have upgraded and changed the image of Quincy Point," said Rev. Baharian.

He placed the site's value for condominium construction at about $350,000. The cost of subdividing the lot for single-family homes would make its value for that purpose "minimal," he said.

Rev. Baharian would recommend that this site be designated a Planned Unit Development (PUD) "to allay the fears of the community." PUD designation would require public hearings and approval by both the City Council and Planning Board. Otherwise, buildings which have no further school-related use and are turned over to the city Council by the School Committee can be disposed of in any way the council wishes. Rev. Baharian said.

"However, I would hope the City Council would ask the Planning Department to assist in this process," Rev. Baharian said.

The schools shouldn't necessarily be sold to the highest bidder, Rev. Baharian said. The first consideration should be "what's best for the neighborhood," with providing the most revenue for the city the second most important factor, he said.

Tobin To Propose School Administration Cuts

Mayor Arthur Tobin said Tuesday he would present the School Committee with a series of proposals at its meeting Wednesday night, aimed at averting the drastic cutbacks suggested by Creedon.

"My feeling is that we ought to be attacking the non-essential things before destroying the school system," Tobin said Tuesday. Tobin said he could not discuss details of his proposals at press time, as facts and figures were still being prepared by the city auditor's office.

Tobin said he would ask the committee to study cutting back the school administration and eliminating certain programs. Also, he added, parents might be willing to accept a higher pupil-teacher ratio to keep their neighborhood school open.

In some schools, he said, two small classes of 15-20 children could possibly be combined to one larger one of 30-40. The savings from elimination of teachers' jobs could help keep the school open, Tobin claimed.

Tobin also sided with the six councillors who Tuesday charged the school department and School Committee with distortion and half-truths. Creedon had "totally overreacted" to the budget cuts.

"With all due respect to Dr. Creedon, I take offense at the way he has totally overreacted to this," Tobin said.

Tobin noted that Creedon's recommendations would include closing eight schools as a last resort.

"I find that beneath Dr. Creedon's dignity to even suggest that," the mayor said. Furthermore, he added, Creedon and Quincy Education Association President Robert Garner have orchestrated a drive to build public opinion against him and the council.

Shuffling through a pile of letters from school children, with messages like "I hope you will help our school remain open," Tobin said "Look, these are all on school paper.

"This was all orchestrated, from the superintendents' office, to the principals, right down to the teachers," Tobin said. "I find it incredible that they're working these children up like this."

"On that, and on all such statements, the only thing I have to say is that the matter will not be resolved in the pages of the press," Creedon said.

The eight school closings and sports cancellations could be averted if the council approves the $1.4 million supplementary budget for school employees raises for 1979-80 at its June 2 meeting, Creedon claimed. Those two measures would save an estimated $1.2 to $1.3 million, he said.

"If the supplemental budget were approved by the City Council at its next meeting, steps seven and eight would no longer be necessary," Creedon said.

School Closings Strain Blamed For Kelly's Hospitalization

Council President Leo Kelly, hospitalized Sunday for apparent nervous exhaustion, is expected to be home in a matter of days and back in action in two or three weeks.

So say his wife and Mayor Arthur Tobin, who blamed Kelly's condition on strain resulting from the possible school closings in his district.

During a meeting at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall in Houghs Neck Sunday night, the councillor reportedly shouted at persons attending the meeting, knocked over chairs and had to be restrained by friends. He was taken by police ambulance to Quincy City Hospital.

Tobin said Tuesday that Kelly was resting at another hospital, which he would not name.

"Leo will be resting at home in a few days and I would guess that in two or three weeks, he will probably resume his duties," Tobin said. The councillor's wife, Mary Kelly, agreed.

Tobin blamed Kelly's behavior on "fatigue, overwork and stress," resulting from newspaper reports that the Atherton Hough School might be closed as a result of cuts in the school budget made by the city council. Sunday's meeting was held to discuss that possible closing.

"All I will say is, Leo's too good a man to take the abuse he's taken on this," said Mrs. Kelly.

Michael A. Nee Promoted In Navy

Michael A. Nee 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nee of 19 Highland Rd., Merrymount, was recently promoted to aviation storekeeper third class in the U.S. Navy.

A 1977 graduate of Quincy Vocational Technical School, he is on a West Pac cruise aboard the U.S.S. Constellation aircraft carrier, and is a Quincy Sun subscriber.

Mass. Fields School Closing To Be Discussed

A meeting on the proposed closing of the Massachusetts Fields School will be held at the school tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.

At the meeting, Councillor Steven McGrath will discuss the City Council's cuts in the school budget and their effects on the school system.

QCA To Hear Comer, Brownell On Revaluation

Assessor Chairman John P. Comer and Rep. Thomas F. Brownell will discuss Quincy's property revaluation at a Quincy Citizens Association meeting Wednesday, June 4, at 7:45 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Club, Holbrook Rd., North Quincy.

Comer will present a slide presentation of Quincy's revaluation program and detail property surveys done by the Jacobs firm.

He will also forecast tax bills under revaluation, and its effects on homeowners. A question and answer period will follow.

Brownell will present the latest information on Classification, favored by voters in the 1978 election, to permit homes to be assessed at a lower rate than income-producing businesses.

The QCA's regular business meeting will follow the Revaluation program.

Organization members were scheduled to support the Squantum Community Association in its fight to have the wetlands at the Boston Harbor Marina rezoned "open space" yesterday (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. a City Council meeting at City Hall.

Marines Find '3 Good Men' In Olson Family

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Marine recruiter Sgt. Phillip Barnes, who's always looking for a few good men, thinks he's found three in one family.

Barnes has signed up Bruce, Eric and Kenneth Olson, all of 50 Brook St., Wollaston, the first time he's ever recruited three members of one family.

Bruce, 24, signed up in February and recently completed the 12-week basic training.

A 1973 graduate of North Quincy High, he's now a private first class.

Kenneth, 20, left last week for basic training at Camp Dejeune, North Carolina. He's a 1979 graduate of North Quincy.

Eric, 17, is a member of North Quincy's Class of 1980. He signed up for the Marines in April, but won't report until July.

The trio all signed up for the Marine Corps Reserve, not for active duty. Bruce, for example, now begins 51 weeks of training at the Marine electronics school in Twenty Nine Palms, California. After that, he's required to put in one weekend each month and two full summers. Marine Reserves could be called back to active duty in case of national emergency.

Erick will also undergo the 51 weeks of electronics training, while Kenneth will attend the Marine's nine-week cooking school after basic training.

"I guess you could say it all had to do with Big Brother," Barnes said. "He influenced them, maybe."

"I think in a way, he did," adds their mother, Mrs. Robert B. Olson. "Boys tend to follow their older brother."

Mrs. Olson, incidentally, approves of the three Marines in the family:

"Kids have to get away, to get out of the home for awhile. It's a good way to start."

She wasn't concerned by the tough reputation of Marine "boot camp." "We were invited down to see a film on basic training," she said. "It seems like good discipline. I think it's good for them."

Squantum Cub Scouts To Help In Esplanade Clean-Up

Thirty five Cub Scouts from

Pack 24 of Squantum will be among 400 Boy Scouts from the Greater Boston Council participating in a cleanup of the Esplanade and Charles River Basin Sunday at 10 a.m.

The cleanup will follow a Marine Band concert Saturday at the Hatch Shell, a small boat sailing regatta and a barbecue for cadets from the Tall Ships.

The scouts, who participated in a Squantum cleanup last week end, will join forces with the MDC and litter patrols from the Corporation for a Cleaner Commonwealth.

As a reward for their volunteer participation, the scouts will receive a certificate of merit and will be treated to an afternoon cruise to view the Tall Ships.

Two Residents Receive Newman Diplomas

Two Quincy residents recently received diplomas at the 35th commencement of Newman Preparatory School, Boston.

They are, William R. Allen of 20 Lincoln Ave., Wollaston, son of Mr. William W. Allen of Wollaston and Mrs. Mary Lewis of Hull, and Michael J. McGlinchey, 125 Russell St., North Quincy, son of Mrs. Marsha A. McGlinchey and Hugh A. McGlinchey of Framingham.

Tsongas Commencement Speaker

363 To Graduate From QJC Sunday

Quincy Junior College will graduate 363 day and evening students at its 17th commencement Sunday at 3:15 P.M. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

U.S. Senator Paul Tsongas, will deliver the Commencement address. The first term Massachusetts Senator has been appointed to the Foreign Relations Committee as well as being a member of the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

Before being elected to the Senate, Tsongas served in the United States House of Representatives for three terms, 1975-1978, as Middlesex County Commissioner, 1973-1974; and as a Lowell City Councillor 1970-1972.

A graduate of Yale Law School in 1967, Tsongas is on a leave of absence from a Masters program in public administration at the John F. Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University. He has also served as a Peace Corps Volunteer and Training Coordinator, and as Deputy Assistant Attorney General.

PAUL TSONGAS

Presenting greetings to the Class of 1980 will be Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, School Committee vice-Chairman Christopher F. Kennedy, and Dr. Edward F. Pierce, Quincy Junior College President.

Presenting the Class of 1980 will be School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon. Among the guests will be members of the Quincy School Committee, members of the Community College Association, and members of the Quincy Junior College faculty.

A highlight will be the presentation of the Quincy Cooperative Bank $1,500 scholarship to a QJC graduate pursuing further education by Frank Mitchell, Vice-President of the Bank.

Rev. Richard A. Uffring of the Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Houghs Neck will give the invocation and benediction. Anthony Ferrante will conduct the North Quincy and Quincy High School Bands in musical selections.

Quincy Junior College graduates will gather at St. Ann's Recreational Hall, across the street from the Stadium, at 2:15 P.M. In case of inclement weather, station WJDA will announce that graduation exercises will be moved to Quincy Vocational-Technical School.

Relatives, friends, and the general public are invited to attend the ceremonies.

Kathryn Donelin Marymount Graduate

Kathryn Donelin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Donelin, 19 Davis St., Wollaston, recently received a bachelor's degree from Marymount College, Tarrytown, N.Y.

Miss Donelin graduated Summa Cum Laude with honors in business. She was a member of the national honor society Delta Epsilon Sigma.

CRASH COURSE IN FINANCE . . .

. . . FOR GRADUATES WITH AS LITTLE AS $100 TO INVEST

This is an Ad for the Granite Co-operative Bank, in Quincy. This message is for you, the average person. We have the best savings plan in Massachusetts for people who have as little as $100 to invest. (You won't risk a penny.) It's got a fancy name: Paid Up Shares, but you won't have to find a stock broker to buy them. You see us . . . and then you'll own a piece of our bank. We're a co-operative bank and that allows us to offer these shares. Walk into our bank. Ask the teller to give you paid-up shares (one for each $100). What you'll get is a bank book. Each $100 in the book means you own one share in our bank. Every month we send you a check as a dividend . . . computed at 5 3/4 % per year. Keep the money here and we keep sending you checks. The best part of this whole deal is you get your money back from us just by asking for it. You get it right then. There is no notice.

NO RISK. GET YOUR MONEY BACK THE MINUTE YOU ASK!

No bank in Massachusetts pays higher interest on no-notice than Granite Co-operative Bank.

Houghs Neck Council Awards $1,500 In Scholarships

The Houghs Neck Community Council is presenting scholarships totaling $1,500 to seven eligible students from the area.

High school graduates receiving grants to continue their education are:

Mark Hamel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Hamel, Jr. of 154 Spring St., entering Brown University, $400.

James Hacunda, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hacunda of 15 Bell St., entering Tufts University, $250.

Carol Ann Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carpenter of 13 Central Ave., entering St. Anselm's, $100.

Donna Larson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Larson of 14 Bayview Ave., entering Wheelock, $100.

College students receiving awards are:

Christopher DeFazio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter DeFazio of 346 Manet Ave., a sophomore at Boston University, $300.

Carol Caramanica, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Caramanica of 32 Bayview Ave., a sophomore at Suffolk, $200.

Karen Keeley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Keeley of 58 Pawsey St., a student at Aquinas, $150.

This brings the total amount awarded by the Houghs Neck Community Council Scholarship Fund since 1964 to $16,350. Candidates must have five or more years' residence in Houghs Neck, and are selected on the basis of record transcripts submitted by the various schools and colleges.

Arnold Beresen is chairman of the scholarship committee which includes Helen Beresen, Mary Collins, Dorothy Laing, Margaret Radcliffe, Herbert Morgan, and Ruth Wainwright, secretary.

Paula Riley Awarded Fulbright Scholarship

Paula Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Riley of 23 Richfield St., Squantum, has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship to study in Germany for the next academic year.

Miss Riley will graduate this month from Regis College, Weston, where she majored in German. She is the sixth German major from the college in the last 15 years to have been awarded a Fulbright grant.

The grant, which covers tuition and a monthly living stipend, will allow Miss Riley to study the influence of women writers on the Romanticism movement in German literature.

According to Miss Riley, the opportunity to study and travel in Germany is the best thing she could be doing now "and will be good preparation for my intended Ph.D. work."

She has been accepted into a graduate program at the University of Cincinnati following completion of her Fulbright studies.

In applying to the Fulbright Commission, Miss Riley said, "I have selected the study of German culture and literature as a discipline and I have decided to pursue a career in teaching because I am convinced that the United States of America will be unable to continue a leadership role on the international scene unless an increased number of young Americans are encouraged to acquire competence in a foreign language."

PAULA RILEY

Miss Riley was recently inducted into Delta Epsilon Sigma, the national scholastic honor society for Catholic colleges and universities.

3 Residents Graduate From Curry College

Three Quincy residents were among some 156 students recently graduated from Curry College, Milton.

The graduates and the degrees they received are:

Stephen M. Connolly, 35 Sargent St., bachelor of arts degree in management; Dawne Marie Raleigh, 82 Samoset Ave., associate of science degree in nursing; and Lisa A. Byrne, 11 Ellington Rd., associate of science degree in nursing. (She is continuing her studies at Curry for a bachelor of science degree in nursing).

Governor Edward King delivered the main address and was awarded an honorary degree at the commencement ceremonies.

Daniel G. Maurano Merrimack Graduate

Daniel G. Maurano of 77 Viden Rd., South Quincy, was graduated recently from Merrimack College, North Andover, with a B.S. degree in civil engineering.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Maurano, Sr., he is a graduate of Archbishop Williams High School.

"Creativities Fair"

Showcases Student Creativity

By KATHLEEN O'DONNELL
Grade 7

On Tuesday night, April the 15th Broad Meadows Junior High School held their annual Creativities Fair. It was from six o'clock to 10 o'clock at night.

The "creactivities" were based on the creative abilities of the students. The classes that displayed their work included Home Economics, Industrial Arts, Physical Education, and Music. There also were the displays of science, geography, mathematics, and foreign languages.

FASHION SHOW

As always the Home

Economics classes had their fashion show. The fashion show was held upstairs in the Media Center. The girls modeled wrap-around skirts, drawstring skirts, blazers, dresses, pants, and vests that they had made during their classes.

GYMNASTICS EXHIBITION

The gymnastics exhibition ranged from tumbling to jumps on the mini-tramp. Later in the show the gym team had individual routines on the floor. The tumbling ranged from forward rolls to back flips, while on the mini-tramp the jumps included from a simple stretch jump to a front somersault.

CONCERT - BAND AND CHORUS

Mrs. Striano, the band director for Broad Meadows band, had prepared a set of seven songs for the fair. The songs that the students played were "Theme from 'Rocky'", "Trumpet Cha-Cha", "Soul Street", "ABC Comedy Time", "March Triumphant", and "That's All Folks".

Mr. McConarty, the chorus director, offered a selection of four songs. The songs were Under the Umbrella, The Wiz, Lonely Looking Shy, and Brighten Up My Soul with Sunshine. There were eight altos and eleven sopranos.

Nine Students Are Winners In Dramatic Reading Contest

By CHRIS KEDDY
Grade 7

The second annual Louisa May Alcott Dramatic Reading contest was held on March 28, at Broad Meadows Junior High School. Students from grades 7, 8, and 9 participated. Each person had to choose a poem or a part of a story and write an introduction about it. The contest was conducted and organized by Mr. Paul McShane, an English teacher at Meadows. It was judged by Mrs. Corinne Mitchell and Mrs. Eileen Rugg, two teachers who are now on leave from Broad Meadows.

The preparation for the contest may sound easy but it included a lot of training and hard work. The training consisted of practicing of eye contact, posture, enunciation, and expression. There were several mini-contests for some students who they could prepare for the final contest.

The winners all worked very hard and did great jobs. The results are as follow:

SEVENTH GRADE:

- First Place: Kathleen O'Donnell reading "Will You Be My Friend" by James Kavanaugh.

- Second Place: Rose Cristiani reading a piece from "Rikki Tikki Tavi" by Rudyard Kipling.

- Third Place: Linda O'Brien reading "Lilacs" by Amy Lowell.

EIGHTH GRADE:

- First Place: Ray Welliver reading "The Raven" by Edgar Allen Poe.

- Second Place: Kris Picarski reading "Old Ironsides" by Oliver Wendall Holmes.

- Third Place: Peter McParlin reading a poem by Ralph Waldo Emerson.

NINTH GRADE:

- First Place: Kevin Mahoney reading "Casey at The Bat" by E. L. Thayer.

- Second Place: Diane Raftery reading "The Unknown Citizen" by W. H. Auden.

- Third Place: Kim Moccia reading "The Hell Bound Train".

Career Education Symposium At Broad Meadows

By CHRISTINE DUDUTIS
Grade 7

"It's time to think about your future," is the message being given to our eighth graders during the Career Education Symposium on May 21, 22, and 23.

During this event, working people from private industry, government service, the communications field, and the financial community will join regular classes to talk about career opportunities. Students are encouraged to ask questions about any job which sounds interesting.

The eighth grade classes have spent a lot of time preparing for the arrival of their guests. For example, many students made mobiles which showed various jobs in a particular industry, and each home room made a bulletin board showing the many types of career possibilities.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Two Meadows Alma Maters May Close

Last year Dr. Lawrence Creedon recommended that four schools should be closed. The school committee's special study recently made the same decision. These four schools are Hunting, Great Hill, Miles Standish, and Cranch. Two recent graduates of two of these schools offer their feelings about the closings.

By KAREN HURLEY
Grade 7

I am a graduate of Great Hill School. When I went there, I really enjoyed it. The teachers there were really nice and everybody in the school knew everybody else. I liked having a small school. I hope the money saved is worth giving up such a school.

By DEBBIE BAMBERY
Grade 7

I am a graduate of N. S. Hunting School. I liked it because everyone knew and liked everyone else. I think that the schools should stay open because the younger kids will probably become confused because of the crowding in a bigger school.

Grade 9 Favors Kennedy In Poll

By KATHY THORNTON
Grade 7

Recently a Presidential Poll was conducted among grade nine civic classes. The top five candidates were considered. The results are as follow:

Who do you want to be the democratic nominee?
Carter - 18
Kennedy - 28
Who do you want to be the republican nominee?
Reagan - 21
Bush - 15
Anderson - 8
Which democrat do you expect to be nominated?

Carter - 26

If the election were held right now who would you vote for?

Ninth Graders Plan End Of Year Activities

Camp Bournedale

By LAURA SCHOFIELD
Grade 9

Thirty-eight ninth graders will be attending an environmental science camp. The camp is located on Great Herring Pond in Plymouth. It is run under the direction of Arnie Gerson.

The students will be spending 5 days and 4 nights from Monday, May 12th to Friday, May 16th. Boys and girls will be housed in heated cottages, that accommodate 9-10 people. In case of emergencies, there are a camp nurse and doctor. Food will be served family style in a dining room and students will eat as much as they can. A snack will be served before the lights go out.

Students will be instructed on how to keep a journal of the week's activities. Activities include, pond studies, a trip to Alehmney Institute, a geology excursion to Scusset Beach, working with a marine biologist, academic and physical programs, plus many others.

Students have been given a paper and list on the camp and what they should bring. For the week the cost is $10.00 which includes all expenses. Most of the students earned the money themselves by doing odd jobs, holding a car wash and selling candy.

"Away Day"

By JOAN AGRES
Grade 7

On June 13, 1980 the ninth grade students of Broad Meadows will be going on an "Away Day" to Lake Pearl.

Both ninth grade boys and girls will be going. The students go swimming then have a cook-out with hot dogs, hamburgers, and tonic.

After the students eat they play volleyball, frisbee, and other games.

This trip has been successful for several years and all the students of the ninth grade look forward to the day.

Dinner Dance

By JOANNE CRISPO
Grade 7

On June 17th the 9th grade students will be going to a Dinner-Dance from 5:30 to 9:30.

The girls will be wearing long gowns, and the boys will be wearing suits or tuxedos.

The 8th grade students will serve them a meal of Italian food. After they eat, live music will be played for dancing.

The theme of the dinner-dance is Italy. The 9th grade students are the ones who set up the decorations. Twenty-six of the students have put in a lot of effort to make the 1980 9th grade dinner-dance a night to remember.

9th Graders Rescue Feathered Oil Victim

By KRIS MAGEE
Grade 9

This past January my science class and I went out into the marshes to find and clean oil covered ducks. It was fun but also a serious thing. Many of us changed into our gym clothes before going into the marsh.

The Animal Rescue League awarded Broad Meadows a certificate to show their appreciation for saving the oil-covered ducks.

Eighth Graders Write And Publish Mystery Anthology

By MARIA ESCANO
Grade 8

As part of our Reading Honors Project in Grade 8, instructed by Ms. Jackman, we were asked to do a Anthology Kit. The unit purpose was to learn the use of language in writing and speaking.

For our assignment we were to write in the style of superhero adventure stories written in the past. This gave us the opportunity to use our individual skills from what we have learned from the Anthology Kit. We used some old-fashioned language, exaggerated the names and actions of our characters and used cliches and coincidences in our story. This project enabled us to increase our knowledge about language and to sharpen our reading efficiency.

FEATURED ARTISTS in the City-wide art exhibit are: front (l-r) Joan Shea, Lisa Comeau, Betty O'Neill. In back is Julie Kohut, Mrs. Papon, Rina DeAngelo, and Mrs. McCusker.

Students To Compete In Oratorical Contest

By KATHY THORNTON
Grade 7

During late May, Broad Meadows students will be participating in the Josiah Quincy Oratorical contest. The city finals will be held at the First Parish Church on May 29.

Students who participate must write an essay related to an assigned topic. The essay should take between two and three minutes to read. The students practice reading the essays, concentration on posture, eye contact, volume, gesture, and expression. Only three representatives, one from each grade, go to the finals. Broad Meadows students did very well in last year's contest, taking first place in grade nine, second place in grade eight and third place in grade seven.

8TH GRADER Tina Chernick puts the finishing touches on a class assignment.

Several Broad Meadows students have had their art work selected for exhibition in a city-wide competition sponsored by The Quincy Art Association. Rina DeAngelo and Lisa Comeau have work on display at the City Hall. Julie Kohut, Joanne Shea, Betty O'Neil, and Steve McDonald have work on display at the Adams Academy.

The types of art work on display are paintings, print designs, and drawings.

THE FLAG SAYS "Demonstration Center," and that's exactly what Steve Baylis is doing. More gymnastics photos appear on page 4.

Meadows Gym Named "Demonstration Center"

By LEE ANN MITCHELL and JAMIE REARDON
Grade 7

Hanging from the rafters in Broad Meadows gymnasium is a flag that only nine other Massachusetts schools have. This flag bears the words "Demonstration Center".

Mr. Wiley, head of the Physical Education program in the state of Massachusetts made the presentation which was attended by Governor King.

According to the Physical Education teachers, Mr. Bogan and Miss Hassan, the Broad Meadows program was selected because of its stress on co-educational, individual development, and because of the "Road Show" presented by our students in other schools.

THE GYMNASTICS TEAM "road show" is pictured here ready to perform at City Hall in Quincy's Festival of the Arts held Saturday, May third. Standing to the right are Coaches Deborah Hassan and John Bogan.

Meadows Sports Dynasties

Broad Meadows athletes have been very successful in all sports throughout the years. However, three of our teams have been so successful that they could be considered dynasties. They are the wrestling team, the gymnastics team, and the girls' basketball team.

Gymnastics Team Undeclared-Again

By ROSEANN CRISTIANI and LINDA O'BRIEN
Grade 7

The Broad Meadows Girls Gymnastics Team has done it again! Our school has won the City Championship meet for the fifth year in a row, thanks to our coach Miss Debra Hassan.

In floor exercise, Diane Rafferty came in fourth place, Kathy Reddish came in 3rd, Franny Brown came in 2nd, and Sonya Kondrat came in 1st.

In vaulting Janet McLaughlin came in 5th, Diane Rafferty came in 3rd with a tie with Sonya Kondrat, and Mary Kussman came in 2nd, and Kim McEachern came in first.

On the balance beam Jody Megnia came in 2nd and Diane Rafferty came in 1st.

On uneven bars Lynn Manton came in 5th, Laurie Steen came in 4th, Kathy Reddish came in 3rd and Diane Rafferty came in 2nd. Also Diane came in 2nd place for all around title. Our team scored 75.7 points, their highest score ever in their fifth straight undefeated season.

Wrestling Team

Dominates City Meet

By MATT COLBY and PAUL MILLER
Grade 7

After their fifth straight undefeated season, the Meadows wrestlers again dominated the city wrestling meet.

Meadows matmen took 17 out of the total of 30 medals awarded to the five junior high schools, including 5 of 10 gold medals. The gold medal winners were Alan Costigliola, Mike Miller, Ted Walsh, Bill Rollins, and Al Carpenter.

During the season, Meadows outpinned their opponents 62-7 and won their eight meets by the average score of 36-9.

This year's champs were coached by Mr. James McGuire.

Girls' Hoop

City Champs For Fourth Time

By KIMBERLY MOCCIA
Grade 9

Broad Meadows Girls' Basketball team was extremely successful. Playing a tough defensive game, they held their opponents to low scores. The varsity team finished the season with an 11-1 record. Coach Swanson feels all his girls played well, but he commended three of his most proficient players.

Maryann Agres, top scorer, was awarded "Most Valuable Player" this year. Bernie DePietro led the team in pressure defense and received the "Most Improved Player". Mary Beth Rollins was consistent throughout the year, playing extremely aggressive all games, she constantly told her opponents, by her own aggressive behavior, they were in for a tough fight.

FRANNY BROWN is "spotted" by Kathy Reddish and Diane Rafferty as she performs on the uneven parallel bars.

LENNY LOGAN soars over fourteen of his teammates piled on the long horse during the "Tiger Leaping" event included in this year's gymnastics exhibition.

Gymnastics Team Performs

For Public

By MIKE HAYS
Grade 7

Quincy - The Broad Meadows championship gymnastics teams traditionally performs a gymnastics exhibition every year. The performance attracts over 1000 people because of the superior effort of the team members and their coaches, Miss Hassan, Mr. Bogan, Mr. DesChamps.

To prepare for the performance, the team practices four hours a day, five days a week, for more than a month.

This year's gym show was performed May 7 and May 8. The Gym team has been very successful and demonstrated the utmost of their physical skills.

Meadows Track Team Still Strong

By REGINA COLETTI
Grade 7

The Broad Meadows track team is in the midst of the 1980 season. As in the past, Meadows had strong teams and this year is no different.

The coaches are Mrs. Hanlon and Mr. Hall. They will be coaching hopefuls who include Mike Williams, a ninth grader who set several city records last year and is expected to do very well in the 440 and the 880 events.

The events of junior high include the 100, the 220 yard dash, and the 45 yard low hurdles; the 440, which is middle distance, and the 880, an almost endless long distance race. The field events are the shot put, the high jump, and the long jump.

We know Meadows will do well in all these events!

Meadows Baseball

By JOE CULLEN
Grade 7

It's baseball time again in Broad Meadows. Last year Meadows came in second in the city with a 5-1 record. Their season's opener was against Central on May 6. Dale Adams was the opening day pitcher.

With players like Mike Miller, John Spencer and Ted Walsh, Meadows should be right there in a tough battle for first place. Meadows is coached by Mr. Paul Dever. All Meadows games are on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Their home field is LaBrique Field in Hough's Neck.

REV. JOHN PALLARD, O.M.I., new principal of Archbishop Williams High School, Braintree, receives congratulations from present principal Brother Thomas Mulloy, C.F.X.

Archbishop Williams Names New Principal

Rev. John Pallard, O.M.I., has been appointed principal of Archbishop Williams High School, Braintree, announced the Department of Education of the Archdiocese of Boston.

Director of religious education at Sacred Heart Parish in Lowell, Fr. Pallard was for a number of years a faculty member of St. John Neumann High School, Williams-ville, N.Y. He holds masters degrees from Oblate College, Washington, and from Fairfield University, Connecticut.

He has also done graduate work at Niagara University, New York, and is certified by New York state as a school administrator.

A lengthy process preceded the appointment, including consultation with parents, students and faculty.

Archbishop Williams High School is a coeducational secondary diocesan school with 850 students from throughout the South Shore.

Drug Problem Getting Bigger

Now, he says:

"There is no evidence whatsoever that marijuana is in any way good for you. There's very strong evidence that it damages the brain, the ability to think, the immunity system. I think marijuana should be illegal."

Judge Albert L. Kramer, presiding justice of the Quincy District Court, says he thinks some 40 or 50 per cent of Quincy High School students smoke marijuana. Mahoney disagrees with that estimate. He thinks it's too high. Nationally the figure is 15 to 30 per cent and growing.

Since 1969, the Quincy schools have had what they feel is an effective program for dealing with the problem of drugs and alcohol on the campus. It is treated within the curriculum. There are no special classes by experts or lectures by ex-users.

"We feel that a separate class dealing in drug education alone does nothing more than broaden a student's knowledge about drugs," says Mahoney.

"It's easy to see how troubled youngsters could be titillated into experimenting with drugs by such information. We chose the long and difficult road of teacher involvement. It promised to deal with the cause and not merely the effect."

How well has it worked?

"It got up to a point a couple of years ago where we were doing about 35 requests a month from the schools," says Det. Sgt. Daniel Lyons of the Quincy Police Juvenile Unit. "Right now it has dropped down to about 10 a month. They're doing a fantastic job in the schools."

CREEDON

"It's going on in the schools, there's no doubt about it," says School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon. "The schools are not immune. The kids don't change their habits one way or the other when they step through the door. What we're saying is that we're taking every precaution that we possibly know of to combat it."

"I don't think you could resolve the problem 100 per cent," adds Lyons. "If you push it away from the schools, it's going to go into another area. You can get it anywhere because to most kids today smoking a joint isn't a big deal."

When it's pushed away from the schools, it usually moves into the province of Patrolman Donald Pearson, the 6-foot-6 police officer who is a familiar sight around Quincy Square.

He's familiar to the drug dealers who infest certain sections of the Square. They call him "Big Pig." He calls them the "T Bums," because they hang around the Quincy Center MBTA Station. Other favorite haunts are McIntyre Mall, the Hancock Cemetery, the library lawn.

"The T is the end of the supply line from Boston," says Pearson. "It's also a bus terminal. I get them from all over. I've made arrests around the T from Hanson, Marshfield, Hingham, you name it."

"They're all one big happy family. It's worse than ever now because there have been so many people involved in this for so long. It's very difficult to get an agent in there because they know everybody."

"When you've got the same people all the time that you got stoned with or high with or hallucinated with, you know who's doing what. It's an established network."

Many law enforcement officers blame the severity of the drug problem on leniency in the courts and most of these barbs are directed at Judge Kramer, since a lot of their cases wind up in Quincy District Court.

"There are times," says Pearson, "when they are out on the street again before I've finished writing my report."

"We've found," says Lyons, "that for us to take a kid to court is like a last resort because once a kid finds out that they don't do anything to you in court then we've lost our clout."

"The kids aren't scared by the court," says Mahoney. "Back in 1977 we had 17 of them in court on warrants and one indictment and that hasn't stopped them."

Lynch cites a case that was concluded in April, 1978, in which 31 street dealers were involved. Only three served any time at all and four more received fines. Most got probation or suspended sentences.

Two things that happen in court particularly annoy law enforcement officers.

One is plea bargaining, under which defendant agrees to plead guilty to a lesser charge than the one that authorities have spent time and energy building against him. The sentence also is accordingly less. Probably nine out of 10 cases in court are plea bargained.

The second is the practice of continuing a case without finding for six months or a year and then, if the defendant has been a good boy, scaling the record.

"Plea bargaining is absolutely essential to the courts," says Asst. Dist. Atty. Dennis Mahoney, who handles the DA's work in Quincy District Court. "If everyone who came in here under arrest for just one month insisted on going to trial it would cripple the court."

Judge Kramer maintains that his court is the "toughest court in the state in terms of drugs."

"If you're talking first offender, marijuana, we do what every court in the state does," he says. "No different. No more. We tell the kid your case will be continued without finding for a year. If there's no trouble, it's dismissed. If there is we draw you back."

"When you get into a second offense for marijuana you begin to talk about guilty findings and fines. When you talk about other drugs we talk about tough probation, the toughest in the state. We surrender kids on probation more than any other court in the state. The proposition that this court is lenient is a falsehood."

Butch Mahoney disagrees, adding that Judge Kramer "ought to learn a little bit more about what's going on, whether it's marijuana or the street scene."

"I don't want to put a 13-year-old kid in jail for selling a joint," he says. "But I certainly want him to understand exactly what has happened. When kids are selling drugs to other kids, some kids could overdose and die. The kid who is selling it has got to be made to realize this and think about it."

"I don't think 'continued without a finding' is going to give him much to think about."

Judge Kramer told The Sun in an interview that he himself experimented with marijuana when he was 17 years old and he has told of his experiences in court.

"I'm glad to share the experience I had when I was 17," he says. "I had one or two joints. I tell them that when I was young I experimented with marijuana and now I don't touch a thing."

"If you tell kids that nobody has done it, they'll laugh at you. My trouble with kids here is trying to convince them that getting high is just an escape and it's nothing that benefits them."

One of the problems in dealing with the drug abusers and dealers is that no one seems to know what to do with them once they are convicted and the parties involved can't seem to stop blaming each other long enough to develop workable plans.

"Right now we're just stopgapping," says David J. Hayes, director of the Juvenile Division in the District Attorney's office.

"The answer to the drug problem really gets down to a common sense cooperation and involvement of the parents, the schools, community agencies, and the police."

Hayes feels that the DA's office has gotten off to a promising start with its juvenile diversion program, which involves the police and community agencies in the rehabilitation of early offenders.

It is successful by two standards, he says — out of 2,122 youngsters only 66 have been rearrested or have failed to follow the plan laid down for them and it has the cooperation of the police, "who don't eagerly get involved in programs."

One of those who has little truck with most rehabilitation programs is Judge Chmielinski, the former Quincy lawyer who is currently sitting in Norfolk Superior Court in Dedham. He calls himself "old fashioned."

"Probably 80 per cent of the serious crimes that I sit on are directly or indirectly connected with the drug traffic and that's a minimum figure," he says. "I'm very severe on the sale of drugs by people who are in the business to make money."

"I believe the purpose of sentencing is, first, punishment. Rehabilitation starts from within. If a man wants to go straight he'll go straight. If he doesn't want to do it, nobody can make him."

Tourney Hopes Still Alive For North

Despite two losses last week, one a Suburban League game and the other a non-leaguer, the North Quincy baseball team still has a chance to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament.

The Raiders are involved with Weymouth South, Brockton and Waltham in a close battle for the top two spots in the league but they would have to win their final three games. They must at least tie for second place to qualify.

North, which played Newton North Tuesday, hosts Weymouth South Friday and finishes up

Monday against Waltham. Both games will be played at Adams Field at 3:30.

Quincy will finish a disappointing season Friday at Newton at 3:30.

Last Saturday night North bowed to Milton, 6-3, in a non-league game called in the sixth inning by rain and lightning. The loss dropped the Raiders to 8-6 overall (8-5 in the league).

Leo Graham started on the mound for North but for the first time this year had control troubles. Rich Hallberg pitched three strong innings of relief.

Bob Biagini, one of the league's top batters, had a triple and a walk for the Raiders.

Last Thursday North dropped a 9-4 decision to Weymouth North as Mark Millane, who had been pitching beautifully, had his first bad outing.

Biagini had a home run and Tony Camillo had two hits.

Quincy dropped a 2-1 squeaker to Cambridge Rindge and Latin to drop its record to 4-10 despite another outstanding pitching performance by Gary DiNardo, who gave up only five hits.

• Triple A

Hugyo Fans 11 As White Sox Blank Mets, 7-0

The White Sox scored seven runs in the fifth inning and defeated the Mets, 7-0, in the Triple A Baseball League, with Mike Hugyo the winning pitcher, striking out 11.

Chris Barry had a double, Brian Roche two singles and Brian Flukes and Tony Orlando a single each. Jay Moreschi had the only two hits for the Mets.

The Indians walloped the Pirates, 14-6, with Greg Harper, the winner, striking out nine. He also had a double and a single, Luis Morales had three singles, Paul McGhee two singles, Mike Helfrich a double, Mike Courvels two doubles and a single and John Keyes a single. Courvels made a great play at second base and Helfrich made several fine catches in right field. For the Pirates Kelly Hennessey had a double and a single, Mark Scanlan two singles, Lisa Steen a double and Tim Collins, Danny Memmolo, Phil Thompson and Paul Lagzdins a single each.

The Braves scored nine runs in the third inning and clobbered the Tigers, 17-2, with Mike Kubera pitching three-hit ball, striking out 13 and walking only two. He also had three doubles and scored twice. David Chenette had three singles and scored twice, John McGovern had three hits, scored three runs and made an unassisted double play, Billy LaForest had a double and single and Tom Tegen and Kevin Mitchell a single each. Dave Fasano had a double for the Tigers, Tom Crossen and Greg Chambers had a single each and Timmy Burke turned in an outstanding defensive play at shortstop.

• Junior League

Foley Takes Top Spot On DeBartolo One-Hitter

Foley Chrysler-Plymouth defeated Bryan Post VFW, 4-1, in the Junior Baseball League, to take over first place in the American League, with Jay DeBartolo pitching a one-hitter.

The one hit, a walk and an error accounted for the only VFW run. Chris Marshall had a triple, Pete Furtado had a triple and single, Dave Phillips a double and Mike Murphy and DeBartolo a single each. Bob Ganghi had the only VFW hit. Foley improved its record to 5-2.

Burgin Platner outlasted Sears, 9-9, with Erik Roukey getting credit for the win, improving his record to 3-0. John Cristiani had a homer, triple and single, A. J.

Pugliese a double and single and Mike Barron, Billy Kauplus, Tommy MacDonald, Derek Holt, Walter Downing and Jay Osgood a single each. Mike Connolly and Tom Logan each had a triple and single for Sears, Joe Zacheo had a triple, Steve Austin two singles and Robbie Callahan and Chris Aimola a single each.

Foley topped Houghs Neck Legion, 4-2, with Roy Peterson striking out five and walking only two. DeBartolo, Kevin Murphy, Peter Furtado and Mike Murphy sparked the offense. Bobby Kane had a double, Mike Ash went three for three and John Ainsley had a double and two walks for Houghs Neck.

Sears defeated Foley, 9-4, with Tom Logan the winner, striking out 10. Austin had four hits and Aimola and Joe Zacheo also had key hits. For Foley, Marshall and Kyle Robertson were two for three and 10-year-old Kevin Duffy had an inside the park homer.

Rotary edged Burgin Platner, 4-3, to improve its record to 5-1, with Mike Joyce and Bill Burkhead dividing the pitching duties. John Perrellatore, Burkhead, P. J. Hussey, Bob Carty, Chris Doyle and Mike Joyce all had hits. Steve Hensley, Bob MacDonald, Holt and Pugliese had singles and Cristiani a double for Burgin.

DEAN CHRISTENSEN of North Quincy saw a good deal of action this spring in the Curry College outfield. Jack Valley won his 500th game and more this season as Curry's coach.

Evans, McElaney Win QJC Awards

The Robert Basiliere Sportsmanship Awards, in honor of the team member exhibiting leadership ability, went to Robert Evans for basketball and Ed McElaney for baseball at the recent Quincy Junior College sports banquet.

Attending the event were School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon, QJC President Dr. Edward Pierce, Coordinator of Athletics Carl Leone, Quincy High Vice Principal Robert Basiliere [former QJC basketball coach], Basketball Coach Brian Buckley, Baseball Coach Dave Burke and Dean Richard T. Mula.

The following players received trophies:

13 QHS Football Players Going To College

Quincy High School football coach Tom Fitzgerald, is "fed up with hearing so many comments that boys and girls can't receive a decent education in Quincy and have to go to outside schools, "to get to college".

He has reason to feel that way.

With the help of Bill Hutchinson, he has placed 13 of his senior football players in college next fall.

"All I hear are parents saying kids have to go to outside schools to get a good education," Fitzgerald said. "Thirteen of our 25 senior football players will be going to college in the fall and, in addition to their playing ability, they have to have the marks to be accepted.

"A boy or girl can get just as good an education in the Quincy schools as anywhere else and I think this proves it. These 13 football players wouldn't be going to college if they didn't have the grades.

"Bill and I have been working since the day after Thanksgiving placing these boys. And those who don't go to college can still be successful in business. We try to get the boys where they are best suited according to their football ability, rank in class, attitude, and so forth. We go to the guidance counselors to find out their attitude and ability and go on from there.

The following graduating Quincy football players will go to college in the fall:

Quarterback Dave Austin, tackle Geoff Calish and defensive back Paul Martin, St. Francis Xavier College, Nova Scotia.

Halfback Tom Brennan, fullback Dan Goldrick and defensive back Charlie McCall, a Vo-Tech student, New Haven University.

End Paul Bandera, Curry College.

Guard Howie Chadbourne, Norwich University.

Guard Tom Rand, Bowdoin College.

Defensive backs Jeff Elson, Todd Veale and John Kavanaugh, Boston College.

Fullback Scott Richardson, Bridgewater State College.

Junior Farm League

Mets, Angels Setting Pace

The Mets are rolling along at the top of the Junior Farm League's National League with a 7-0 record, while the Angels are atop the American League with a 5-1 mark.

The Angels romped over the Braves, 17-5, with Mike Ainsley the winning pitcher. He struck out 12. The Angels hammered out six home runs, two by Ainsley, who also had a single, and one each by Mike Curtin, a grand slam; Ted Stevenson, Chris Noble and Mike Noonan. Jimmy Ross, Doug Armstrong, Noonan, Kevin O'Brien and Jack Mullen all had two hits. For the Braves Wayne Chambers was three for three, including a home run.

The Angels also bombed the Pirates, 29-12, scoring in every inning including 13 runs in the sixth, with Ricky Ames getting the win. Mullen had a triple, double and single, his triple breaking a 5-5 tie in the third, and Noble had a home run and triple. O'Brien had a grand slam homer and Curtin a homer. Chris Boushy had two home runs for the Pirates.

The Mets scored in the first inning and held on for a 1-0 win over the Indians, as Billy Mulken pitched a one-hitter over five innings and Robbie Cinquegrano pitched the sixth. Losing pitcher Billy Murphy allowed 10 hits but was tough in the clutch and struck out 13. Cinquegrano had a triple and a single, Chris Higgins a double and single, Vin Moran two singles, Paul Adams a triple and Jeff Adams, Bobby Austin and Mulken a single each. For the Indians Mark Hanley and Paul Meehan had the only hits.

The Mets walloped the Orioles, 9-1, with Higgins pitching two-hit ball and striking out 14. He also had a home run and single. Moran and Jeff Adams had two hits each, Billy Bellow had a home run and Richie Connelly, Mulken, Michael Toland, Paul Adams, Steve Connelly and Austin all had singles. Danny McDonald pitched two scoreless innings for the Orioles. Tommy Burke and Steven Rabs had the only hits and Dennis Keohane played well in his first game catching.

The Giants bombed the Red Sox, 18-0, with Rich Golden, the starting pitcher, handcuffing the Giants for four innings. He also had a homer and triple. Dave Murphy had a three-run homer, Brian Mosher and Sean Caplis two hits each and Peter McLoughlin, Matt Collins, Sean Burke and Mike Routier a hit apiece. Diane Heeney had two hits for the Red Sox and Kevin Daley and Chris Boudreau had the only others.

The Giants also rolled over the Pirates, 13-2, for their fifth win in a row, as Mosher pitched five-hit ball and struck out 18 for every Pirates' out. He also had three hits. Mike Sands had three hits, Caplis a three-run homer and a single, Collins and Murphy had two hits apiece and Burke, McLoughlin, Jay Rodriguez, Routier and Golden one each. Boushy had a home run and single for the Pirates. Sean Thompson had a homer and Sean Glennon and Eric Jancaterino had the other hits.

Other scores: Braves 11, Tigers 4; Cubs 4, Indians 2; Dodgers 19, Yankees 7; Dodgers 11, Red Sox 6; Orioles 8, Cubs 5, and Yankees 6, Tigers 5.

Quincy Tennis Team Winds Up

The Quincy boys' tennis team, showing steady improvement throughout the season, finished last Friday with a 4-1 victory over Cambridge and Latin but missed by one win of qualifying for the Eastern Mass. tournament.

The Presidents, 9-9 last spring, finished 11-6.

Gary Durante and George O'Kane won their singles matches while Peter Fain lost.

Quincy swept the doubles with the teams of Mike Shea and Mike Nigro and Jeff May and Ken Player.

Kickers Drop First, Blank Rockland

The North Quincy Kickers under-12 soccer team broke even in a pair of South Shore League games during the past week.

The team was edged by Holbrook, 3-2, for its first defeat of the season. North Quincy got off to a 1-0 lead on Bobby Salton's goal with Mark Scanlan assisting. Scanlan made it 2-0 with his third goal of the season with Pat Harrington assisting.

Holbrook cut the edge to 2-1 and the Kickers narrowly missed several good chances by Eric Roukey, Scanlan and Tony Orlando.

Holbrook tied the score early in the second half off a corner kick and, with six minutes left, scored the winner on a high arching shot past North goalie Teddy Shionis, who turned in an excellent performance.

North topped Rockland, 5-0, as Shionis turned in his second shutout. Dave Fasano got the Kickers off on the right foot with a hard shot with Roukey assisting. Harrington scored the other four goals. Roukey assisting on three and Scanlan on the other. Defensively the Kickers were awesome, keeping the play in the Rockland end most of the time. Scanlan, Jimmy Cahill, Tony Losordo and Patrick O'Sullivan played well. O'Sullivan had a goal called back. The fullback line of Derek Holt, Mark Durkin and Chris Rossi stood out.

The Kickers' under-16 team lost a 3-0 lead and had to be satisfied with a 3-3 tie against West Bridgewater.

Jim Boudreau scored two Kicker goals and Rich Palma had the other, his sixth of the year on a penalty shot. Bob Flynn and Jay Williams played strong defense and Bob Flaherty, Dan Dodd, Alex Coultis and John Hallahan also played well.

The team defeated Easton, 4-2, with Palma scoring two goals and Boudreau and Barrie Higgins having the others. Jay Williams and Chris Harrington played well on defense and Dennis Cronin, Greg DiBella and Joe Moynihan, Flaherty had several outstanding saves in goal.

Little Loopers To See Sox-Brewers

Thirty-five Quincy Little Loop bowlers will be guests of the Red Sox at Saturday's game with the Milwaukee Brewers at Fenway Park.

These were the fund raisers in the league's bowl-a-thon for Muscular Dystrophy and they will meet at the Wollaston Boulevard Bowldrome parking area at 11:15.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By ROBERT COLMAN

See if you can name the player with this unusual record: He was on the active playing roster of a National Football League team in 1977, '78 and '79, he went to 2 Super Bowls and made over 80-thousand dollars in playoff money, yet in all that time - despite being healthy and able to play - he never got into ANY regular-season or playoff game for even one play... Who is he?... Answer is Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback Cliff Stoudt... Stoudt joined the Steelers in 1977 and was on their active roster in 1977, 1978 and 1979, and never got into a game in those 3 seasons.

Here's one hard to believe... Although the Baltimore Orioles won more games than any other team in big league baseball in 1979, they didn't have ANY regulars who hit over .300... And, despite winning the pennant, the Orioles finished 11th in the league in team batting.

Who was the youngest American ever to win a gold medal in the Olympics?... A 13-year-old girl, Marjorie Gestring of the U.S., won a gold medal in springboard diving at the 1936 Olympics to set the record.

I bet you didn't know... That Colman's has all the action wearables you'll need for summer sports... And at prices that will amaze you... Whatever your sport you can get equipped at Colman's at money saving prices.

Quincy Girls Bomb Cambridge Latin

The tournament-bound and Suburban League leading Quincy girls' softball team continued on its merry way last Friday when it rolled over Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 22-11, to improve its league record to 13-1 and overall mark to 13-2.

North Quincy's girls turned in one of their better performances to wallop Hingham, 15-9, in a non-league game to make their record 5-10.

Today [Thursday] Quincy hosts Newton North at Faxon Field and North plays at Weymouth South at 3:30.

Maureen Maher hit two three-run homers and Nancy Chludzinski added a three-run smash to pace the Quincy win over Cambridge. The First Ladies trailed, 10-5, after three innings but exploded for seven runs in the fourth. Maher had seven RBI. Chludzinski five and Nancy McDonald three.

For North Quincy Pat Negus had four hits, including a home run and triple and drove in six runs. Laureen Apollo had three hits and Eileen Cronin was the winning pitcher.

● Track

Atlantic Girls Roll By Point, Bow To Central

The Atlantic Junior High girls' track team rolled over Point, 116-35, in a combined varsity and junior varsity meet. The varsity won, 55-27, while the jayvees continued to run wild with a 61-8 decision.

Atlantic's varsity was led by Patty Markham, who shattered the school record in the 100-yard dash with a time of 11.26. She also took second in the shot put and ran a leg on the winning one-lap relay team.

Joining Markham on that team were Cathy Mulloy, Maureen O'Sullivan and Lisa Fitzgerald. Atlantic's two-lap relay team was powered to victory by Rita McLaughlin, Lynne Murphy, Patty Naughton and Tracy Coull.

Tracy also won the 880 to lead a sweep as Ellen DeLuca and Amanda Mujica played 2-3. Donna Woods won the high jump and took third in the hurdles, while Debbie Leonard placed second in the hurdles. Linda Kennedy pulled away early and easily won the mile while Cindy Rabs third.

Also scoring for Atlantic were Susan Foley, Jean Ward, Kathy Burke, Diane Boland, Nancy Wildes, Regina Nagle, Eileen Miller and Cathy Ferrara.

Among the Atlantic jayvee stars were Diane O'Donnell, mile winner; Amy Lydon and Donna Gelsomini, tied for first in the high jump; Denise Shields, winner of the shot put; Judy Kennedy, second in the 440; Christine Nagle, third in the hurdles; and Margie Markham, who ran on the winning relay team.

Atlantic's team consists of 59 high spirited athletes. Thirty are seventh graders housed at Squantum, while 15 eighth graders and 14 ninth graders are housed at Atlantic Jr. High.

The Broad Meadows varsity squeezed by Sterling, 42-40, while the Sterling junior varsity ran away with a 50-5 win.

The varsity competition was extremely close with BM winning by sweeping the mile and 440. Sterling was strong in the relays, winning both.

Georgia Traficante won the high jump and 880 for Sterling. Diane Morrissey won the hurdles and was second in the high jump. Terry Hamilton was second in the 100 and other Sterling scorers were Susan Uhar, Sharon Uhar, Nancy Martin and Suzanne Pitts.

The Sterling jayvees overwhelmed an undermanned BM squad with Janet Buttomer and Cathy Mullin sparking the win.

The Central girls defeated Atlantic, 49-31, but several Atlantic girls sparked in a losing cause.

Maria McGurl won the hurdles, anchored the winning one-lap relay team and placed second in the high jump. Patty Markham, Patty Salton and Lisa Fitzgerald joined McGurl on the relay team. Markham also won the 100 and took second in the shot, while Ellen Burke was third in the shot.

Susan Foley took second in the 440 and long jump. Cindy Rabs was third in the mile, Tracy Coull second in the 880 and Jean Ward third in the 100. Coull and Fitzgerald are only seventh graders.

Atlantic's jayvees were also impressive as Donna Woods won the hurdles and high jump, teammates Alice Seto and Amy Lydon tied for second in the high jump. Margie Markham paced a sweep of the shot put with Eileen Miller and Denise Shields 2-3. Lynne Murphy placed third in the long jump. Barbara Blake was third in the 100. Regina Nagle won the mile in her first try.

North Romps Over Quincy

The North Quincy boys' track team, as expected, had little trouble romping over winless Quincy, 93-52, last week to finish 4-4 in the Suburban League, but the undermanned Quincy squad continued to get some excellent individual performances.

Quincy, which had nowhere the manpower of the North Squad, finished winless in the league but Coach Joe Amoroso and his assistants, Doug McFarlane and John Franceschini were impressed with the desire shown by those who stayed with the squad and the improvement shown by many.

Jack Leone was a double winner for North in the high jump and high hurdles. Steve Mastorilli won the 220 and was second in the long jump. Bob Pound won the shot put and was second in the low hurdles and ran anchor on the winning mile relay team. Bill Dailey set a school record of 12-9 in winning the pole vault and was third in the 220.

Other Raider winners were Jack Brown, 100; Bill Timmins, 880; Joe McDonald, two-mile; Walt McConaghy, triple jump, and Dave Penzo, javelin. Joining Pound on the mile relay team were Timmins, McConaghy and Mike Ricciuti, also second in the two-mile. John Barrett was second in the mile.

Roy Higgins, who last winter ran with the North Quincy team (Quincy didn't have a boys winter team), had another outstanding day for the Presidents as he won the long jump and 440 and anchored the winning 440 relay team. Quincy winning on his leg.

Joining him on the team were Dave Church, Paul Martin and Mike Shaughnessy.

John Furey, who had a great season in the distances, won the mile and Bill Hall won the discus. Bill Tuberville won the low hurdles for Quincy.

In the Suburban League meet later in the week at Newton, Higgins won the 440. Furey placed third in the two-mile and the 440 relay team of Higgins, Martin, Shaughnessy and Church placed third in 45.1, their best time.

For Quincy Quincy Lou DiPietro took second in the discus and Leone was second in the high jump. McConaghy placed third in the 440 and Dailey was third in the vault at 12-6.

Both squads will compete in the state meet Saturday.

So Do North Girls

The North Quincy girls' track team, unbeaten and Suburban League co-champion last winter, ended the spring season last week with a 6-2 record as it romped, as expected, over undermanned Quincy, 87-29, at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Last Saturday the North girls made an outstanding showing in the Eastern Mass. championships at Wellesley, finishing a close second to perennial power Falmouth in Class B. The Raiderettes had 38 points.

North won 11 of the 14 events against Quincy with undefeated Michelle Millane and Kara Crehan double winners. Millane remained unbeaten in the shot put and javelin, while Crehan won the long jump and high jump.

Other Raiderette winners were Nancy McCarthy, 220; Elaine Robertson, 440; Robyn O'Donnell, 880; Erin Horrigan, mile; Mary Crehan, two-mile; Eileen McKenna, hurdles, and the mile relay team of Robertson, Carol McMahon, Linda Demarkes and Deirdre Donovan.

Quincy's only wins came on Darlene Marston's 100 win, Rita Pasqualone's victory in the discus and the win by the 440 relay team of Anne Hannon, Susan Murray, Kathy McDonald and Marston.

Second place finishers for North were Karen McCarthy, 100; Cheryl Ayles, 220; Karen Lindenfelzer, 440; Kathy Moriarty, 880; Mary Ellen Timmins, mile; Mary Kate Kennedy, long jump; and Ayles, discus.

Finishing second for Quincy were Maria Burke, two-mile;

Hannon, hurdles; Pasqualone, shot put, and Patricia Ilacqua, javelin.

Placing third for the Raiderettes were Lisa Cavanaugh, 440; Lynn Gillespie, mile; Ann Gorczyca, two-mile; Martha Donahue, hurdles; Ayles, high jump; Lindenfelzer, discus, and Caryn Smith, shot put.

Third place finishers for the First Ladies were Murray, 100; MacDonald, 220; Jean Dullnig, 880; Murray, long jump and javelin.

In the Eastern Mass. championships North's Millane won the shot put, Donovan was second and McCarthy fifth in the 440. Karen Crehan was fourth in the high jump, Kennedy fourth in the 220; Ayles fifth in the discus and the mile relay team finished second.

Broad Meadows Breezes By Sterling, Point

Tom Hall's Broad Meadows Junior High boys' track team is off to a fast start with two wins, a 57-25 romp over Sterling and a 46-36 decision over Point.

Against Sterling BM was led by record breaking performances of Mike Williams and double wins by Ed Kennedy.

Williams won the 440 in 52.7 and the long jump at 20-2½, both the best ever done by a Quincy Junior high student. Kennedy won the 100 and high jump, clinching the BM victory.

Other fine performances were turned in by John Robertson and Pat Ward in the 880, Vinnie Servaes and Dave Ladas in the mile, Bill Rollins and Mike Chenette in the shot put, Carl Freedman and Jim Donahue.

In junior varsity action John O'Connor, Richard Schultz, Marcello Savage and Jeff MacLean won and Matt Colby and Dan Kelly also contributed to the win.

The meet with a small but talented Point squad featured several outstanding times and distances.

Williams again won the 440 and long jump with near record performances, while Kennedy won the high jump and took third in the 100.

BM swept the mile with Servaes, Ward and Steve Thurston finishing 1-2-3, and also swept the half mile with Robertson, Ladas and Mark Cohen 1-2-3.

Other BM scorers were Freedman, first in the hurdles; Rollins, third in the hurdles; Donahue, third in the 440, and Chenette, second in the shot put.

Point posted some impressive times and distances with Chris McCray winning the 100 in 10.5 and the shot put at 36 feet and Richard Parker placing second in the 100 and long jump.

Joe Conti, Paul Roche, Robert McIsaac, Greg Hanley, O'Connor and Kelly were impressive for the BM jayvees.

Kelly Wins Tennis Letter At Tufts

Paul Kelly, a junior from Quincy, has earned a varsity letter in golf at Tufts University. The Jumbos had a 7-6 record, including wins over Harvard and Amherst.

Kelly's average score was 84, tying him for second place. He shot a 91 against Babson, Gordon and Suffolk; a 79 against Harvard and Amherst, 88 against Clark, WPI and Middlebury; 85 and 80 in the N.E. college tournament.

Ellen F. Wyke, 66, Retired School Teacher

Funeral services were celebrated Tuesday at Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy Center for Mrs. Ellen F. (Fagerlund) Wyke, a retired Quincy and Braintree school teacher.

Mrs. Wyke, 66, died May 23 at Quincy City Hospital after a long illness. A lifelong resident of Quincy, she graduated from Boston University in 1935 and taught in Quincy and Braintree before retiring in 1978.

She was a member of Faith Lutheran Church, the Braintree Chapter Order of Eastern Star, the Star Club of Braintree and the Massachusetts, Quincy and Braintree Retired Teachers Associations.

She is survived by her husband, Charles M. Wyke; her mother, Mrs. Emma Savilahi; a son, Charles M. Wyke Jr. of Wilmington, Del.; a daughter, Mrs. Carolyn W. Nelson of Newton; two brothers, Elmer Fagerlund of Quincy and Elmo Fagerlund of Sudbury; a sister, Mrs. Edith Farrell of Quincy and four grandchildren.

Burial was in Edison Cemetery, Lowell.

Roger Bonomi, 63 Retired Forestry Dept. Employee

A funeral Mass will be celebrated today (Thursday) at 9 a.m. at St. Mary's Church, West Quincy for Roger Bonomi, 63, a retired employee of the city forestry department.

Burial will be in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Bonomi died Sunday after a long illness. He was a lifelong resident of Quincy. He was a World War II Army veteran and a member of the Quincy American Legion Post.

He was a member of the South Quincy Bocce Club, Kidney Transplant Dialysis Association, United Flyers, Massachusetts Tree Warden Association and the Hole-In-One Club.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Edith P. (Briggs) Bonomi; two sons, Roger Bonomi and John D. Bonomi, both of Quincy and a sister, Mrs. George (Addie) Shea of Quincy. He was also the brother of the late Albert J. Bonomi and Mario J. Bonomi.

Norfolk County Bar Advocates To Represent Indigent Defendants

Atty. Joseph R. Welch, president of the Norfolk County Bar Association, announces the formation of a non-profit corporation, the Norfolk County Bar Advocates, Inc.

The new organization, with offices at 10 Pearl St., Dedham, has been contracted with the state of Massachusetts to represent indigent defendants in all Norfolk County district courts.

The offices are staffed by a fulltime program director and secretary.

Joseph G. Fitzpatrick, 61, Mass Electric Supervisor

A funeral Mass was celebrated Tuesday at St. John's for Joseph G. Fitzpatrick, 61, who died May 23 at Quincy City Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Fitzpatrick was a supervisor for the Massachusetts Electric Company and a lifelong resident of Quincy. He was a World War II

Army veteran.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Ann E. Fitzpatrick; a son, Paul G. Fitzpatrick of Quincy; a daughter, Mrs. Donna Tripp of Duxbury and a grandchild. He is also survived by three brothers, John of Maine, Robert of New York and Lawrence of Rockland and a sister, Mrs. Mary Rose of Abington.

Funeral arrangements were by the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy Center. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Human Rights Coalition To Meet June 4

The South Shore Coalition for Human Rights will meet Wednesday, June 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the social hall of Quincy Centre United Methodist Church, Fort and Granite Sts.

Speaker will be a representative from a national campaign, initiated by the Equal Rights Congress, calling for Congress-sional hearings into the activities of the Ku Klux Klan and similar racist groups.

The meeting will also include discussion of reported attacks upon African students attending Eastern Nazarene College, Wollaston.

Guests at last week's meeting included Marie Sansurin, a Haitian worker fired recently by General Dynamics, Jonathan Brandow, GD welding department steward.

Headquarters for the organization, which will hold its annual picnic Sunday, July 20, are now located in the upstairs office space of Quincy Centre United Methodist Church.

QJC Has New Outreach Services Office

Quincy Junior College has a new office created to encourage people to continue their education past high school.

The "Title III Student Outreach Services office" purpose is to help reduce or eliminate the obstacles people may find when returning to school, such as financial aid, childcare, transportation, career decision-making, and confidence building. Affected are such people as single parents, veterans, pre-retirees, or retirees, those changing careers, or homemakers returning to school.

During the next few months, Toby Felton, Coordinator of Student Outreach Services and Donna Rothenberg, Outreach Counselor will be contacting agencies and organizations in Quincy and surrounding communities to inform them about services Quincy Junior College can offer the returning student. Through these organizations, Miss Rothenberg and Miss Felton plan to present ideas to reduce barriers to education for as many people as possible in the towns and cities near Quincy Junior College.

Any organization interested in having a seminar on returning to school or on some specific related topic, is asked to call Miss Rothenberg at 786-8777.

Norfolk County Seeking

$32,800 For Delinquency Prevention Bureau

Norfolk County has received initial approval for a $32,800 federal grant to set up a pilot program creating a Delinquency Prevention Bureau.

The grant provides for planning and development of a program that responds to the problem of teen age vandalism and drug and alcohol abuse in the county.

The goal is to generate establishment of a countywide delinquency network accountable to both citizens and private agencies.

"It is an unusual and welcome move for a county to act as a program model for other counties to follow," said the Supervisory Board of the Committee on Criminal Justice in its approval.

"The application is strongly recommended for funding."

ALSO TOURING the cemetery was Leighton Tower who helped the children read the epitaph they produced in their rubbing of 148 year old gravestone. The rubbings, with information about the stones and cemetery, will be on display in the Parish Hall until the end of June.

CHURCH SCHOOL CHILDREN from Quincy Center's United First Parish Unitarian examined John Adams' original tomb on a recent tour of historic Hancock Cemetery. Church archivist Owen Della Lucca (far right) conducted the tour and explained to the children that Presidents John and John Quincy Adams are now interred in the church (background) known as "The Church of the Presidents".

Tall Ships Service Sunday At First Church Of Squantum

The First Church of Squantum will welcome the Tall Ships on Sunday with a special "Tall Ships" service at 10:15 a.m.

"The coming of the Tall Ships to Boston Harbor gives us the opportunity to celebrate our Christian Faith in the metaphor of sailing," said Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor. "It should be a very festive morning."

Events will include an early morning sailors' breakfast, the special service and an art exhibit. Children are urged to bring a sailboat with them to church that morning. If a sailboat is not available to them, any other little toy boat will do.

The "Shipboard Breakfast" will begin at 9:15 a.m. It will include orange juice, French toast, ham, syrup and coffee. Reservations are necessary, and can be made by calling the church office at 328-6649. The breakfast is being sponsored by Cinnamon Toast, an intergenerational Christian educational group in the church, to help raise money for the "New Stove" Fund.

The special service will be led by sailors in the church including Richard Hendry, commodore of the Squantum Yacht Club; Laurel Bumpus, a first-year student at the Massachusetts Maritime Academy; John Malmgren, and Lester and Aaron Gerry. Music will be related to the sea. Dr. Langevin will preach on the topic, "The Voyage We All Make."

Members, friends and neighbors of the church are invited to attend. Those attending the service are encouraged to dress as they would go to go on a boat or in old naval uniforms or other sea-going garb but it is not necessary. Each person at the service will receive a special nautical surprise.

The art exhibit will display the paintings of Jens Thornton, Sr., a long-time Squantum resident, and his collection of Currier and Ives prints related to ships and ocean lore. Many of these paintings are being exhibited publicly for the first time.

Last Sunday the church observed Pentecost. That service was led by the lay leaders of the congregation.

Dorothy Abbe, moderator, led the congregation through a responsive call to worship. Don Frazer, chairman of the Board of Deacons, gave the opening prayer. After the pastor spoke to the children on the subject, "When To Pray," Barbara Colwell, Chairman of the Board of Christian Education, led the children in prayer.

Janet Williamson, the other Co-Chairman of the Board of Christian Education, assisted the pastor in a brief ceremony of recognition for young people in the church graduating from high school at this time. They included Kathi Fluhr, Notre Dame Academy; Paula Stohberg and Edward Ahearn, North Quincy High School; and Bruce Wainwright, Christopher Columbus High School.

Barbara Walter, chairman of the Board of Benevolence, and Stewart Scott, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, received the morning offering and gave the offertory prayer together. The Senior Choir sang "May Now Thy Spirit" by Schuetky-Treharne. The Youth Choir, composed entirely of teenagers, sang "You and I" by Natalie Sleeth as a special Pentecost offering.

Evening Worship 7:00 p.m.

The two choirs led the congregation in a bouncy rendition of the old hymn, "Everytime I Feel the Spirit." The pastor preached on a passage in the Letter to the Galatians, on the topic, "What Does the Holy Spirit Do?"

The Lord's Supper was observed. Seated with the pastor around the Lord's Table were Deacons Ellen Ogilvie, Edna Swanson, Leon MacIntyre, Ralph Dougherty and Grace Holmes, as well as Si Porter, who represented the church at large.

The service concluded with the singing of a new hymn by the pastor, sung to the tune of Eidelweiss. Greeters for the morning were Edward and Marie Reister and their daughters, Karin and Kristin. Ushers were Dave Mildram, Steve Williams, Joanne Warren, Bonnie Adams, Fred Leona, Paul Paulson and Susan Mildram. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Barbara Frazer, Marie and Karin Reister and Kathryn Kelly.

The church is now preparing for the Tall Ships service and for its annual flea market to be held on Surfside Lane on Saturday, June 7.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Daniel P. Sweeney, D.D.S.

We have discussed plaque before, but what actually is it? It is an invisible, sticky coating of germs on teeth and is the number one cause of tooth decay. If not regularly removed, it can build up along the gum line and irritate the gums, causing tenderness and bleeding. When plaque flourishes, it not only attacks the gums, but also goes after the fibers that hold teeth and gum tissues together. This causes swollen gums, loose teeth and pockets around the teeth into which food debris can get trapped causing more problems. The moral? Remove plaque daily by flossing and brushing. To learn the proper way to brush and floss your teeth visit your family dentist. At the office of DANIEL P. SWEENEY, D.D.S., 539 Adams St., East Milton Square, 698-3636 we know that plaque is the No. 1 cause of tooth decay and gum disease. It is an invisible enemy. Brush correctly, replace old toothbrushes when they are worn and eat properly. Flossing gets to plaque between teeth and below the gum level where decay and gum disease start. Stop tooth decay and gum disease at its lowest level of activity. With regular visits and good home care methods you can keep your natural teeth.

DENTAL TIP:
For best results use at least 18 inches of floss to allow wrapping securely around fingers.

Morrissey Posture Test Bill Signed By Gov. King

Legislation co-sponsored by Rep. Michael W. Morrissey [D-Quincy] that requires screening of school children for postural defects has been signed into law by Gov. Edward J. King.

Under the legislation, which is called the Scoliosis Bill, youngsters in Grades 5 through 9 would be tested for early detection of defects to reduce the necessity of corrective surgery later in life.

Morrissey described scoliosis as an abnormal curvature of the spine that affects almost 3 per cent of all children during their growing years. It affects females eight times as much as males.

"Scoliosis is painless at the start," said Morrissey, "and it becomes severe. If left untreated, it can cause serious deformities of the spine and rib cage.

"It also could result in a serious loss of pulmonary function when the child becomes an adult."

Fenno Residents To Visit Sandwich, View Tall Ships

Residents of Fenno House, 540 Hancock St., Wollaston, will leave by motor coach Friday, May 30, at 11 a.m. for a trip to Sandwich.

First stop on the trip will be the Daniel Webster Inn where residents will have a buffet luncheon. A visit to Heritage Plantation will follow.

A cruise from Commonwealth Pier to view the Tall Ships is planned for Tuesday, June 3, at noon.

CHANNEL 2 DAYS are proclaimed by Mayor Arthur Tobin (center) for June 1-7, the dates of the annual Channel 2 auction. With him are the four area coordinators for the auction, all South Shore residents, from left, Ellen Neret, Marilyn Lacey, Tobin, Nancy DuLawrence and Henry DuLawrence.

$9,000 Needed For Summer Campships

Plans to send 72 children from Quincy, Milton, and Randolph to special summer camps depend on receiving financial support from local sources.

Executive Director Dr. Ronald G. Hersch of the South Shore Mental Health Center, 77 Parkway, said his organization has identified the group of children who can benefit from the camp experience.

In order to provide campship funds for the project, the Center is asking help from individuals and businesses in the communities. A minimum of $9,000 is needed.

Many of the children have academic difficulties but can "do very well in a camp environment," said Dr. Hersch. Others are physically and mentally handicapped. Some of the children will attend day-camps while others, particularly those mentally retarded and disabled, will go to residential camps.

Although some of the families involved assist with camp costs, most of the children come from homes with unusual financial difficulties. "Without aid from the community," Dr. Hersch says, "These youngsters will not be able to enjoy camp this summer."

In 1979, 35 children were sent to camp under the program of the South Shore Mental Health Center. A total of $5,000 was raised in contributions. Hersch indicates that the increased number of children recommended for camp this year is the result of efforts by the Center's staff to work with additional families in the three communities.

Contributions may be sent to Summer Campships, South Shore Mental Health Center, 77 Parkway, Quincy 02169.

WEEK OF MAY 29.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19
The start of a lucky cycle. Minor risks begin paying off by Friday, and the weekend offers rare opportunity for relaxation. Friend passes along important personal news; try not to overreact.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20
Friends may not be in forgiving mood, but family is unexpectedly supportive. You may have to delay making a purchase or an announcement — but don't postpone medical or dental appointments.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20
Use week for catching up — on anything — as you're soon to face a new round of distracting jobs. Important message has double or triple meaning. Survey family health needs.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22
You're Mr or Ms organization; use the week to classify books, catalogue ideas, implement a major plan. Family reunion includes bonus. Don't go overboard buying luxury items on weekend.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21
You're worthy of the Good Samaritan-of-the-Week award. Work tensions ease and important relationship perks up noticeably. Unexpected funds arrive by Tuesday.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22
You're articulate, persuasive, ready to sing your own praises. Be sure that you air special complaints, too. Good week to start a hobby; just be aware of future costs involved.

LEO — July 23 - August 22
Take an old idea, add a touch of imagination and voila — success! Update your image too, working on your physique and/or expanding wardrobe. Travel ideas may backfire from weekend on.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22
Opt for formal agreements rather than handshake — especially if money is involved. You can make great strides if dealing with a large corporation. Minor domestic rebellion is quelled by Wednesday.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22
You might suffer from an overdose of sweetness; people are catering to your slightest whim, loved ones are dying to pamper you. Important suggestion: Make an art of accepting with grace and style.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21
If you have a complaint — and you probably do this week — go to the top! On a related note, be suspicious of official advice offered by novices. Accent is on communication; you shine in the role of guest speaker.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22
Important news may be announced in such a mellow way, you miss some of the implications. Weekend visit to out-of-towners could prove unexpectedly delightful, perhaps financially rewarding.

CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20
An ancient promise you made can come back to haunt you. Return engagements characterize the week — an excellent period for reunions. Take a less casual approach to health, but a breezier one toward romance.

Harold Would Reduce Abandonment Of Residential Property

State Sen. Paul D. Harold, (D-Quincy), has testified in favor of a bill he co-sponsored which would help reduce the abandonment of residential housing property in urban areas.

The legislation would provide for low-interest loans for owners of such property to bring it up to state Sanitary Code standards, and establishes a mechanism for state receivership and renovation when an owner refuses to make the needed repairs.

"I think that it is imperative, with the rate of inflation, impossible mortgage lending rates, and minimal numbers of housing starts at the present time, that the legislature take decisive action to prevent the uncontrolled trend in many urban areas toward abandonment of desperately-needed residential housing units," Harold told the legislative Urban Affairs Committee.

He noted that under present law, when property owners refuse to make repairs, the city or town condemns the property and has to have it demolished if repairs are not made.

"Clearly, demolition does nothing for the housing market, and removes the property from municipal tax rolls," Harold said.

He said the proposed legislation co-sponsored with Senator Joseph Timilty, would avoid demolition, which he said costs the taxpayers of these communities thousands each year.

Under the legislation, owners and owner-occupiers could obtain low-interest loans to bring their property up to state code.

Those who refused to do so would be subject to state receivership. The receiver would make the repairs needed and if the owner refused to take responsibility for reimbursement for the repairs, the property would be sold for its fair value.

"This approach may seem harsh at first glance, but it certainly is not as harsh as demolition, nor abandonment and tax title taking," Harold said.

"The difference here is that the owner is afforded a set of clearly-defined opportunities to bring his property up to standard, and others who may occupy the premises are protected from suddenly finding themselves suddenly ousted from their homes without any alternative in a tight housing market."

Harold gave his testimony before the legislative Urban Affairs Committee, of which he is a member. Senator Timilty is Senate Chairman of that committee.

Quincy Residents May Be Eligible For 10¾% Mortgages

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell [D-Quincy] announces that Quincy residents may be eligible for 10¾ percent mortgages under a program sponsored by the Massachusetts Home Mortgage Finance Agency for low and moderate income home buyers.

An individual or family seeking financing for a one-to-four unit dwelling for use as their primary residence may submit an application for a mortgage in Quincy at the Quincy Savings Bank or the South Shore Bank of Quincy. To be eligible, a borrower's gross income may not exceed $18,000 for a one person household or $21,000 for a two or more person household; borrowers are required to make a minimum 5 percent down payment. The participating lender will assist borrowers in completing the mortgage application.

The legislation which created MHMFA required that MHMFA assisted mortgages should be utilized to preserve the existing housing stock and to stabilize mature neighborhoods. Representative Brownell is pleased that a program such as this is available to the residents of the neighborhoods of Quincy. For additional information, Representative Brownell may be contacted at his State House Office: 727-4646.

Michael Savage New BayBank Asst. Treasurer

Michael D. Savage has been elected assistant treasurer at BayBank Norfolk County Trust Company, announces Chairman John H. Graham.

He is a graduate of Catholic Memorial High School of West Roxbury and received his B.B.A. degree from the University of Massachusetts. He joined the staff of Norfolk in 1972 and was first appointed to officer status in 1975. He has held several positions in various departments and branches of the bank. As Assistant Treasurer he will continue in his current assignment as Officer-In-Charge at the Wellesley Hills banking office.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Savage of Dorchester and lives in West Roxbury.

Harold To Seek Second Senate Term

State Senator Paul D. Harold [D-Quincy], announces his candidacy for re-election in the Norfolk District, which includes Quincy, Braintree, Holbrook and Avon.

A former city councillor at-large, Harold resigned his seat on the council upon his election as senator in order to serve fulltime in the senate. In the past legislative session, he was the only state senator to have a 100 per cent roll call record.

Harold serves on two committees important to the South Shore area, the Transportation Committee, which oversees the MBTA and state highway construction, and the Urban Affairs Committee, which supervises the MDC and public housing in the Commonwealth.

He is also a member of the Committee on State Administration and the Committee on Energy. In his first term was named chairman of a special sub-committee to set state policy on future rail service, both commuter and freight service, in Massachusetts.

Harold notes he sponsored a number of bills and was a spokesman for consumer groups on a number of issues, including legislation to outlaw directory assistance charges by the telephone company, construction work in progress [CWIP] charges by utilities, discrimination by oil companies in granting credit, and bank "redlining" of neighborhoods on mortgage applications.

He also co-sponsored legislation to regulate auto repair shops, and was a leader for legislation to provide increased rights to hospital patients and require Blue Cross coverage of patients in chronic disease hospitals.

Harold won national recognition last year for his state-wide campaign to defeat powerful special interest groups who sponsored the "Blood Bill", which would have allowed for the commercial sale of blood in Massachusetts.

He also successfully amended the state budget to allow Atty. Gen. Francis Bellotti's office to expand its special Arson Investigation Squad into Norfolk and other counties, using federal and state funds.

Harold co-authored legislation which was later used as a basis for the state Insurance Department's new regulations governing the sale of "Medigap" insurance to senior citizens who want to supplement Medicare coverage, to prevent fraud and deception.

In cooperation with town officials, Harold was successful in securing a $208,000 grant for preliminary re-design of the Braintree Five Corners multiple intersection.

"In the past year, I have tried to use the office of state senator to assist individual constituents in dealing with the state bureaucracy, and also to oversee the operation of state government in its expenditure of taxpayers' dollars," Harold said.

"The greatest issue in the coming years will be control of state spending and efforts to provide relief from the property tax through increased state aid to local governments," he said. "The four per cent tax cap has been helpful in reducing spending at the local level and forcing us to re-examine existing programs and priorities, but we need to turn our attention to state government spending as well, since that is where large expenditures are made."

During his first term, Harold established a number of innovative citizen service programs, including a district office at 4 Maple St., Quincy Center; scheduling of office hours in each of the communities in the district, publication of an annual Senate Report to report to citizens on actions in the legislature, and establishment of the Palmer Institute to provide a week's intensive study of government and the legislative process for representative students from each of the district's nine high schools.

Harold serves on a number of civic and charitable organizations. He is a director of the Quincy Historical Society, the Braintree Credit Union, Salvation Army, scholarship chairman for the Quincy Citizens' Association, and a member of the board of the Greater Boston Legal Services organization.

He is a member of the Quincy Democratic City Committee and was a delegate to the 1976 Democratic National Convention.

Mass. Drivers Paying $60 Extra To Subsidize Those In State Reinsurance Facility

The average Massachusetts motorist is paying about $60 extra this year to subsidize auto insurance for drivers in the state reinsurance facility, according to the Kemper Group.

"This subsidy is about a 50 percent increase over the $40 paid last year," said Richard R. DeMark, president of Kemper's New England Division, headquartered in Quincy.

One factor behind the increase is that more drivers are being placed in the facility by their insurance companies, so that approximately 40 percent of the state's auto insurance buyers are now insured there.

"More drivers are going into the facility, not so much because of poor driving records, as because of what is called rate flattening," explains DeMark.

DeMark said that state-mandated rates have been artificially reduced by eliminating age as one of the rating criteria—despite the much higher accident rate among young drivers, particularly males. Also, rates have been reduced in urban territories without comparable increases in non-urban territories.

The annual subsidy paid by Massachusetts motorists is due to a state law which requires all insurance companies to provide auto insurance at normal rates to anyone who seeks it regardless of their loss potential, he noted.

Many drivers considered to be high-hazard risks receive policies at the low cost from their carriers, he said. However, these policies can be passed along to the reinsurance facility.

The reinsurance facility in the past has been the insurer of last resort for drivers with a poorer driving record, and has traditionally paid more in claims than it receives in premiums.

DeMark says that the recent growth of the size of the deficit and the number of drivers in the facility are directly attributable to changes in Massachusetts insurance regulations that have lessened the ability of insurers to charge drivers rates that reflect their true loss potential.

In most states that would not occur because drivers assigned to the reinsurance facility would pay higher than average rates—ones based on their actual loss potential. In Massachusetts, however, the losses incurred by the riskier drivers end up being subsidized.

"I think that it is appropriate that we make our policyholders aware that part of what they are personally paying for insurance is going to support this reinsurance facility," DeMark added. "With costs rising everywhere, people are more concerned than ever about how their money is being spent."

NOTICE TO QUINCY RESIDENTS

On behalf of the Metropolitan District Commission, the consulting firm of Metcalf & Eddy, Inc. of Boston is conducting subsurface investigations along the proposed alignment for the Town Brook Stormwater Tunnel in the City of Quincy. Part of the exploration program consists of a seismic survey to be conducted by Weston Geophysical Corp., of Westborough, Massachusetts. The purpose of the work is to determine: (1) the depth to bedrock in the vicinity of the alignment, and (2) the type and quality of the bedrock to be excavated for the tunnel.

Work will be concentrated along School and Elm Streets, from Parkingsway, northeast to Pond Street and the Southern Artery, and along Washington and Revere Streets, Mechanic Street and Miller Style Road and several side streets southeast of Elm Street are also included in this network. A three-man crew will operate the equipment and two Quincy police officers will be on duty to handle traffic problems.

Due to the difficulties of conducting roadwork in an urban setting, the seismic survey will be conducted at night, when traffic is lightest - generally between the hours of 11:00 p.m. and 6:00 a.m. Work will begin on or about Wednesday, May 28. The entire survey is estimated to take three weeks, excluding weekends.

The MDC and the City of Quincy request cooperation of the public during this phase of the study.

Like Randolph's Lantana

$4 Million Restaurant For Squantum Area?

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

A $4 million Lantana-like restaurant-function center in the Boston Harbor Marina area in Squantum is being discussed with a private developer, according to Mayor Arthur Tobin.

In addition, Tobin said, the city is negotiating with two private developers on construction of office buildings at still-undisclosed sites in Quincy Center.

The Squantum talks are in the "very early stages," Tobin said. The two office buildings are closer to becoming reality, but "still" at "very delicate stages," Tobin said. He would not reveal the companies involved in the two Quincy Center developments or the locations or sizes of the buildings.

"I know approximately where the buildings would go, but I really can't say, as there are going to be land takings involved," the mayor said. One building would be entirely office rental, while the other would be occupied mainly by a single firm he added.

The Squantum development, planned by a local firm which Tobin would not name, would be "very much like the Lantana (in Randolph)," the mayor said.

"It's a $4 million complex which they want to place in the Boston Harbor Marina area," Tobin said.

A Tuesday morning meeting between Tobin, Public Works Commissioner James Ricciuti and engineers representing the firm was held at the site of the proposed complex.

A second meeting scheduled for Wednesday morning with owners of the proposed development to discuss financing of the project. The site is designated a CARD (Commercial Area Redevelopment District), which would make the project eligible for low-interest revenue bonds.

"They're all so delicate, I hesitate to say anything more than that," Tobin said of the three projects. "But all parties involved are very much interested in getting things together."

"A lot of elements still have to be negotiated," added City Planning Director James Lydon.

If negotiations are successful, Tobin said, the developments would be the fifth, sixth and seventh brought into the city by his administration. The first four are the O'Connell Brothers and SCI buildings at State Street South, the National Fire Protection building in West Quincy and the Campanelli Office Building in Quincy Center.

Most Grads Headed For Higher Education

The City's three high schools graduated 1,018 seniors this week in the first class of the new decade.

Mos of them plan to go on to higher education while many hope to begin careers in the business world. And some will join the military service.

In ceremonies at Veterans Memorial Stadium Monday night, 428 students received diplomas from Quincy High School and 202 from Quincy Vocational Technical School. An additional 388 students received diplomas Wednesday night from North Quincy High School, also at the stadium.

Surveys of the graduates showed 66 percent of North Quincy's seniors plan to attend either a four-year college or a two-year school. At Quincy High, 56 percent say they will pursue some higher education. Results of a survey of Vo-Tech seniors were unavailable at press time.

According to North Quincy counselor John Murphy, 332 seniors responded to a survey on their future plans. The largest number, 144, or 43 percent, will attend four-year colleges next year, while 76, or 23 percent, will attend some sort of two-year

Council Kills Supplemental Budget

8 Schools, Sports Now Appear Safe

The good news, says School Committee Vice Chairman Christopher Kennedy, is that eight school closings and the elimination of athletics now appear to be unnecessary.

The bad news, says School Supt. Lawrence Crendon, is that the school system may become "second rate" or "third rate."

The City Council's 5-2 rejection Monday night of a $1.4 supplemental budget for school employees' raises means the school system still must make about $3.5 million in cuts for next year, Crendon said.

A recently passed change in the state's tax cap legislation will probably add about $1.2 million to the $34.2 million school budget approved last month by the council, Kennedy said. That should be enough to preserve the eight schools and athletic programs Crendon said might have to be eliminated, Kennedy said.

The School Committee's proposed 1980-81 budget was cut last month by the City Council from $39 million to $34.3 million. Crendon presented a series of eight steps to the School Committee aimed at living within the smaller budget.

The eighth, and last to take place, would have closed eight schools. The seventh would have eliminated all school sports for 1980-81.

Relief from those two steps came from the state legislature and Gov. Edward King. The legislature passed a bill exempting increases in fuel costs from the tax cap, which limits increases in local spending to four percent over last year's. Despite this objections, King did not veto the bill, allowing it to become law last week.

"That $1.2 million is almost exactly what we needed to keep the athletics and keep the eight schools open," Kennedy said Tuesday. "We're now pretty certain that

License Board Meeting Cancelled

NQHS Students Protest School Budget Cuts

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Several hundred North Quincy High School students protested school budget cuts Tuesday morning by walking out of school and marching down Hancock and Coddington Sts. to the city's other high schools.

As a result of the demonstration, the City License Board meeting at City Hall was cancelled by Police Chief Francis X. Finn who was concerned with public safety in the area.

Students passed through the City Hall area just about the time the meeting was scheduled to begin, and License Board members monitored the situation as students proceeded to Quincy High and Vocational Technical Schools.

The meeting was cancelled by Chief Finn shortly after a false fire alarm was pulled at 10:30 a.m. at Quincy High School. All matters on the License Board agendas are postponed until Tuesday, June 10, at 10 a.m.

Most of the Quincy High students that came out of the school as a result of the alarm returned inside after about 15 minutes.

A group of 150 students then assembled on the lawn of Quincy Vo-Tech for a half-hour question and answer session with School Superintendent Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon who tried to calm the situation.

The students questioned Creedon on school department employee pay raises and the different programs and activities such as proms and sports they feared would be cut.

Creedon replied, "Let's not look at the dark side of September already. We're going to keep talking and use the orderly process of government to get this resolved. Nothing is accomplished by disruption."

The protest was apparently triggered when students were told in school yesterday what budget cuts could mean. They decided to do something about the situation and more than 800 students signed a petition to be presented by student leaders to the city council last night.

After discussing the matter with Joanne Condon, the students decided to present the petition to the school committee instead.

The school committee was scheduled to meet last night (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at Quincy High School.

Quarry St. Site

Land Sale Approved For Elks' $1 Million Home

The City Council Monday night gave final approval to the sale of eight acres of land off Quarry St. to the Quincy Lodge of Elks.

Elks Exalted Ruler Joseph McArdle said it paves the way for the estimated $1 million new home planned by the Elks on the West Quincy site. It will feature "probably the largest function room on the South Shore - between 800 to 1,000 seats," McArdle said.

The Elks hope to break ground for the building late this year and occupy it in late 1981, he added.

The land was sold to the Elks for $35,000. Councillors cited the Elks' history of charitable activities and a similar land sale to the Quincy Sons of Italy in the early 1970's as reasons for the low price.

The sale is the end of "a five-year effort," said Councillor James Sheets, who assisted negotiations between the Elks and the city.

The sale also frees 1220 Hancock St., present home of the Elks, for possible downtown development. The Elks have operated that building for more than 50 years, McArdle said.

Kelly Making 'Speedy Recovery'

City Council President Leo Kelly, hospitalized last week for nervous exhaustion, is "making a speedy recovery" according to fellow Councillor John Quinn.

He said he and several other councillors met Kelly at a weekend social gathering. Quinn told the council Monday night.

"He looked very good," Quinn said. "He's making a speedy recovery in my eyes."

Quinn, acting Council President in Kelly's absence, said he expected Kelly to resume his normal duties in the next week or two.

City Club To Honor Poster, Essay Winners

The Quincy City Club will honor the six winners of its annual Poster and Essay Contest Sunday, June 8 at a breakfast at Sherry's Restaurant, Southern Artery.

David J. Donaghue, co-chairman of the City Club's annual competition, announces the winners in the Grades 1 through 3 poster contest:

Erin Murray of 149 Lansdowne St., Squantum, a student at the Squantum School was top winner while second place went to Sarah Hussey of 34 Stewart St., Quincy Point, a student at St. Joseph's School.

In the Grade 4 through 6 poster entries, first place was won by Irene Scott of 27 Sharon Rd., North Quincy, a student at Sacred Heart School. Second place went to William McArdle III of 19 Doyle Terrace, a student at St. Joseph's School.

Both winners of the Grades 7 through 9 essay contest were students at the Sacred Heart School, North Quincy. First place winner was Fiano Healey of 95 Freeman St., and second place winner was Sheila McCloskey of 196 Newbury Ave., both North Quincy.

The students have been invited with their parents to join the City club members at the breakfast. They will receive a citation in recognition of their achievement.

The group will again be honored Saturday, June 14, at the Flag Day Parade when the three first place finishers will receive a $100 U.S. savings bond and the runnersup a $50 bond.

The poster and essay contest participants had a choice of theme: "The Importance of Participating in the Presidential Election" or "The Winter Olympics".

Teachers were requested to select the best three posters or essays from their classrooms for final judging.

City Club judges included Donaghue and Robert J. Woodman, co-chairmen, Gordon MacPhee, Thomas G. Bowes, Stephen Kenney and Richard Meade.

Donaghue said a number of essays were excellent but exceeded the 150 word limitation and had to be disqualified.

Richard J. Koch, president of the City Club, will outline the activities of the organization for the 1980-81 season.

QCAO Board Urges Reconsideration Of Housing Inspections Cut

The board of directors of Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc. has urged Mayor Arthur Tobin to reconsider his decision to decrease the number of housing code inspectors in Quincy.

The board said it opposes the cut because it feels one code enforcement officer could not respond to the state requirements of:

A house inspection within 24 hours for an emergency violation; a house inspection within five days for a regular request; and a house inspection for every vacated dwelling in the city before re-occupancy is allowed.

The board said it also feels the city could be in violation of the State Sanitary Code and subject to costly law suits.

Another reason the board also noted is that low income Quincy residents, most likely to live in sub-standard units, would have no department to assist them to improve their housing conditions.

The board said it also believes that landlords in the city will be frustrated by delays in renting units because of the inability of one housing inspector to comply with the required inspections.

Ultimately, the board feels, the lack of State Sanitary Code enforcement will cause a deteriorated housing stock in Quincy.

Squantum Community Assn. Art Expo, Auction Friday

The Squantum Community Association will sponsor an Art Expo and Auction to benefit the general treasury Friday at the Squantum School Auditorium, Hucksins Ave.

Preview will be at 7 p.m., and the auction begins at 8 p.m.

Among the artists featured in the Expo and auction will be: Irving Amen, Sandu Liberman, Al Kaufman, Joan Purcell, Lynn Heffner and John Donovan. The auction was arranged by Marlin Art of New York and will feature works in various price ranges.

For tickets or more information, contact any member of the association's executive board.

Bart Petracca Receives Degree At Cornell

Bart Petracca, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Petracca of 22 Ridgeway St., Wollaston, has recently graduated from Cornell University.

A former North Quincy Track standout, Petracca received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Archaeology.

While at Cornell, he was a Cornell National Scholar, a cross country captain and also received east honors in cross-country this year and alliv.

NOW FOR NOW

(or payment by check
is coming back in style.)

In this topsy-turvy economic period, there is one stable, safe way to handle your money—open a NOW account at our Bank.

What can a NOW account do for you and your money management?

Well, as the use of credit cards becomes more and more restricted, a NOW account lets you switch to a cash operating basis, thus avoiding interest charges for time payments. And your money in your NOW account is earning 5% interest per annum. Thus you get the best of both worlds—you avoid interest charges while collecting interest for yourself.

But, you say, going on a cash basis means I can't make larger or more costly purchases and spread the payments. In this economy with interest charges going up almost daily, maybe that is not all bad.

It depends on how much you need a "big ticket" item. If you have a wife and five youngsters and your washing machine breaks down hopelessly, you need a washer, of course. If you don't have the cash, you charge it. But if you can switch to a cash only (or check) basis for most items, you will save money.

The trouble with cash itself is that cash is dangerous. You can be robbed or you run the risk of losing it. NOW account checks are safe and you have an ongoing record of your expenditures.

Think about it.

Should your household budget be keyed into a NOW account?

Will it save substantial interest payments?

Will it be safe and convenient for you?

If you don't have a NOW account and want to open one (for as little as $10.00) come in to our main office or one of our branches.

We think a NOW account is the simplest and best way you have to help fight inflation.

Are "Free" NOW Accounts Really Free?

You will notice in this advertisement we did not use the term "free NOW account." That's because we want no confusion about our NOW accounts even though we feel that we come as close as anyone in offering NOW accounts at a basic minimum cost with no hidden charges.

Here is the way we work our NOW accounts:
You can open an account for $10.00.

As long as you maintain a balance of $10.00 or more you will get interest credited monthly at 5% per annum.

Overdraft charges are $5.00 each, which covers the paperwork in notifying the customer.

Stop payment fees are $5.00 for the same reason.

And the only other charge is $3.85 for each book of 200 plain checks imprinted with your name, address and account number.

What about those which claim to have "free" NOW accounts? They can demand a $300 monthly balance—or $500.00. The only minimum at our bank is $10.00 if you want to earn interest.

The thing to think about when someone says "totally free NOW account" is this: if you don't keep your balance at $300.00 all month long, you can be charged 20 cents for every check you write that month even if you bring your account up to $300.00 within 24 hours. Nothing like that at Quincy Cooperative!

We remind our customers that nothing in life is really free.....but the cost of a NOW account at our bank is very much less than for most other banking institutions.

Ward 6 Property Owners' Cooperation Asked On Revaluation

The revaluation firm of PRC Jacobs and city assessors are requesting the cooperation of Ward 6 property owners in allowing data collectors to inspect all floor areas of their buildings. Failure to achieve the maximum rate of inspection places the effort to create an equitable tax base in jeopardy. A deficiency in interior inspections was one of the main reasons attempts at revaluation have failed in Quincy in the past.

If homeowners do not allow inspection, data collectors are forced to estimate the extent of interior finish and estimates may result in over assessment.

Should a data collector neglect to inspect all floor levels, property owners should report the incident to Robert Kubera or Daniel Harris at 471-7503.

CHILDREN AND POISON

What is the first thing a mother should do when her child swallows something that may be poisonous? "Keep the remains of the contents of the bottle or box in order to identify the poison and estimate the dosage - as you call your doctor immediately... advise poison control authorities.

Too often, parents do not react fast enough when an emergency occurs because they panic. They may omit vital details which could later quickly identify the item swallowed and dosage and thus delay help.

Where can a parent go for help? First, try to reach your doctor. If that fails, call your local Poison Control Center, hospital or the police. It's a good idea to keep these numbers by the phone.

A good precautionary move is to keep at home an ounce bottle of Syrup of Ipecac to induce vomiting in case that's what's recommended over the phone.

First Phase Of 173 Condominiums Starts

The "first phase" of 173 condominiums on Quincy Shore Drive, North Quincy is now under construction and scheduled for occupancy by the end of the year, according to developer Ralph Bruno.

Ground was broken last week for the first 52 Colonial Village condominium units, Bruno said, after final approval was received from the planning board and building department. Construction on the remaining 121 condominiums will probably begin next year, he added.

The "Beacon Hill-style" units are being developed by Quincy Shore Associates, consisting of Bruno, John A. Sullivan and Tony Marsico, and are being constructed by O'Connell Brothers of Quincy.

The first 52 townhouses, are already sold out, at an average price of about $75,000, Bruno said.

Remaining units, which will be slightly larger, will sell for 10 to 12-percent higher, he said.

Quincy Quiz

Two T-Shirt Winners This Week

We have two Quincy Sun T-shirt and two Quincy Sun bumper sticker winners this week for correctly answering last week's Quincy Quiz.

The two T-shirt winners are Linda Kenny of Clay St., Wollaston and George Riley of Faxon Lane, Quincy Center, former executive secretary to Mayor Arthur Tobin.

Linda was the first to submit her correct answers. She did so on Wednesday. Riley submitted his on Thursday.

Originally The Sun had planned to award only one T-shirt weekly. But the fact that Riley a mail subscriber, did not submit his answers until Thursday made us realize there should be two T-shirt winners.

One for the first reader to submit the correct answers; the second for the first mail subscriber to submit the correct answers. Most readers get The Sun on Wednesday either delivered by news carrier or off the newstand. Mail subscribers get their copy Thursday.

We also had two Quincy Sun bumper sticker winners: Jean Moore of Bigelow St., Quincy Center and Steven Petrosius of Pratt Rd., Squantum.

Each week The Sun will award a T-shirt to the first two winners and a bumper sticker to the third and fourth.

The answers to all five questions in last week's Quincy Quiz appear below.

And, five more questions for this week's quiz also appear. Find out how well you know your city - past and present. Here goes:

1. What well-known building stands at 52 Coddington St.?
2. How long has Quincy been a City?
3. A school in Houghs Neck is named for Atherton Hough. Who was he?
4. What is the name of the Norfolk County commissioner from Quincy?
5. In what section of the city is Eastern Nazarene College?

The answers will appear in next week's Quincy Sun.

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz questions:

1. The Adams National Historic Site is at 135 Adams St.
2. Mrs. Edna B. Austin was the first woman elected to the Quincy City Council.
3. Walter Della Chiesa was the son of Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa. He died in an airplane crash off Okinawa in 1950.
4. John M. Gillis is the City Clerk of Quincy.
5. The Nickerson American Legion Post is in the Squantum section of Quincy.

Points To Ponder

- A lot of us spend a good deal of time worrying what the world thinks of us. As we mature we realize the world wasn't paying that much attention.
- From the late Cardinal Spellman: "Pray as if everything depended on God, and work as if everything depended on man."
- A good lesson for those who aspire to lead: It is almost impossible to antagonize people and then influence them.
- Of all life's pleasures, high on the list must be paying the last installment.
- Experience should tell us that most things don't turn out as well as we hoped or as badly as we feared.

Readers Forum

'Thank You' For Memorial Day Assistance

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
The Cemetery Board of Managers and I wish to publicly thank the Department Personnel; Commissioner James Ricciuti, Public Works Department; John Browne, School Department and Richard Koch, Park Department for their willing assistance to augment our staff in preparing the seven cemeteries for Memorial Day. From the period April 1 to May 24 there were 29 days of rain which severely hampered our schedule to loam, seed, mow and trim grass. In addition, 93 interments were recorded which is always a first priority. The assigned personnel are to be commended for their dedication and co-operation in helping us complete this monumental task. It was a reflection both of their pride for the significance of the holiday and the City of Quincy.

Thanks For Superwalk '80 Results

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
Superwalk '80, the largest fund-raising event of the March of Dimes, is behind us and I would like to take this opportunity to thank the community for their support. Over 5,000 people with 100,000 sponsors raised $250,000 for March of Dimes programs in birth defects research and prevention.

I would especially like to thank Zayre Department Stores. In addition to underwriting the cost of Superwalk, Zayre Stores all over the greater Boston area served as Superwalk registration points. Their support and involvement was certainly an integral part of the success of Superwalk '80.

I would also like to thank you and your staff for your willingness to promote the event. It is only with this type of cooperation that we will someday realize a future when all babies are born perfectly beautiful and beautifully perfect.

Once again, many thanks.

Ruth Gordon: Quincy Ambassador

Ruth Gordon, Quincy's "Ambassador of Good Will" has a new book out and I'm the proud owner of a personally autographed copy.

Miss Gordon, who receives The Quincy Sun by mail at her New York City apartment writes: "Thanks for all The Quincy Suns bringing back such memories."

The book, "Ruth Gordon: An Open Book" gives Quincy a top billing, right along with Broadway, Hollywood and London.

She left Quincy as a teenager in 1915 on a train out of Wollaston station bound for New York with a dream of stardom on the Broadway stage. But she left her heart here.

There isn't any place she has gone that she hasn't been a one-woman Quincy Chamber of Commerce.

She'll be 84 next Oct. 30. But she still has all the bounce and enthusiasm of a high school cheerleader - Quincy High, of course.

I'm reading her book now and find it nice and breezy. If you know her, you can hear her talking as you read. The words flow like she speaks.

And, what a memory. She remembers her early days in Quincy as though she was writing about something that happened just last week - or maybe yesterday.

She recalls, as a four-year-old in 1900, the Liberty Bell coming to Quincy. Her mother and father, Annie and Clinton Jones, took her to the railroad station to see the bell come through on an open freight car.

She remembers everyone at the station greeting one another with a "How do" and wishes:

"In Quincy everybody knew everybody and if they didn't, they said 'How do' anyway. If they were in Quincy, they must be lovely people."

And, then, there right in front of her was the Liberty Bell. "...under our Beale Street bridge it rolled slowly in front of us."

"Are you looking, Ruth?"

"Yes, Mama."

"Ruth, can you see the crack?"

Yes, Mama. I couldn't, but I didn't want to make her feel bad. And what did I want to see a crack for? I was looking at the bell."

She notes her mother and father first thought of naming her Ethel.

"Ethel Jones?"

"Is that a name for a visceral myth? Ethel Barrymore, yes. Ethel Jones, no."

"Then Papa decided to call me after the President's little daughter, Ruthie Cleveland. And of course my middle name had to be for Dr. Gordon who had brought me into the world."

Ruth Gordon, of course, went on to become one of the all-time great talents in the theatrical

Sunbeams

By Henry Bosworth

world. Right up there with Helen Hayes, Katharine Cornell and Ethel Barrymore.

But she has never forgotten her hometown. She returns to Quincy frequently not as THE STAR but as Ruth Gordon Jones. She likes to wander through her old Wollaston neighborhood (41 Marion St., 14 Elmwood Ave.) and stroll the corridors of Central Junior High which was Quincy High School when she graduated in the so-called "worst class" of 1914.

She comes home to the fond memories that are always waiting for her here. She comes home to where her heart is.

And someday, hopefully, she'll come home to find the Ruth Gordon Amphitheater a completed reality.

It was started during the administration of Mayor Joseph LaRaia. More than a half-million dollars was spent there but the job never finished. What was done wasn't done right, either.

Much of the stone backdrop was set in sand. Vandals and erosion proved that a bad idea. Prefabrication was tried for the concrete seating. That proved wrong, too.

Richard J. Koch, executive secretary of the Quincy Park-Recreation Board has inherited the task to complete the project. There is no money. Little material. And, no extra help.

Koch has Park Department personnel like Anthony Delmonico working on it when they aren't tied up caring for the city's many playgrounds, parks and tennis courts.

"It is tedious work and it has to be done by hand," says Koch. "It is slow work. And we don't have the manpower to give it a top priority."

The stage area is now completed. The backdrop stones have been reset in concrete and pointed.

There will be 400 seats when it is finished. About 40 per cent has been done. Eighty per cent of the landscaping is finished.

But Koch estimates it will take about $15,000 more worth of materials to complete the job. Much more than that would be needed if Park Department personnel were not doing the job.

At the rate the work is progressing, it may be two more years before the job is finished.

It's a shame it couldn't be ready by Oct. 30. It would make a very special birthday for Ruth Gordon.

Couldn't a group of Quincy people - proud of their city and Ruth Gordon - work together to get the job done by then?

Our "Ambassador of Good Will" certainly deserves it.

What do you say, Quincy?

Put Money Into 'Nuts And Bolts'

Donnelly, Studds See New Military Budget Thinking After Aborted Hostage Rescue

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

The failed rescue of the American hostages in Iran may -- and should -- have wide-ranging effects on how Congress views our armed forces, says Cong. Brian Donnelly (D Dorchester).

It may lead Congress to put money back into the nuts-and-bolts categories of the military budget, and reject more glamorous projects like the $60 million missile, he said at last week's South Shore Chamber of Commerce Congressional Workshop at Valles, Braintree.

And, he added, it might be time to put out to pasture some of the Pentagon top brass who continually give bad advice on such fiascoes. Cong. Gerry Studds (D Cohasset) who shared the spotlight with Donnelly, added, "It's a tragic irony that our national defense recently would have been best served by a couple of helicopters that worked."

"What we do have now doesn't work, and it doesn't work because we don't put money into the least glamorous parts of the (military) budget, like operations and maintenance and salaries," said Studds, whose 12th Congressional District stretches southward from Cohasset to all of Cape Cod.

The real debate on defense spending going on in Congress, Donnelly said, isn't how much, but where the money should go.

He thinks we should be aiming more towards conventional weapons, troop carriers and the like. The MX missile and the trend towards nuclear armaments are "only limiting us and painting us into the nuclear corner," Donnelly said.

The persons responsible for the tragedy in the Iranian desert are the same ones who advised American presidents on Vietnam, the Bay of Pigs and the botched rescue of American seamen on the Mayaguez in Cambodia in 1975, Donnelly said.

"It seems to me the old buddy system in the Pentagon has to end," he said. "Too many mistakes are condoned. We don't like to look for scapegoats."

"Well, my God, when young American lives are lost, somebody has to be held responsible," he said.

The debate on military spending is part of a larger one on whether or not the federal budget will be balanced this year. Donnelly hopes it will. Studds isn't sure it ought to be.

"A balanced budget won't cut inflation, but it might limit the growth of inflation somewhat," Donnelly said. In any case, he said, it could have the psychological effect of showing America that its government can be responsible and live on a budget.

"There is not one economist, from left to right, who thinks it will make a whit of difference on reducing inflation," Studds countered. He's not even sure a balanced budget is possible.

Sixty percent of the budget is "entitlement" programs, which Congress could not cut if it wanted to, like social security, medicare, medicaid and the like, he said. Another 16 percent is "uncontrollable costs" - bills, loan guarantees and contracts signed in past years.

Much of the rest includes salaries and defense spending, "which are going up whether you like it or not," Studds said "and you are left with health, education and research. Cut them and you are cutting the heart out of some very important programs."

Both Donnelly and Studds opposed President Carter's call for draft registration earlier this year, and still do.

"It's just not necessary at this time," said Donnelly, who called Carter's request "a political move" and a "plastic message."

"I do not think we need a draft and I will not vote to reinstate it," said Studds. "The president's request was a sham - it didn't fool the Russians and it didn't fool anyone else."

A fairer alternative, Donnelly thought, was two years of compulsory national service - either in the armed forces or some social service - for 17- or 18 - year olds.

"And that should be with no exceptions for anybody, whether they want to run off to Harvard or anywhere else," Donnelly said. "It'll be good for the kids of our country - they'll come to know each other."

Council Turns Down Revaluation

The City Council voted by a 6-1 margin to turn down a $37,000 appropriation order to activate a tax equalization order sought by City Manager William J. Deegan Jr.

Only Mayor Thomas S. Burgin voted for the appropriation which would put in motion a $110,000 three-year plan to revalue all the property in the city.

"Such a program is absolutely inevitable," said Councillor Edna B. Austin. "But maybe this is not a good time to do it. I think it would be extremely unpopular. Perhaps the people need to be educated for it."

"The small homeowners will get it where the chicken got the axe," said Councillor Frank N. Orcutt. "The rich will benefit because much of their valuation has been frozen in cases before the Appellate Tax Board."

"Your comments indicate that you apparently have no concept of the problems confronting the assessors," said Deegan, adding that 30 per cent of the tax burden was borne by business and industry when it should be 55 per cent.

"With increasing pressure on tax rates it is more and more essential that the tax rate be applied equitably against assessable valuation."

STATE CHAMPS HONORED

Quincy High School's state championship basketball team was honored at a banquet at the Fox and Hounds Restaurant on Sea St. Ken Coleman, sportscaster for WJDA, was the toastmaster.

Players honored included Dick Drake, Larry Doyle, Buzzy Ciriello, Pete Ramponi, George O'Rourke, Bobby Page, Angy LoCicero, Fred Prezioso, Al Taglieri, Dwight Hubbard, Stan Berman, George Gabriel.

CONSTITUTION SAILS

The American Export Lines cargo-passenger ship Constitution left the Fore River Shipyard for Commonwealth Pier, Boston, to host a U.S. Defense Bond program featuring Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder.

The departure of the Constitution left the shipyard with two destroyers and one cruiser under construction and contracts to build three tankers and five big cargo ships.

HOUSING OPPOSED

The City Council was entertaining a federal urban renewal grant of $500,000 with which to acquire sub-standard housing, demolish it and resell the property to private investors for redevelopment.

Mayor Burgin opposed it.

"I'm all through with subsidized housing," he said. "It costs us too much. We have completed our obligations to veterans now. Subsidized housing discourages private enterprise."

QUINCY-ISMS

Quincy-born actor Billy DeWolfe was forced to cancel plans for a show at the Capitol Theater for the benefit of the Quincy Y building fund due to difficulty in obtaining top talent. . . . ## Card Says Legislation Must Be Passed To Stop Contract Abuses

Rep. Andrew Card of Holbrook addressed the Quincy City Republican Committee recently on legislation and investigations of the special commission probing alleged corruptions of the MBM and other public contracts.

Card described the professional quality of the commission's investigations and urged that legislation put forth by the commission be watched carefully by citizens as it passes through the legislature.

Three pieces of legislation targeted by Rep. Card were:

The Designer Selection Bill, which would change the design and selection and contracting process.

The Inspector General's Bill, which would create an executive office responsible for construction and procurement oversight.

A Campaign Financing Bill. Card pointed out that the commission's work would have no lasting value if legislation isn't passed which would make it impossible for abuses uncovered by the commission to happen again.

Also addressing the Republican Committee was Marian Boch, of the newlyformed Republican State Committee; Rep. Andrew Natsons, Republic State chairman; and candidates in the fall elections Jerry Lawlor of Weymouth, running for State Representative; and William Robinson, running for Governor's Council.

Anyone interested in working with the Republic City Committee can contact chairwoman Joyce Baker at 471-5439, or vice chairwoman Vicki Carolan at 773-8207.

In general, the East-West roads in the United States' numbered highway system are known by even numbers, and the North-South ones, by odd numbers.

school. Another 103, or 31 percent, will enter the job market while nine, or three percent, are entering the armed forces.

According to Quincy High assistant principal Robert Basiliere, all 428 seniors at that school responded to the survey. It revealed that 32 percent will attend four-year schools, 23 percent will attend two-year schools, 42 percent are seeking jobs and three percent are entering the armed forces.

Graduates at each commencement were greeted by Mayor Arthur Tobin, School Supt. Lawrence Creedon, members of the School Committee and the City Council.

The seniors were addressed by class speakers Stephen Treacy of Vo-Tech and Anne MacDonald of Quincy High, and Susan Maginnis and Michael Ricciuti of North Quincy High.

A prayer was offered at each commencement by Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue. At North Quincy's ceremonies, invocation was offered by Rev. Thomas Reilly of Sacred Heart Church and benediction by Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin of First Church of Squantum. At the Quincy-Vo Tech commencement, invocation was offered by Rev. Peter Martocchio of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church and benediction by Rev. William Underhill of St. Chrysostom's Church.

The Fanfare and Processional and Recessional, and National Anthem were performed by the bands of the respective schools. North Quincy's band was directed by Anthony Ferrante, Quincy-Vo Tech's by Michael Cahill.

The North Quincy choir and madrigals, directed by Maurice Carboneau, performed the National Anthem; the response to invocation, "Let The Words of My Mouth," by Baumbach; and "Precious Lord, Take My Hand," by Ringwald.

The Quincy-Vo Tech choir, directed by Catherine Carnabuci, performed "Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," by J. S. Bach.

A Special Night

7 Edison Park Neighbors Graduate Together

Graduation Night is a special evening in any neighborhood, but the joy was increased sevenfold Monday on Edison Park, Quincy Point.

Seven residents of the street, living within a few houses of each other, graduated from Quincy High School or Quincy Vo-Tech that night.

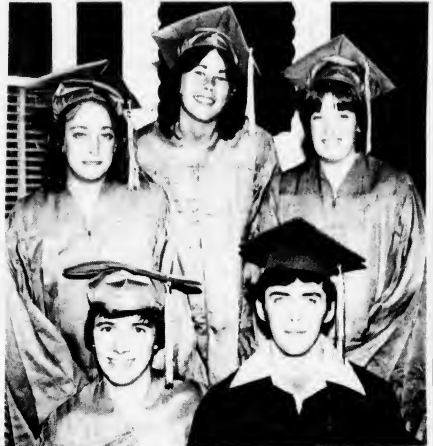

The seven, who all live between 33 and 81 Edison Park, have known each other since entering the Daniel Webster School Kindergarten in 1967.

They are Deborah Page, 33 Edison Park; John Irvine, 36 Edison Park; Thomas Rand, 49 Edison Park; Frank McLaughlin, 61 Edison Park; Kathleen Myers, 64 Edison Park; John Corvi, 72 Edison Park and Debra Petzoldt, 81 Edison Park.

Miss Page, daughter of Quincy Point restaurant owners "Beau" and Arlene Page, was a member of the Quincy High Pep Club and participated in the work-study program.

Irvine, a Quincy Vo-Tech graduate, is the son of John and Mary Irvine and plans to enter Bridgewater State College. He has four older sisters who were Quincy graduates and a fifth in the class of '82.

Rand, a guard on Quincy High's football team, was the school's highest ranking senior and voted "Most Likely To Succeed." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rand and the youngest of 12 children. The recipient of the Quincy Elks Youth Day Award for Academics and a Bowdoin College athletic scholarship, he will enter Bowdoin in the fall.

McLaughlin, recipient of a Kock Club scholarship and an Elks Award for wood-working, is the son of forestry department general foreman Franklin and Mary McLaughlin. The oldest of four children, he will enter UMass-Boston in September.

Miss Myers, the daughter of William and Marcella Myers, was a member of the student council, president of the Pep Club and the school mascot. She received a Quincy High Certificate of Merit and a Quincy Public Schools Certificate of Merit. She will attend Quincy Junior College

Vo-Tech graduate John Corvi, son of Quincy firefighter James and Anna Corvi, is the youngest of five children. He was awarded the Occupational Health and Safety Certificate for Vo-Tech's plumbing department.

Miss Petzoldt, daughter of Robert and Ruth Petzoldt, is the youngest of five children. She participated in the work-study program, was a member of the Pep Club and recently returned from a trip to Mexico with the Foreign Language Club.

Flag Day Parade Will Have Bicentennial Flavor

A U.S. flag flown over the nation's Capitol in the Bi-Centennial Year of 1976 and presented to the Koch Club by former Congressman James A. Burke will be used in the Flag Day parade and observance Saturday, June 14, at Veterans Memorial Stadium, Quincy.

The silver anniversary of the annual flag day event was also recognized in the Congressional Record June 3 of the Nation's 200th Birthday when a special notation recognized the annual celebration of "Flag Day" for twenty-five years in Quincy.

The parade was initiated by the Koch Club in 1952 when the 125 member boys baseball and girls softball leagues marched from Cavanaugh Stadium in North Quincy through the streets of Norfolk Downs and back to the stadium for the flag raising ceremony.

Expansion of the Koch Club to the Broad Meadows, Montclair and West Quincy sections of the city required the parade route change to Quincy Center with the Veterans Stadium utilized for the several thousand participants involved.

Mayor Arthur Tobin, members of the Quincy City Council and School Committee have been invited to attend with city, state and county officials.

Richard J. Koch, executive director of the club, requests all units planning to participate in the June 14th event to contact him by Monday, June 9 with the name of the organization and the number planning to attend for assignment in the line of march.

John Comer, Past State Commander of the American Legion and Legion National Committeeman, will serve as parade coordinator.

George F. Bryan VFW Post Commander Henry Williams will be the marshal's aide of the First Division which will include military and veteran units as well as invited dignitaries.

Parents Anonymous

The Parents Anonymous group will meet June 9, at 7:30 p.m. Call 472-4224. "Losing your cool with your kids?" Parents Anonymous offers support for parents having difficulty coping with their children.

Pamela Gillis Salve Regina Graduate

Pamela J. Gillis, daughter of City Clerk and Mrs. John M. Gillis of 23 Richard St., Quincy Point, was recently graduated from Salve Regina College, Newport, R.I.

Miss Gillis received a B.S. degree in nursing and will be employed at St. Margaret's Hospital, Dorchester.

She is a graduate of St. John's School and Archbishop Williams High School.

Harriot B. Barbour Author, QSO Trustee

Funeral services were held Monday in Dennis for Harriot B. Barbour, formerly of Quincy, author and former trustee of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra.

Miss Barbour, a long-time resident of Quincy, died at her South Dennis home after a long illness. She had been a permanent resident of the town since 1961.

She was the daughter of the late Albert L. Barbour, superintendent of Quincy Public Schools from 1909-1920 and the late Addie (Smith) Barbour.

Born in Natick, she also attended Quincy Schools.

She was the author of six books four of them on music education and appreciation.

For 16 years she was trustee emeritus of the Cape Cod Symphony and program annotator. She had served in the same posts for the Quincy Symphony. She was a member of the Boston Authors Club and the Twelve O'Clock Scholars.

She is survived by a brother, Fenner S. Barbour of Fairhaven and two nephews.

Burial was in Dennis.

Richard Sardano, 59. Retired Shipfitter

A funeral Mass was celebrated Tuesday at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston, for Richard Sardano, 59, a retired shipfitter at General Dynamics.

Mr. Sardano died Saturday at Quincy City Hospital following a brief illness.

He was born in Boston and lived in Quincy for several years. Employed at the Quincy shipyard for 12 years until his retirement, he was a member of General Dynamics Local 5, Shipbuilding Workers Union.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Virginia L. (Jacquard) Sardano; three sons, Nicholas R. Sardano, John E. Sardano and Michael D. Sardano, his parents Nicolas and Maria (Contina) Sardano, all of Quincy, and two grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Lydon-Russell Funeral Home, 644 Hancock St., and burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Peter Cedrone, 64. Plumber, Life-Long Resident

A funeral Mass was celebrated Tuesday at St. John's Church for Peter Cedrone, 64, a plumber who died unexpectedly May 30 at Quincy City Hospital.

He was a life-long resident of Quincy.

He is survived by his wife, Florence (Czerniawski) Cedrone;

a son, Michael Cedrone of Quincy; a daughter, Mrs. Linda DePaulo of Quincy; two brothers, Pasquale Cedrone and Joseph Cedrone, both of Quincy; two sisters, Mrs. Prim Comi of Quincy and Edith MacDonald of Braintree and five grandchildren. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Memorial Day Observance Held For Pvt. John W. Jackson At Lincoln Hancock School

A Memorial Day observance was held last week at the Private John William Jackson, USMC. Memorial on the grounds of the Lincoln Hancock Community School.

As a child, Private Jackson had attended the old John Hancock School. After working at the Fore River Shipyard, he enlisted in the Marines during World War II and at age 18 was wounded on Iwo Jima. He later died of his wounds and was buried at sea.

Conducting the memorial program was John G. Jackson, nephew of the late Private, and son of Deputy Fire Chief and Mrs. Joseph Jackson of Quincy. As a graduating senior from Boston College High School, Jackson participated in a community service program and worked for seven weeks in the Lincoln Hancock first grade.

The first grade class of Gayle MacDonald and Susan Troy sang songs, recited a poem and presented flowers to Mrs. Margaret Jackson of Quincy, mother of the late Private.

PARTICIPATING in a Memorial Day observance at the Lincoln Hancock Community School for the late Private John William Jackson were, from left, Sgt. Philip Barnes, USMC; John G. Jackson, nephew of the late Private; Mrs. Margaret Jackson, mother of the late Private; and Morris Hibbard, Lincoln Hancock principal.

Sgt. Philip Barnes, of the Quincy Recruiting Station, represented the U.S. Marine Corps, and the Lincoln-Hancock band performed under the direction of Richard Striano.

Houghs Neck Legion Memorial Service Sunday

Houghs Neck Legion Post will hold its annual Memorial Service Sunday at Most Blessed Sacrament Church at the 11 30 a.m. Mass.

Officers, members, veterans and members of other veterans organizations, along with invited guests, Senator Paul Harold, Mayor Arthur Tobin and City Council members will march at 11:15 a.m. from the Post Home at 1116 Sea St. to the church.

Breakfast will be served to families of deceased members and Gold Star Mothers at 10 a.m. prior to the service. Mrs. Kenneth Webb and Mrs. Claude Gillespie are Gold Star Mothers.

After the Mass, there will be a short service at the Houghs Neck granite memorial at the corner of Sea St. and Manet Ave. An open house will follow at the post home.

Quincy Firemen's Memorial Services Sunday

The annual memorial exercises of the Quincy Firemen's Relief Association will be held Sunday, June 8, at 10:30 A.M. at the Quincy Firemen's Memorial Monument in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Fire Chief Edward F. Barry will preside. Other participants at the exercise for Quincy's deceased fire-fighters will be Association President Americo Speranza, Vice-President Joseph Lemieux, Treasurer Harold Shedd and Secretary John Bille.

The formal exercises will be preceded by a parade, starting at 10 A.M. from the Central Fire Station, 40 Quincy Ave., and proceeding down Hancock St. to the Cemetery.

In the event of inclement weather, the program will be conducted at the George F. Bryan Post, 24 Broad St., Quincy.

At Tall Ships Service

Over 30 Toy Boats Sail Down Squantum Church Aisle

A fleet of over 30 little toy sailboats sailed down the center aisle of the First Church of Squantum Sunday during the first hymn of its "Tall Ships" service.

Each one was carried on the head of a child in the Sunday School who had volunteered to be a "wave" for the occasion.

The service was held to celebrate the arrival of the Tall Ships at Boston Harbor which the church overlooks and to celebrate the adventure of the Christian life, using the metaphor of sailing.

The service was led by sailors from the congregation. Richard Hendry, commodore of the Squantum Yacht Club, led the worshippers in a responsive call to worship. Ladel Bumpus, a fourth-year cadet at Massachusetts Maritime Academy, led the opening prayer. Laurel had the distinction of having sailed in the Parade of Sail on Friday on one of the tall ships, the Windlass.

The Sunday School children's Parade of Sail came in during the first hymn, "Eternal Father, Strong to Save", the hymn of the U.S. Navy. All of the music in the service was related to sailing, including the hymns "I Feel the Winds of God Today" and "Give to the Winds Thy Fear". The Youth Choir sang "Fair Lord Jesus, Ruler of All Nature" in an arrangement by Mary Ruth Scott. The Senior Choir sang "Thanks Be to Thee" by George F. Handel. Sea tunes and sea chants were heard at numerous other points during the service.

The nautical surprise presented to each person in the congregation by the pastor was a handcrafted commemorative bookmark which featured a Bible verse and a sewn anchor emblem. The bookmarks were made by Dorothy Abbe and Hazel Mayne.

The service included a brief talk with three local sailors, Lester, Aaron and David Gerry, who explained some of boating activities in which they were involved in Squantum.

One of the youth groups in the church, Orange Crush, dramatized the Bible story of Christ stilling the tempest. To do this, they used enormous paper waves and an actual-sized paper sailboat in which Jesus and His disciples were all able to stand.

Playing the roles in the play were Steve Williams as Jesus with Fred Leona, William Cogswell and Tom Adams as Jesus' disciples. The special effects were created by Richard Williams, mast; Joanne Warren, sail; Donna Stevens, Marsha Anderson, Susan Mildram and Bonnie Adams, waves.

After the play, each of the members of Orange Crush was presented with a small golden fish symbol (symbolic of Christ) to thank them for the many ways in which Orange Crush has helped the church throughout the year. Presenting the pins in behalf of the church were Si Porter, Elsie Fiore, Gretchen Bumpus, Ellen Ogilvie, Janet Williamson, Grace Holmes, Gloria Cutler and Barbara Colwell.

The new "fish" weathervane given to the church in memory of Ruth Boland MacRitchie and Joseph Angus MacRitchie and now mounted on the roof of the church building was dedicated by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin and Bonnie MacRitchie, granddaughter of the two people in whose memory the weathervane was given.

The Scripture reading (the bulletin said "From the Charts") was the 27th chapter of the Book of Acts which recounts the shipwreck experience of the apostle Paul. Tom Williamson took the part of St. Paul while the pastor did the narration.

Holly Bumpus read the "Psalm of the Seaman" and John Malmgren led the prayer of dedication for the offering. The sermon was not indicated as such in the bulletin; it only read "Plotting the Course." Rev. Dr. Langevin preached on the subject, "This voyage We All Make", based on a text from the Book of Psalms: "Some went down to the sea in ships, doing business on the great waters; they saw the deeds of the Lord, his wondrous works in the deep."

The sanctuary was decorated with brightly-colored sailing pennants, pictures of ships and many small models. No liturgical robes were used. The pastor and the choir, as well as the children and the members of the congregation, all dressed as if they were going sailing. Some wore clothes suitable for a cruise, others wore old Navy uniforms of various vintage, a few wore their foul weather gear, while some wore tee shirts, shorts and sneakers. A good many "Tall Ships" tee shirts were seen. There were even a few good-natured pirates who attended, complete with eye patches and tattoos.

Guests for the morning were Carl and Barbara Anderson and their daughter, Marsha. Ushers were Paul Paulson, Tore Wallin, Susan Mildram, Bonnie Adams, Donna Stevens and William Cogswell. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Mary Scott, Ruth Danforth and Joan Hansen.

During the Fellowship Hour, the children of the church were able to sail their toy boats in four large wading pools filled with water at one end of Fellowship Hall. The rest of the hall was festively decorated with sailing flags, models and pictures of ships, sailing lamps and other paraphernalia associated with the craft of sailing. An 8-foot sloop set up at the other end of the hall dominated the scene. John Malmgren and Richard Hendry were in charge of the decorations.

At the same time, there was an art show displaying the oil paintings of Jens Thornton Sr., of Squantum, and of his grandson, Mark Thornton. Many of these paintings were being shown publicly for the first time. Also exhibited were 30 prints of ships and the sea by Currier and Ives, collected over the years by the grandfather.

The day's celebration had begun early in the morning at the "Shipboard Breakfast" sponsored by Cinnamon Toast, an intergenerational Christian educational group in the church. Once again the breakfast set an attendance record. Proceeds from the breakfast went to the church's "New Stove" fund. Members of Cinnamon Toast did the work supervised by Ellen Ogilvie, Marie Reister, Gretchen Bumpus and Barbara Colwell. Ellen Ogilvie also made large chocolate models of a tall ship as a centerpiece for each table.

The church is now preparing for its annual Flea Market to be held on Surfside Lane in Squantum from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, June 7. Next Sunday is Children's Day at the church. The service begins at 10:15 a.m.

$1.5 Million Facility $900,000 Bond Sought For Chinese Restaurant

The city Industrial Development Finance Authority will meet Friday to discuss a $900,000 bond requested for a proposed Chinese restaurant in North Quincy.

The restaurant would be located at Hancock St. and the Newport Ave. extension, according to IFDA chairman Vito Barresi. The bond is sought by the United Center Corporation of Brookline, which would do business as the "Cathay Pacific Restaurant."

According to Barresi, the firm hopes to construct a 10,000-square-foot, stone-and-brick building, containing dining and function rooms and a lounge.

The firm's request describes its project as "a first class, full-service Chinese restaurant," Barresi said. The restaurant would employ about 46 people, he said.

The total cost of construction is estimated at $1,549,000.

MONEY TALKS

Be Careful Before Okaying Savings-Checking Transfers

By Philip J. Lawrence, President
Colonial Federal Savings

and Loan Association

of Quincy, Holbrook & Wareham
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursdays

Those new bank plans that automatically transfer your money from a savings account to a checking account are not the boon they may seem at first glance to be.

First of all, commercial banks recognize that paying interest on money in checking accounts will increase their costs, and they have set fairly stiff fees for the service if a substantial minimal balance is not maintained in the checking account. For a typical household, these fees range between $4 and $8 per month, according to fund transfer research conducted by Kenneth Reich for the United States League of Savings Associations.

"To avoid a service charge a customer might have to keep anywhere from $1,000 to $5,000 in his automatic transfer service [ATS] account at all times," Reich points out. "If the balance goes below the minimum for even one day during the month, the customer will have to pay the service charge for the next month."

He further notes that these balances could earn a higher rate in a savings and loan certificate than if left indefinitely on deposit, as required, at the bank passbook rate. Only persons with large fluctuating balances in checking accounts are likely to find ATS beneficial. Just how advantageous will depend on how the bank computes the interest. In many banks which use a low-balance or first-in-first-out method of computation, the return will be much less than expected. Reich notes that the Bank of America expects only 5% of its consumer checking account customers to sign up for ATS.

Worse than the prospect of little or no advantage is the erosion of the saving versus spending concept which every thrifty person cherishes. The checking account is seen as a necessary vehicle for paying bills and the savings account as a separate nest egg for achieving special goals or building up financial reserves. Mingling these funds leads to the temptation to invade the next for impulsive and extravagant purchases. In some households, this would be a disaster.

ATS is another of those consumer services, like installment credit, which is not as beneficial to the average family as it appears to be.

New Counseling Center Named In Honor Of Louise B. Forsyth

The dedication of the Protestant Social Service Bureau's new counseling center, 774 Hancock St., Wollaston became a very special event for Louise B. Forsyth, Sunday.

It was a happy occasion for Miss Forsyth since it was the celebration of the successful fund raising effort which she had headed to provide for the purchase and renovation of the property.

Just after she had completed her remarks in which she had thanked everyone for their support, agency executive director Robert E. Taylor surprised her by revealing that the counseling center was being named "The Louise B. Forsyth House."

Miss Forsyth who lives at 75 Monroe Rd., is coordinator of testing for the Quincy Public Schools and president-elect of the 40,000 member American Personnel and Guidance Association.

Speaking to the 350 guests, Taylor said, "When we needed someone to lead our capital fund drive, Louise Forsyth went to work and organized a committee. As in all of her activities, she was successful." Taylor pointed out that Miss Forsyth's mother had been a member of the agency's first board of directors.

The new counseling center is located next to the Protestant Social Service Bureau's administrative and adoption services offices at 776 Hancock St. The agency serves the South Shore communities with family counseling services and all of southeastern Massachusetts with its adoption program.

During the outdoor ceremonies, some 40 individuals, foundations, and businesses were honored for their support of the capital fund drive. Each one was presented with a special Founders' Award. The names of all major contributors are included on a plaque in the agency offices.

City councillor Stephen McGrath expressed his appreciation to the gathering for the improvements the organization has made to its property.

"You have created a very attractive setting here in Wollaston and we are all grateful to you," said McGrath, referring to the exterior renovation and the new landscaping and parking areas.

The new facilities include counseling offices, a reception area, a secretary's office and two meeting rooms for group counseling and volunteer activities.

An open house from 2 to 4 p.m. gave the guests an opportunity to see the improvements. All of the interior work was done by George MacDonald and H. Wallace Sylvester, both of Quincy.

Founded in 1947, the agency is sponsored by some 90 area churches. Last year, it was named one of the 12 outstanding adoption agencies in the country.

Rev. Ed Moyer of Randolph is president of the board of directors.

Golden Jubilee Reception Sunday

Lydon-Russell Funeral Home Observing 50th Anniversary

The Lydon-Russell Funeral Home of Wollaston celebrates its 50th anniversary Golden Jubilee Sunday with a reception for about 1700 invited guests, announces owner John Lydon.

The reception will be held in a tent on the grounds of the home, 644 Hancock St.

The home, founded by Bernard Russell in 1930, has been under ownership of the Lydon family for 10 years. Before 1930, the building served Wollaston in a variety of capacities.

The home was built sometime in the late 1800's as a wedding gift from a contractor to his daughter. Around 1900, it was bought by a Dr. Whitehouse, who converted it into a birth clinic.

JOHN LYDON

"There are members of the Wollaston community who were actually born there," says Lydon.

With the development of obstetric services at Quincy City Hospital, the clinic was used less and less often. Dr. Whitehouse converted the building again to a nursing home around 1920.

Ten years later, the house was bought by Russell and converted yet again, to a funeral home.

"So the home has seen birth, marriage, old age and death, the four phases of life," Lydon said. Lydon plans more renovations both inside and outside the familiar building.

Lydon is married to the former Dianne Hall. They have four children, David, Janet, Carol and Michelle.

SPECIAL CITATION for work done on pavilion for Pope John Paul's Mass at Boston Common last October is received by Larry Antonelli (right), president and treasurer of L. ### Ronald Goodman On S.Quincy MBTA Selection Committee Ronald Goodman, full-time instructor at Quincy Junior College, has been appointed to the MBTA Selection Committee for art work at the South Quincy MBTA station.

Goodman, a Quincy resident, has been teaching English and Photography at Quincy Junior College for nine years.

Leonard Buck Honored At McLean Hospital

Leonard F. Buck of Quincy was among the 135 employees honored for 1075 years of combined service at a service award ceremony and reception at McLean Hospital, Belmont, recently.

Buck was recognized for 5 years of service.

Wayne Blaisdell Promoted At Hibernia Bank

The Hibernia Savings Bank announces the promotion of Wayne F. Blaisdell of Quincy as assistant vice president.

Wayne, 28, has been with Hibernia for four years, serving the bank as teller, supervisor, and vice treasurer.

In his new position, he will be in charge of Hibernia's loans and mortgages.

70-Year-Old Grandmother Among QJC's 363 Graduates

Mrs. Dorothy Shea of Quincy, a 70-year-old mother of six, was among 363 students receiving degrees from Quincy Junior College Sunday.

Other notable graduates included William Green former parking attendant at the school seeking a career in law enforcement and Theodore Mysiuk, beginning a career in accounting after recently retiring from the armed forces.

Mrs. Shea graduated with honors, receiving an Associate in Arts Degree with a concentration in History. Attending the graduation ceremony were her husband, six children and 11 grandchildren. Mrs. Shea remarked that she would never be getting her degree if it wasn't for the "friendly and supportive people at the college, faculty and students alike."

Also receiving an Associate Degree was William Green of Quincy, whose first association with the college was as a security-parking attendant through a CETA grant. A veteran, he became interested in the field and began taking courses in Law Enforcement. Now receiving an Associate Degree in Criminal Justice, he is employed full-time in store security operations.

Theodore Mysiuk of Quincy has begun a second career with his Associate in Science Degree in Accounting. Recently retired from the armed services, he graduated with honors.

Two graduates, Henry Ashford of Holbrook and Arthur Rochefort of Quincy, graduated while their wives Margot Ashford, Class of 1979 and Claire Rochefort, Class of 1978 remembered their day of graduating from Quincy Junior.

One of the highlights of the graduation was the presentation of the Quincy Cooperative Bank Scholarship by Francis Mitchell, Bank Vice-President, to Joanne Gallagher of Quincy and Barbara Elia of Weymouth.

Quincy Cooperative Bank annually donates a $1,500 scholarship to be awarded to a student with a good academic record and active in community and school affairs. Miss Gallagher is an honors student in the business management program, and an active member of the Student Government. Mrs. Elia has achieved one of the highest grade point averages of this year's graduates. The mother of two has been active in community affairs including the Girl Scouts of America and the Mothers' Club. Both women will be transferring into a Baccalaureate Business Program.

U.S. Senator Paul Tsongas delivered the commencement address.

Dr. Edward Pierce, QJC President, conferred the degrees to the graduates. He noted that the resources students acquire at Quincy Junior College will be valuable for their entire life. And that "the more profound and greater goals must include a knowledge and understanding of oneself in order that you can understand and respect others."

"Dr. Pierce quoted John Morley, 'The great business of life is to be, to do, and depart' and continued by saying 'We who remain to continue the endless task are proud that you have shared a small portion of your lives with us.'"

Tsongas Tells QJC Grads:

'Reclaim Future With New Energy Policies'

"Together, we must reclaim control of our future," Sen. Paul Tsongas told graduates of Quincy Junior College Sunday.

"The key to the future lies in reshaping our society to eliminate America's $80-billion-a-year addiction to foreign oil," Tsongas said.

"We must make a fast transition to energy conservation and renewable resources, such as solar energy," he said. "Much more broadly, we must reexamine every aspect of how society is organized in terms of energy use. The patterns of modern society developed in an age of cheap energy that is now extinct."

Tsongas said in part: "Your degree is a foundation for your future. But it won't make you immune to chance. No matter how hard you work, no matter how well you plan, your life will be affected by chance. It is a natural ingredient of life, and it's one of the exciting aspects of this commencement. No one can know what comes next.

"Individually, you face an uncertain future, as those before you have done. You can expect your fair share of victories and tragedies... except that these are distributed in unfair shares."

"Some of you will come to grips with life and achieve an inner peace, and some of you will know years of turmoil. Some of you will seek fame, and some will consider fame as irrelevant."

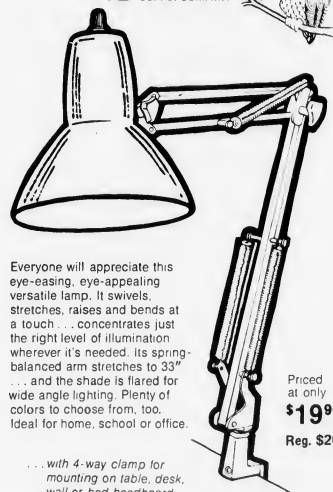

"Some of you will embrace the concept of family, some of you will become swingers, and some of you will bounce back and forth between the two. Some of you will be honored - some elected, some appointed. Some will achieve success in the arts or in business. Somebody may even be indicted, to add spice to all this success."

"Looking at you, no one can

Susan Maginnis, NQHS:

Working With Deaf Was 'A Lesson In Communication'

"I began working at the Boston School for the Deaf this year as a test to see if I could handle deaf children before I became educated in the field," said Susan Maginnis. "I worked hard trying to teach the children what normal children would learn from hearing, such as correct grammar and common courtesy, but ironically, they taught me. In working with these deaf and aphasic children, I received a lesson in communication."

Miss Maginnis was one of two North Quincy seniors speaking on behalf of the Class of 1980 at commencement exercises Tuesday evening at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The text of her talk follows:

"When we begin our education in elementary school we take our first step from sheltered environment to independence. It is for this reason that our parents are delighted that we can 'use time wisely' and 'work well with others' because it shows us developing as well-adjusted individuals. As we get older, more responsibility is given to us, and we take the next step, which is getting a job. This again delights our parents, that we can handle ourselves in an other-than-home environment. For many of us, work is an accomplishment and something that we enjoy. Whether just for the money or for the experience, we learn something from interacting with people. I began working at the Boston School for the Deaf this year as a test to see if I could handle deaf children before I became educated in the field. I worked hard trying to teach the children what normal children would learn from hearing, such as correct grammar and common courtesy, but ironically they taught me! In working with these deaf and aphasic children I received a lesson in communication."

"You've probably all heard that the best way to help someone is to be a good listener. And if you worked with deaf children you'd know there couldn't be a truer statement. The tragedy in being deaf is not the loss of hearing, but the gap in communication. Living in a deaf world is like constantly having the feeling of frustration you get when you try to explain yourself to a parent, a teacher, or even a friend - only to be told, 'I don't want to hear it!'"

"Deaf people have an excuse for communication difficulties. We don't and neither should we, stand for any. It should be natural for us to be open, but over the years that has changed. We see it in the relationships we have with our parents, our siblings, and our friends. But when we see how destructive lack of communication can be, how can we do otherwise but try to close the gap? How many times has a relationship, whether business or personal been altered because one party refuses to talk, and the other refuses to listen?"

"On a personal level, name one person who benefited from the teacher's contract situation that occurred earlier this year. When communication broke down, what happened? Teachers and school committee defended their positions, while students hung in the middle, technically bystanders but very much involved in the whole thing. How many of you wondered what school was going to be like every day when recommendations were hard to come by and walk-out rumors were rampant? Did anyone really gain from that situation?"

"On an even grander scale, why did fifty American hostages have to be taken before we listened? As with Hitler and the atrocities of World War II, why didn't we believe what we heard and read about Iran? The warning signs were there, on the news, in magazines, but we didn't want to hear it! and now we are paying the price with 50 American people."

"We laugh and joke about the amount of doubletalk in politics, but is it funny anymore?"

"We can change the trend and build the bridges across the gaps. We can be open in our own relationships and in that way change larger ones such as those between nations. We can be sure nothing like Iran ever happens again by using our senses and being aware of the warning signs."

"This may all sound very idealistic but what is a graduation speech? It is a sendoff to the future, a future bounded only by our dreams. Approach this task realistically and see what happens. As for the cop out, 'I can't, I don't want to hear it!'"

Anne MacDonald, QHS:

First Class Of The '80's Must Face New Challenges

"We are indeed lucky to be the first graduating class of the new decade, the '80's," said Anne MacDonald. "Never before has the world faced a new challenge as it does today."

Miss MacDonald spoke for Quincy High School's Class of 1980 at commencement exercises Monday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

"Some of you may think the problems are overwhelming," she said, "but I feel the youth of our city, our state and our nation can lick any problem."

"The energy problem of the world must be solved by someone. Why not a member of this class? The inflation that is causing great men to tremble must be solved. Why not a member of this class? Disease and sickness may never be beaten but a longer, better life is within our grasp. This solution, too, could also be solved by a member of this class."

"Our graduating class has been issued a challenge to make this world a better place. We accept that challenge and pledge all our energy to meet it. Many of us have known each other a long time. We have been happy together [victory in football games]. We have been sad together [at report card time]. We have bolstered each other up when we were low. In that same sense of sharing - we will make this class the class that started the 1980's in the decade that brought forth new and fresh ideas to help our nation become a world leader again."

"We have been told for many years that you can't fight city hall, don't rock the boat, or you can't change the world overnight, but that is not true. In a recent story from New York state a young boy was billed for 69 cents for sales tax he was supposed to collect in his fishing worm business. When his school class toured the state house in Albany, representatives told him a new law was being passed so young people earning less than $600 a year did not have to collect sales taxes. The parable of this story is a small boy changed the laws of the state of New York.

ANNE MACDONALD
QHS Class Speaker

"All we ask is that you hear us, encourage us, guide us, and stand back and watch over our smoke. We are the greatest resource in this country. Don't waste it as you have all the other resources. Don't ration our ideas. Don't curb our energy. Let us go and meet this challenge that you, our parents, our friends, and our teachers have prepared us for. Just as the United States hockey team had no chance to beat the Russians, a group of young Americans working together showed the world what a group of young Americans can do if they pull together. We are like that same young team - we have to go for the gold."

Michael Ricciuti, NQHS:

Seniors Have Survived Four Years Of Turmoil

"As we prepare to leave North Quincy High for the final time as students," said Michael Ricciuti, "we can reflect not only on the achievement of graduation, but also on the unique achievement of having survived the turmoil that has beset North for the past four years."

Ricciuti was one of two North Quincy seniors speaking on behalf of the Class of 1980 at commencement exercises Tuesday evening at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The text of his remarks: "We are the only class to go through the complete process of double sessions," he said. "Along with it came the confusion, the apprehension and the fear that the school and the routine as we had come to know it, was to change completely."

"It was not easy attending school until late in the evening as freshmen, returning home in the darkness of night."

"And it was not easy attending school a little earlier in the morning as sophomores, leaving home in the darkness of the early morning."

"And it was not easy leaving the old building that harbored so many generations of memories, its old fashioned wooden structure attesting not only to the stability of the past but also the promise of the future. It had always been full of life; but in contrast, the last day there was filled with the silence of parting with an old friend. In the final moments that we spent there, some reached out for a part of the building itself, trying to preserve the memory of the place we had come to know and love. North had never received a finer tribute."

"Nor was it easy moving into the new wing, readjusting to a different routine in a modern atmosphere. In the first moments, the Atrium and the great spaciousness that it possesses awed us with its contemporary beauty. Now, as seniors, we prepare to leave the completed school to future generations. In looking back, it becomes clear that the one attribute of North that has distinguished the school in the past and enabled it to survive through the toughest of times and the strong of adversity is pride. It is a proud tradition on which this school was built and which all classes that have grown here have built upon. The class of 1980 has done this tradition a great honor.

"It would have been easy to give up and let the spirited personality of North fade, but we held on and involved ourselves in all phase of the project. At the very beginning, it was the student body who raised its voice to receive the first bond to construct the new wing. Before it opened, a small number of the students that volunteered toured the building to familiarize themselves with it. From them the Pride Committee was formed to guide students through the building and to watch over that which had been awaited so long. The members of the committee spent some of the three week vacation during the move in meeting preparing for the opening. When the school, finally did open, they were there to help their students in finding their way about. Through all the commotion, the student body respected the school and the situation. Through the dedication of the people in the school, spearheaded by members of this class, we made the move a smooth one and our senior year one of spirit and of victory.

"As our last year began, we revived and watched flourish a greater outpouring of spirit than North Quincy High had ever seen. The rallies, the dress up days, the participation by all reflected the pride that makes North not only distinctive but truly unique.

"It wasn't easy carrying on through the confusion, on the athletic field or in the classroom, but we persevered through the tough times and won back the good times in spite of it all.

"Now the construction is complete as the struggle is complete. And as it is written, there is 'a time to break down, and a time to build up, a time to weep and a time to laugh; a time to mourn and a time to dance, a time to seek and a time to lose; a time to keep and a time to cast away.' Our class has seen the laughter and the tears, the fear and the joy, the winning and the losing, but we have played a vital role in keeping her personality of North not only intact, but alive and well. The spirit and pride that is North still lives here. It has been this spirit that has made all the difference in the past, and will make all the difference in the future in both the school and its graduates. It is this basis of pride and enthusiasm that will again kindle the desire to shape a promising future, and make a difference in our lives, the lives of others and in the life of this nation.

"It is believed that people grow close to one another after they have gone through a crisis together. This is true of our class. We have been through various crises of sorts, and this class has become a very close knit one not only within itself, but with the school and faculty. Leaving the school and the people to which we have grown accustomed is not an easy task. The familiar is left behind in search for the future, a future of which we know little.

"Since the beginning of our education, we have been told what our school life would be like for the following year. This time we are making our own choice concerning not only schooling, but the course of our lives. I feel that I cannot issue any challenge to this class because I am part of it. However, I would like to instill the hope that the future not be feared and that the past neither be forgotten nor sought for. The past here at North has been good to us, may the future be as bright.

"To the school that has given us so much, a very special thanks for the memories."

CRASH COURSE IN FINANCE...

...FOR GRADUATES WITH AS LITTLE AS $100 TO INVEST

This is an Ad for the Granite Co-operative Bank, in Quincy. This message is for you, the average person. We have the best savings plan in Massachusetts for people who have as little as $100 to invest. (You won't risk a penny.) It's got a fancy name: Paid Up Shares, but you won't have to find a stock broker to buy them. You see us... and then you'll own a piece of our bank. We're a co-operative bank and that allows us to offer these shares. Walk into our bank. Ask the teller to give you paid-up shares (one for each $100). What you'll get is a bank book. Each $100 in the book means you own one share in our bank. Every month we send you a check as a dividend... computed at 5 1/2 % per year. Keep the money here and we keep sending you checks. The best part of this whole deal is you get your money back from us just by asking for it. You get it right then. There is no notice.

NO RISK. GET YOUR MONEY BACK THE MINUTE YOU ASK!

No bank in Massachusetts pays higher interest on no-notice than Granite Co-operative Bank.

'Reclaim Future With New Energy Policies' Says Tsongas

say who will be what. Who will become Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts? Who will become a parent devoted to his family, and shine in the glory of their reflected love? Who will seek a life of quiet and solace on a farm in Vermont? Who will fall into avarice and contribute nothing but grief to the society?

"These lifestyles are available to each of you. What lies ahead? Fortunately, no one knows. If you knew of the upcoming joys, they would be less joyful. If you knew of the upcoming sorrows, they would be an even greater burden.

"Now let's consider our society's energy crisis in the context of initiative and chance. Our energy future certainly is a matter of chance, in the sense that there is a good chance that you and I and our children will suffer gravely from energy disruptions. American prosperity and security right now are being risked. Our $80-billion-a-year addition to foreign oil means that we, together, are taking an irrational chance with our children's future.

"But our collective energy future is very different from your individual futures. Individually, in terms of your career or personal life, anything can happen. Tomorrow you may fall in or out of love. Tuesday you may get a big break in your career, or you may just break your leg. But collectively, -- as a society -- we find that the law of averages leaves less to chance. Problems we face together require leadership -- not luck.

"The energy crisis is a prime example. Handwringers and apologists masquerade energy as a matter of luck -- bad luck. Consider, for example, the official defense of the indefensible level of inflation. Taxpayers are told that price increases would have moderated in the past year, if only OPEC oil prices hadn't more than doubled. But the oil cartel's actions are not a matter of chance at all. They are the rational result of our dependency. Since the 1973-74 embargo, the producer nations have acted predictably. We are the ones with the surprise behavior pattern. We are gluttons for foreign oil, and thus gluttons for punishment. For the last seven years, there wasn't a chance in the world we would get away with it.

"The energy crisis represents a shortage of leadership rather than luck. But leadership is needed at every level. Your intelligence and youth are natural resources that are needed for leadership right now at the community level. I challenge each of you to face the energy future.

"The numbers can be numbing, but start with three 80's. Imagine the $80 billion dollars that we are sending to our overseas friends this year for oil. Then remember how extremely dependent Massachusetts is on foreign oil for energy. We get 80 percent of our energy from oil, and 80 percent of that is foreign. The hard facts contradict confidence in the future.

"Together we must reclaim control of our future. Specifically, we must make a fast transition to energy conservation and renewable resources such as solar energy. We can achieve 25 percent of our energy from conservation and renewables by the year 2000. Much more

● Legion Baseball

Morrisette, Wollaston, Quincy Open June 11

The American Legion baseball season gets under way next Wednesday night with Morrisette seeking its 22nd Zone 6 championship.

Morrisette missed out last season when it dropped a 4-3 squeaker to Weymouth in a playoff game.

In Wednesday's openers Morrisette plays at Hingham and Wollaston is at Canton in 6 p.m. games and Quincy hosts newcomer Norwell at 8 at Adams Field.

This season Zone 6 has been divided into two groups with the winner of each division qualifying for the state tournament.

Wollaston, Braintree, Milton, Holbrook, Randolph and Canton are in Division 1, while Morrisette, Hingham, Quincy, Norwell and Weymouth make up Division 2.

All teams in both divisions play home and home games with each other.

Coach Ray Cattaneo has a strong nucleus of veterans at Morrisette, led by three-year veteran Bob Biagini of North Quincy High, the top catcher and leading batter this spring in the Suburban League.

Other three-year veterans are pitcher-outfielder Andy Carrera of Quincy High, pitcher Paul O'Toole, who played at Georgetown University; pitcher-outfielder Bill Deitsch of Bridgewater State College and infielder Bill O'Connell of North Quincy.

Playing their second year with Morrisette are catcher-outfielder Kevin Howlett of Abp. Williams, pitcher-infielder Gary DiNardo of Quincy, pitcher-outfielder Mark Millane of North Quincy, infielders Mike Scurti and Mitch Johnson of Quincy, infielder Tom Canavan of Abp. Williams and outfielder Danny Boyle of B.C. High.

Newcomers this season are pitcher Paul Earle of North Quincy, pitcher Mike Morris of Abp. Williams, infielders Hughie Campbell and Bob Ready of Quincy, infielder Jim O'Toole of Abp. Williams and infielder Steve Pecenich of B. C. High.

Wollaston has had little luck since reviving baseball a few years back after 15 years, but this season Coaches Dick Travers, John Belcastro and Brian Condon have a fine nucleus of veterans and some promising newcomers which make the outlook the brightest since baseball was revived.

The returnees are Glenn Segalla, Peter Alibrandi, Steve Belcastro, Richie Hallberg and Jim Sullivan from North Quincy High; John Kavanaugh of Quincy, Gus Gonzales of B. C. High and Paul McConville of A. p. Williams.

The newcomers are Bob Bolster, John Sweet and Tom Smith of North Quincy, Sean Murphy, who played at Suffolk University; Brian Peale of B. C. High, Mike Sullivan of Don Bosco and Jim Hensley, Sean Martin, Dan Dunn and Scott Mathews of Quincy.

Quincy should be strong with Coach Fred Prezioso having most of last year's team back.

Returnees are pitcher John Costigan of Sacred Heart High, first baseman Tony Camillo of North Quincy, catcher-outfielder Pat Enkis, Bridgewater State College; pitcher-outfielder Jeff Giordani, U. of New Haven; pitcher-outfielder Steve Healy, B. C. High; pitcher-shortstop Greg Madden, Amherst; infielder Dave Nagle, North Quincy; first baseman-outfielder Fred Palmer, B. C. High; catcher-outfielder Chris Pettillo, North Quincy; third baseman Art Roberts, Abp. Williams; pitcher-outfielder Mike Smart, B. C. High; catcher-pitcher Mike Stranberg, Sacred Heart, and pitcher-outfielder Jamie Walsh, North Quincy.

NORTH QUINCY'S Mike Kelly, a senior pitcher, recently received his varsity baseball letter at Northeastern University. Three of his brothers earned football letters at Northeastern. Tom and Jack, running backs from 1960-62, and Dennis, who played in 1970 and 1971.

North's Dream Ends, Quincy Finishes 4-12

The North Quincy baseball team's hopes of making the Eastern Mass. Tournament were ended during the past week when the Raiders lost two out of three games to finish 9-7 in the Suburban League and 9-8 overall.

Oddly enough, the only game North won was without a hit as it topped Newton North, 2-0. The Raiders took advantage of eight walks and a balk to score their runs.

Rich Hallberg pitched a two-hitter for North and struck out five as Newton failed to pose a scoring threat.

However, North's tournament hopes went out the window in the next game as it bowed to Weymouth South, the league champion, 7-1, and Monday the Raiders bowed to Waltham, 4-0.

The Raiders were handcuffed Monday at Waltham's Sean Faherty, whom North Coach Charlie Bunker calls "the best pitcher in the league."

Bob Biagini, the Raiders' outstanding catcher, finished the season batting just under .500. He was one of the best throwing catchers in the league and one of the leaders in stolen bases.

Quincy, which had lost five starters before the season opened, finished with a 4-12 record.

The Presidents gave Weymouth South's champions a battle but lost, 10-7.

Walt Kilgallon had three hits to spark the Quincy attack.

Quincy dropped a 4-1 decision to Newton North in its final game.

Sterling Bombs Point

Sterling Junior High's baseball team clobbered Point, 19-2, to improve its record to 5-0 as Glen Oriola and Paul Cedrone combined for a three-hitter.

Thirteen players had hits for Sterling, with Oriola and Andy Eames having two each and 16 players scored.

Braves, White Sox Pacesetters

The Braves lead the Triple A Baseball League's National League with a 5-2 record and the White Sox are on top of the American League with a 6-1 mark.

The White Sox exploded for seven runs in the eighth inning, to top the Dodgers, 12-6, with Brian Flukes the winning pitcher. Brian Morris had a double and two singles and scored four runs, Ed O'Brien had a double and single, Chris Berry a double, Flukes two singles, Ricky Dondero two singles and Tony Orlando, Brian Roche and Bob Pond a single each. Jeff Morris hit the game in the sixth and sent it into extra innings. Dondero played a strong game at second base. Steve Smart started a fast double play and Paul Gardener cut down two runs at the plate with great throws from center field. For the Dodgers Chris O'Connor, Peter Schuerch and Sean Joyce each had a double and single, Jack Nelson had a double and single, Chris Loud, Kevin Provenzano and Tom Scola each had a single.

The White Sox erupted for 18 runs in the second inning and held to outlast the Pirates, 24-20, with Mike Huggo the winning pitcher. Huggo had a home run, two doubles and a single, Flukes had a home run, Pond had two doubles and a single, Brian Morris two doubles, O'Brien and Jeff Morris a double and single each and Roche, Jim Kilcommons, Gardener, Paul Lagrdins had a triple and three singles for the Pirates, Mark Scanlon two doubles and a single, Neil Hatfield a double and a single, Kelly Hennessey three singles, Ricky DeCarlo a double, Lisa Steen three singles and Tim Collins and Kevin John a single each.

The Mets scored five runs in the last inning and topped the Tigers, 14-11, with Mike Deyer, the winning pitcher, striking out seven. He also had a double. David Hack had two doubles and a single, Jim Cahill three singles, mark Lunin a double and single, Ed Bagley a double and Billy Roche, Jay Moreschi, Tom Delaney, Dan Jenkins and Kevin Flaherty a single each. For the Tigers Tim Burke and Dave Fasano had two singles each, Joe Blaney a double and John Barnes, Chris Conway, David Bouley, John Maloney and Bob Hodges a single apiece.

Police Trounce Norwood

The Quincy Police softball team defeated Norwood, 24-17, Sunday in the Eastern Mass. League and moved into second place in the South Division.

Nick Nichols gave Quincy an early lead with a three-run homer in the first inning. In the third Bob Lamb drove in two runs with a double, one of three hits for the veteran, a top candidate for the all-star team.

Quincy put the game out of reach with seven runs in the fifth highlighted by Joe Lips' base clearing triple.

Jake Donovan turned in two defensive gems at second base.

Quincy will be at home Sunday against Brookline with the $1 admission charge going to the DOVE program.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By ROBERT COLMAN

What's the highest batting average ever made by a big league baseball player for one season?... The all-time record for a regular player in this century was set by Roger Hornsby of the Cardinals in 1924... He played in 143 games that year, and batted .424.

How tough is it to become a major league baseball player?... According to a U.S. Department of Labor report, of all the boys who play Little League baseball, only about one in EVERY 10-THOUSAND will make it to the big leagues.

Here's one hard to believe-but it's true... A big league baseball manager once ordered his pitcher to walk a batter INTENTIONALLY, WITH THE BASES LOADED... It happened in 1942 when Giant manager Mel Ott had his pitcher walk Bill Nicholson of the Cubs with the bases loaded-and force in a run... Nicholson was in a hot home-run-hitting streak and Ott thought it was better to give up one run, than risk a Nicholson homer, and 4 runs... That may be the only time in history when a manager voluntarily gave the other team a run.

I bet you didn't know... That COLMAN'S has a full selection of slacks, jeans, shorts, shirts, jackets, tennis wear and many other sports wearables for the entire family. Shop COLMAN'S for them at COLMAN'S money saving low, low prices.

● Junior Farm League

Mets, Angels Flying High

The Mets are flying high and are leading the Junior Farm League's National Division with a 10-0 record.

In the American Division the Angels lead with an 8-1 mark.

The Angels withstood a furious last inning rally by the Dodgers to squeeze out a 15-14 victory. The Angels scored 10 runs in the first inning but the Dodgers scored six in the sixth to fall just short. Teddy Stevenson was the winning pitcher. Mike Ainsley relieved with the tying run on first base and struck out the next two batters to get the save. Chris Noble, Mike Noonan and Jimmy Ross had two hits each for the Angels and Scott Cuninghame came through with a key two-run single. For the Dodgers Paul Dempsey had three hits and Dave Adams and Bobby Cuddey two each.

The Angels also topped the Red Sox, 12-7, with Ainsley getting the win. Ross had three hits including a homer, Ainsley two including a homer, Noonan two hits and Noble, Ricky Ames, Doug Armstrong, Kevin O'Brien and Jack Mullen one each. For the Red Sox Chris Kyler and Martin Feeney had two each and Jack Greene, Kevin Daley and Derrick Pond one apiece.

The Mets scored three runs in the sixth and topped the Red Sox, 10-8, with Robbie Cinquegrano the winning pitcher and Gary Silverman the loser. Cinquegrano relieved Paul Adams in the third inning. He also had a double and single. Chris Higgins won the game with a three-run homer in the sixth. Higgins also had a homer in the first inning and a single. Jeff Adams had a triple and single, Richie Connelly a double and single, Bobby Austin two singles and Timmy Mann, Vin Moran, Billy Mulhern, Michael Toland and Billy Bellow a single each. For the Sox Silverman pitched well in defeat with 10 strikeouts and he also had a triple and single. Daley, Feeney, Greene, Dianne Henney, Chris Boudreaux, P.J. McDonough and Kyler all had singles.

The Mets defeated the Braves, 7-1, with Higgins pitching a two-hitter and striking out 16. He also had two hits. Connelly and Moran had doubles and Cinquegrano and Mulhern had singles. Wayne Chambers pitched six-hit ball for the Braves and struck out 13 but a five-run first inning ruined him. He also had a triple and scored the only run. Scott Rogers had the other hit.

The Mets downed the Dodgers, 10-5, with Bellow pitching three-hit ball for 4½ innings and striking out nine for the win and Cinquegrano getting the save. Moran had a home run and a single and drove in four runs. Higgins had two singles, Mann a triple and Cinquegrano, Richie Connelly, Mulhern, Toland, Jeff Adams and Steve Connelly a single each. Dave Adams, the losing pitcher, had 11 strikeouts and also contributed a single. Derek O'Brien had a home run and a single and drove in four runs. Cuddey, Gus Carriac and Bobby Manning had a single each.

The Braves scored seven times in the first inning and went on to top the Red Sox, 7-1, with Scott Rogers pitching a six-hitter and having a shutout until the sixth. He struck out 15. Tim Brillo had a home run. Danny Crespi and Chambers a triple each and Rogers had two hits.

Scoring 19 runs in the first three innings, the Giants toppled the Yankees, 20-13, with Rich Golden pitching three strong innings to gain the win. Craig Wright had a triple and single, Matt Collins a triple and single, Mike Routier two hits and Brian Mosher, Mike Sanda, Sean Cappelis, Golden, Karyn Mosher, Sean Burke and Dan Ward a single each. Bobby Kane and Dave Murphy played strong defense.

For the Yankees Sean Craig had three hits including a grand slam homer and Joe Hennessey, Karl Staskiwitz, Kenny Staskiwitz and Corey Grier each had a hit. Matthew Beardsley made an outstanding catch.

The Giants scored 12 runs in the first and clobbered the Tigers, 20-6, with Brian Mosher the winning pitcher, pitching three strong innings. Peter McLoughlin had three hits, Rodriguez had a grand slam homer and a single, Cappelis had a grand slam, Murphy and Brian Mosher had two hits each and Burke, Routier, Golden, Wright and Collins one hit apiece. For the Tigers Mike Bogan, Joe Gately, Joe Lawton, Jeff Deneen, Brian Shea, Dan Piccini, Mike Watts and Ted Barron had a hit each.

The Giants scored a run in the seventh inning to edge the Orioles, 6-5, with Sanda getting the win in relief of Rodriguez. It was the Giants' eighth win in a row after losing their first two. Rodriguez hit a two-run homer and drove in the winning run with a single. Sanda had two hits, Peter McLoughlin and Dan Ward one hit each. For the Orioles Mike McGowan and Steve Rabs had two hits each and Rabs and John Quill pitched well in a losing cause.

The Indians scored 12 runs in the second and scored in every other inning but the first to scalp the Braves, 26-6. Kevin Middendorf hit a home run and also was the winning pitcher. Sean Carroll homered and Paul Meehan, Joey Cappadona, Bill Murphy, Marcus Hanly, Steve Daggett, Mark Dwyer and Joey Fasano all played well for the Indians.

The Indians also walloped the Dodgers 10-2, scoring all their runs in the first two innings. Paul Meehan was the winner. Cappadona hit a grand slam homer, Gerry Murphy and Sea Hunter hit well and Brian Backman, Jackie O'Brien, Neal Plant and Steve Romano all played well.

The Angels edged the Indians, 6-5, with Bill Murphy losing another tough one-run game. Cappadona, Romano, Meehan and Middendorf were outstanding for the Indians.

North Girls' Soph Relay Team Shatters Record

The North Quincy girls' track team made a fine showing in last week's Suburban League meet, with the biggest surprise being the performance of an all-sophomore mile relay team, which broke the meet record by nine seconds, doing 4:03.8.

This team was made up of Karen Lindenfelzer, Mary Kate Kennedy, Deidre Donovan and Nancy McCarthy.

"I'm very pleased with their performance," Coach Lou Tozzi said. "For four sophomores I'd say they did extremely well."

unbeaten, winning the discus at 118-10. Kennedy placed second in the 220. Cheryl Aytes second in the discus. McCarthy second in the 440. Donovan second in the 880. Kara Crehan a close second in the high jump. Robyn O'Donnell fourth in the two-mile. Mary Crehan fifth in the mile and Caryn Smith fifth in the shot put.

The only Quincy scorers were Rita Pasqualone, who took second in the shot put, and Darlene Marston, fifth in the long jump.

The North and Quincy girls will compete in Saturday's all-state meet.

Bulldogs Present Awards At Banquet

The Quincy Bulldogs football team, which won the unofficial Boston Park League championship last fall in its first season, held an awards banquet last week.

After accepting a plaque from the players, Head Coach Bob DeVoe presented the Most Valuable Player Award to Pete Zilonis, the leading punter in the league.

Other awards went to Jim Rodgers, best defensive lineman; Bo Quency, best defensive back; Mike Carloni, best linebacker; Steve Jenkins, best offensive lineman; Jackie Marshall, best receiver; Frankie Tananian, best offensive back, and Tom Glynn, unsung hero. The Mad Dog award went to Nike Dota and the coaches' award went to assistant George Cronin.

Co-owners DeVoe and Bob Saffi have entered the team in the Park

League for one more season, then will seek admittance to the Eastern League.

The Bulldogs will open practice for the 1980 season Aug. 4 at the Vo-Tech Field.

Foley, Rotary Lead With 6-2 Records

Foley Chrysler-Plymouth leads the Junior Baseball League's American League and Rotary leads the National League with 6-2 records.

Foley defeated Boston Gear, 8-2, with Chris Marshall the winning pitcher. Pete Furtado hit three doubles, Mike Murphy had a home run, Bob Laracy two singles and Dave Phillips, Dave Duffy, Marshall, Jay DiBartolo, Kyle Peterson, Jimmy Dennis and Dan Biagini one hit each. For Gear Tad Sheets had two hits and John Taglieri and John Cronin had one each.

Burgin Platner topped the Elks, 8-4, as Jay Osgood had a triple, John Cristiani two doubles, A.J. Pugliese and Mike Baron two singles apiece, Steve Hensley and Matt Ostiguy a double each and Tom McDonald, Bob Thomas and Mark DiMaggio a single each. For the Elks Kevin Goyette had a triple, Dave Tocchio a double, Robert Bradley two singles and Sean Barry and Randy Rapalje a single each.

Colonial Federal scored 11 runs in the fourth inning and rolled over Remick's, 18-10, with Scott Sacchetti getting the win in his first start. He was supported by a 14-hit attack which included a triple and single by Steve Happs, the same for Joey Gelba, two hits each for Steve Conostas, Steve Turner and Sacchetti and one each for Jim Kane, Charlie McIntyre, Matt McNamara and John McNamara.

Colonial also topped VFW,

Foley walloped Kiwanis, 12-3, with Roy Peterson the winning pitcher. Foley broke the game wide open with eight runs in the third inning. Roy Peterson had three hits and Furtado, Murphy and Kyle Peterson two each. Marshall drove in three runs with a triple. Flavin and Doherty had two hits apiece for Kiwanis.

Remick's outslugged Boston Gear, 11-9, with Greg McGlame receiving credit for the win. Chris Rossi had a three-home and Jim Mayo won the game with a two-run homer.

North's Leone 2nd In High Jump

North Quincy's Jack Leone placed second in the Class B high jump in last Saturday's Eastern Mass. meet with a jump of 6-4, but he was well behind Greg Gonsoles, Falmouth's amazing jumper, who cleared 6-10½. Gonzales two weeks ago became the first Massachusetts schoolboy able to clear 7 feet.

North's only other scorer was Bill Dailey, who took fourth in the pole vault at 12 feet. The Raiders scored 12 points.

In Class A Quincy scored six points with Roy Higgins fourth in the 440 and John Furey fifth in the two-mile.

The all-state meet is scheduled for Saturday.

Conti Hurls No Hitter

Houghs Neck Legion Wins 5 In Row

Houghs Neck Legion is off and to a good start in defense of its Babe Ruth League American Division championship as it won its first five games.

Joe Conti threw a no-hitter in his third start of the season as HN defeated Hancock Bank, 5-0. The 14-year old Conti had 10 strikeouts and allowed only two balls out of the infield. Keith Smith paced HN with three hits and two RBI, while Dewey Wilcoxon made two outstanding plays to save Conti's no-hitter.

Houghs Neck defeated the VFW, 7-2, behind 15-year-old Chris Matthews, who pitched a six-hitter in his first start as a pitcher. Smith and Marty McLoughlin had two hits apiece and Bill Foley and Matthews had timely RBI singles. For VFW pitcher Mike Cullen, who pitched well except for a four-run fifth inning, had three hits including a triple.

HN exploded for eight runs in the first inning and walloped Golden Print, 16-7, with McLoughlin the winning pitcher. Dale Adams and Conti had three hits apiece, Foley and McLoughlin two each. 13-year-old Joe Ciardi had a key two-run double and Chris Hurley hit a home run.

Tom Corliss and John Balzano had two hits each for Golden.

Conti scattered eight hits, struck out six and walked only two as HN topped Local 1139, 8-3. Wilcoxon had two hits and McLoughlin, Ted Walsh, Foley, Matthews, Chip Griffin and Hurley had, hits. Griffin and Hurley provided some key defensive plays. Kevin Sullivan and Rich Comeau each had two hits for Local 1139.

McLoughlin hurled a five-hitter, struck out eight and walked four as HN won its season's opener, 4-3, over Quincy Firemen. McLoughlin also had a run scoring double, Wilcoxon had two hits and Walsh and Smith one each. Wilcoxon also had a great day on defense as shortstop. Ted Fames pitched well in a losing cause, also allowing five hits. HN clinched the win with a three-run fifth.

Mariners Sweep Doubleheader

The Quincy Mariners got off to an impressive start in the South Coastal Baseball League by sweeping a doubleheader from Whitman last Sunday at Adams Field.

Quincy won the opener, 1-0, as Ron Donovan pitched a two-hitter and struck out seven. Todd Mills scored the only run on a bases loaded walk. Mark Giordani had the only Quincy hit.

The second game was much different as the Mariners had to overcome a 10-4 deficit to pull out an extra-inning 11-10 victory.

Jimmy Roberts, who recently completed an outstanding season for the U.S. Naval Academy team, sparked the comeback with a two-run single and Joe Seeler, Giordani and Bob Benn came through with run scoring hits.

The game went into extra innings and in the eighth Roberts led off with a double and scored the winning run on Tom Perry's single. Bryan Mahoney was the winning pitcher in relief.

Track Club Wins Warriors Meet

Led by the stunning performances of Georgia Traficante and Maureen Roche, the Quincy Track Club rolled up 98 points to beat 10 other teams and win the fifth annual Warriors Girls Middle School Grades 6-8 Meet last Saturday at Apponequet High School.

Traficante leaped to a club and meet record of five feet in the high jump and also won the softball throw with a toss of 194 feet, took fourth in the 120-yard hurdles and received the meet's Most Valuable Performer award. Georgia is a seventh grader at Sterling Junior High.

Roche won the long jump at 15-1 a meet record, on her final try, won the 100 in 12.2 seconds and anchored the relay team which also comprised Terry

Hamilton, Denise Metta and Kristine Picarski. The team set a meet record of $6.7.

Other QTC winners were Picarski, who won the 220 in 27.2, a meet record, and placed fourth in the long jump, and Tracy Cull, who won the 880 in 2:36.5, another meet record.

Also scoring were Terri Rodgers, second in the mile with her best ever time of 5:50.9; Denise Petta, third in the 220; Tracy Wilson, fifth in the 440;

Eileen Morris, sixth in the 880; and the mile relay team of Coull, Morris, Bernadette Murphy and Karen Dunn, which placed third. Duxbury was second to Quincy 69 points and Falmouth scored 55.

Saturday the Quincy club will compete in the State Police Junior Olympic sectionals at Braintree High.

The QTC membership has swelled to a record 423 members.

Louis Sockalexis of Maine was the first American Indian to play professional baseball. The Cleveland Indians are so named for him.

N.Q. Kickers Win 5th, 4-0

The North Quincy Kickers under-12 soccer team defeated Stoughton, 4-0, for its fifth South Shore League victory of the season.

Dave Fasano, playing with an injured foot, scored the first goal 15 minutes into the game on a fine pass from Rob Bradley. Pat Harrington scored his ninth goal, receiving a throw-in from Bradley. North's defense, led by Joey Rabs and Chris Rossi, stopped several good scoring threats.

Newcomer Billy Caplin, replacing Harrington, showed some excellent ball-control skills and picked up an assist on Fasano's second goal of the game and sixth of the season. Teddy Shionis, North's goalie, was the star of the second half, making several brilliant saves on breakaways. His kicking also got the Kickers' offense moving quickly, many times kicking 40 yards. Eric Rounsey scored his fifth goal, stealing a Stoughton clear-out.

Mark Scanlan, moving from forward to halfback, played another outstanding game. Paul Kurtzman played his best game both on offense and defense. Mark Kurkin, Timmy Burke.

Bradley, Pat O'Sullivan, Jimmy Cahill and Kevin McCloskey also played well.

This was Shionis' third shutout in the last four games. He has allowed only three goals in four games and the team has been scored upon only seven times all season.

Paul Bregoli, the Kickers' coach and also North Quincy High coach, and Quincy High Coach Jim McGuire plan a youth soccer program in Quincy next fall in order to improve the caliber of the high school teams and the Kickers will form the nucleus of the program.

"We definitely need a youth program in the city," Bregoli said. "Our high school teams have little chance against such schools as Newton and Brockton, which have had youth programs for many years."

Saturday the Kickers' under 12 team will play at Stoughton at 10 a.m. and Sunday will be home to Abington at 1-10. The under 16 team will be home to Easton Sunday and will host West Bridgewater June 15, and the under 19 team will play at Abington Sunday and will be at Bridgewater June 15.

Quincy Girls Open Tourney As Suburban Champs

By TOM SULLIVAN

Barbara Webster's Quincy High School girls' softball team open the Eastern Mass. Tournament action today (Thursday) as the undisputed Suburban League champions.

At press time Quincy's first tournament opponent and the site of the game had not been decided.

The First Ladies clinched their second victory over Newton North, 8-6. On Friday, they finished a 15-1 league season (15-2 overall) by bombing Weymouth North, 18-4.

"We were only about .500 last year and, truthfully, before the season began, I would have been pleased to go .500 again," Miss Webster said. "But after our first game, a non-league against Scituate, which had six players back from a state championship team, I felt we would be a good club. Scituate beat us, 8-5 but the girls gained a lot of confidence and it was a terrific season."

Susan Gallery, who pitched every game for Quincy, finished up with the same record as the team with an eight-hitter in the bombing of Weymouth South.

Outfielder Sue Callahan sparked a seven-run fourth inning with a base-clearing triple to break the game wide open. Third baseman Sue Callahan (no relation) drove in four runs with two hits, Debbie Ohlson had three hits and Mary Kamb, the team's top batter, had two.

The First Ladies continued to play outstanding defense in the title-clinching win over Newton North. Gallery, who doesn't throw with speed, walked six and gave up eight hits, but the defense helped her out. Left fielder Maureen Maher had eight putouts and she doubled up a runner in the fifth with a strong throw, ending what had been a threat with runners on first and second and no outs.

Third baseman Callahan, shortstop Laura Miller, and second baseman Ohlson turned in excellent performances and sophomore right fielder Nancy McDonald and junior catcher Nancy Chludzinski also played well.

"This season has been a very nice surprise, and I'm pleased with our seniors, Maher, Ohlson, Callahan (third baseman) and Miller. They have been with me for three years and they deserve the league title and a tournament berth," Miss Webster said.

Kamb led the First Ladies at bat with a .407 average and 26 RBIs. Chludzinski batted .373 with 11 RBIs and Miller had a .326 mark with 10 RBIs and she led the league with 12 stolen bases.

Lou Ioanilli's North Quincy girls, once with a 2-10 record, made a complete about-face and won their last five games to end 7-10.

"We had a real young squad and it took the girls a while to get adjusted," first-year coach Ioanilli said. "I discovered Eileen Cronin, who turned out to be an outstanding pitcher and she played a key role in our comeback. She finished with a 5-1 record. With many of the girls coming back next year, things look promising."

The Raiderettes finished with a 15-3 thumping of Cambridge Rindge and Latin as Irish Negus and Joanne Runge hit home runs. Negus had three hits and three RBIs. Runge had two hits and two RBIs. Kit Harrow had three hits and two RBIs and Becky Holcomb had three RBIs.

In its previous game North had slugged Weymouth South, 19-9, with Harrow and Runge having home runs. Cronin was the winning pitcher with outstanding relief help from Maureen Worley.

Earlier the Raiderettes had taken their biggest win of the year, 11-8, over Newton North, knocking Newton out of a top tie with Quincy in the Suburban League.

Negus had a grand slam homer to highlight a five-run fourth inning, had two other hits and drove in five runs. Cronin was the winner, allowing seven hits, striking out four and walking six. Kim Alberti had three hits and Runge had three and drove in three runs.

Negus was North's leading batter with a .490 average and she hit four home runs. Runge was another power hitter and she, Alberti, Laurie Barba and Lauren Apollo all hit .390 or better.

Last Saturday night the North defeated the South, 7-4, in the league all-star game.

Quincy had four players named to the league all-star first team, Gallery, Ohlson, Maher and Miller. Chludzinski and outfielder Callahan also played for the South squad. Ohlson, Miller and Maher, however, missed the game due to the senior prom.

Negus, Alberti, Barba and Apollo represented North Quincy in the game.

Broad Meadows Defeats Central

The Broad Meadows Junior High boys' track team continued unbeaten with a 49-33 victory over Central, improving its record to 3-0 and running its unbeaten streak to seven meets over two years.

The win was keyed by the double wins of Mike Williams, one of the outstanding young trackmen on the South Shore, who won the 440 and long jump. He is unbeaten in both events.

Other BM scorers were Carl Freedman, winner of the hurdles and third in the long jump; John Robertson, winner of the high jump and second in the mile; Dave Ladas and Bill Cunneen, 2-3 in the 880; Mark Cohen, third in the mile; Jim Donahue and Marcello Savage, 2-3 in the 440; Ed Kennedy, second in the high jump; Mike Chenette and Bill Rollins, 1-2 in the shot put.

Thursday Track Club

Deadline For Elementary Age

Today (Thursday) is the final day for all elementary school boys and girls to sign up for the Quincy Track Club.

June 10 is the deadline for members of junior high teams and June 20 for all high schoolers and non-residents of Quincy of all ages.

Several QTC members excelled last Saturday in the high school girls' Eastern Mass. championships, held at three locations.

All of the girls who scored for North Quincy, a strong second place finisher in Class B at Wellesley, are members of the QTC, as are Denise Santo of Milton, who placed fifth in the 100, Kathy Stevens of Hingham, who won the 440, and Lianne Supple, who placed second in the high jump and fifth in the hurdles.

In Class A at Andover Caroline Mitchell of Needham took second in the 880 and fifth in the high jump and Margaret Osterman was fourth in the 880. Both have been with the QTC since age 13.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsweil

WEEK OF JUNE 5.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19
The season's nearly over, but you get a great urge to do some spring cleaning. More than that, you're having a late case of spring fever, the major symptom being a yen to travel. Fortunately, timing is perfect.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20
You're easily worked up over issues — any cause you back now, you do so with passion. Domestic disputes can be settled with creative thinking. Romance beckons by Sunday.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20
Continue to develop plans despite recent setback. Ideas are sparkling. Clear up weekend misunderstanding promptly. Consider launching new athletic program by Tuesday.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 21
You advance three steps toward important goal, thanks to rich abundance of charm. But watch stubborn streak on Monday-Tuesday. If not careful, you could move back two paces — at least.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21
The good and/or bad news is that you're asked to revise and expand on recent efforts. Fun and games and hearty eating figure into weekend plans. Children bring good cheer through week.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22
You and the other person in your life may not see eye-to-eye on a key issue, and this may be the week to clear the air. Actually, it can be the most positive time — if you just face the facts and the music.

LEO — July 23 - August 22
An alert Leo can make a real coup, stepping in the moment someone drops out of a competition or declines an offer. Go after unanswered communication and, especially, unpaid receivables.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 23
Late arrivals, surprise bulletins and last-minute invitations are part of week's plan. Until Monday, judgment regarding money matters may be clouded. Small risks pay off on Wednesday.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22
The expression, "method in his/her madness" takes on special meaning as you observe work habits of employer or older relative. A favorite theory could be smashed — but you can come up with even more innovative solutions.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21
You get a glimpse into some of the year's upcoming big events during this "preview" week. Psychic powers are strong but logic is nearly non-existent — especially during weekend debates.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22
Schedules are rearranged, meaning additional pressure. Try delegating more of the workload. If traveling or making plans for a trip, be sure your information is up-to-the-moment.

CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20
Thursday-Friday find you involved in a debate; try to keep it on an intellectual plane. Some of your best ideas are inspired by youngsters. Recent financial setback is reversed.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're gregarious by nature — and often impossible to tie down. Most controversial feature is your gift of gab. Education and partnerships are accentuated through the year. If planning to return to school, start a business or tie the knot — this is the year.

BORN THIS WEEK
June 5th, actor William Boyd; 6th, writer Alexander Pushkin; 7th singer Tom Jones; 8th, architect F.L. Wright; 9th, com poser/lyricist Cole Porter; 10th, actress Judy Garland; 11th, explorer Jacques Cousteau.

'Reclaim Future With New Energy Policies,' Says Tsongas

broadly, we must reexamine every aspect of how society is organized in terms of energy use. The patterns of modern society developed in an age of cheap energy that is now extinct.

"The priority of conservation and renewables is beyond dispute. During the last few years, a consensus has developed in their favor. 'Energy Future,' the report of the Harvard Business School's Energy Project, is one of the best scientific analyses. I urge each of you to read it. A new example of consensus is the very positive article about conservation in this month's issue of 'Reader's Digest,' which is not known for a far-out, weird approach. The article is one more sign that America is outgrowing the old faith in an easy answer through 'new oil' production, technological miracles, or blind luck. Relatively speaking, energy conservation is the easy answer -- or at least a large part of the answer.

"Some technocrats and politicians are willing to sacrifice the environmental gains of the 1970's in hope for energy solutions. I'm not, because energy from conservation and renewables is so underutilized. In fact, conservation exposes the false dichotomy between energy needs and environmental standards. Two principles coincide in the single word 'conservation':

"1. conservation of energy, or 'energy efficiency,' including new gadgets, new habits, building design and improvements.

"2. conservation of the environment, including clean air and water, wilderness preservation, unpolluted land.

"Last week, I chaired hearings on one example of environmental risk from energy technology -- acid rain. It is caused in large measure by fossil fuel-burning power plants, and is a danger in increasing our reliance on coal. Acid rain is produced when water vapor in the atmosphere combines with oxides of sulphur and nitrogen to form strong sulfuric and nitric acid. These pollutants fall back to earth and can cause environmental damage translating into billions of dollars in economic loss. The possible results include:

- Sterility of sensitive lakes and fisheries
- Damage to crops and forests
- Decreased soil fertility
- Corrosion of materials and structures
- Visibility reduction
- Health problems

"There may be another grave danger. Some experts warn that synthetic fuels and increased coal use will produce a 'greenhouse effect.' They predict that if worldwide use of fossil fuels continues to grow at four percent a year, carbon dioxide in the atmosphere will double by the year 2030. Under this scenario, the globe would warm up three degrees Celsius, melting the arctic ice caps and flooding coastal areas. These experts predict severe changes in the world's ecology. America's 'bread basket' region could be ruined. The greenhouse effect might not be reversible; there might be no obvious warning until it's too late.

"We must maximize energy conservation to minimize environmental destruction. The principle is simple; its practice is just a shadow of what it should be.

"The federal government is ready to assist citizens in energy conservation and renewable energy improvements. Tax credits are available now. Loan subsidies from my Solar and Conservation Bank legislation should be available later this year. I'm also hopeful that Congress will pass my Community Energy Act, which would support energy leadership at the local level. Because conservation and renewable resources are decentralized, individuals and communities must lead the way.

"Planning to reclaim control of our future must transcend energy policy as we think of it now. How and where we live and work -- the patterns of our society -- have been shaped by cheap energy. Now we must reexamine practices and policies in such areas as transportation, career training, foreign trade, housing, recreation, settlement patterns and urban revitalization. We must incorporate energy reality into all decisionmaking -- personal, corporate, or governmental. The only alternative is that energy shortages and soaring prices will control our lives and make decisions for us.

"In April, I presented The Massachusetts Plan, a comprehensive analysis of how we can survive and prosper in spite of the energy challenge. Its 256 recommendations are designed to form a protective barrier against future energy shocks. The recommendations are directed to individuals, utilities, business and industry, and government at the local, state, and federal level. I urge you -- as members of your community and residents of the Commonwealth -- to get a copy and take a stand on it.

"Every day, individuals, executives, and public officials make decisions that are just plain wrong in terms of the energy future.

- People still buy gas guzzlers and houses that ignore passive solar design. If that house is far from work, it's a three-way waste that mocks the energy shortages we all will share.
- Businesses put up buildings inaccessible to mass transit.
- Utilities treat conservation and renewables with tokenism.
- Local governments persist in zoning, traffic plans, and purchasing policies that ignore energy waste.

"These individual acts of shortsightedness add up to our common danger. We must change this pattern of waste now. "Today is a time for warm memories and great dreams. I hope you do have confidence in yourselves -- I certainly have confidence in you. I wish you luck to use some of your own resources -- as you have developed them -- to secure the future of your community, your Commonwealth, and your country. Without such an investment in our energy future, your children and mine won't have much of a chance."

won't be necessary."

That still leaves the school system with about $3.5 million in cuts to make up, said Creedon. The resultant cutbacks and layoffs may make the system "second-rate" or "third-rate," he claimed.

"We would, as a community-wide system, have no adult community education programs," Creedon said. "We would have no curriculum development.

"In a very short period of time, our curriculum would be very seriously outdated and outmoded," he said.

"I don't know if he actually said that," said Mayor Arthur Tobin, referring to Creedon's "second-rate" or "third-rate" remarks, "but I disagree." Tobin had recommended that the council cut the school budget to the present $34.2 million figure.

"I don't think it's going to affect the quality of education at all," Tobin said.

"No, I'm not sure we would be second-rate," said Kennedy. "There's still an awful lot of good in the school system.

"However, I fear very much for the evening adult education programs, which I've always felt were extremely valuable," Kennedy said.

Passage of the $1.4 million supplemental budget Monday night would have averted further cuts, Kennedy said.

But the council rejected it by a 5-2 vote, with Councilors Joanne Condon, John Lydon, Stephen McGrath, John Quinn and Daniel Raymond opposing it. Francis McCauley and Joseph LaRia supporting it and Leo Kelly and James Sheets not present.

Passage of the supplemental request would have funded $1.4 million in raises for school employees for this fiscal year instead of putting them off until 1980-81.

But, after hearing City Auditor Charles Shea say there was no money available to pay for the raises, Raymond said, "the only way to fund those raises would be to close down the entire city of Quincy for the month and try to raise the $1.4 million."

"To even vote upon it is an act of futility because it has no appropriation order attached," added McGrath.

Lydon said the raises could still be paid during the 1980-81 fiscal year, but funds were not available now.

"It's a sign of the times, and these are tough times," said Lydon.

McCauley disagreed, saying the school budget cuts had been excessive.

"I agree there have to be cuts, but not that much," he said. "That's too damn much."

"There was no department in the city that was not cut," countered Mrs. Condon. To the dozens of teachers present, she said, "We support your raises, we support your negotiations. We never did not support your negotiations."

"Anyone who thinks a $4.7 million cut in the school budget will leave money for all those raises and keep all the schools open and keep athletics had better take a second look," Kennedy told the council.

The council meeting was attended by an estimated 300 to 400 persons, who crowded the council chamber, filled the aisles and spilled into adjacent stairways and halls. The group appeared to be equally split between school teachers and parents concerned about the threatened closing of neighborhood schools.

City Clerk John Gillis said it was the largest crowd he had seen in his over 20 years at City Hall.

Kennedy and Robert Garner, president of the Quincy Education Association, each said they were considering 10-taxpayer suits to force funding of the $1.4 million supplemental request.

"We have a list of 20 taxpayers ready to go," Garner said. "We'll have to talk it over with our lawyers and decide what we'll do."

Kennedy said School Committee members would also probably discuss such a suit.

Finds It 'Incredible'

Tobin Ired At Teachers' Comparison To Ayatollah

Mayor Arthur Tobin finds a teachers' union newsletter comparing some of the city's politicians including, presumably, himself to the Ayatollah Khomeini "incredible."

"A vote for the Ayatollah would even be preferable to a vote for anyone who contributes to denying our families a raise," read a recent message from Quincy Education Association President Robert Garner.

"Can you imagine that?" asked Tobin. "Here we have an insane leader in a foreign country holding 50 innocent people for over 200 days, and we have supposedly responsible people advocating a vote for the Ayatollah. I find that absolutely incredible."

Tobin cited the newsletter as an example of "totally irresponsible" tactics used by Garner in the long-running dispute over the school budget.

The newsletter asked the city's 1000-plus teachers to send letters to the city councillors urging passage of the $1.4 million supplemental budget request containing raises for school employees. It recommended that the teachers threaten reprisals at the polls against the councillors who oppose the request.

"Roughly 2,000 school employees are asking for $1.4 million while roughly 200 firemen will be guaranteed $1.5 million," the newsletter said.

Garner would not comment on Tobin's remarks.

Navy Board Here June 16 For Review Of Discharges

The Department of the Navy announces that a Traveling Board from the Navy Discharge Review Board (NDRB) in Washington, D.C., will be in Quincy, from June 16 to June 20.

The Traveling Board will conduct hearings for approximately 50 former sailors and marines with discharges under other than honorable conditions who desire to appeal the character of their discharges.

The hearings will be held in the Navy Reserve Center, 85 Sea St., Quincy, for those individuals who have already applied for an NDRB review by initiating appropriate applications.

An NDRB Traveling Board will again visit Quincy when there are sufficient applicants and contingent upon the availability of Navy funds and manpower. It takes approximately six months to process an application.

Former sailors and marines desiring to apply for review of their discharge may obtain information on how to initiate discharge or separation review procedures from a local Veterans Administration office; Veterans Office; or the American Red Cross.

A Traveling Board is not the initial contact to initiate a review. The panel's time is fully scheduled hearing applicants who have previously applied and prepared their cases.

Under the Traveling Board concept, a panel from the Discharge Review Board travels to a field location where applicants present their cases before the panel. The board may, if appropriate, question the applicants and any witnesses that appear.

The purpose of the NDRB's Traveling Board visit is to assist applicants not located near Washington, D.C., to present their cases at a minimum of personal expense and inconvenience.

Marshall Opposes Kramer Program

Prisoners Released To Make Room For Weekend Sentences

By TOM HENSHAW

Sheriff Clifford H. Marshall said this week that 10 inmates of the Norfolk County jail have been released early to make room for weekend prisoners, including some sentenced for driving under the influence of liquor.

Three of the prisoners who received early release were serving time for breaking and entering, one for assault and battery, one for forgery and one on drug charges. The others involved motor vehicles offenses.

"I am opposed," said Marshall, "to letting people who are convicted of criminal offenses go to make room for people who are arrested and prosecuted for operating under the influence."

Marshall, in an interview with The Sun, was critical of Judge Albert L. Kramer, presiding justice of the Quincy District Court, who recently opened a campaign to send drunken drivers to jail.

"He's got a commitment made that people have got to go to jail if they get convicted of driving under the influence the second time in the Quincy District Court area," said Marshall.

"To do that he's got to have space. He cannot have someone like me turning people away. So that's what they did. They rushed through parole and they revised and revoked sentences."

Judge Kramer was attending a conference and unavailable for comment but his probation chief, Andrew Klein, said that he was the one who investigated the paroles of some inmates.

"It is the judge's prerogative to revise and revoke sentences," he said, "so I can't comment on that."

"But it was the joint recommendation by myself and the district attorney and the sheriff's own department that these people were fit subjects for county parole."

"These are very carefully screened cases. All were eligible for parole. All were recommended for county parole by the sheriff's department. We concurred as did the county commissioners."

"I'm not sure what the big deal is about this."

Marshall said that four of the inmates were released after Judge Kramer "revised and revoked" their sentences to time already served. Six were released on parole.

Those whose sentences were revised and revoked included:

- One serving 12 days for operating under the influence, released after eight days.
- One serving 30 days for breaking and entering in the nighttime with intent to commit a felony, released after 17 days.

- One serving six months for assault and battery, released after three months.

- One serving three months and three months concurrent on two charges of possession of a controlled substance (drugs), released after one month.

Those paroled included:

- One serving 60 days for breaking and entering in the daytime, released after 30 days.

- One serving 60 days for breaking and entering in the nighttime with intent to commit a felony, released after 30 days.

- One serving 30 days for using a motor vehicle without authority, released after 15 days.

- One serving six months for leaving the scene of an accident after causing property damage, released after three months.

- One serving three months for leaving the scene of an accident after causing personal injury, released after a month and a half.

- One serving 90 days for

Layoff Notices Out To Firefighters, Other City Workers

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Some 30 layoff notices have gone out to city workers in the past week as Quincy began tightening its belt in preparation for the 1980-81 austerity budget.

Included in the layoffs were 14 firefighters.

"It hurt me especially to have to take this action in the Fire Department," said Mayor Tobin. "These are all good decent young men who have shown promise of being excellent firefighters."

"I can assure them that they will get first preference when openings occur due to retirements and other attritions."

Meanwhile, the School Committee was expected to begin wrestling Wednesday night with $2.1 million in budget cuts that could lop off another 130 jobs.

The committee decided last week to eliminate school closings and the cancellation of sports next year as economy measures.

But, among the measures now likely to take place are elimination of summer and evening programs, 15 teachers' jobs and about 115 other school employees.

The cuts were made necessary last month when the City Council trimmed the proposed school budget from $39 million to $34.3 million. The $4.7 million deficit which resulted was cut to $2.1 million by two steps:

- The expected approval, by the City Council, of an additional $1.2 million as allowed in a bill recently passed by the state legislature exempting energy costs from the four percent spending cap.

- The elimination from the 1980-81 budget of $1.4 million in raises for school employees which had been scheduled for payment in 1979-80 but have not yet been

To Monitor Soaring Costs

Tobin Considering Department Of Energy

Mayor Tobin is exploring the possibility of setting up a separate Department of Energy within the city government to monitor energy expenditures which, he said, are "in excess of $5 million and climbing."

The Mayor said that under the plan money set aside for energy costs would be taken out of the budgets of existing departments, including the school and hospital, and placed under the supervision of a director.

The new department, which would include the director and a clerical staff, would be set up through the transfer of funds within the 1980-81 budget.

"Instead of having fragmented services and fragmented decisions being brought to the Mayor we would have a department concentrating solely on this issue," said Tobin.

"The cost would be more than made up by the savings of having someone overseeing the whole operation."

The Mayor said there is a possibility of filling positions in the new Department of Energy "in house," that is, by rehiring some of the city employees who face layoffs under the city's budget austerity program.

Tobin said the question of personnel would be addressed at a meeting scheduled for sometime yesterday (Wednesday) among staff members who have been involved in the city's energy programs.

In addition to possible savings, he said, a Department of Energy would prepare the city to apply for any federal and state money that might become available to help with energy costs.

"If we could put this department together and show the State Energy Department that this city is making an all out effort to monitor energy costs it would help us obtain money," he said.

Tobin said everyone he has talked to about the Department of Energy proposal has looked on the idea favorably, including acting Council President John J. Quinn.

The Council would have to approve the transfers of the money between the various accounts in the budget.

5,000 'Suspects' In Gorillanapping

A six-foot plastic gorilla, stolen early Sunday morning from a Southern Artery miniature golf course, turned up on the campus of Massachusetts Junior College in Brockton.

The wayward ape was found by patrolmen "in the wee morning hours" Tuesday, according to Brockton police detective Joseph Smith.

It had disappeared early Sunday from Wonder Golf on the Southern Artery, which had opened last Tuesday.

The theft may have been a student prank, said Smith: "We have 5,000 suspects."

Section 8 Housing Applications Accepted

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy) has been informed that the Office of Communities and Development is accepting applications for Section 8 housing funding.

Applications will be accepted in three locations June 19 at Lincoln-Sudbury Regional High School, 3901 Lincoln Rd., Sudbury; June 24 at Randolph High School, Memorial Parkway, Randolph; and June 26 at the Unitarian Church, 53 Central St., Stoneham. Morrissey said applications will be accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis during two sessions on each of these days, 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon and 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Application must be made in person, unless you are elderly, disabled, or handicapped. A special toll-free line has been established for such persons to request an application by mail. The number is 1-800-392-6043.

The toll-free line will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, June 18-27.

'We Had No Choice'

Library Board Votes To Close Two More Branches

"We had no choice but to close the Houghs Neck and West Quincy branch libraries after the severe budget cuts," said Paul Marini of the library board of trustees which voted on the closings Monday night.

The two Thomas Crane library branches will close June 30, as will the Atlantic and Squantum branches which the board voted on last month.

The closings are a result of a $129,000 cut in the library budget by Mayor Arthur Tobin, coupled with $100,000 budget cut by the city council.

Marini confirmed there will be no layoffs of permanent employees as a result of the closings, but added the staff will be reduced by "attrition," a curtailment in personnel through retirement, resignation.

"We won't be able to fill some vacancies which we would have to," said Marini.

The trustees also agreed to eliminate high school help and reduce adult part time help by 20%.

According to library director Warren Watson, the closings are an alternative to reductions in library services. Watson added, however, that some marginal service cuts will be studied.

The Houghs Neck branch will be leaving a new facility that also houses the Manet Community Health Center.

What will happen to the vacant buildings? Board members noted at the meeting that some businessmen and residents have expressed interest in purchasing the West Quincy or Furnace Brook Parkway branch and the Quincy Art Association has also shown interest in rental.

Board members will also consider asking neighborhood groups if they are interested in the buildings.

The trustees voted to transfer usable books from the branches that close to other library facilities, and to sell other volumes at public sales.

All branch furniture except that of the Squantum branch will be reclaimed by the board. Furniture from the Squantum branch will be used by the Squantum Neighborhood Center.

European Economic Head Visits Schools

European Economic Community Chief Hermann DaFonseca-Wollheim visited Quincy Tuesday concluding for the school year the Distinguished Visitors Program.

DaFonseca-Wollheim of Belgium, is chief, Division of Relations with Inter-governmental Cooperation between Member States and Secretariat General, European Economic Community.

He is responsible for foreign affairs and negotiations with Britain, Norway, Denmark and Ireland.

While in Quincy, he visited School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, Mayor Arthur Tobin, School Committee members and social studies students at Quincy High School.

The Quincy School System is the only such system DaFonseca-Wollheim visited while in the U.S. and his visits were arranged by Paul S. Stanton and William J. Sullivan.

Over 55 world leaders have come to Quincy in cooperation with the Center for International Visitors, Boston, and Project LINC, directed by Michael W. Hurley.

Tobin: 'No Regrets' Bowling Out Of Council Race

"I have no regrets at all," said Mayor Arthur H. Tobin. "Sonny McDonough was a friend of mine."

What Tobin had no regrets about was his withdrawal from the race for Governor's Council in the Fourth District only a few days before the death of Patrick J. (Sonny) McDonough, who held the seat for some 33 years.

Ironically, McDonough died two days before a joint session of the House and Senate was scheduled to consider a constitutional amendment that would abolish the Governor's Council.

"It might have been abolished a long time ago if it wasn't for Sonny McDonough," said Sen. Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy).

Tobin, who entered the race on speculation that McDonough would not run, withdrew after McDonough told him that he planned to run for another term.

The Mayor said McDonough himself called him at 2:15 p.m. on May 27, the deadline for filing nomination papers.

"He informed me that he was feeling much better from his recent operation and that he was filing for one more term," said Tobin. "He wanted to know what my intentions were."

"I informed him that if he was a candidate I wished him well. He thanked me. The rest is history."

McDonough, who is often called the last of the "last hurrah" politicians, died early Monday morning at his home in Plymouth.

His passing leaves six candidates in the race for the Council seat, five Democrats and one Republican.

Democrats are James Carroll of Cohasset, Patrick Corcoran of Marshfield, Harold L. O'Brien of South Boston, and Peter Eleey and William F. Walsh, both of Quincy.

The Republican is William Robinson of St. Paul.

Shea Loses MBTA Post

Joseph P. Shea of Quincy is one of the victims of the high level purge of MBTA officials.

Shea, who was once executive secretary to Mayor Walter J. Hannon, lost his $35,000 post as an administrative assistant in the shakeup that followed Chairman Robert L. Foster's resignation.

Shea was fired by Barry Locke, former State Secretary of Transportation, who was named by Gov. King to succeed Foster.

A five-year employee of the T, he had previously worked in the police and construction departments.

Shea was not available for comment on his dismissal.

Apartment House Owners To Meet June 17

The Concerned Quincy Apartment House Owners' Association will hold an organizational meeting Tuesday, June 17, at 8 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Clubhouse, 93 Holbrook Rd., Montclair.

The association was organized as a result of the controversial reassessment of apartment houses in 1979.

Permanent officers will be elected at next week's meeting and, said spokesman Roger B. Lyons, preparations will be made for a legal action if the assessors "fail to provide fair and equal valuations."

Now Officially A Veteran

At 87, She's First Woman Member Of Bryan VFW Post

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Nobody can call Mrs. Lydia Warren "a joiner."

It took her almost 61 years to become a member of Quincy's George F. Bryan Veterans of Foreign Wars Post.

That wasn't by choice, though. It took almost that long for her World War I honorable discharge to become official.

Mrs. Warren was one of 335 civilian women who served as telephone operators for the American armed forces in France. That group was not recognized officially as veterans until May, 1979, and Mrs. Warren did not receive her honorable discharge until this April.

Saturday night she was officially installed as a member of the Bryan VFW Post at age 87.

In 1917, Mrs. Warren, then Lydia Gelinas, 25, of Nashua, N.H., volunteered for overseas duty as an operator. During her 15-day trip to France aboard a converted ocean liner she met her future husband, Army Captain John Warren.

The pair married after the war and settled in Boston, where Mr. Warren became a policeman. After his death in 1945, Mrs. Warren became a telephone operator again, retiring in 1972 at the age of 79.

During this time she was working on behalf of her fellow World War I telephone operators, seeking to gain recognition for them as official veterans.

That effort bore fruit in April, 1979, when it was ruled that the group was eligible for veterans benefits.

She is the first woman member of the Bryan VFW Post, as well as the oldest new inductee.

Point Paving Job On State DPW Agenda

Bids for a $93,000 project to pave Washington St., Quincy Point, between the rotary at the Fore River Bridge to Chubbuck St. will be opened June 24 by the State DPW.

Sen. Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy), who urged the DPW to move quickly on the job, said that construction work may get underway as early as mid-July.

Diane Solander, Beth Tutunjian Selected For Mass. Girls State

Quincy High School juniors Diane Solander and Beth Ann Tutunjian are the Morrisette Legion Auxiliary's delegate and alternate, respectively, for Massachusetts Girls State June 15-20.

The young women and their guests were recently presented at the Girls State Tea at the Dedham American Legion Post by Marie P. LoCicero, Morrisette Girls State chairman.

As delegate, Miss Solander will be among 250 girls from across the state to attend the 36th session of Mass. Girls State at Bridgewater State College. Purpose of the event is to foster a knowledge of fundamental principles of American government through actual practice.

Participants will "Learn to Do by Doing" by establishing and operating a miniature state government. There will also be talks by state officials.

Two girls will be selected to represent Massachusetts at Girls Nation later this summer in Washington, D.C.

Miss Solander, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Solander of 22 Homer Rd., Merrymount. Active in soccer, the student council and student advisory council, she is a member of the CYO and a news and feature editor for High School Times. She plans to major in communications at Emerson College.

Miss Tutunjian, also 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Tutunjian of 155 Samoset Ave., Merrymount. She is an elected member of the Student Union and an active member of two leadership conferences. A member of the Page & Stage Drama Club, she also attended a government conference, Model United Nations, at Assumption College as a member of the Venezuelan delegation, and will attend again this year. Her future plans include earning a medical degree.

Both girls received American Legion Awards in the ninth grade.

Louise McNamara First Woman Commencement Speaker At Chamberlayne

Mrs. Louise Downey McNamara of 41 Summit Ave., Wollaston, was the first woman to give the commencement address at recent exercises of Chamberlayne Junior College in the Church of The Covenant, Newbury St., Boston, marking the 86th graduation of the college.

One hundred seventy Associate Degrees were awarded.

Mrs. McNamara, wife of Thomas J. McNamara, is a lecturer in the evening division of Quincy Junior College, holds a Bachelor's Degree from Boston State College, and a Master's Degree in Education from Harvard. She is chairwoman of the Business Department at Chamberlayne, and conducts seminars for Northeastern's Continuing Education Program.

How to pay more than $7,500,000 and be happy about it-----

$7,571,308

That is what we paid our depositors in interest for the Fiscal Year closing April 30, 1980. The amount was $1,137,631 more than the preceding year.

And we folks at The Quincy Co-operative Bank are happy that we have been able to disburse these several millions to our faithful and wonderful shareholders. Quite candidly, it gives us a good feeling.

This large amount indicates how our customers' money has been working for them. Our handsome interest payment total has been achieved because we always pay the highest interest rates allowed by law. Being a co-operative bank, our shareholders are our owners. We have no stockholders.

Thus, as we make money, it goes to our shareholders within the limits set by the U.S. Government.

If you are not a member of our family of shareholders shouldn't you consider joining us? After all, you can join up for as little as a dollar—but you really should deposit more so we can give you our high return on your dollars.

Here is the varied program we have to make your money start earning its own living:

Annual Interest Rate	Account	Effective Annual Yield [Continuously Compounded]
5.00%	NOW Accounts [$10 minimum balance]
5.50%	Regular Savings Accounts [$10 minimum balance]	5.73%

8.00%	8 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	8.45%

26 Week Term Deposit Certificates

[$10,000 minimum deposit] Guaranteed rate is the maximum allowable under the law. Federal regulations prohibit compounding of interest during term of the account. For the latest annual rate contact any of our offices. The bank reserves the right to terminate the availability of these 26 week certificates at any time without notice.

2½ year Term Deposits [New]

5% below average 30 month yield of U.S. Treasury Securities. [$1,000 minimum deposit]

State and Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal of a Term Deposit. In addition, for all term deposits issued after 7/1/79, there will be a straight forfeiture of 6 months interest on accounts with an initial term exceeding 1 year and a straight 3-month forfeiture on times a year or less.

2,500 Youngsters To March In Koch Club Flag Day Parade

What is expected to be the largest and most colorful Flag Day Parade ever in the South Shore will be held Saturday, at 10 A.M. as 2,500 boys and girls donning the uniforms of their organization will each carry U.S. flags in the line of march from Quincy Square to Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Ten gross of flags have been donated for the event by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the Quincy City Club. Another 1000 have been purchased from individual contributions.

Participants in the parade will be allowed to retain the flags following the program as a memento.

It is the 29th consecutive year that the Koch Club of Quincy has sponsored the parade.

Hundreds of others will join the youths including musical units, veterans and military organizations as Quincy Police and Fire Department Color Guards lead the parade down Hancock St. to the stadium for flag raising ceremonies.

Congressman Brian J. Donnelly will be the Keynote Speaker at the stadium.

Thomas M. McDonald of North Quincy, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been selected as grand marshal and will lead the first division with color guards from VFW posts throughout Massachusetts including Quincy's George F. Bryan Post 13 with marching unit and ladies auxiliary.

Along the parade route, participants will pause to honor three U.S. Presidents. At United First Parish Church, Quincy Sq. bearers will place wreaths on the tombs of John Adams, and son, John Quincy Adams. At the John F. Kennedy Health Center, a wreath will be placed in the hall in memory of the President. Kennedy. President Kennedy was the only honorary member of the Koch Club with the recognition conferred in 1958 at Cavanagh Stadium, North Quincy.

Recreational organizations including boys and girls baseball, softball and track teams will be joined by Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and other youth organizations.

Youth organizations are welcome and invited to join in the line of march but must register with Richard J. Koch, 241 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, Executive Director of the Koch Club for a location in the parade.

Condon, Morrissey At Atlantic Center Saturday

Ward 6 Councillor Joanne Condon and State Rep. Michael Morrissey will be available to talk with residents about topics of concern Saturday, June 14, 2 to 4 p.m. at the Atlantic Neighborhood Center, 245 Atlantic St.

Getting Tough About Drugs

Gov. Edward King has signed a new law that doubles jail sentences for sellers and users of deadly phenylcyclidine, more commonly known as "angel dust".

Under the law, judges will now be able to sentence those convicted of selling angel dust for the first time to 10 years in prison and impose a fine of $20,000. Conviction on a second offense could bring up to 15 years in prison and a $30,000 fine.

Governor King also filed two bills that, if enacted, would mean mandatory jail sentences for drug trafficking and the sale of drug paraphernalia.

The latter two bills may not get very far this legislative season because of the late filing.

But, we commend Governor King for his action—especially on the angel dust law, which elevates that dangerous drug to a Class B category. And, we would like to add that it is about time someone started getting a lot tougher about drugs and their ominous danger to society.

Frankly, it would not bother us a bit if every creep caught furnishing drugs to youngsters were locked up and the key thrown away. Get them out of circulation and the drug traffic will be reduced.

The Quincy Sun recently concluded a 15-part in-depth series on the drug problem in Quincy that showed that Quincy—like any other community—is not immune to drugs.

Threaded through the series in interviews with law enforcement officials was the theme that the courts and the laws are too lenient with drug pushers.

Quincy District Court came in for harsh criticism despite Judge Albert Kramer's contention that his court is "the toughest in the state in the terms of drugs."

Lt. Walter Lynch, former head of the Quincy Police Department's Drug Unit cites a 1978 case in which 31 street dealers were involved. Only three served any time and four more received fines. Most got probation or suspended sentences.

And, youths who are experimenting with and running the risk of becoming hooked on drugs apparently have little fear of much being done to them if they are caught. Neither are the young who make the drugs available for their friends.

Says Det. Sgt. Daniel Lyons of the Quincy Police Juvenile Division: "We've found that for us to take a kid to court is like a last resort because once a kid finds out that they don't do anything to you in court then we've lost our clout."

Patrolman Donald Pearson, who patrols the Quincy Center area around the MBTA Station notes: "There are times when they (drug offenders) are on the street again before I've finished writing my report."

Judge Kramer frankly admitted in The Sun series that he himself experimented with marijuana when he was 17 and has told of his experiences in the courtroom.

"I'm glad to share the experience I had when I was 17," he said. "I had one or two joints. I tell them that when I was young I experimented with marijuana and now I don't touch a thing."

But reaction among local police is that Judge Kramer's courtroom frankness may encourage teen-agers to experiment because, after all, a judge did.

Superior Court Judge Henry H. Chmielinski is one judge who believes in cracking down hard on drug offenders—even advocating the death penalty for drug smugglers.

"Probably 80 per cent of the serious crimes that I sit on are directly or indirectly connected with the drug traffic and that's a minimum figure," he said. "I'm very severe on the sale of drugs by people who are in the business to make money."

Judge Chmielinski thinks the day will come when capital punishment will be the penalty for smugglers who bring heroin, cocaine and other hard drugs into the country.

"I regard those people as merchants of death," he says.

There have been many kinds of protests in recent years: Vietnam War, nuclear power, chemical sprays, filling marshlands and even burning leaves.

A protest against drugs and those who make them available is long over-due. Our children's lives are at stake.

The law signed by Governor King is a step in the right direction. But don't let it stop there. Let your elected officials know that you are alarmed about the creeps that make drugs available to children and that you want something more and something tough to be done about it. And done now.

Points To Ponder

- It seems that the less some people know the more eager they are to prove it by continually talking.
- Some advice from an old carpenter: If you measure twice you'll only have to saw once.
- Sign on a roadside stand: we buy junk and sell antiques.
- As Father's Day approaches we might note that while our nation sets aside one day to honor fathers, pickles get a whole week.
- Having certain government bodies review a budget is like asking the Boston Strangler to massage your neck.

Front Row Seats For Tall Ships

The Tall Ships are gone but anyone who saw them won't soon forget them. One word describes them: Magnificent.

A lot of people viewed the Parade of Sail from many vantage points. But two of the best close-up looks belonged to retired Quincy Deputy Fire Chief Thomas Maguire and his wife, Dorothy. They watched from the VIP section on the flight deck aboard the carrier USS John F. Kennedy, the official reviewing ship.

They were the guests of Vice Admiral Thomas J. Bigley, commander of the Second Fleet. The Kennedy is his flagship. Bigley is Dorothy Maguire's brother.

The Maguires rubbed elbows with the likes of Gov. Edward King, Boston Mayor Kevin White and Curt Gowdy, to mention a few.

"It was beautiful," says Maguire.

JOE ANGELO of Remick's and his wife,

Marilyn, had good seats, too, aboard his boat off Long Island. But, they could have done a lot better if they had only known beforehand that the Navy ship anchored across from them was going to be there.

The ship was the guided missile destroyer USS Farragut (37), built at the Bethlehem Steel Quincy Yard and commissioned there in 1960.

Joe's wife, who lived in Milton and whose maiden name is Kunkel, had the honor of christening the Farragut. Her uncle is retired Admiral Donald Felt, former commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

If they had known the Farragut was going to be there, and if the Farragut crew had known the Angelos were going to be there they would have been invited aboard to see the Tall Ships.

Just seeing the Farragut again was a thrill for Marilyn who fondly remembers the day she cracked a bottle of champagne against the ship's bow to the cheers of thousands of onlookers.

WILL THERE BE another Tobin on the campaign trail in the near future? Mark Tobin, 22-year-old son of Mayor and Mrs. Arthur Tobin received his degree from U-Mass Boston the other day. He majored in political science.

SPEAKING OF His Honor, he was amused by the standing ovation he got at the Quincy High School graduation ceremonies.

"It wasn't for anything I said," he notes. "It was for what I didn't say."

During the graduation ceremonies, the skies were dark and ominous after a day of off-and-on rain. Everyone present wanted to get the graduation over with, fearful the clouds would open.

"When it was time for my speech," says Tobin, "I announced I was waiving my prepared text and cutting my remarks."

Yeeeah! Standing ovation.

BOTH CONGRESSMEN Brian Donnelly (D-Dorchester) and Gerry Studds (D-Cohasset) who appeared as the keynote speakers at the South Shore Chamber of Commerce Workshop at Valle's, Braintree, are supporting Senator Edward Kennedy for President.

Studds, whose district includes Hyannis, explained his support thusly:

"We have a thing in our business called constituent service. If a constituent's social security check is lost, you help him find it. And if one of your constituents is running for president, you support him. I thought it was the least I could do."

The state of the campaign reminded Studds of the joke about the man who was walking down a dark alley when accosted by a mugger. He felt a gun in his back and was about to hand over his money when the mugger said: "Carter or Reagan?"

The victim thought it over and made his choice: "Shoot!"

QUINCY DISTRICT COURT Clerk Dennis Ryan is a patient at Massachusetts General Hospital. He was hospitalized with pneumonia early in May.

Shortly after returning from a cruise with his wife, Carol, to Bermuda. He'd like to hear from friends. Sudden thought: Denny should have been named a judge years ago.

He'd make a good one.

IT WILL BE sort of a sentimental journey Sunday when Senator Paul Harold appears as a Massachusetts Boys State speaker at Nichols College, Dudley. Fifteen years ago, as a student at Sacred Heart School, Weymouth, he was selected to participate in Boys State as a delegate.

STEVIE MCGRATH officially kicks off his bid for state representative in Quincy's Second Norfolk District at a campaign dance Friday, June 20 at 8:30 p.m. at Montello's, Quincy. Tickets ($7.50 per person) may be obtained by calling Robert Burgess (471-3863) or Robert Manning (471-3640).

SMILE DEPT: Jack Silverstein, the North Quincy druggist, notes: "No one wants to live to be 100 until you ask the man who is 99."

PTAs Should Participate In School Budget Cuts

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Since we, the parents of Point-Webster Complex, cannot support many of the Superintendent's cuts, or the $4.7 million cut by the City Council, we urge both parties to come to a compromise.

We ask them to consider priorities and not to jeopardize the quality of education of our children.

We also feel that reasonable budget cuts can be made without destroying our school system, and we request that PTA groups, such as ours, be allowed to participate where budget cuts are concerned.

Closing schools for declining enrollment is one issue, but closing schools to reduce expenses is not to the advantage of parents or students of the Quincy Public Schools.

'Carter is Jittery'

Ted Should Stay In Race, Says Lt. Gov. O'Neill

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

"There's plenty of time for party unity after this thing is settled," says Lt. Gov. Thomas O'Neill, one of the chief organizers of Sen. Edward Kennedy's presidential campaign.

"I think Kennedy should push for a debate with Carter and stay in this thing all the way to the convention," said O'Neill in an interview with The Quincy Sun last week.

"I tell you what I told him (Kennedy) three hours ago. 'Stay in the race and help us redefine the Democratic party. Give us traditional Democrats something to hold onto, because right now we have nothing.'"

There are at least two reasons why Kennedy ought to stay in the race, according to O'Neill.

First, Kennedy has to keep hammering away at the economic issues O'Neill feels President Jimmy Carter has been able to ignore so far.

Second, O'Neill isn't sure Carter will be able to beat Ronald Reagan in November's final.

"Jimmy Carter hasn't yet won a traditional Democratic stronghold," O'Neill said. "If you can't carry those big states with liberals and minorities, you're going to have problems."

"With John Anderson in a three-way race, we'll be hard-pressed to re-elect Jimmy Carter. Too many good-thinking Democrats identify better with Anderson than with Carter."

Recent delegate counts suggest Carter will go to the Democratic National Convention with about 1,900 delegates, Kennedy about 1,400, O'Neill said. About 1,650 would be needed for victory.

"But I think only half of those delegates are found required to vote for a specified candidate on the first round, O'Neill said.

O'Neill sees Kennedy's support remaining firm and Carter's eroding as the convention approaches. Contributing to this will be the worsening economy and the president's increasingly dim reelection chances, he said.

The biggest factor in the race so far, O'Neill thinks, has been the Iranian hostage situation.

"If that had never happened, Kennedy would be the nominee right now. Iran muddled up the picture."

"Another thing it did was dry up the money," O'Neill said. Money was a problem throughout the campaign.

"In Ohio we spent $40,000 and Carter spent $650,000 and we lost by seven points. If we had $50,000 more, we would have won."

"I spent $3,500 in Rhode Island and we won there. We spent $350 in Vermont and won the popular vote there."

"We found that wherever we got the word out through the grapevine, we won," O'Neill said. Kennedy's own outlook?

"He's never been more confident," O'Neill said. "The money is coming in five times as great as ever before over the last three days."

"Carter's jittery at this point. Everybody is jittery at this point."

While aiding Kennedy in his campaign against Carter, O'Neill has also been involved in a long-running Cold War with another incumbent, his boss, Gov. Ed King.

Of King, O'Neill says, "I think the state can certainly do better, in terms of competency, management skills, certainly in terms of a sense of humor."

"We've got a deficit now of $100 million, and it's growing. Indications are that next year it could be between $150 and $450 million. I think there hasn't been enough talk about that."

King recently removed O'Neill from his duties of coordinating federal-state relations.

"That's his prerogative," O'Neill said, "but I don't think it's going to be lost on the people of the state."

Since 1975, when O'Neill took over the task of funneling federal aid into the state, Massachusetts' share of federal funds jumped from 17th best among 50 states to sixth, he said.

O'Neill doesn't know if he'll be running for governor in 1982. But he won't run for lieutenant governor.

"I'd have to have a death wish to run for lieutenant governor again. It's somebody else's turn."

"Do I want to be governor? I've wanted to be governor since I was eight, but as to whether it would be in 1982, I really don't know."

McGrath, Council Deadlock Broken On New Streets

A deadlock between Mayor Thomas J. McGrath and the City Council was broken when the Mayor submitted an order for $2,500 to make possible passage of the annual appropriation for new streets.

The hassle started at a previous meeting when McGrath refused to accept the proposed figure of $256,500 for 46 new streets. The Council finally reduced the total to $232,500.

McGrath said he was concerned that borrowing such a sum would so cut into the city's borrowing power that it would be unable to build needed schools in Adams Shore, Merrymount, Montclair and Houghs Neck.

HOD CARRIERS STRIKE

Brick-carrying members of the Hod Carriers Union were out on strike seeking a 5-cent hourly wage increase that would bring them to 90 cents an hour. Said one unidentified Quincy contractor:

"Local labor doesn't seem to realize how slack are conditions in many other cities and towns where workers are either looking for jobs or taking work at 40 to 50 cents an hour."

QUINCY UPSETS MILTON

The first batter, Comparato, tripled and Haddad squeezed him home and the Quincy High School baseball team went on to upset Milton, 7-5, at Merrymount Park. It was Milton's first loss of the season.

The Quincy lineup: Comparato lf, Haddad rf, Lubarsky rf, Ross lb, Riley 3b, Fosher c, Hakkila p, Crawford p, Carlson 2b, Savage 2b, Grocott ss, Pellegrini ss, Whittum cf.

NO LONG FLYING

Harold T. Dennison, head of the Dennison Aircraft Corp. of Atlantic, issued an order prohibiting his pilots from flying at less than 1,000 feet altitude over residential areas of Quincy.

The airport reported that during the first week in June its planes had made 44 flights lasting 799 minutes.

Speaking Of Fathers . . .

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Once again the time has come to celebrate Father's Day. All fathers, young and old, are brought in the limelight on this day for their true recognition in the role of parenthood, next to mothers.

Many a song has been sung for mothers, and the tunes will still continue to do so. But songs for fathers, for some reason or other are quietly hummed. Without meaning any disrespect, they are taken for granted, even though they play just as important a part as mothers. In other words, children need "both mothering and fathering," in their growing up stages of maturity. This parental process in turn, creates a knitted unit of familial association of father, child, and mother.

Boys and girls need love, understanding, self-assurance and encouragement. And this is where fathers step in with their kind, but firm, authoritative hand of discipline, protective but not overly protective; someone strong to look up to and fun to be with on their free time doing things together. And this sharing and caring togetherness provide the offspring that much needed basic of self-esteem.

Of course, we mustn't forget

"substitute fathers," for though they are not a parent in the true sense of the word, they nevertheless strike a very sensitive and compassionate chord, in the lives of fatherless children, who need someone to lean on for moral support. Both parties become involved in various worth-while activities that are elevating and fulfilling to their Selfhood.

Yes! Fatherhood is of prime importance in the element of procreation. Because we are all extensions from this paternal bliss, let us all pay homage to Daddies all over.

Hearing Legality Questioned

T Fare Hike Proposal Draws Fire Here

By TOM HENSHAW

The MBTA took a double knockdown Monday.

Chairman Robert L. Foster resigned in the morning and, in the evening, a representative group of South Shore residents thumped the MBTA's proposal for a fare increase.

The few who thought it was a good idea coupled their support with demands for a more equitable fare structure and better service.

"I agree that the fare is too low," said John W. Weaver, a member of the MBTA's advisory board from Holbrook. "But I want the inequities addressed first."

He pointed out that the fare from Harvard Square, Cambridge, to Quincy Center is 50 cents while the fare from Harvard Square to Mattapan, a mile further, is only 25 cents.

"Doubling the fares would only double the inequities," said Weaver. "I don't think the South Shore should subsidize the other areas."

He said he doubted if the fare hike would produce an additional $16.3 million in revenues as predicted by Mary McInnis, manager of planning services for the MBTA.

"I have had problems before with the T and its figures," said Weaver.

"What is bad about this," said

Paul Lambert of Canton, "is that the fare increase would be accompanied by a decrease in services."

"People don't mind paying for something if they know that it is going to get better. I think the people are being treated shabbily in this whole thing."

Marie Smiley of Milton, representing the Association for Public Transportation, questioned the legality of the hearing itself, which was held in the Elks Hall on Hancock St.

She noted that the MBTA was holding four hearings in four different places -- Quincy, Malden, Newton and Boston -- at the same time, a questionable method of spreading out the opposition.

The hearings also did not conform to Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) regulations, she said, which could endanger millions of dollars in federal funding for the MBTA.

"Increased fares," said Smiley, "are not an acceptable response to deteriorating services."

She noted that if you add the proposed round trip fare from South Braintree to Boston ($2) to the parking fee at South Braintree ($2) you get a commuting cost of $4 a day.

"It is so costly," she said,

"that the average person could not afford to use it on a daily basis. They may as well drive their cars to Boston at that price."

Mary McInnis of the planning services led the MBTA delegation to the hearing.

It included Atty. Richard McCormick; Dennis January, manager of finance for railroad operations; John Brady, operations budget analyst; and John McSweeney and Joseph Holloran of the transportation department.

They were there to answer any questions that might come up but few did. Those who attended the hearing simply wanted to speak out against the fare hike proposal.

Sen. Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy) protested that the zone fare system proposed by the MBTA would discriminate against South Shore riders since those getting on at Riverside in Newton would pay less than those getting on at South Braintree for riding the same distance.

Robert Gibbons, relaying the opposition of Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy), said a Brownell survey of riders showed that Quincy would support the increase if it was accompanied by improved service.

Gail Hoffman, representing CP PAX, told the hearing that the fare increase would not be in accord with the national economic policy in combatting inflation.

Isaac Graves, speaking for Sen. Paul Tsongas (D-Mass), said the fare increase would decrease ridership on the T.

"Such a result," he said, "is contrary to the public interest which would be better served if ridership were increased and gasoline consumption reduced."

He suggested that there are alternatives to a fare increase that would eliminate the need for a fare increase and help the MBTA's financial situation at the same time.

These are an increase in the gasoline tax to support mass transit, an increase in MBTA productivity and cost controls, and a policy of private development of MBTA land.

"Until they do this," said Graves, speaking for Tsongas, "I can't support the fare increase."

The MBTA's McInnis told the hearing that the Boston system has the lowest rapid transit fares in the country.

The last fare increase, she said was in 1968 and since then the cost of living has gone up 119 per cent and the cost of transit service has gone up 124 per cent.

In 1969, she said, 58 per cent of the operating costs were covered by fares while in 1979 it was only 22 per cent.

Quincy Quiz

A Double Winner

Not only do we have two Quincy T-shirt winners last week but one of them is our first two-time winner.

George Riley of Faxon Lane, former executive secretary to Mayor Arthur Tobin rang the bell for the second time in two weeks.

David Lubarsky of Water St., South Quincy, won the other T-shirt.

There were no bumper sticker winners last week.

Each week, Quincy Sun T-shirts are being presented to the first two readers bringing in the correct answers to the five questions in that week's Quincy Quiz.

Quincy Sun bumper stickers are being awarded each week to the third and fourth to bring in the right answers.

The answers to the five questions in last week's Quincy Quiz appear below.

And, five more questions for this week's quiz also appear. Find out how well you know your city—past and present.

1. What well-known building stands at 40 Washington St.?
2. The nickname of Quincy High School athletic teams is the Presidents. What is the nickname of North Quincy High School athletic teams?
3. The Quincy Cooperative Bank is named for Josiah Quincy. Who was he?
4. What is the name of the man who represents Quincy in the U.S. Congress?
5. In what section of the city is the General Dynamics Quincy shipyard?

The answers will appear in next week's Quincy Sun.

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz questions:

1. The building at 52 Coddington St. is Quincy High School.
2. Quincy has been a city for almost 92 years. Although the first mayor did not take office until Jan. 7, 1889, City Clerk John Gillis says the city dates from Dec. 4, 1888, the day the city charter took effect.
3. Atherton Hough was an early settler of Quincy whose land grant included Houghs Neck.
4. The Norfolk County commissioner from Quincy is George B. McDonald.
5. Eastern Nazarene College is in the Wollaston section of Quincy.

Tree Plantings For Wollaston Business Area

Councillor Stephen McGrath announces a program of tree plantings for the Wollaston business area.

Leo's Landscaping of Bridgewater has been awarded a contract to supply 25 Bradford pear trees to be placed in 54-inch concrete containers along Hancock St. in Wollaston. The containers will be supplied by O'Connell Gardens of Wollaston.

McGrath said the tree-planting program is the first step in the implementation of some of the recommendations of the Wollaston business district revitalization study conducted by Sasaki Associates of Watertown.

"It was the feeling of the consultant that the trees would enhance the appearance of the business district," he said. This was supported at the community meeting at which the report was discussed. The merchants are very supportive of the program and most anxious to have the trees installed.

"We have worked closely with the Planning, Forestry and Public Works Departments to ensure that the proper tree was selected and to try to anticipate any problems with maintenance that could develop."

McGrath said that funding for the tree project will come from the Community Development Block Grant funds earmarked for the Wollaston area.

Squantum July 4 Committee Plans 'Collection Week'

The Squantum Fourth of July Activities Committee will hold a "Collection Week" for the event beginning Sunday June 15, and continuing to June 22.

The committee is also asking community members to assist in the selection of a Grand Marshall. Nomination forms will be included with the "Celebration Timetable". Ballot boxes will be provided at the Corner Store and the Squantum Pharmacy.

Registration of costumed marchers and entrants for the doll carriage and bicycle parades will be held Friday June 27, 6 to 8 p.m., and Saturday June 28, noon to 4 p.m. at the Squantum Fire Station.

There will also be a category for originality in the doll carriage and bicycle parade.

Float registration has been extended to June 27 and entrants can sign up at Joe's Barber Shop.

Youth Problems Topic For Atlantic Association

"Youth Problems in Atlantic" was topic of this month's meeting of the Atlantic Neighborhood Center last night (Wednesday) at 8 p.m. at the Atlantic Neighborhood Center, 245 Atlantic St.

Guest speakers were to include representatives from the Quincy Police Department, the Youth Commission, the Mayor and local elected officials.

Kristin Keohane Nutrition Essay Contest Winner At St. Ann's School

Kristin Keohane of 163 Clay St., Wollaston, was named first place winner in an essay contest on "The Importance of Proper Nutrition" conducted at St. Ann's Elementary School, Wollaston, by Carney Hospital.

Presented awards for second and third place in the contest held during National Hospital Week were Ellen Conolly of Old Colony Ave., Wollaston, and Jean Marie Beaudreau of 256 Everett St., Wollaston.

Honorable mention certificates were presented to Kara Shannon, Ann LaFlamme, Sheila McGrath, Mary Reynolds, Brenda Pitts, Amy McLean, Jeanmarie Polito, Sheila McIntyre, Diane Devlin, Timothy Kirby, Lisa Federico, Ann Feeney, Catherine Principato and Denise Shannon.

Making the awards was Mrs. Ruth Wolf, R.D., Carney Hospital's Outpatient Department Nutritionist, who showed a film, lectured and conducted a quiz for the more than 100 students and teachers attending the program.

Congratulations were extended to the winners by Sister Georgianna Geary, principal, and teacher coordinators Margaret Slathe and Leo Walsh.

'Crafts For Kids' At Atlantic Center

The Atlantic Neighborhood Center, 245 Atlantic St., began a five-week program Monday, "Crafts for Kids" designed for third and fourth graders.

The program, which is held at 3 p.m., is being conducted by Julie Deery, a student intern from Bridgewater State College.

For more information, call

Mary Travers at 773-1380, ext. 328.

The center, in conjunction with South Shore Mental Health Center, is also conducting a four-week "Health Awareness" workshop which began last week.

The workshop is being held Tuesdays at 10:30 a.m. and registered occupational therapist Millie Barnett will help students become more aware of signals the body is sending them and what those signals mean.

The program, particularly suited for those 55 and over regardless of limitations, will include dance and yoga techniques and relaxation exercises.

Consultations on individual programs will be available.

Sacred Heart Parish Picnic Sunday

Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy will hold its third annual parish family picnic Sunday, June 15 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Pageant Field, Merrymount Park. Parish families are invited to attend the all-day outing which will include races and games for children and adults and an egg-throwing contest for fathers and mothers.

Families should bring their lunch. Cold drinks and ice cream will be distributed during the day to the children.

Committee members are Pastor Rev. Cornelius Heery, honorary chairman; Dean Barry, general chairman; Howard Crowley, Joseph O'Connor, Roger Kineavy and Gene Raux.

Advisory Committee Named First Parish Church Park Service Bill Advances

A bill aimed at including United First Parish Church in the National Park Service is now moving its way through the U.S. Congress, according to Richard Porter, co-chairman of a committee seeking federal protection for the historic "Church of the Presidents."

Porter, a member of the church's board of directors, says Cong. Brian Donnelly expects final approval of the bill around September.

The bill would include the church, which contains the crypts of Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams and their wives, as a national historic site. The federal government would then assume at least a share of the building's maintenance and upkeep.

Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, chairman of the House Subcommittee on Interior and Insular Affairs, was "tremendously impressed with it," Porter reported.

Porter announced a 31-member advisory committee working for the preservation of the church.

Donnelly and Mayor Arthur Tobin are honorary co-chairmen. Members are:

Charles F. Adams of Dover; Thomas B. Adams of Lincoln; James D. Asher, Jr., South Weymouth; William B. Austin, Jr., North Scituate; Bedros

Baharian, Quincy; Mrs. George H. Bonsall, Quincy; Henry W. Bosworth, Braintree; Thomas S. Burgin, Quincy; Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, Quincy.

Thomas E. Curtis, Hingham; Mrs. Robert M. Faxon, Milton; Richard A. Fee, Hingham; Everett P. Grossman, Weston; William H. Harris, Wollaston; Mrs. Frank Harris, Quincy; John R. Herbert, Squantum; H. Hobart Holly, Braintree; Leo J. Kelly, Quincy.

'Point With Pride'

More Than Just A Motto To Point Jr. High Students

By CAROL NICHOLS
Grade 9

To me "Point with Pride" means to attend Point Jr. High School and to be proud to attend it - to have taken part in different activities and things there - to like and enjoy the school and the people in it - to have interest in the school and the things to do with it. I am proud to have attended Point.

By REGINA MINICHELLO
Grade 8

Point with Pride may be a saying but kids at Point really get into saying it. We may win or we may lose, but it doesn't matter because we still have our Pride, and we'll never lose it.

Terrific teams!

Finalists in the recently held Louisa May Alcott Dramatic Reading Festival are: [standing l-r] Patricia Brown - grade 7, Richard Parker - grade 9, Jeannine McLaughlin - grade 7, [sitting l-r] Michele Dauphinee - grade 9, and Linda Wood - grade 8. Absent for the photo was 8th grader Karen Kardoose.

Louisa May Alcott Reading Festival

By LAURA BRENNAN
Grade 7

The second annual Louisa May Alcott Dramatic Reading Festival was held recently at Quincy Point Junior High. Participants chose to read a poem or an excerpt from a story with feeling and expression. By participating in this contest, students gained skill in reading aloud before an audience. Clarity of expression and sharing of ideas are important lifelong skills which this contest helps to develop.

The winners were:

Grade 7 - Jeannine McLaughlin - "The Last Roll of Sir Ralph the Roller" by Ogden Nash.

Grade 8 - Karen Kardoose - "The Tell-Tale Heart" by Edgar Allan Poe.

Grade 9 - Richard Parker - "Let America Be America Again" by Langston Hughes.

The runners-up were:
Grade 7 - Patricia Brown - "The House with Nobody In It" by Joyce Kilmer.

Grade 8 - Linda Wood - "Portrait of a Lady" by T. S. Eliot.

Grade 9 - Michelle Dauphinee - "The Old Swimming Hole" by James W. Riley.

Certificates were awarded to all who participated and books were also given to the winners and runners-up.

An Interview With Mr. Long

By PATRICIA BROWN
Grade 7

Q. As the principal of this school, what does Point with Pride mean to you?

A. I think that Point with Pride is a happy coincidence of words that allows us to have our own personalized motto - Point: our school, and Pride: the feeling we have about the excellence of our work as individuals and members of the Quincy community.

Q. What do you consider your responsibilities as the principal?

A. The responsibilities are many and varied, but simply stated they could be described as helping each student to receive the very best education that the citizens of Quincy can provide for them.

Q. What do you like most about being the principal?

A. It gives me the opportunity to come in contact with large numbers of students and their families by working together to improve the quality of education.

Q. What do you like least about being principal?

A. Paperwork.

Q. Do you think that being principal for grades K-9 is more difficult than just elementary or junior high only?

A. I don't think it's more difficult; it's just different.

Q. What special opportunities does this offer to you as principal?

A. It gives me a chance to know the children for a longer time. I see them grow up and change from kindergarten to ninth grade.

Trying Is Triumph

By STACY MacPHERSON
Grade 8

Participation is an important part of growth and learning. Of course it isn't difficult to withstand success, but defeat, well you must learn to take it on the chin.

Winning is great if you can do it, but trying and doing the best you can is FANTASTIC! Whether it's running a marathon or applying for a job, there is a certain feeling of accomplishment knowing that you tried. Recognition should not only go to the winners, but to all the participants.

Quincy Point Jr. High School has been involved in many activities, ranging from writing to sports. Although there have been many wins, there have been losses too. These wins and losses add up to quite a few participants. All have succeeded in one way or another in proving to themselves as well as to others that they can work hard and strive for goals. Quincy Point takes pride in pointing to their participants. Trying is Triumph.

Go forward everyone and be participants!

AN EDITORIAL COMMENT

Nuclear Risk

By ANNEMARIE MOREY
Grade 8

Nuclear energy -- is it really worth the risk? I say no! It has got to stop, and now, I am worrying and so should you.

For six days last spring, the nation and the world watched a nuclear reactor at Three Mile Island near Harrisburg, Pa., as a gas bubble built up and threatened to cause a hydrogen gas explosion that would spew large amounts of radiation into the air. When the bubble finally disappeared and the danger subsided, deep relief mingled with grave concern about the nuclear future.

One of our future concerns has to be nuclear wastes. Some may be radioactive for thousands of years. Right now nuclear power plants are storing wastes in pools under water on the plant's site. What if they run out of pool space?

On the other hand probably the biggest advantage of nuclear power is that large amounts of it are produced from small amounts of material.

Realizing both the advantages and disadvantages of nuclear energy, what other alternatives do we have? Coal is an abundant source of fuel and cheap enough to substitute for nuclear energy, but coal is dirty to burn and dangerous to mine.

We find ourselves in a serious situation. What is going to happen ... to us?

Vocational Education Program

By SUSAN DACEY
Grade 9

This year I was one of the ten students in grade nine who participated in the Career Education Program. It was sponsored by the Lighthouse Education Corporation Career Education Center in conjunction with the Vocational Counseling Education Program at Quincy Point Jr. High.

This program was designed to help junior and senior high school students to become aware of the work world all around them. It also enables them to find out their special abilities to understand the values of jobs, and to learn the job opportunities in certain areas.

We went on two trips with Mrs. Sullivan, Guidance Counselor, Mr. Keough, and Mr. Hart, to two different job clusters of the work world. Prior to this, we took the Harrington O'Shea Interest Survey to discover our likes and dislikes in the business world. It indicated the areas in which we did or did not excel.

We also had many class discussions about the types of jobs that interested us. We were made aware of the fact that many jobs that were once thought to be for women only: such as, secretaries, maids, teachers and nurses, are open to men and women alike. On the other hand, many jobs that were thought to be for males only: such as, carpenters, plumbers, doctors and construction workers are now open to women also.

Our first trip was to Boston Mutual Life. We saw the many different jobs created by this company. This company has a computer terminal located on its premises, therefore, creating many job levels. This trip was informative and fun.

Our second trip was to Warren F. Collins, Inc. This company deals with lung supporting equipment. The company created jobs that included secretaries, computer programmers, lab technicians, testers and many other people. We enjoyed using the equipment and learning more about our lungs.

Our final trip will be to Computervision which should be one of the most fascinating and eye-opening of all the field trips.

I believe that this program helped its participants to become more aware of job opportunities. It prepared students to take a job interview, which is the most important part of getting a job.

Overall this program fulfilled its obligation to the students. It was informative, educational, and greatly appreciated.

Participants were: Susan Dacey, Robin Durante, Michael Hasvan, Fina Hoisington, Alita MacDonald, Robert McIlman, Jett Meigs, William Mills, Julie Papile and Patricia Travers.

Math Teacher Patricia Gorman helps 8th grader Ricky Coscia with some basic principles of Accounting.

The Year Of The Candidates

By LAURA BRENNAN
Grade 7

Once a week in Mrs. Miller's seventh grade Social Studies class we study current events. We've studied such events as the Iranian crisis, the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, inflation and especially, the presidential primaries.

Throughout the year Mrs. Miller had the students bring in articles and summaries about the primaries. For two weeks, she had students collect two articles a day about the presidential race.

Our class held a mock primary. In our class primary, Kennedy came in first, but the class doesn't think Kennedy will get the nomination. The class predicts Reagan will be the winner. Anderson will be second, and Carter will be third.

We'll have to wait until November fourth to see who the next president will be.

Pride In Point Band

By MAUREEN PERRY
Grade 8

Point takes pride in their band which is conducted by Mr. Roberto Coriello. The band has 25 students. Most of these students are in the 8th grade. They are: Amy Barron, Alicia Browne, Bobby Breen, Adam McGhee, Brian Eisar, Billy Heeneey, Mark Walsh, Maureen Perry, Sean Aruda, John DiPietro, Tom Kane and Mark Chambers. The 9th graders are: Rico Stracco, Robert McIlman, Robert MacLachlan, Sal Lorenzano, Doug Delimpio, and John Depolo.

Each year the band plays at concerts. These concerts are at Christmas, Magic Shows, Memorial Day, Flag Day and also in the spring. This year the band played at the Vo-Tech Honors Graduation. The songs they played ranged from exciting marches to familiar TV theme songs.

Every Friday morning before school the band practices. But that's not the only time they practice. Whenever the band members have a spare moment, they are proud to go to the band room and practice their music.

Winners in the Alcoholism Awareness Contest sponsored by the South Shore Council on Alcoholism are: [l-r] seventh graders Gary Bell, Vincent Baldi, Karen DiNardo and John Groezinger.

Seventh Graders Participate In Alcohol Awareness Program

By KAREN DINARDO
Grade 7

Seventh grade students participated in an Alcohol education contest, sponsored by the South Shore Council on Alcoholism. Students' ideas about alcohol and its use were discussed in Miss Bostrom's communications class. Students then drew posters, made collages, and wrote poems and essays giving their impressions.

Winners were:

Gary Bell, first prize [$25 savings bond] for his poster, "Good Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk".

Vincent Baldi, third prize [$10 gift certificate from Sawyers] for his collage entitled, "Why?"

John Groezinger, fifth prize [2 tickets for the Braintree Cinema] for his poster and poem entitled, "Liquor".

Karen DiNardo, sixth prize [gift certificate from Wendy's Hamburgers] for her essay, "Alcohol and It's Effects".

These students appeared before the school committee to discuss their work. They also discussed their entries on the radio program, "Community Spotlight".

Local 6th Graders Get Junior High Orientation

By ELIZABETH DWYER
Grade 8

The junior high orientation takes place near the end of each school year. The reason for this orientation is to help the sixth graders from Pollard, Daniel Webster, and Adams Elementary Schools to become familiar with the school they will attend and meet the people in it. The orientation consists of a short meeting with the principal, vice principal, guidance counselor, teachers and a group of seventh grade students.

These students take the sixth graders around the building, show them the classrooms and tell them what courses are offered and who teaches them.

This provides an opportunity for the sixth graders to learn about the school they will be attending in the fall. It gives them a chance to ask questions so they won't be so nervous about coming to a new school in the fall.

Students Win Writing Contest

By STACY MacPHERSON
Grade 8

Recently many of the Point seventh and eighth graders entered a writing contest sponsored by Northeastern University. A lot of hard work went into the preparation of the writing entries. In each grade, students were put in special groups where they would read stories, discuss their elements and then try their skills at writing a story or poem.

This work resulted in great recognition. Eleven of the participants were chosen as finalists. In grade seven Danielle Morris won top prize for her story, MORNING STARS. The short story finalists in grade seven were: Tracey Cahill, Susan Dextrateur, and Irene Papamarkon. The poetry finalists were: Tracey Flood and Catherine Lomanno. In grade eight the short story finalists were: Stacy MacPherson, Karen Kardoose, Andrea Garafalo, and Maria Andrews. Eighth grade poetry finalists were Nancy McDougall and Terry Curran. As a finalist myself, I feel honored that in some way I could be a part of the celebration of the creating child.

On March 22 the Creating Child Fair Conference was held at Northeastern University where Danielle Morris was awarded a gold medal and finalists received ribbons. People also had a chance to walk around and see the entries. Workshops were open for both children and parents. Following are some of the finalists entries from Point Jr. High.

Finalists in the Creating Child Writing Contest sponsored by Northeastern University are: [standing l-r] Terry Curran grade 8, Andrea Garofalo grade 8, Susan Dextrateur grade 7, Danielle Morris grade 7, Nancy McDougall grade 8, and Catherine Lomanno grade 7. Seated are: Stacy MacPherson grade 8, Maria Andrews grade 8, and Tracey Cahill grade 7. Absent from the photo is 8th grader Karen Kardoose.

Flowers so lovely
Red roses blooming in air
Living and dying.
Living in the soil so deep
Dying soon after they sprout.

Miniscule creature
Cramped inside your small cocoon
No one listening
Finally fluttering out
Free at last, oh butterfly!

a great big field getting trampled on and all they can do is run through me!

"WINTER KINGDOM"

By NANCY McDOUGAL Grade 8

The stars dance, specks of light tossed up against a blue-black velvet sky.

The hard-packed snow glitters, on an icy carpet. As far as I can see, the trees stand tall and bare.

They stand guard, as thin shadows, on a cold, moonlight Kingdom . . . . .

Interview With Prize Winning Writer

By DARA MORRIS
Grade 9

The following interview is with Danielle Morris, a 7th grade student of Quincy Point Jr. High, who received first prize in a statewide writing contest, sponsored by Northeastern University. She is being interviewed by her older sister, Dara.

Q. When did you first become interested in writing?

A. You got me started, but I didn't really write much until 5th grade when Mrs. McCarthy and Ms. DiTullio had me write compositions every week and helped me.

Q. What do you like to write about?

A. I like to write realistic fiction and fantasy.

Q. Where did you get the idea for your prize winning story, MORNING STARS?

A. I got the idea while I was at the beach.

Q. How long did it take to write it?

A. Well, I started before the contest on my own and then finished it for the contest.

Q. Was the story part of your regular school work or was it done on your own?

A. Two days a week we met in small groups with Ms. Bostrom. We read and discussed short stories. Then we worked on writing our own stories.

Q. How did you feel when you won?

A. I was excited and didn't expect to win.

Q. How did our family feel when you won?

A. They were very proud.

Q. I wasn't surprised, but I also didn't get to read it until after you won. Are you going to continue writing?

A. Yes.

Q. How do you feel about your writing?

A. It is important to me and it is fun to do. It's a way I can express my feelings.

There once was a U.S. Embassy located in Iran

There once was a person called the Shah, who was the leading man

Now the Shah, he was deposed, and the Embassy taken over

Now the leader is Khomeini, to be exact it's Ayatollah.

Only time can tell how long the captured will be held

But meanwhile down in Mexico, the Shah has been expelled.

What Next?

You see before he went there, he came to the U.S.A.

Now the families of the captured are waiting in dismay.

The students hold the hostages as bounty for the Shah

But now of course he's run again, this time to Panama.

If the students want the Shah so bad why did they let him go?

It's a real confusing question and the answer we don't know.

It's like a game of tug-o-war with many lives at stake

Any side could win or lose with just one slight mistake.

Using the teaching aid of headphones are 8th graders Sandra Randall and Amy Straughn.

7th Graders Build House

By DANNY MARINI
Grade 7

In Industrial Art we work with wood, and we learn how to use tools correctly. After planning, organizing, and completing work assignments, we began to build a small house. This is part of the World of Construction, a program based on the construction industry.

We select the right kind of wood and nails to get started. Everybody in the class is involved. We all take turns sawing and nailing the wood. We take the right measurements to make sure that everything fits together correctly. We also make a little window for the house. When the house is all built, we paint it and put shingles on the roof.

After completing the project, we have learned something that we will use for the rest of our lives, as future home owners.

Student To Build Clock

By SUE DACEY
Grade 9

This year as my ninth grade shop project I chose to build a grandfather clock. Because of the time needed to complete this creative idea, I had to put in many extra hours during studies and after school.

One of the reasons this project will take so long is because Mr. Coughlin, my shop teacher, and I are making the entire clock from scratch, which is very time consuming. Without the help of Mr. Coughlin, who has also put in a lot of extra hours helping me, this project would be impossible.

The Quincy Point Junior High School shop has turned out many fine and valuable projects and I hope mine will be one also.

Morning Stars

By DANIELLE MORRIS
Grade 7

A cool breeze set a chill to the world, the world Laura no longer knew. She sat soundlessly among the crisp autumn leaves staring into the muddy water bordered with fog. Her life seemed to be hanging from a tree branch, too high for her to reach. The soft chirping of the birds, and the echo of the wind seemed to have died. Even the red velvet roses touched with morning dew ceased to exist for her. Now that her mother had died all beauty and happiness had gone.

A faint vision of her mother rose from deep below the water. She saw her mother lying painfully on the tarnished brass bed. Laura was beside her, firmly holding her fiery hands. Before Laura's mother left, she said, "The stars will shine in the evening for all, but in the morning only for those who look."

Visit To JFK Library

By ANNAMARIE CICERONE
Grade 8

On Heritage Day, May 7, 1980 Colman McDonough, Michele Dauphinee, Joseph Shea and I visited the JFK Library with our teacher, Miss Gorman. Heritage Day is an annual event sponsored by the Massachusetts Junior High Principals Association. Its purpose is to provide eighth and ninth graders in Mass. with an opportunity to visit a site which commemorates important events and person from our past.

The library is not an ordinary one, but more of an archives and museum put together. It has all the President's notes, speeches, special documents, family pictures, clothes, gifts given to him, and many personal possessions.

We were very fortunate to have as a guest speaker, Dave Powers, who was the President's Aide and very close friend. He talked about all the things that he remembered about the President and his family: happy times, sad times and fun times.

While we were there, each of us went to a different seminar. There were twelve seminars from which to choose. I attended the seminar, "The Personal Side of the Presidency: Family Life in the White House." Many presidents and their families were discussed. Each presidential family brought with them unique qualities and left their influence on the White House. It was interesting and I enjoyed it very much.

I highly recommend this trip to students of Quincy. I hope your experience will be as informative and enjoyable as ours was.

Quincy Point Sports

At Point we take pride in participating in our sports. The pride is not just in winning, but in the enjoyment, teamwork, and challenge that the involvement in sports provides.

There are a wide variety of different sports provided at Quincy Point: basketball, soccer, softball, football, swimming, volleyball, baseball, track, gymnastics, wrestling and cheering. We do fairly well in our sports, but that isn't the important thing. We learn how to work together and we have a lot of team spirit. The goal of the sports program is good sportsmanship first, and winning is second, not that we don't want to win, but we are out there to have a good time and play the best we can!

Our Point teaching staff is very active and concerned with its students. They encourage our involvement in sports and help us improve our skills.

Wrestling was one of our most successful sports this year. Point took home seven medals. The winners were:

Gold Medalists - Bob Clements and Sal Lorenzano.

Silver Medalists - John DePolo, Robert Burns, Sean Flaherty and Robert Willard.

Bronze Medalist - Kevin Cabezas.

This has been the best wrestling team Point has ever had.

We feel that is important to encourage our teams. One way of doing this is through our cheerleaders urging the team members to do their best. The 1979-1980 cheerleaders are: Micky Dauphinee, captain; Janet Sandonato, co-captain; Denise Beliveau, Lynne Mezzetti, Kim Griffen, Dianne Colleton, Michele Cadman, Cindy Page, Patty Wood, Kellie Yorston, Jennifer Downey, and Annamarie Cicerone. These cheerleaders tried out last June and many more girls will try to become cheerleaders this June. In the past, Point cheerleaders have cheered for many winning teams. Even if the Point teams weren't winning, anyone would be proud to cheer for them!

Point takes pride in its girls' soccer team. They had a very good year. They finished in second place, with only one loss, two wins, and five ties. It was a sixteen person effort. The coach Mr. Jerry Mulvey, kept the team together.

In addition to soccer, there are 36 girls on the Quincy Point softball team this year. Their first game of this season was May 6, 1980. Point defeated Sterling with a close score of 21-20. Last season the Point softball team finished in first place with a 6-2 record. Point's softball team hopes to do as well this season as we did last season.

We congratulate all junior high students and teachers who have contributed to Point's sports endeavors.

Eighth graders: Amy Barron, Elizabeth Dwyer, Mona Hewlett, Sean Aruda, Mark Walsh.

Calendar Of Upcoming Events At Point Junior High

By CAROL NICHOLS
Grade 9

On June 3 there was an Honors Banquet. This is for the students who have achieved honor roll status for the first three terms or have had perfect attendance. There was a dinner where awards were given out.

This year over 70 students were honored at the banquet.

A semi-formal dance for the Quincy Point 9th graders will be held on June 13th. Ninth graders may invite someone who is not a Point ninth grader to the dance.

The Awards ceremony will be held on June 18. Awards and prizes are given out to Point students for sports, contests, most outstanding boy and girl in the 9th grade, awards for different subjects and many other achievements.

On June 19 the 9th graders of Quincy Point Jr. High will go to Lake Pearl in Wrentham, Ma., for their class day. There they can go swimming and have fun!

School ends on June 20, but the report cards won't be mailed until June 30. Then it is summer vacation!

Massachusetts Book Awards

By KAREN KARDOOSE
Grade 8

Students in grades seven and eight participated in The Massachusetts Book Award Program which was sponsored by Salem State College. Those who participated had to read five or more books in approximately one month. I participated in this event, and found it very rewarding. It not only gives students a chance to get into an activity in school, but it encourages them to read.

At the end of February all of the children who had read five or more books had the opportunity to vote on the one they enjoyed most. My favorite book was Down a Dark Hall. I found it one of the most fascinating books I have ever read. It was full of suspense, horror, loneliness, and fear. This book was also voted the favorite of our school.

Certificates of recognition were given to all participants. A letter from the winning author will be sent to all schools involved in the program.

Dr. Creedon Visits Point

By PAULA FOYE
Grade 8

On Monday and Tuesday of the second week in April, Doctor Creedon, the Superintendent of Schools, came to visit and get to know the eighth graders. He taught Social Studies in the place of our usual teacher. Although it seems that we did not get too much work done, we met the superintendent and for the first time, found out who he really is. He explained his responsibilities as superintendent. He asked us what we were learning in other classes and what our goals were as students. He was concerned with what we wanted to do in life. It was an interesting two days and was an enjoyable break in our scheduled routine.

I hope that he will be able to come again to meet new students of this school and give them the same opportunity as we have had.

Point Armhang Record Holder, Theresa Miller, demonstrates her skill in completing this event in the President's Physical Fitness Test being given to her 8th grade gym class.

Student Advisory Board

By MICKY DAUPHINEE
Grade 9

The Quincy Point Junior High Student Advisory Board is an elected group of students representatives. Three representatives from each grade level are elected to serve on the board. The representatives for the school year 1979-1980 are:

Grade 9 - Micky Dauphinee, President; Caley McDonough, Vice-President; Heather Slics.

Grade 8 - Lucy Paolilli, Secretary; Liz Dwyer, Treasurer; Kellie Yorston.

Grade 7 - Tricia Brown, Laura Brown, Alan Peters.

Teacher Advisor - Miss Gorman.

The goal of the Student Advisory Board is to provide a vehicle for students to communicate their needs, interests and concerns for a responsive learning environment at Quincy Point.

Over the past few years the Student Advisory Board has sponsored many activities for the students. Representatives on the board have assisted in organizing dances, cake sales, raffles, poster contests, "Fouled Up Fridays", student-teacher basketball games, softball games, and track meets.

Student Representatives have also organized a student handbook committee. The committee is developing a student handbook to serve as a reference and guide for all students regarding rules, regulations, activities and responsibilities at Point Junior High.

ities at Point Junior High.

The Student Advisory Board is a very important vehicle for all students at Point and will continue to be so, if students involve themselves in all S.A.B. plans.

Kubera Fans 15 As Braves Win, 8-3

The Tigers scored twice in the sixth inning to edge the Indians. 4-3. Monday night in the Triple A Baseball League. Joe Blaney was the winning pitcher.

Tommy Crossen had two doubles and a single. Timmy Burke had two singles and two RBI's and John Maloney. Joe Barnes, Dave Fasano, Blaney and Martin Steeves had a single each. Tim Kirby made an outstanding catch in right field in the bottom of the sixth and turned it into a double play to save the win. Blaney didn't walk a batter.

For the Indians John Keyes had two doubles and a RBI. Paul McGhee and Billy Dineen had doubles. Greg Harper and Paul Belanger each had a single and a RBI and Dean Morrone and Greg Hulfrich also had singles. Greg Harper pitched well in defeat.

The Braves edged the Pirates, 4-3, with Billy LaForest the winner. Mike Kubera had a double and two singles. LaForest and Billy Conroy two singles each and Mark Sandomato. Lee Little, David Chenette and Tommy Tagan a single each. Chenette also turned in a great defensive play.

Tim Collins and Kevin Tobin each had two hits for the Pirates and David Memmolo, Mark Scanlan and Paul Lagzdins had doubles. Scanlan and Scott Stirling combined for a fast double play.

The Braves held off a Yankees rally to win, 8-5, as the Yankees scored all their runs in the last two innings. LaForest was the winner.

Sandomato and Leo Rooney had doubles and LaForest, Conroy, Chenette, John McGovern, Robert Siddens and Kevin Ward had singles.

For the Yankees Mike Bille and Eddie Wiejkus had two singles each. James Bille had a double and Eddie Flavin and Brian McCosh had singles.

The Mets scored in every inning to bomb the Yankees, 16-5, with Joe Mastrianni getting the win.

Billy Roche had two doubles and two singles. Mastrianni had four singles and a double. Tom Delaney a triple and single, Jim Cahill a double and triple, Dan Jenkins a double, Mike Dever two singles and Jay Moreschi, Kevin Flaherty and Bill Lynch a single each. Roche also started a triple play.

For the Yankees Mike Bille had a double and two singles. James Bille a double and single, Jim Rogers and Wiejkus a single each.

The Braves scored five runs in the last two innings to break a 3-3 tie and defeat the Indians, 8-3, with Mike Kubera the winning pitcher.

Kubera struck out 15 and walked only two and he also had a double and single. McGovern had a triple, double and single. LaForest a double and single.

Tagen two singles and Sandomato a single.

Luis Morales had a triple for the Indians and Morrone, Harper and John Keyes a single each.

The Braves topped the Mets, 6-4, with Kubera again the winner. He had two doubles and a single. Rooney a double and McGovern, Conroy and Tagen a single each.

For the Mets Tom Delaney and David Hack had singles and Mark Lunnin had a double.

The Pirates outslugged the Dodgers, 9-7, with Scanlan the winning pitcher.

Scanlan had two doubles and a single, Lagzdins a double and single and Timmy Collins a double. Kirk Highfield made an outstanding catch in right field.

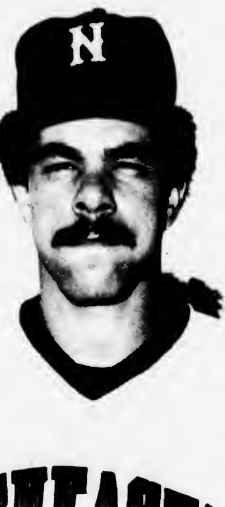

For the Dodgers Jack Nelson had three singles, Sean Joyce a single and double, Peter Schuerch two singles and Christine Loud made a fine catch in left field.

The Indians scored twice in the sixth to edge the Dodgers, 7-6, with Morales the winning pitcher, striking out nine.

Morales also had a double and two triples, McGhee two doubles, Matt Healey two singles, Mike Ceurvels a double and Belanger and Morrone a single each. Ceurvels made an outstanding play at second base.

For the Dodgers Schuerch had three singles, Ray Dunn a double, and Bob Burgess and Nelson a single each.

PRESTON CARROLL, of Quincy recently received his varsity baseball letter at Northeastern University. Rated one of the best center fielders in the school's history, he set a new school record for official at-bats with 115 and hit .278, including a .323 Greater Boston League mark.

Broad Meadows Undeclared Again

Tom Hall's Broad Meadows Junior High boys' track team finished its second straight undefeated (4-0) season last week with 55-27 victory over Atlantic.

Pacing BM, as he has all season, was Mike Williams, who again won the long jump and 440. His time of 52.3 in the 440 again broke his own junior high record. John Robertson continued his fine performances with wins in the 880 and high jump. Other scorers for BM were Carl Freedman and Bill Rollins, 1-2 in the hurdles; Ed Kennedy, second in the 100; Marcello Savage, third in the 440; Dave Ladas, second in the 880; Mark Cohen, third in the mile; Bill Rollins and Mike Chenette, 1-2 in the shot put, and Freedman, second in the long jump.

Junior varsity contributors, who have done well all season, included John O'Connor, Dan Kelley, Jeff and David MacLean, Dave Squatrito, Richard and Paul Schultz, Bob McIsaac, Paul Lennon, Joe Conti, Kevin Servaes, Paul Connolly and Mike Roche.

North's Millane Eyes Undeclared Track Season

Michelle Millane, North Quincy's brilliant sophomore, will try to finish an unbeaten season Saturday when she competes in the New England girls' championship meet in Gardner.

Michelle, unbeaten in the Suburban League, the Eastern Mass. and state championships, kept her record clean last Saturday by winning the discus in the all-state meet at Andover, although her winning toss of 121-6 was 10 feet under her best. She is also unbeaten this year in the shot put and javelin.

North's outstanding sophomore mile relay team of Mary Kate Kennedy, Karen Lindenfelzer, Nancy McCarthy and Deirdre Donovan also qualified for the New England with a third place finish, doing 4:07.4 despite a mishap on the first lap.

In boys' competition Roy Higgins of Quincy, who has had an outstanding season, qualified for Saturday's New England meet by placing second in the 440.

Sterling Girls Defeat Point

The Sterling Junior High girls' track team had easy sailing over Point, breezing, 72-9, in the varsity meet, and 52-12 in the junior varsity, to make its record 2-1.

In the varsity competition Susan Uhlar won the 100 and long jump, Sharon Uhlar won the 440 and was second in the long jump. Susan Pitts won the shot put, Georgia Traficante won the 880 and high jump, Nancy Martin won the hurdles, Karen Dunn won the mile, Terry Hamilton was second in the 100, Janet Buttmore second in the shot and third in the 880, Lina Shepis third in the shot, Paula Shaw second in the 440 and third in the high jump and Diane Morrissey second in the hurdles and high jump.

Calhoun Head Soccer Coach At ENC

Nancy Detwiler, athletic director at Eastern Nazarene College, has announced the appointment of Gary Calhoun as head soccer coach beginning next fall.

A native of North Quincy, Calhoun played soccer at North Quincy High and later at ENC, being captain and being selected to the Colonial all-Conference team twice. His team won the Seaboard championship and played in the NAIA playoffs.

He played for the Pan Africa team of the Haitian League and has played with South Shore clubs. This year he coached the ENC indoor team, giving him an opportunity to learn his players' potentials.

Calhoun succeeds Stafford Frederick, who has moved to Kansas City, where he will do further graduate studies before returning to Trinidad.

The Firemen Local 792, winning its last seven games and tying one after dropping its opener, paces the Babe Ruth League's American League with a 7-1 record, while the Sons of Italy paces the National League with a 7-2 mark.

The Firemen, coached by Ray Dunn and Tony Oriola, have combined an awesome hitting attack with excellent pitching and good defense.

After being edged by Houghs Neck, 4-3, in their opener, the Firemen went on to defeat Barry's Deli, Morrisette, Sons of Italy, Elks, Granite City Electric, Local 1139, Golden Print and last Friday played to a wild 12-12 tie with Hancock Bank.

Brian Gibbons leads the batters with a .567 average, followed by Glen Oriola, 444; Bobby Graham, 423; Mike Miller, .379; Andy Eames, .375, and Tommy Scolaro, .347.

The pitchers are Eames, Scolaro, Tommy Travers and William Phillips.

In their latest game last Friday the Firemen outhit Hancock Bank, 11-6, but committed six errors, enabling Hancock to score several unearned runs.

The 2½ hour game had to be called in after five innings as the teams had to give up the field for a Legion game.

For five innings Firemen played catch-up ball and managed to hold on for the tie.

Graham had a triple, Scolaro two singles, Miller two singles, Gibbons had a double and single; Hancock's outfielders made several outstanding catches to prevent Firemen from winning their eighth game in a row.

● Senior Babe Ruth

Data Off To Fast Start

Data Services, Quincy's entry in the Senior Babe Ruth League, is off to a good start with two straight victories.

Sunday Quincy edged Weymouth, 2-1, with Bruce Tobin the winning pitcher, giving up only two hits. Thanks to three errors, he had to pitch his way out of trouble in the last two innings. Quincy led, 1-0, after six innings, scoring in the second, but Weymouth tied it in the top of the seventh.

In the bottom half, Phil Caggiano walked, went to third on Jack McInnis' single and scored the winning run on Kevin McKinnon's drive over the center fielder's head.

Mike Aboud singled and scored the first run and Steve Picot had two hits. Wally Kilgallon, John Todd and Caggiano made sparkling defensive plays.

Quincy had opened with a 7-0 win over South Boston as McInnis pitched a no-hitter. Tony Twohig saved the no-hitter with a sparkling shoe string catch in left field. McInnis struck out five and walked six.

Todd and Mike Crowley had doubles and Picot, Caggiano, Aboud and Twohig had singles.

Youth Soccer Registration Saturday

Registration for the Quincy Youth Soccer League, being organized by North Quincy High coach Paul Bregoli and Quincy coach Jim McGuire, will be held Saturday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 6:30 - 8:30 p.m. at the Vo-Tech gym for boys in Grades 1 through 8.

Did you ever wonder what's the worst score ever made by a golfer on one hole on the U.S. pro golf tour?... That record was set on the 16th hole of the U.S. Open at Cherry Hills in 1938 when Roy Amsley shot a 19 on the par-4 hole.

Who was the youngest man ever to win the Most Valuable Player Award in big league baseball?... Answer is Vida Blue who was 22 when he was voted MVP in 1971. Second-youngest is Johnny Bench who was also 22 - but a few months older - when he won the MVP award in 1970.

Here's a believe-it-or-not from sports... There was once a game between 2 teams which wound up with BOTH teams losing the SAME GAME... It happened at a soccer game in West Germany... The field was wet, but the referee decided it was in playable condition... However, the managers of both teams thought it was too wet, and not wanting to risk player injuries, they refused to play... So the referee forfeited the game - AND GAVE BOTH TEAMS A LOSS IN THE STANDINGS... That's the only time a game involving 2 teams ended with both teams getting a loss.

I bet you didn't know... That COLMAN'S has a huge selection of slacks, jeans, shorts, shirts, jackets, tennis wear and many other sports and leisure wear for the entire family at the lowest prices in the area.

Track Club Dominates Junior Olympic Meet

The Quinns Track Club dominated the State Police Junior Olympic sectional meet last Saturday in Braintree and qualified 50 boys and girls for the state championships on June 21 in Worcester.

The top three placers in each event will join with similar place winners for qualifying meets in Framingham, Worcester and Amherst.

In the 8-9 boys division Antony Rugnetta qualified in the 50, Mike Petta in the 50 and 100, Paul McLellan in the 100, Sean Munroe in the 100, John Dunderdale in the 220 and long jump, Jack Henaghan in the 220 and long jump and Mike M. Laughlin in the long jump.

In 8-9 girls Caitlyn O'Brien qualified in the 50, Patty Feeeney in the 50 and 220, Sarah Edwards in the 100, Deirdre Murphy in the 100 and 220, Kim Werth and Doty Bonner in the softball throw and Tracy White, Karen Hensbee and Fran Rodgers in the long jump.

In 10-11 boys, Mark Lunnin qualified in the 50 and 100, Tommy Walsh in the 100 and 220 and Jamie McArdle in the 220 and long jump.

In 10-11 girls the qualifiers were Janice Libby, 50 and 100; Theresa Collins, 50; Julie Croke, 100; Lorrie McNeill, 220; Tracy Nave and Nancy Sullivan, 220; Joelle Roden, 50; and Patty Koski, Bethany Lopes and Denise McLellan, softball throw.

In 12-13 boys the qualifiers were Billy Stacy, Jim Sheets and Fred Bickford, softball throw; Ed Munroe, 440 and long jump, and Art Collings, 440.

Qualifying in girls 12-13 were Kristen Dever, 50 and long jump; Denise Petta, 50 and 100; Maureen Roche, 100 and 220; Diane Devlin, softball throw; Georgia Traficante, 440 and softball throw, Noreen Connolly, softball throw; Maria D'Attilio, long jump, and Tracy Coull and Karen Dunn, mile.

In 14-15 boys Kevin Wood qualified in the 100, Steve Libby in the long jump and Chris Adams in the softball throw.

In 14-15 girls Kristine Picarski qualified in the 100 and long jump; Faith Bickford in softball throw and long jump; Eileen Crehan in the softball throw, and Sheila Barrett and Linda Kennedy in the mile.

This Saturday 30 of the best age group athletes on the QTC will try out for a spot on the Boston team which will participate in the U. S. Youth Games.

Last year 15 QTC members took part including medalists Georgia Traficante and Tommy Walsh.

The other members of the club will participate in the Flag Day parade and will report to the Vo-Tech parking lot at 8:45 a.m.

The club membership has skyrocketed to 443, the most ever and one of the largest memberships of any youth track club in the country.

Carroll Hurls Kiwanis To 2 Wins

Kiwanis improved its Junior Baseball League record to 7-4 by winning its last two games with John Carroll the winning pitcher in each.

Carroll held Sears to two hits in a 10-2 victory, having a no-hitter until the fifth. Shaun Flavin had two doubles and a single, extending his hitting streak to 10 games. Mark McDonald and Carroll had three hits each and Dennis DeCoste and Ron Hersey two each. George Hartford played well behind the plate, making a fine catch of a foul fly and tagging out two runners at the plate.

In the previous game Carroll

● Junior Farm League

Angels, Mets Setting Fast Pace

The Angels and Mets continue to roll along in the Junior Farm Baseball League, the Angels pacing the American League with a 10-1 record and the Mets holding a one-game lead over the Giants in the National League with an 11-1 mark.

The Indians edged the Red Sox, 4-3, sparked by Mark Dwyer's three-run homer. Paul Meehan and Kevin Middelndorf shared the pitching chores.

The Angels held off a Mets' rally to win, 9-7, as the Mets scored their runs in the last three innings after trailing, 9-0. Mike Ainsley was the winning pitcher, striking out 13.

For the Angels Jimmy Ross had a bases loaded triple, Jimmy Tarbox a two-run double, Mike Noonan two hits and Jack Mullen, Rick Ames, Chris Noble, Scott Cunningham and Edmond Brosman one hit each.

For the Mets Vin Moran and Billy Bellev had two hits apiece and Paul Adams, Jeff Adams, Steve Connelly, Paul Scola, Jimmy Mann and Bobby Austin one hit each.

In a continuation of an earlier 8-8 suspended game, the Orioles scored three runs in the seventh for an 11-8 victory over the Indians.

The Giants topped the Cubs, 6-1, with Mosher pitching a three-hitter and striking out 11. He also had a homer and double.

Collins had a home run and Rodriguez, Sean Caplis, Peter McLoughlin, Richard Golden, Wright and Ward all had hits.

For the Cubs Steve Carey pitched well and had a double and Alyse Zacheo and Mike Eastwick had hits.

The Indians outlasted the Red

Sox, 13-10, with Paul Meehan getting the win.

Gerry Murphy hit a grand slam homer, Bill Murphy had a three-run homer, Sean Hunter a three-run double and Joey Cappadona, Middendorf, Mark Dwyer and Neal Plant also hit well.

Everett W. Hoxie, 71, Retired Painter

A funeral Mass was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Houghs Neck, for Everett W. Hoxie, 71, of Quincy, a retired printer for Curran Brothers Print Co., Boston.

Mr. Hoxie died Sunday at Carney Hospital, Dorchester, following a long illness.

Born in Boston, he attended Boston schools and was a graduate of Wentworth Institute. He was employed as a printer by Leaver Brothers Printing for 30 years, and by Curran Brothers for six years, before his retirement in 1972.

Mr. Hoxie was past president of the Quincy Bay Race Week Association, past commodore of the Massachusetts Bay Yacht Club Association, and past president of the Town River Yacht Club. He was also a member of the Leaver Brothers Quarter Century Club.

He is survived by his wife, Alice (Malone) Hoxie; two sons, William M. Hoxie of South Weymouth and Richard J. Hoxie of Waltham; a daughter, Mrs. Alice Morrissey of Belmont; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Blodgett of San Jose, Calif.; a brother, Harold Hoxie of Windsor, N.Y.; and 12 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave. Burial was in Blue Hills Cemetery, Braintree.

Contributions in his memory may be made to the American Cancer Society, 47 West Elm St., Brockton.

Dr. Artemas M. Dingwell, 86, Long-Time Quincy Osteopath

Funeral services will be conducted today (Thursday) at 11 a.m. at Deware Brothers Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Wollaston, for Dr. Artemas M. Dingwell, 86, an osteopath in Quincy for 52 years.

Dr. Dingwell died at his home in Sandwich Monday, following a long illness. Burial will be in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Born in Boston, Dr. Dingwell had lived in Quincy and Hingham before moving to Sandwich. A graduate of Quincy schools and Burdett Business College, he received an MD degree from Middlesex College of Medicine and Surgery, and a DO degree from Massachusetts College of Osteopathy.

He interned at Middlesex Hospital, Cambridge and Lynn Hospital, and was affiliated with Massachusetts Osteopathic Hospital.

He was a 50 year member of the Quincy Rotary Club, a member of Royal Arch Chapter, Quincy, Wollaston Masonic Lodge, Quincy Commanders, Knights Templar, Aleppo Temple Shrine, Talem Grotto and the American Osteopathic Association.

Dr. Dingwell played the organ and was choir director for many years at Union Congregational Church, Wollaston.

He was the husband of the late Mrs. Marion (Hackett) Dingwell and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy McCusker of Woods Hole; two brothers, Capt. John I. Dingwell of Bethesda, Md., and Ansley W. Dingwell of Wollaston; four grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Visiting hours were yesterday (Wednesday) 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. at Deware Brothers Funeral Home.

Former Quincy Woman Loses Last Battle To Lou Gehrig's Disease

"I win all board fights with hardly a battle," Mrs. Diana Laplin Hatch wrote to a friend in Quincy. "Diana can't have stress, you know. I get my own way at home and abroad constantly. I'm getting away with murder."

But Mrs. Hatch lost her last fight.

She died recently at the age of 59 at her home in Fairfield, Conn., a victim of amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, a progressive, paralytic disease of the nervous system that also felled Lou Gehrig, baseball's iron man.

Diana, who was born in Milton and lived in Quincy for many years, was told she was dying of ALS in January, 1976. The doctor told her there was no cure, no treatment. Go home, he said, and try to avoid stress.

"They tell you you're going to die and then they tell you not to get into a stressful situation," she said ruefully.

But Diana, who had retired as public relations director of the National Council of Campfire Girls, didn't let approaching death interfere with her active life, even though getting around became increasingly difficult.

A week after the diagnosis, she chaperoned young people from the Greenfield Hill Congregational Church on a skiing trip. She continued as a member of the church board, editor of the monthly newsletter and publicity chairman of the annual Dogwood Festival.

She also did volunteer work with the Connecticut Audubon Society, the League of Women Voters of Fairfield and the Bridgeport Hospital Auxiliary.

And Diana took on a new cause, too.

She conducted a successful campaign to have ramps built at the church for wheel-chair communicants and she led the fight to advertise those buildings in Fairfield which are accessible to wheel chairs.

"I didn't go lie down and wait for them to put the fly in my hand," she told an interviewer nearly two years after she was told that she was going to die. "I've had to give up skateboarding and that sort of thing, but there's still a lot I can do."

She was spending a lot of time in a battery-operated wheel chair to conserve her strength for the times that she had to walk. She offered this advice to fellow sufferers.

"Keep doing everything you can as long as you can. But decide what it is you really want to be doing. Spend your time on something you like. I really like the things I was doing so I'm still doing them."

"I think that a lot of people don't keep on as long as they can. The doctors tell you not to get too tired. I think people take that too literally. I don't plan to start sitting here until I absolutely have to."

On Sunday, May 25, four and a half years after the death sentence was passed, she absolutely had to.

Mrs. Hatch is remembered around Quincy as Diana Laplin, who worked as a reporter for the Patriot Ledger after her graduation from Simmons College in 1942. She and her husband, Harry, moved to Connecticut more than 20 years ago.

Her mother, Mrs. Genie Whitney Laplin, retired in 1963 after many years working in the City Clerk's office in Quincy. She still lives in Squantum.

Diana leaves her husband, Harry B. Hatch; son, Whitney B. Hatch of Milton; and two daughters, Genie F. Hatch of Franklin, and Sandra B. Hatch of Stamford, Conn.

Memorial donations may be made to Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis, Society of America, 15300 Ventura Blvd., Suite 315, Sherman Oaks, Calif. 91403.

ON MEMORIAL DAY, Quincy Legion Post held a special ceremony on Revere Rd., raising a new flag on the post's new flagpole. Several months ago the flagpole was damaged. A new flagpole was installed through the efforts of City Councillor Frank McCauley and the Public Works Department. The new flag, presented to the post by Congressman Brian Donnelly, had been flown over the nation's Capitol in Washington, D.C. Past Commanders and members of the post together with the women's Auxiliary saluted the flag raising while Past Commander William Reeve played "To the Colors" on the bugle.

St. Joseph's To Honor Sisters

St. Joseph's Parish, Quincy Point will hold a reception in honor of the sisters of St. Joseph Sunday, June 15 from 2 to 4 p.m.

on the convent grounds.

Benediction will begin the activities. All parishioners are invited.

Lucio P. Pellegrini, 75, Retired Milk, Automobile Executive

A funeral Mass was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) at St. Agatha's Church, Milton for Lucio P. Pellegrini, 75, a retired transportation executive in the milk and automobile industries.

Mr. Pellegrini died Sunday at Quincy City Hospital after a long illness.

Born in Italy, Mr. Pellegrini moved to Quincy as a young man and lived here for the remainder of his life.

He is survived by his wife, Lucy A. (Shepard) Pellegrini; two daughters, Mrs. Grace M. Weiss of Milton and Mrs. Catherine G. Cowan of Canton; a brother, Louis Pellegrini of Quincy; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Tempesta, Mrs. Catherine Serafini, Mrs. Josephine Grazioso and Mrs. Netta Johnson, all of Quincy; four grandchildren, a great grandson, five nephews and a niece.

Burial was in Mt. Wollaston

Cemetery.

Donations may be made in his memory to the Kidney Foundation, 183 State St., Boston.

Prisoners Released To Make Room For Weekend Sentences

uttering a forged instrument, released after 60 days and turned over to Lynn police on an Essex County warrant.

Marshall said parole was denied to a seventh applicant who had served four months of an 11-month sentence for arson after his office objected to it.

The sheriff said his office did not recommend that the inmates be paroled.

"What he (Judge Kramer) said to me was, 'Give me the names of Quincy court cases who might be considered for parole,'" he said.

"Anybody can be considered for a county parole from the day they are sentenced. But that doesn't mean they're going to get it. Usually it's about half time when they might apply for it."

"On an average we might put out 30 or 35 in a year on county parole. Here's six in a week."

Klein defended the paroles to make room for weekend prisoners, some of them drunken drivers, by saying:

"As far as your safety and my safety go, drunken drivers are a lot more threat than a lot of the thieves and other people we have in jail."

"If you are asking me if we should appropriate that these people be paroled, the answer is yes."

"To my knowledge, as of this morning (Tuesday), not one has been rearrested or in any other trouble. I think that shows they are doing a marvelous job at the House of Correction."

Klein said it might be Marshall's personal opinion that drunk

SHERIFF

drivers should not be put in jail "and he's entitled to it but I disagree."

"I think drunken driving is one of the more serious crimes," he said. "We've had 24 people killed by drunk drivers in the last nine months in this court."

Marshall said he was called down to the courthouse to meet with Judge Kramer recently after he refused to accept two prisoners who were sent to him to serve weekend time.

"I just told him I had no room," he said. "I'm not going to jeopardize the safety of everybody in here for a weekend guy. We just notified the court we couldn't accept them."

"I flat out told him that we could not be inundated with weekend sentences that are not a priority with us."

"His statement to me was 'I've got billboards going up, there are editorials being written about this program; we've got 900-odd failures. We have got to do something. I'm concerned about the safety of the highways.'"

"I can understand his concern about drunken drivers but the fact is that there is no room for them in this facility. We have 72 cells and we've got 134 guys in them right now."

"We have had to go out and borrow cots from the Civil Defense and put these weekenders over in a condemned section of the jail."

"There are no toilet facilities over there and I'm going to be forced to go to the county commissioners for an emergency appropriation of $2,800 to buy some shower stalls and hoppers."

Marshall said weekend prisoners are segregated from straight time inmates for security reasons.

"We don't want them being pressured by the other inmates to smuggle drugs and other contraband in. They are being threatened by the other inmates if they don't," he said.

"In other facilities they have had physical assaults on guys who refused to bring in drugs. We haven't had the problem yet but the potential is there."

"The question is one of the proper use of the correctional facility. I don't think these people need to be locked up in jail for driving under the influence. They could be placed somewhere else, supervising them around the clock."

"Jail space is too valuable for other needs the security and safety of the public."

funded. The City Council last week rejected a supplemental budget request to fund those raises before the end of the current fiscal year. Council members said those raises could be paid next year within the $34.3 million budget for 1980-81.

School committee members disagreed and voted not to pay the 1979-80 raises next year unless the council is ordered in court to provide additional funding for those raises. All raises originally scheduled for 1980-81 will be paid, committee members said.

Quincy Education Association member Robert Garner said his organization would file suit this week to force funding of those raises.

Mike's Corner

This is the 4th in a series of articles written

By Representative
Michael W. Morrissey

Presently, the Massachusetts Legislature is involved with developing and approving the fiscal 1981 budget. Both the House and the Senate have completed action on individual versions of the budget and will now move to a conference committee where a final version will be ironed out. The 1981 budget is some six percent above the FY 1980 budget. Both chambers rejected efforts to impose a 4 percent cap on overall annual budget increases.

The Housing package issued by the Urban Affairs Committee of which I am a member, is currently in Senate Ways and Means awaiting approval. The legislation aims to increase housing production and rehabilitation. Sections of the package provide over $100 million for elderly housing and a modernization and renovation plan for public housing. Housing groups, housing authorities and the Massachusetts Homebuilders' Association are backing the legislation.

The Legislature recently killed three proposals calling for statutory and constitutional changes to limit personal income and property taxes. Despite legislative rejection, the bills may yet be placed on this fall's ballot for direct voter approval or rejection.

One of the petriots, the so-called Proposition 2½, sought to limit property taxes to 2½ percent of fair market value on an increment basis. This was overwhelmingly defeated by a 146-5 vote.

If you have any comments or questions on these or any other matters, please feel free to contact me either at the State House at 727-7035 or at my home at 328-0900.

United First Parish Church Observes Children's Sunday

United First Parish Unitarian Church, Quincy has recently observed a Children's Sunday at which awards and gifts were presented.

Church School teachers Celia Blight, Susan McKeon, Margaret Iverson, Ann Wickberg, and Peggy Munson, were thanked and each were presented with a rose from the children in her class.

Scott Flavin, a senior member of the Church School, played a violin solo, and the children sang the Nigerian folk song "Kum Ba Ya."

Children receiving certificates for their participation in the Church School program were:

Valeria, Rebecca, Darren, and Eric Chin, Jessica, Beth, Elaine, and Heather McKeon, Edward and Alyssa Costello, Jacob Scomers, Stephen Rush, Tiffany Anderson, Bryan Johnson, Becky and Lauren Davidson, Eric and Ned Wickberg, Adam Dashner, Michelle and Jennifer Burke, Donna and Alanna Keto, Robyn and Michelle Streiford, Stephanie, Lori and Dawn Post, Renee Theriault, Leah Stackhouse, Scott Flavin, Lucy Blight, and Vicki Price.

Every child was given a geranium, donated by Rebecca Faxon in memory of the Faxon family.

Beth McKeon, Donna Keto, and Lori Post also received a silver necklaces depicting the flaming chalice, symbol of Unitarianism, in recognition of their having completed "The Growing Up Year" curriculum.

At the conclusion of the service, the congregation retired to the Parish Hall where the children served punch and cookies they had prepared themselves. Photos of the children involved in this year's Church School activities were on display.

hospited by Doris Longmire, Ethyl Lawless and Mary Lou Kemp.

Next Sunday's Father's Day service begins at 10:15 a.m.

St. Anthony's Festival At St. John's Saturday, Sunday

Spiritual, cultural, and social activities will highlight the two day annual St. Anthony's Festival (Festa Di S. Antonio) being sponsored June 14-15 by St. John's Church on the church grounds, School St., Quincy Center.

The celebration has been attracting large crowds from around the South Shore the past two years.

The festival features all types of exhibits, arts and crafts displays, religious items, special events and games. Music for dancing and singing is also provided.

Special Masses honoring St. Anthony will be celebrated on both days and a solemn procession will be held on the church grounds.

Admission is free and the general public is cordially invited to attend.

Festival proceeds are for the benefit of the church building and maintenance funds.

Fr. Daniel Graham is general chairman assisted by a large committee of parishioners.

A Sunday feature will be "Coro Folkloristico Orsognese" (Abruzzi) from Everett dressed in authentic Italian Folklore Costume and specializing in song and dance of the Regione Abruzzi at 4 p.m.

Omega, formerly the Meltones, will provide music for dancing.

Children's Day Service Held At First Church Of Squantum

The children of the First Church of Squantum led the congregation in worship Sunday at the annual Children's Day service.

Susan Scott led the worshippers in a responsive call to worship. David Young gave the opening prayer. Nancy Ellis read the scripture and Debbie Stohberg led the prayer of dedication.

The opening hymn, "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee", was accompanied by Bud Sumner on his violin, as was the anthem "Tread My Lambs" by Natalie Sleeth, sung by the Junior Choir. The Boys' Choir sang "Onward Christian Soldiers" accompanied by Mary Ruth Scott on the autoharp. The director of the Boys' Choir is Kathi Fluhr.

Each Sunday School class presented a song, poem or story to the church. The first grade is taught by Kathi Fluhr; the second grade, Mary Lou Kemp; the third grade, Holly Bumpus; and the fourth grade, Ruth Gerry.

Bibles from the church were presented to second graders by Mary Lou Kemp. Barbara Colwell, co-chairman of the Board of Christian Education, awarded perfect attendance pins to Blythe Bumpus, Bonnie MacRitchie, Kim Galvin, Kerry Galvin, Ruth Adams, Nancy Ellis and Sandra Ahearn.

Mary Ruth Scott awarded choir pins to each child in either choir.

During the final hymn, each child attending the service was given a plant to take home.

Both children's choirs joined to sing "Go Now In Peace." Debbie Stohberg played the xylophone and Nancy Ellis played the glockenspiel.

Ushers were Kenneth Kemp, Mark Paul, Matthew Paul and David Gerry. The Greeters were Gretchen Bumpus and Sally Wainwright.

Mary Laughlin of Dorchester is exhibiting her oil and acrylic landscape paintings in the North Quincy Branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library through the month of June.

Miss Laughlin is a former supervisor of Fine Arts in the Boston schools. She is a member of the Milton Art Association, the Massachusetts Art Education Association and the New Mexico Art League, the Brockton Art Center and the newly formed Dorchester Council of the Arts.

She is a graduate of Massachusetts College of Art, has attended the Irish School of Landscape painting, and studied with Charles Demeteropolis, Ken Gore, Claude Crouney and Roger Curtis.

She has had one person shows at the Milton Library, the Rosindale Library and the Milton Hill House. She has also exhibited in group shows at the Milton Art Association, Portaleen in Falmouth, Seaward Inn, Rockport, Milton Hospital and the City Employees Art Exhibition at Boston City Hall.

4 Residents In Hingham Theatre's 'Oklahoma'

Four Quincy residents are among the cast of the Hingham Civic Music Theatre's production of "Oklahoma" to be presented Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. at Old Colony Theatre, Plymouth. Cast members are Ruth Ferrara (who is also production manager), Shirley Treiter, Larry McDonald and John McDonald.

4 QHS Science Students Receive Awards

Four students were honored at the sixth annual Quincy High School Science Awards Reception held recently in the Three Seasons Restaurant, Quincy Vocational Technical School.

Honored at the reception were the recipients of three science awards:

The Bausch and Lomb medal was presented to David Eleuteri. He achieved the most outstanding academic average in the study of sciences during his high school career.

The Elks Science Awards, given to outstanding students in the sciences, were presented to Larry Rosen, David Eleuteri and Tom Rand.

The Q.H.S. Science Department Special Recognition Award was presented to Carol Mayer. This award was established to recognize consistent effort, continuing interest and enthusiasm in the sciences.

David Eleuteri will attend Boston University; Carol Mayer, Bridgewater State; Larry Rosen,

M.I.T.; Tom Rand, Bowdoin. School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Crendon congratulated the students on their achievements and complimented the science staff for their excellence in teaching.

Parents of the award recipients attended and had a chance to meet with the staff to discuss their children's future plans.

'The Day The Clowns Cried' At Woodward School

Six Quincy residents are among the cast and crew of the play, "The Day The Clowns Cried" to be presented by the Children's Theatre Workshop June 13 and 14 at 8 p.m. at the Woodward School for Girls, Quincy Center.

The residents are Wayne Keddy, Leah Keddy, Sharon Rector, Rene Therault and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Purdy.

The play was written by workshop director Diane Purdy of Weymouth in memory of her father, the late Lt. John C. Ganzel of the Quincy Fire Dept. It deals with good versus evil and also touches on the author's meaning of life after death in a manner children can understand. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Miss Purdy, an accredited English and drama teacher, is founder of the South Shore workshop which will hold a summer program Tuesdays and Wednesdays, noon to 2 p.m., July 8 to Aug. 27.

S.S. Camera Club Sponsoring Photographic Conference

The South Shore Camera Club, North Quincy, is among members of the New England Camera Council sponsoring the annual photographic conference July 11, 12 and 13 at UMass-Amherst.

In past years, the conference has had the highest attendance of any photographic week-end in the country.

The conference will feature a "Camera College" with 27 nationally known photographers conducting "how to do it" programs; seven theatre type programs headed by Kodak's "Britain and Ireland" multi-media, multi-screen production; and the annual beauty pageant with contestants available to model indoors and outdoors.

Community Carnival Saturday At Memorial Congregational

Memorial Congregational Church, 65 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, will hold its Community Carnival Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., postponed from last week because of rain.

The carnival will include games of skill and chance, as well as raffles, balloons, clown face painting for children, food, prizes and more.

A special feature will be Johnny Sisson, the children's entertainer, appearing as "Johnny the Clown." Sisson will present his Strolling Clown Act at 1 p.m., and a magic show at 2 p.m.

An "Old Time Ham and Bean Supper" will be served at 6:30 p.m. Tickets will be sold throughout the day.

Recreation Dept. Schedules Testing For Swim Program

The Quincy Recreation Department will conduct testing for persons planning to register for summer swim instructions Friday and Saturday at the Lincoln Hancock Community School pool.

Testing for the program, which begins July 1, will be held Friday, 6 to 8 p.m., and Saturday, 1 to 4 p.m. Registration for classes is done according to each child's swimming ability and testing is for persons unsure of this ability.

Persons who have enrolled in previous lessons and those who are non-swimmers need not be tested. The program is open to all Quincy residents with pool participation cards.

Registration will be conducted later this month. The Recreation Department's spring swimming schedule ends Saturday at 5 p.m. to allow for the annual cleaning and maintenance of the pool.

STARSCOPE

Clare Answeil

WEEK OF JUNE 12.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19
Spontaneity is present key. Your best arrangements are rearranged after Sunday, and all week you improvise a lot. Weekend offers glamorous event. Lazy streak can offset by exercise.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20
Price increases or the delay of a payment may mean postponing the purchase of a luxury item. On the bright side, relationships — particularly love relationships — flourish all week.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20
No news isn't really good news — so chase up unanswered messages promptly. Financial ideas may meet opposition; listen carefully to other side. Canceled plans are on again by Tuesday.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22
"Times have changed" — and the truth of this lyric becomes increasingly apparent through the week. Meanwhile, bills arrive earlier than expected, and budget reviews shouldn't be postponed.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21
An interrupted project is on again — and its momentum keeps gathering. Weekend's accent is on the new — new food, faces, ideas. Friends have trouble showing appreciation, but don't push.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22
The plot thickens! There are so many new entanglements, you begin to think the week has been scripted by Agatha Christie. Meanwhile, a romantic situation improves — and the money news is also good.

LEO — July 23 - August 22
Spotlight is on your talents. You may be called on to lead a discussion or display creative work. Avoid extremes — in diet, in dress — especially through the weekend.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22
Two warnings: be suspect of know-it-alls, and stay clear of instant friends. Otherwise, enjoy favorable news regarding the following: bonuses, contests, academic honors.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22
Expand on an already fine idea, improve on a just-adequate fitness regime. This is the week to be Mr./Ms. Perfection. Opportunities are open and ambitions are strong.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21
Jobs you sign up for now could be more complex than you think. Family mystery is solved by Sunday. Reconciliations are favored after the weekend.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22
The week's action takes place within — or very close to — your home. Be unusually careful if dealing with numbers or other detail work. Intuition's strong, but you're not as logical as you'd believe.

CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20
Develop and polish new strategies by Tuesday, and advance a giant step closer to major career/educational/romance goal. Friday's exhausting mental gymnastics are balanced by luxurious relaxation on weekend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're adept at gaining affection, and in new surroundings you never remain a stranger. You're naturally inquisitive — which sometimes leads to a state of indecision. An important domestic or career decision can mean a change in lifestyle by autumn. Series of celebrations accents September - January.

BORN THIS WEEK

June 12th, actor Jim Nabors; 13th, actor Paul Lynde; 14th, singer Bobby Darin; 15th, organist Errol Garner; 16th, comedian Stan Laurel; 17th, actor Dean Martin; 18th, songwriter Sammy Cahn.

The association will celebrate its 40th anniversary at a cocktail buffet supper Saturday, June 14, at the New England Aquarium.

How To Buy A House Clinic At 1st American Bank June 16

A one-night Home buying Clinic outlining the steps involved in purchasing a house will be offered at 1st American Bank for Savings Quincy office, 77 Granite St., Monday, June 16 at 7 P.M., announces Arthur J. Shaw, Jr., chairman of the Board.

The bank has sponsored 13 such clinics in the past three years at halls throughout the bank's lending area. Previous clinics have attracted a total attendance of more than 1100 persons. Next Monday's clinic is the second of a series of programs planned by the bank for the 1980 home buying season.

"The 1st American Home buying Clinic is designed to show the first-time homebuyer just what steps to take to become homeowners," Shaw said. "We have been very encouraged by the enthusiastic response to our past programs. The clinic is free, and it is an excellent way for people thinking about buying their own home to learn how to go about it."

Shaw said that mortgage interest rates have shown a steady decrease since the record-high levels set last winter.

"Demand for mortgages is lower today than it was last year at this time," he noted. "Still there continues to be excellent values on homes in the area, and many people feel that even though mortgage rates may be high, if they want to buy their house, the selling price will escalate and make the home unaffordable. 1st American Bank has mortgage money available, and we welcome applications from persons in the community."

Persons interested in attending Monday night's program should pre-register by calling Mrs. Thelma Wilde, branch manager, at 471-1112.

Dennis Gildea To Assist On State Motorcycle Awareness Week

Dennis Gildea of Quincy was recently contacted by the Governor's Highway Safety Council to work with them on a motorcycle awareness week for next spring.

Gildea is president of the newly formed New England Motorcycle Safety, Inc., the first company of its kind dedicated solely to motorcycle safety.

The company, also operated by Janice L. Ford of Cohasset, works to reduce motorcycle accidents and injuries through rider education, public information and research programs.

With over 15 years riding experience, Gildea was motivated to go into motorcycle safety by statistics such as this: More than 50 percent of all motorcycle accidents happen to riders with less than one year's experience.

The company's first safety project is a "Motorcycle Rider Course" being taught by Gildea and Ford, certified instructors, at Woods South Shore Auto School, Weymouth. The course is approved by the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

The 20 hour course, being taught throughout the summer, includes 12 hours of classroom study and eight hours of "on bike" training and is open to anyone over 16 years old. Motorcycles and helmets are provided.

All information given students is backed up by statistics from numerous studies done in the U.S., Europe and Canada.

Gildea says on the drawing board are plans for a moped safety seminar and motorcycle tune-up course.

For more information, call New England Motorcycle Safety, Inc., at 472-4757.

Open House For Teachers

At Curry June 17

The Curry College Learning Center will hold an "open house" Tuesday, June 17, at 4 p.m. for teachers interested in learning about the college's Advanced Studies Program in individual educational planning.

It will be in the Learning Center building on the campus, 1071 Blue Hill Ave. (Rte. 138), Milton.

The program, in its second year, helps teachers assess the needs of each child in the classroom, and develop the appropriate teaching strategy and program to meet those needs.

Dr. Gertrude M. Webb, Learning Center director, said the Advanced Studies Program was developed by the college at the request of experienced classroom teachers, supported by several area administrators.

Atlas Liquors Withdraws License Extension Request

By NANCY MCLAUGHLIN

Following an hour and a half of discussion at Tuesday's License Board meeting, Atlas Liquors, Inc., withdrew without prejudice its request for extension of its license.

The request, first before the board May 27, involved inclusion of 659-671 Adams St., 60-70 Hilda St., and 49-53 Eddie St. in Atlas' retail store-all alcoholic license.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald suggested to Atlas manager Robert White that the request be withdrawn after motions to deny and continue the request failed to receive enough votes.

The motions followed a brief presentation by Atlas attorney John J. Doyle, Jr., countered by discussion by Councillors John J. Lydon and James Sheets and members of the Lakin Square Area Neighborhood Association who were against Atlas' plans.

Lydon pointed out that Atlas' blue prints for a new building on property adjacent to the present store did not have a certified engineers stamp on them and he termed them "deficient".

Sheets said it was his impression that Atlas advertised as a wholesale discount liquor store while they only held a retail license. He also questioned whether the plans allowed for sufficient parking spaces.

Carolyn Reardon, neighborhood association president, reiterated the organization's opposition to Atlas' request and urged the board to deny it.

Ten residents told the board of problems with traffic, litter and teen-agers frequenting the store and surrounding area. Norma Rodberg, an area resident for 23 years, emotionally proclaimed she felt the "taxpayers were being sold down the river".

Police Chief Francis X. Finn said he had taken time to go over the plan with members of his department and traffic expert Franklin Ching and that the plan would be "100% better than the traffic situation we have now".

Finn made a motion to continue the request until a special meeting Friday morning to allow time to ascertain the answers to questions outlined by Lydon and Sheets.

Fire Chief Edward Barry took exception to Rodberg's remark on the integrity of the board, and then, citing Atlas' "un-neighboring" conduct in the past, made a motion to deny the request.

The motion was seconded by MacDonald, but it failed to receive enough votes.

MacDonald suggested that the request be withdrawn, plans redesigned and answers made available to questions raised. MacDonald also suggested Atlas consider a new location.

The vote to allow the request to be withdrawn, was four to one with Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeough opposing the withdrawal. There is no time limit for Atlas to submit another request.

Many of the Lakin Square residents remained at the meeting for a request from Dunkin Donuts of Massachusetts, Inc., for a common victualer license for Adams St.

Atty. Carl Johnson told the board the shop would be located between the Hollow Restaurant and the Channel Home Center and would employ 30 people part time with hours of 5 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Daniel Weisberg, owner of neighboring Meadow Brook Apartments for 31 years, opposed the Dunkin Donut's shop saying he "wished them well and wished they'd go elsewhere". Several other residents echoed his sentiments.

The matter was continued to June 24, to allow city councillors, and neighbors to discuss the proposal with Dunkin Donuts.

In other action, the License Board:

- Denied Bavite Company, Brockton, a motor II license for 261 Quincy Ave., with a building and garage on the same lot.
- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Jordan

Marsh Warehouse, 500 Commander Shea Boulevard, for a press party Aug. 14, 4 to 8 p.m.

The party will preview an upcoming "Orient Express" promotion.

• Granted the South-West Community Center, 372 Granite St., a license to conduct its second annual flea market Friday, June 14, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the Lincoln Hancock School. Proceeds will go towards restocking the Crises Pantry.

• Granted an auctioneer's license to Joseph F. Cortese, 48 Ellerton Rd.

• Granted a request from Old Colony Petroleum to store 10,000 gallons of gasoline underground in addition to present storage of 15,000 gallons. Gasoline storage can not exceed 25,000 gallons.

The following matters were continued or rescheduled to June 17:

- Request from Willard St., Auto Body Inc., 248 Willard St., for a Motor II license.
- Hearing on complaints of noise and drinking outside the Palmer Pub, 520 Sea St.
- A request from H & A Subs and Sweet Stop, Boston Harbor Marina, for a common victualer license for two booths.
- A request from B.J.'s Convenience Store, 1183 Hancock St., for a Lord's Day License.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Daniel P. Sweeney, D.D.S.

It is a good idea to establish the habit of visiting the dentist in young children. Children as young as three to five years old should be encouraged to visit and be introduced to the dentist, even when no treatment is yet indicated. There is no need for dentistry to be a frightening experience. Rarely does dental treatment cause a great deal of pain. Understanding the procedure helps both the patient and the dentist in understanding not only the dental procedures and techniques involved but your feelings as well. Set a good example for a child. If the child has good dental experiences when young, the child is far better off in terms of a lifetime of proper dental care.

Your child can look forward to a lifetime of proper dental care with your help. Visit DANIEL P. SWEENEY, D.D.S., 539 Adams St., East Milton Square, 698-3636. When good exams follow good dental habits, children will look forward to regular dental appointments, will have good oral health and will keep their natural teeth. The right choice of a family dentist and early introduction to regular dental check-ups can determine how your child will view dental treatment in years to come. Present dental visits in the most positive light for years of good oral hygiene and sound teeth. DENTAL TIP: Ask for explanations of any and all dental procedures.

Squantum Street, Quincy in the County of Norfolk representing that they hold as tenants in common an undivided part or share of certain land lying in West Quincy in said County and briefly described as follows: A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in Quincy, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, numbered 88 Ames Street, and being shown as Lot No. 44, on a plan entitled "Plan of Land in Quincy, Mass., Wallace S. Carson, C.E., dated October, 1928," recorded with Norfolk County Registry of Deeds, Book 1821, Page 587, bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by Ames Street, sixty [60] feet;

Northwesterly by Lot No. 45, on said plan, one hundred forty-three [143] feet;

Northeasterly by Lot No. 40 on said plan, sixty [60] feet; and

Southeasterly by Lot No. 43 on said plan, one hundred forty-three [143] feet;

Containing 8,580 square feet of land, according to said Plan. Setting forth that he desire that all the following described part of said land may be sold at private sale for not less than fifty thousand [50,000.00] dollars and praying that partition may be made of all the land aforesaid according to law, and to that end that a commissioner be appointed to make such partition and be ordered to make sale and conveyance of all, or any part of said land which the Court finds cannot be advantageously divided, either at private sale or public auction, and be ordered to distribute the net proceeds thereof.

If you desire to object thereto you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham before ten o'clock in the forenoon on the ninth day of July, 1980, the return day of this citation.

Witness, ROBERT M. IORD, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of May, 1980.

NOW FOR NOW

(or payment by check
is coming back in style.)

In this topsy-turvy economic period, there is one stable, safe way to handle your money—open a NOW account at our Bank.

What can a NOW account do for you and your money management?

Well, as the use of credit cards becomes more and more restricted, a NOW account lets you switch to a cash operating basis, thus avoiding interest charges for time payments. And your money in your NOW account is earning 5% interest per annum. Thus you get the best of both worlds—you avoid interest charges while collecting interest for yourself.

But, you say, going on a cash basis means I can't make larger or more costly purchases and spread the payments. In this economy with interest charges going up almost daily, maybe that is not all bad.

It depends on how much you need a "big ticket" item. If you have a wife and five youngsters and your washing machine breaks down hopelessly, you need a washer, of course. If you don't have the cash, you charge it. But if you can switch to a cash only (or check) basis for most items, you will save money.

The trouble with cash itself is that cash is dangerous. You can be robbed or you run the risk of losing it. NOW account checks are safe and you have an ongoing record of your expenditures.

Think about it.

Should your household budget be keyed into a NOW account?

Will it save substantial interest payments?

Will it be safe and convenient for you?

If you don't have a NOW account and want to open one (for as little as $10.00) come in to our main office or one of our branches.

We think a NOW account is the simplest and best way you have to help fight inflation.

Are "Free" NOW Accounts Really Free?

You will notice in this advertisement we did not use the term "free NOW account." That's because we want no confusion about our NOW accounts even though we feel that we come as close as anyone in offering NOW accounts at a basic minimum cost with no hidden charges.

Here is the way we work our NOW accounts:

You can open an account for $10.00.

As long as you maintain a balance of $10.00 or more you will get interest credited monthly at 5% per annum.

Overdraft charges are $5.00 each, which covers the paperwork in notifying the customer.

Stop payment fees are $5.00 for the same reason.

And the only other charge is $3.85 for each book of 200 plain checks imprinted with your name, address and account number.

What about those which claim to have "free" NOW accounts? They can demand a $300 monthly balance—or $500.00. The only minimum at our bank is $10.00 if you want to earn interest.

The thing to think about when someone says "totally free NOW account" is this: if you don't keep your balance at $300.00 all month long, you can be charged 20 cents for every check you write that month even if you bring your account up to $300.00 within 24 hours. Nothing like that at Quincy Co-operative!

We remind our customers that nothing in life is really free.....but the cost of a NOW account at our bank is very much less than for most other banking institutions.

Move To Change Term

By TOM HENSHAW

RAYMONDI
'Yes'

City Councilor Daniel G. Raymondi's plan to reduce School Committee terms to two years and possibly have them serve on a ward basis has gone over like another budget cut with members of the school board.

"Mr. Raymondi should concern himself with what he has been elected to do," said Mary Collins, "and leave school committee business to those who were elected to do it."

"City affairs, exclusive of the schools, as they now stand should provide him and the Council with enough to do."

"Mr. Raymondi seems to be overly obsessed with running the School Department," said Patricia Toland.

"Maybe he's just if that's his interest."

Raymondi, who served a term on the School Committee from 1972 to 1975, brought the issue up at Monday's Council meeting.

He requested, and the Council agreed, to have the City Clerk and the City Solicitor draft a proposal for the 1981 municipal ballot to have School Committee members serve two-year terms.

Right now the six members of the School Committee serve staggered four-year terms with three of them up for reelection every two years.

"The sense that I heard," he told the Council, "is that people feel that school committee members ought to be elected more frequently than every four years."

"They ought to come back to the electorate at least on a two year basis to increase the accountability of that

Barry: 'I Had To Make The Decision'

Firefighters Take Layoffs Appeal To The People

Quincy firefighters are taking their case against the layoff of 13 members of the Fire Department directly to the people.

George L. Lamb, president of the Quincy Firefighters Association, said plans are to leaflet every home in the city with a flyer that asks the question: "Should the City Gamble with Life and Property?"

"We are going to try to inform the public what the cuts will do to public safety and get their support," said Lamb. "Maybe the Mayor will listen to them."

But Mayor Arthur Tobin indicated that he wasn't ready to listen to anybody. He suggested that the firefighters take their differences to Chief Edward F.

Barry, who, he said, recommended the cuts.

Lamb said he conferred with Barry Monday. He called the meeting "fruitless."

"I feel bad about it," Chief Barry told The Sun, "but, hey, I had to make the decision."

"We have two engine companies at headquarters. One of them has been reduced. I don't feel that this jeopardizes life and safety at this time. I don't know what else could have been done."

"As I said before, I had to make recommendations to the Mayor to compensate for budget reductions. That is what I have done. It was not well received, but I had a job to do and I did it."

In a "fact sheet" issued over the weekend, the QFA said that the layoffs will cost the city 10 per cent of its firefighting force. The "fact sheet" said:

"According to the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) and the Insurance Services Offices (ISO), the Quincy Fire Department is undermanned."

"In 1974 the ISO study of Quincy recommended naming

'Everyone Carefully Screened'

Kramer Defends Early Releases In Drunk Driver Weekend Sentences

"I don't consider operating under the influence for the third or fourth time a minor offense," said Judge Albert L. Kramer. "It has killed 20 people in this jurisdiction in the past year."

"People are unsafe in this community after midnight on any given weekend. I'm not going to let that happen. I think people who endanger the public should go to the can. I intend to make sure they go."

Kramer, who is presiding justice of Quincy District Court, was responding to charges by Sheriff Clifford H. Marshall that he is releasing prisoners from Dedham jail to make room for drunken drivers.

Judge ALBERT KRAMER

The judge acknowledged that six inmates of the jail were given paroles so that others, including some drunken drivers, could be admitted to serve weekend sentences.

"Everyone was carefully screened," he said. "Everyone did some time. They were almost about to be paroled anyway. They've done most of their time. We're talking about shaving off three or four days here."

"There's no magic to whether somebody does two months of three months or 25 days. But there is magic to whether somebody does any time at all, even just weekends."

Keels Laid At GD For 2 Oil Barges

General Dynamics recently laid the keel for two oil barges for Bulkfleet Marine Corporation of Houston, Tex.

The barges, which are scheduled for delivery late this year, will be used by Bulkfleet for the transportation of refined petroleum products.

Participating in the keel laying ceremony at the Quincy shipyard were J. Barry Snyder, president of Bulkfleet Marine; Peer Pederson, Director of Bulkfleet Marine; James N. Brown, Manager of Chartering for Gulf Oil Co.; and Gerald J. Mount, Vice President of Bulkfleet Marine. Each welded their initials on the keel units.

The barges will be 503 feet long with a beam of 84 feet and a depth of 42 feet. They have a capacity of 192,000 barrels of petroleum products.

Representing General Dynamics at the ceremonies were P. Takis Veliotis, executive vice president - Marine; and Joseph H. Lennox, general manager of Quincy shipyard.

KEEL UNITS for two 192,000 barrel oil barges were laid recently at General Dynamics' Quincy, Shipbuilding Division. The barges, being built for Bulkfleet Marine Corporation of Houston, Tex., are scheduled for completion late this year. The barges will be 503 feet long with a beam of 84 feet.

Sheets Seeks Specifics On City Firings, Rehiring

"I want to know if games are being played with people's employment," said City Councillor James A. Sheets. "It would be tragic if it is."

And with that Sheets filed a resolution asking that the Council be informed on what city employees are being laid off and, if they are put back on the payroll, the circumstance surrounding their rehiring.

Dismissal notices have thus far gone out to at least 30 city employees, not including school teachers, whose jobs were deleted from the Tobin administration's 1980-81 austerity budget.

"A lot of them are going to have difficulty coming back on the city payroll," said Sheets. "but some may not."

"I am concerned that the individual who is not a political appointee have as much chance to return to work with the city as the one who is a political appointee."

"I want to know if someone is being taken off the payroll and then is quietly put back on through the use of state or federal funds or is given a temporary 30-day or 60-day job."

"If there are state and federally funded jobs available in the future I want to make sure that all former city employees who want to return have a fair and equal shot at them."

Sheets said he also wants to learn the names of those being laid off who live in his ward so that they can be helped to find new employment.

Sheets' resolution, which the Council passed on to the Mayor, asked that the Auditor and Personnel Director appear before the Council with a list of specific positions deleted from the 1981 budget.

They would also provide the names of those whose positions were cut and "on a monthly basis..."

The Auditor will notify the Council if any of the aforementioned people are added to the municipal payroll on a temporary or provisional basis or on the other funded accounts such as federal or state.

To Balance Budget

Teacher Aides Layoffs Likely

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Layoffs of some of the city's 250 teacher aides will probably be necessary to balance the school budget, according to School Committee Vice-Chairman Christopher Kennedy.

The committee last week cut about $1,274,000 from its proposed 1980-81 budget, leaving about $725,000 in cuts still needed.

Although no school employees have yet been laid off as an economy measure, Kennedy thinks it will be impossible to make the $2 million in cuts needed without layoffs.

The largest group of employees included in School Supt. Lawrence Creedon's proposed cuts are 125 teacher aides—about half the 250 employed by the school system.

"My guess is that some of them will probably have to be terminated," Kennedy said.

When asked how many, Kennedy said "That's something we'll have to wrestle with." Also included in Creedon's recommendations are elimination of 15 teacher's jobs and 15 more "non-professional" employees.

The committee was scheduled to continue work on the budget cuts at its June 25 meeting.

The cuts were made necessary by the City Council's vote on May 19 to cut $4.7 million from the proposed 1980-81 school budget.

Two steps, the elimination of $1.4 million in retroactive school employee raises from the budget and the expected approval, by the City Council, of an additional $1.2 million in school funds—reduced the school deficit to about $2 million.

The School Committee then cut the bulk of that amount at a hectic, sometimes heated, June 11 meeting.

"We're cutting dollars without knowing what they're intended for," said member Francis Anselmo, who objected to some of the cuts.

"I certainly don't try to defend the logic of most of what we're doing tonight," said Creedon when asked to justify one of his proposed cuts.

• Elimination of $200,000, originally budgeted to operate the Hunting, Great Hill and Myles Standish schools, from the budget. Those schools were closed by the committee last month.

• The abandonment of $100,000 in new windows for the Mass Fields. The new windows would have cut down on the school's energy costs.

• The elimination, by attrition, of 15 teaching positions, saving $297,000.

• Cutting $167,000 from the proposed Quincy Junior College budget.

• A 29 percent cut in plant maintenance, saving $180,000.

• Cutting the plant equipment budget by $70,000.

• Cutting the learning equipment budget by 20 percent, or $40,000.

• Cutting $50,000 from the $60,000 summer workshop budget.

• Eliminating $75,300 in "curriculum support" equipment, including texts, audio-visual equipment and others.

• A $30,000 cut in the substitute salary account.

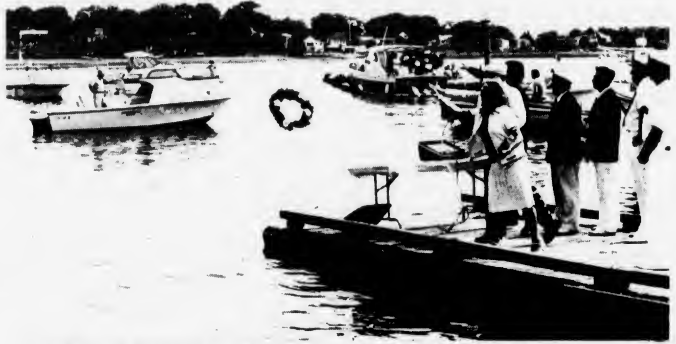

The committee decided not to cut budget money for the 1980 Summerscene program.

Action on the Community Education budget was tabled after the committee heard Ronald Iacobucci, chairman of the Lincoln Hancock Community School Council, ask that programs at that school be preserved.

Creedon had recommended that the entire community education and night school budget about $504,000—be eliminated.

Iacobucci claimed that 4,000 persons each week use the Lincoln Hancock School and asked "Where are they going to go?"

The committee asked Creedon to present several options at the next meeting aimed at preserving as much of the community education programs as possible.

CEREMONIAL WREATHS are tossed into the Town River as part of the annual Blessing of the Fleet at Town River Yacht Club Sunday. Tossing the wreaths are Rev. Alicia Corea of Houghs Neck Congregational Church, Rabbi David Jacobs of Temple Beth El and Rev. William Devine of St. Joseph's. Looking on are assistant commodore Robert Perry, Commodore Bruce Swan and Rear Commodore Charles Reynolds. The blessing was preceded by a short boat parade review by the Town River Commodores.

Building Permits Issued For $4.6 Million In Construction

The city building department issued 89 permits for work costing an estimated $4,687,280 during May, according to its monthly report.

The bulk of that total was a permit for work costing an estimated $4.05 million at the SCI office building at State Street South.

In addition, a permit for the first phase of 173 condominiums on Quincy Shore Drive was also issued. That first phase will cost an estimated $360,000.

The following permits were issued:

One single-family dwelling, costing an estimated $35,000; one multi-family dwelling (the condominiums), $360,000; One mercantile (SCI), $4,050,000; One storage, $4,000; One garage, $2,000; 54 Residential alterations, $124,430; eight other alterations, $58,900; four removals, $21,900; 10 signs, $12,225; 8 miscellaneous, $18,825.

$2,842 in receipts were collected.

During May, 1979, 121 permits were issued for work costing an estimated $533,165.

25 Police Officers, Two Cadets Commended

Five members of the Quincy Police Department have been commended for their part in recovering items stolen from the Adams Mansion last September, announces Chief Francis Finn.

Six other officers were commended and awarded a day off with pay for saving the lives of occupants of a four-family apartment house at 33 Farrington St., Wollaston during a March 2 fire.

They are among 31 commendations awarded to 25 officers and two police cadets, announced by Finn.

Three commendations were awarded to Officer Paul Leman and two each to Officer Robert E. Curtis III and Detective William Stenmon.

Also commended were Det. Thomas Casey, Officers Henry Bradley and Anthony Courage, Sgt. Denis Cronin, Officers Robert Ciriello, Stanley Cramond, Richard Flynn, Ralph Hood, William Horick, Francis Johnson, Daniel Kennedy, Edward Kusser, Ernest Lijoi, William Lanergan and Angus McEachern, Jr., Sgt. John McDonough, Det. Kevin Murphy, Officers Joseph O'Reilly, Donald Pearson and Harry Williams and Detective Thomas Healey.

Commendations were also awarded to Police Cadets David Lydon and Richard Tenore.

Healey, Casey, Murphy, Stenmon and Pearson were commended for their part in recovering historic artifacts stolen in a September 1979 break-in at the Adams Mansion. A Hingham man was also arrested in connection with the break.

Commended for their work during the March 2 Farrington St. fire were Bertoni, Bradley, Flynn, Kennedy, Kusser and Leman. Bertoni, Flynn and Leman were admitted to Quincy City Hospital after that fire for smoke inhalation and Bradley suffered a severe hand laceration. The six were successful in rescuing two infants and their parents trapped inside the building.

Stenmon and Curran were commended for their part in arresting a suspect in connection with several breaks and a suspected arson at The Golden Print, 87 Shirley St., West Quincy.

Lijoi was commended for assisting New Hampshire and Massachusetts state police in an undercover drug investigation.

Curtis, Horick and Johnson were commended for their aid to the Fire Department in fighting a Jan. 3 fire at the DiMarzio Roller Rink in Houghs Neck.

Curtis, Ciriello and Leman were commended for warning and evacuating the residents of a multi-family home at 203 Atlantic St., North Quincy during a Jan. 5 fire.

Cadets Lydon and Tenore and Officers Cronin and Cramond were commended for their part in arresting a suspect in an armed robbery at Scavos Gas Station, 550 Willard St., West Quincy on Jan. 21.

Leman and McDonough were commended for arresting two suspects in a Jan. 28 case of larceny at Rogers Jewelry Store, 1402 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Courage and Lanergan were commended for their part in investigating a fatal stabbing at 77 Adams Place, Quincy Center on Jan. 29. A Merrymount man was arrested in connection with the stabbing.

McEachern was commended for his arrest on March 2 of a suspect in several Quincy Center burglaries.

Hood was commended for halting an assault on a nine-year-old girl on Granite St., Quincy Center on March 15 and arresting a suspect.

Williams and O'Reilly were commended for arresting a suspect in a May 5 burglary at Rogers Jewelry Store, 1402 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

'Playing Games' With School Budget

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Many people have suggested that the Mayor, the Quincy City Council, the Quincy School Committee, and the school administration have been "playing games" with the schools and the school budget.

Unfortunately, the game that's being played is a form of "Russian Roulette" and the gun seems to be clearly aimed at the children, their teachers, and ultimately at all of the ordinary citizens of this city!

The games seems to have begun last fall when after protracted negotiations with school employees, contract settlements were arrived at which on their face seemed fair and reasonable but which ultimately proved to be nothing more than a tactical ploy when it came down to their implementation.

All during the negotiating process the actions of the Mayor made it clear that he would play the game with a vengeance when it was his turn! His turn did come and he played it cute! He became the apostle of doom suggesting that the city was about to go into bankruptcy if the meager raises negotiated by the school employees were funded! Still he seemed to find the necessary funds to give Christmas bonuses to his favored few. He used every legal tactic at his disposal to prevent the funding of negotiated raises but a judge finally told him that he would have to give the Quincy City Council their turn.

The City Council, overjoyed that it was finally their turn, zealously went about axing $5 million dollars from the school budget and turning aside a 1.4 million dollar supplementary budget while suggesting that all negotiated raises had been and only "frills" needed to be cut! When concerned parents, teachers, and citizens suggested that they were a bit overzealous, they suggested that we just didn't understand the rules of the game.

Now it was the school administration's turn! Cries of anguish went up that the school system was about to be dismantled with the closing of 8 neighborhood schools, the elimination of sports and extra-curricular activities, massive layoffs of teachers and other school employees, and all kinds of other drastic cuts sure to arouse the anger of citizens, teachers, and children throughout the city. Everyone seemed to have become a victim "in the game!"

When it appeared that the victims might completely disrupt the game, time-out was called and the players in the game went into a huddle at City Hall and a new game plan was devised. The Mayor would become the hero by proposing a motion before the school Committee to prevent the closing of neighborhood schools and disruption of the athletic program. Accompanied by a good deal of double-talk, funds to pay the negotiated raises of school employees would be deleted from the school budget. In effect, the school employees would involuntarily subsidize the Quincy Public Schools to the tune of 1.4 million dollars.

But the game has not ended! Suits and countersuits are sure to follow and the players will continue on with their game. Who will be the ultimate losers? At this point it would appear to be the school teachers and those who deliver the services in the neighborhood schools. But in the end aren't the children, their parents, and the citizens of this city the real losers when their elected representatives play Russian Roulette with their lives?

Commends Council On Budget Cuts

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Despite the constant carping and whining of Frank Anselmo, the school system of Quincy is not going to fall apart because of the budget cuts forced upon it by the city Council.

The council is to be commended for at long last listening to the demands of the people for economy in government. Apparently it will take longer for Mr. Anselmo and his free-spending cohorts to get the message, and to learn to live within the financial means of the taxpayers.

When I campaigned against three incumbent school committee members last fall, I repeatedly tried to get the subject around to tax cuts and government economy. My opponents talked about everything else under the sun, either because they couldn't understand the concept of economy, or because they wanted to keep the voters in the dark about where they stood in regard to spending.

Now their lack of concern for the hard-pressed taxpayers is out in the open for all to see. Apparently the only way to curb the wild spending of our school committee is to pass Proposition 2½ in November. Limiting their fiscal autonomy might wake them up.

Points To Ponder

- Many of us will never achieve greatness, but we can still do small things in a great way.
- No one is so old as some one who has lost all enthusiasm.
- A person who can't lead and refuses to follow usually ends up being a roadblock.
- Three phrases most people have difficulty believing:
The check is in the mail
My alarm clock didn't go off
I'm from the federal government and I'm here to help you
- A new idea is a very delicate thing. It can be killed by a yawn, a frown or a sneer.

You'll Be Missed, Father

Everyone knew it was going to happen, but each week hoped it would be some other week.

Last weekend, time ran out. The dreaded announcement finally came: Fr. Joseph Connolly was leaving St. John's Church. His 10-year assignment was up.

Today (Thursday) he begins his new duties as associate pastor at St. Mary of the Annunciation Church in Melrose.

In his 10 years at St. John's he had endeared himself to parishioners as a priestly priest and a hard worker who knew no communication gap. He never had any problem reaching the young, the middle-aged or the elderly.

His popularity—and the respect in which he is held—was quite evident in the fact that hardly a week or so went by without him officiating at a wedding.

Press him for an estimate and he will say he probably performed "about 400 marriages". That figure has to be conservative.

True to form he wouldn't let anyone make a fuss about his leaving. At his request no farewell reception was planned.

He said his farewell with a note in the parish bulletin which said in part: "My memories of 10 years at St. John's are beautiful ones—due to the wonderful spirit, warmth and love shown by such great parishioners; the truly dedicated and familial relationships of the rectory staff; as well as the support, affirmation and real camaraderie of the four excellent pastors and seven associate pastors with whom I have had the pleasure to serve."

But, he didn't get off that easily.

At the end of the 4 p.m. concelebrated Mass for St. Anthony's Feast Saturday, the capacity throng gave him an ovation that almost tilted the steeple.

It was an outpouring of genuine affection for a good priest and good friend. Fr. Connolly, it appeared, bit his lip as though to keep the tears away.

For Quincy, his departure is a loss. For Melrose, his arrival a gain. Indeed!

So long, Chief, we're going to miss you.

FR. THOMAS GARRETT, formerly of Sacred Heart parish, North Quincy, came home to a rousing welcome during the Tall Ships visit. He's Lt. Comdr. Tom Garrett now and a "circuit rider".

Many years ago clergymen regularly traveled from one community to another, bringing their spiritual message to the people. They were not assigned to one parish or one church, but to any area and were known as "circuit riders".

FR. GARRETT

"Father Tom", as Fr. Garrett is called, is one of five chaplains in a religious support center headquartered in Mayport, Fla. and assigned to destroyers in the Atlantic.

They are the modern day "circuit riders"—the destroyers "the circuit" they ride.

He came back to Boston aboard the USS Sampson, a guided missile destroyer. The Sampson and seven other Second Fleet Navy ships were sent here to participate in the Tall Ships visit.

But, thanks to Father Tom, the Sampson got a special welcome.

Through his efforts, the ship was greeted upon arrival in port by the North Quincy High School band.

SPEAKING OF churches and clergy, the 11 a.m. Sunday Folk Mass at St. John's, Quincy Center, is attracting a large, loyal following from around the city and the South Shore, too.

A poll by Fr. Daniel Graham at a recent Mass showed that about 80 per cent of those attending that Mass came from outside of St. John's parish.

And, who says people aren't going to church anymore?

QUINCY'S Ron Iacobucci thinks Senator Edward Kennedy has a good chance of wresting the nomination away from President Jimmy Carter at the Democratic National Convention.

Iacobucci coordinated Kennedy's campaign in the 12th Congressional District in New Jersey. Kennedy pulled better than 60 per cent of the vote in that district compared to 56 per cent in the state.

Iacobucci says he saw signs in New Jersey that are now confirmed by the latest polls: Carter is slipping.

He thinks that by the time the convention comes to order there will be a lot of Carter delegates ready to swing over to Kennedy—especially if the polls continue to show that Ronald Reagan would beat Carter.

PETER ELEEY, the young Quincy Democrat running for Governor's Council, isn't wasting any time getting his campaign off the ground. Over the weekend he attended the Knights of Columbus outing at Faxon Park, Sacred Heart parish outing at Pageant Field, St. Anthony's Festival at St. John's and a steak bake hosted by Senator Alan McKinnon (D-Weymouth). And, between campaign stops, he found time to break in a new barbecue grill at a cookout at his home for a group of his supporters.

PATRICK CORCORAN, one of the five Democrats running for the late Patrick (Sonny) McDonough's Governor's Council seat, is a Marshfield resident but he's also Quincy oriented. He's a Quincy contractor.

And, last night (Wednesday) he was scheduled to kick off his bid with a reception at his campaign headquarters, 394 Water St., South Quincy. His Quincy coordinator is Robert Tweedie.

DENNIS RYAN, Quincy District Court clerk, has been released from Massachusetts General Hospital and is taking it easy at his Fenno St., Wollaston home.

PATTI BELLOTTI, daughter of Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Francis X. Bellotti was recently honored at the Cushing Academy (Ashburnham) spring sports banquet. Patti, captain of the varsity softball team, received awards for the most runs batted in, the batting crown and also the Bette Davis Senior Athlete of the Year Award. She'll attend Northeastern University in the fall.

practices of one officer and four firefighters on every fire truck. The present level of manning is one officer and three firefighters.

Particularly upsetting to the firefighters was the loss of Engine B, the second engine stationed at Central Fire Station, which was taken out of service as a result of the budget cuts.

Mayor Tobin called it a "reserve or backup" company but Lamb questioned that description.

"Engine B made more runs than any other engine in the last five years," he said. "It was the busiest company in the city. It made an average of 1,350 runs a year, more than 100 a month."

"It never has been a reserve piece. I don't know what the Mayor is talking about."

Engine B is frequently used to cover other stations when the apparatus from that locality is out on a fire run.

Lamb pointed out that the engine at the Wollaston station was out of service Monday and, if Engine B hadn't been available, "there would have been no engine in Wollaston today."

If the Wollaston engine had been out of service Sunday night, Lamb said, a fire at 235 Arlington St. may have had tragic results.

"If you need an electrician or a plumber or a carpenter you can wait," he said. "But if there is a fire, you can't wait. Immediate response is essential."

The QFA fact sheet quoted Chief Barry as saying in a 1944 general order that "the two engine companies, B and J, will not be sent together as it defeats the purpose of one engine company being in quarters and ready for another response."

The bottom line is the Mayor," said Lamb. "He is the only one who can restore the cuts with a supplemental budget."

But the Mayor indicated that he was prepared to ride out the storm as he did when other city employee groups protested one of his actions.

"The firefighters are not doing anything different than the other unions," he said.

"When it was (John) Keefe's union, it was boycotted the banks and boycotted the stores. This was going to jeopardize the services to the people."

"When we attempted to curtail the hospital budget, we were affecting health care services."

"Then there was the attempt to cut the school budget and the teachers went out in the streets."

"Now it's the firefighters' turn."

Tobin said the cuts in Fire Department personnel were made on the recommendation of Chief Barry.

"The chief has an impeccable reputation as a professional firefighter," he said. "It is his job to run the department. He says this is the least disruptive recommendation."

"It will not jeopardize the public safety of our citizens."

School Children Permitted To Aid War Paper Drive

Mayor Charles A. Ross issued an emergency order overriding the School Committee's refusal to permit school children to take a morning off to help in the city's wastepaper drive for the war effort.

The youngsters were needed to pick up bundles of paper in front of homes and deliver them to the Granite St. railroad siding where 15 freight cars were waiting to take them to Boston.

"The Mayor's order undoubtedly prevented the success of the residential drive from being imperilled," said Clarence L. Edwards, chairman of the salvage drive.

"As we see it a war emergency must take precedence over everything else and this is one of those situations."

SHIPBUILDERS WIN

Move To Change Terms Draws School Board's Wrath

(Cont'd from Page 1)

School Committee in 1971 "it was a campaign issue whether members should be from the wards and whether they should serve two or four years."

"I have no problem electing committee members from the wards," he said.

Raymond was supported by Councillor John J. Lydon Jr., who said that it is an issue that is being addressed statewide.

"Four years is too long at a local level," he said. "It does not bring the proper accountability to a department that is currently involved with 50 per cent of the municipal budget."

Christopher F. Kennedy, vice chairman of the school committee, wasn't wild about either idea.

"I've always felt that the schools are a specialized area," he said. "To throw the committee out every two years would interfere with the continuity and affect the quality of education."

"I've always felt that the difference between the schools and the general administration was that the schools need overall management."

"If you elect the school committee from the wards it would lead to neighborhood chauvinism. They would think of the schools in the wards as their schools."

"The trouble is that the students don't stay in the ward. They go on to junior high schools and high schools that are out of the ward. It's better that the school committee serve the whole city."

Mrs. Collins said she felt that having to run for reelection every two years for an unpaid position would discourage future candidates.

"It's difficult enough now to get people to run," she said. "The current four-year terms were set for the very reason that no way would be too much work and expense for a non-paying job."

"The ward thing might make it more attractive to run, though, because campaigning would take less money and footwork."

"I don't know where Mr. Raymond gets his sense of what people feel," she added. "I haven't had any complaints about it. No one has made any suggestions to me about it."

Mrs. Toland said that she would have no problem with a two year term but she wasn't sure about ward elections. "I believe in accountability," she said. "I think the City Council should be accountable, too."

"When you're elected on a ward basis you tend to see your job as getting the most for your ward. You wouldn't think about the citywide school system."

"Ward politicians also swap favors and there tends to be a concentration of money in certain areas. I think it's a very bad idea."

"Perhaps," she added, "Mr. Raymond should stick to his job in Ward 2."

"There is a vandalism problem at the Point Junior High Webster School complex. He could be a very big help to the School Department by doing something about that."

"Or perhaps he could do better by trying to bring business to the Quincy Point area and halt the deterioration of Washington St. That's his job as a councillor."

Conservation Commission Hearing On T Ramps

The Conservation Commission was scheduled to meet in a public hearing last night (Wednesday) to discuss proposed alteration of wetlands involving the new South

Quincy MBTA stations. In question are proposed ramps onto routes 3, 128 and I-93 from the new station.

The hearing was scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the conference room at 100 Southern Artery (the old "Nike Site.") The public was invited to view plans of the proposal and comment upon them.

Joseph Coletta, 91, Retired Shipyard Blacksmith

A funeral Mass was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) for Joseph Coletta, 91, who died Sunday at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

Mr. Coletta was a retired blacksmith for the Bethlehem Steel Company and worked for 45 years at the Fore River Shipyard.

Born in Supino, Italy, he lived in Quincy for 70 years.

He was a member of the Quincy Sons of Italy and the Fore River Long Service Club.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna (Felic) Coletta; a son, Albert J. Coletta, owner of the Greenwood-Colletta Funeral Home; two daughters, Mrs. Sally Maddalena and Mrs. Enez Cantelli, both of Quincy; a brother, Antonio Coletta of Italy, nine grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the Grimwood Colletta Funeral Home. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Funeral services were held yesterday (Wednesday) at Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home for Mildred L. Tyler, city treasurer from 1949 to 1954.

Miss Tyler, 96, died Sunday at a local nursing home after a long illness.

Born in Brockton, she attended schools there and lived briefly in Worcester before settling in Quincy in 1906. She began working in the city treasurer's office in 1907 and retired 47 years later as the oldest city employee on record, 70. She was appointed treasurer by former mayor Charles Ross.

During those years, the city saw a huge growth in population, property valuation and budget.

At a testimonial dinner on May, 1954, attended by more than 250 persons, she was presented a television set by then Mayor Amelia Della Chiesa and praised by former Mayor Thomas Burgin for her "graciousness, charm, personality and ability".

She was a former member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, the United First Parish Church's Women's Alliance, Eventide Auxiliary and the Red Cross blood bank.

She is survived by three cousins, George Thompson of Weymouth, Raymond Thompson of Florida and Richard Thompson of New Hampshire.

Rev. Keith Munson of United First Parish Church presided at services at Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy Center. Burial was in Mt. Vernon Cemetery, Abington.

The City Council observed a moment of silence at Monday night's meeting in memory of Miss Tyler.

Francis L. Horgan, 51, Truck Driver

A funeral Mass was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) at St. John's Church for Francis L. Horgan, a truck driver employed by various companies, who died Monday in Quincy.

Mr. Horgan, 51, was born in Quincy and was a lifelong resident.

He was a World War II Army veteran and a member of the George F. Bryan VFW Post.

He is survived by a son, David L. Horgan of California; a brother, George Horgan of Quincy, and two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth McLeroy of Florida and Mrs. Patricia Steen of Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Edith A. Cole, 89, Retired Laboratory Aide

A funeral Mass was celebrated Tuesday at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston, for Mrs. Edith A. (East) Cole, 89, of Quincy, who died Saturday at her home following a short illness.

Mrs. Cole, born in Windsor, Ontario, Canada, had lived in Dorchester before moving to Quincy four-and-a-half years ago. She was employed as a laboratory aide at Deaconess Hospital, Boston, before her retirement in 1955.

Wife of the late Mr. William Cole, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Arline Wiles of Stoughton, and Mrs. Pauline Jones of Weymouth; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston, and burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery, Quincy.

RUBELLA OR RUBEOLA?

Doctors are increasingly worried over general confusion about measles and German measles. They are two distinct diseases caused by two different viruses.

Measles, or Rubella, most frequently strikes preschoolers. German measles, or Rubella, is less contagious and occurs more frequently among young adults. Women stricken with Rubella during the first three months of pregnancy run a great risk of bearing retarded or handicapped children.

Separate immunization shots are available for both Rubella and Rubella. Unfortunately, most mothers are unaware of this and assume that a single shot protects children against all types of measles. This misconception leaves the children open to infection by one or other of the viruses.

RETIRING PASTOR John Banks says he'll miss the city's seaside atmosphere and historic sites when he steps down this month. Here he chats with church secretary Thelma Dougenik.

Retiring June 30

Rev. John Banks Has Seen Many Quincy Changes

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Rev. John Banks who retires this month as pastor of Bethany Congregational Church will miss a lot of things about Quincy.

Strolls through the grounds of the Adams Mansion, the "New England maritime culture" and friends made during 26 years in the city will be left behind when Rev. Banks retires to Chapel Hill, N.C.

Rev. Banks will step down June 30, exactly 40 years from the date of his ordination in 1940. He has been Pastor of Bethany Congregational since 1954.

"I didn't really plan that," he says. "It just happened that way."

Almost two thirds of his ministry has been spent at the Quincy Center church, after previous stops in Richmond Hill, N.Y.; Omaha and Fremont, Neb. and Springfield, Mass.

During those years, Rev. Banks has seen tremendous changes - physical and otherwise - in the city.

"Physically, of course, the city has moved in the direction of more apartments," Rev. Banks said. The arrival of the MBTA, the arrival of new stores and banks and the new City Hall and McIntyre Mall have also altered the church's surroundings, Rev. Banks said.

"Although my friend Bedros Baharian might correct me, I would say there are five times as many apartments in the city as when I arrived," he added.

This has altered the nature of the city, as homeowners in general tend to be more of a settled group, and more committed to the local church and other institutions, he said.

Other factors have contributed to a one-third decline in the congregation (from about 1,000 to about 650) since Rev. Banks arrived.

"The 1960's clearly saw a disillusionment, a lack of faith in much of the traditional social order," said Rev. Banks. "The attitudes of many towards the churches became one of indifference or outright hostility. We were considered part of the establishment by 'the radicals', along with banks and businesses and public schools and politicians."

In addition, he said, the attitude of many today seems to be "what's in it for me?" rather than the traditional churchgoers' attitude of "what can I do for others?"

"Along with this has been a considerable rise in crime and destructiveness," he added. "The church must take extraordinary measures just to protect its own property." Many church activities are now scheduled in the daytime, as some church members are reluctant to travel at night.

But his 26 years in the city has seen changes for the better, too.

"One of the happiest developments I've seen is the development of an ecumenical spirit, a warm fellowship with the clergy and laity of our local Catholic churches," he said.

Rev. Banks does plan to continue his own ministry when he and his wife Marie move to Chapel Hill, home of one of the couple's three children.

"Essentially, I plan to be a volunteer servant in the churches in the area-more of a layman," he said.

In addition, he'll be pursuing his hobbies, which include Scottish lore and history and beekeeping.

He's kept bees in the belfry of Bethany Congregational for more than 20 years and figures the sale of their honey has raised about $4,000 for the church over that time.

The eight hives, housing over 400,000 bees, will be tended by his assistant and successor, Rev. Eldon Zuern. Rev. Banks will begin tending several new hives in North Carolina.

$166,092 In Plumbing, Gas Fitting Work

The city Plumbing and Gas Fitting Inspection department issues 242 permits for work costing an estimated $166,092 during May, according to its monthly report.

According to Inspector James A. Erwin, Jr., the department made 193 plumbing inspections, issued 126 permits for work costing an estimated $82,104 and collected $742 in fees.

An additional 151 gas fitting inspections were made, 116 permits issued for work costing an estimated $83,988

$327,000 CETA Training Grant To QJC, Vo-Tech

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon announces the award of a $327,000 CETA training grant to Quincy Junior College and Quincy Vocational Technical School.

"This grant is a result of the joint effort of College and Vocational-Technical School educators preparing training proposals in high technology programs," Creedon said.

"We are all well aware of the need for training programs to serve the needs of technological industries in this area. Governor King has placed this need as top priority as a means of keeping and attracting such industries to our state. I am pleased that the Quincy Public Schools can be in the forefront of this effort through this grant."

"Credit also needs to be given to the co-operative effort involving the Quincy CETA Office, and South Shore Chamber of Commerce with the school system staff," added Dr. Creedon.

Dr. Edward Pierce, Quincy Junior College President, remarked that "this is one more successful effort in the College's commitment to seek outside funding, federal and state, to better serve the varied needs of the community."

The grant, provided through the Statewide CETA Private Industry Council, will provide up-to-date training for CETA eligible individuals in a wide variety of occupational fields, including computer programming, technical writing, word processing, microprocessor electronics, electronic component assembly, and production electronic testing.

The funds will be used for instruction, counseling, and job placement activities as well as providing modern high technology equipment enabling Quincy Junior College and Quincy Vocational Technical collaborative to continue its training programs in the future.

The successful collaborative arrangement between the College and Vocational Technical School was commended and held up as a model by Secretary of Education, Charles Johnson. At a recent meeting of various educational segments of Southeastern Massachusetts post-secondary educational systems, including vocational technical schools and community colleges, Secretary Johnson encouraged institutions to provide for better linkages as the Quincy System has done.

The high technology programs are designed towards professional, skilled, and semi-skilled employment, depending upon the program. Approximately 100 South Shore residents will be served through this training. Trainees include individuals currently unemployed who meet CETA eligibility requirements.

Lawrence Yerdon Named QEA 'Friend of Education'

Historical Society Curator-Director Lawrence Yerdon has been awarded the Quincy Education Association's "Friend of Education" award for 1980.

The award was presented to Yerdon by QEA president Robert Garner at a gathering in the Adams Room of the Hollow Restaurant.

Garner said Yerdon was selected for the award because of "his contribution, as curator director, to the education of all citizens of the city of Quincy, and especially the children."

"Garner praised Yerdon for revitalizing the program at Adams Academy and making the exhibits accessible to school children."

"The Academy, which is a treasure trove of local historical artifacts, will now become part of each child's personal cultural heritage, and history is being made real for them," Garner said. Yerdon was also praised for offering numerous in-service courses for Quincy teachers.

Yerdon was born in Vestal, N.Y., and received his bachelor's degree in history from Eastern Nazarene College, Quincy, in 1970. He is a graduate student at Boston University. He has also studied at the Williamsburg Seminar in Historical Administration, and the Winthur Museum

He has been a guide at the Adams National Historic Site, a teacher at Woodward School for Girls, and worked in the Education Department at Plymouth Plantation. His community activities include board member of the Quincy Symphony; member of the Quincy Historic District Commission; member of the Quincy Arts Council; Vice president of the Bay State Historic League.

Citizens Of Quincy Do You Know The Facts??? Has Our Mayor Been Misinformed About Your Fire Safety?

A Reduction in Manpower and Equipment Will Directly Effect Your Lives & Property

- FACT 1: With a reduction in manpower, you as a citizen will lose 10% of your firefighting force.
- FACT: According to the NFPA and the insurance services offices, the Quincy Fire Dept. is undermanned. In 1974 the ISO study of Quincy recommended manning practices of 1 officer and 4 firefighters on every fire truck. (Present level of manning is now 1 officer and 3 firefighters.)
- FACT: Manpower is a fire department's greatest asset!
- FACT: The cost to maintain your present level of protection would be pennies on your tax rate.
- FACT: In 1979 engine "B", the so-called "Reserve Company", to be placed out of service, has had more operation and pumping hours than any other company in the city.
- FACT: One less engine company will be responding to the majority of your elderly housing, your high rise buildings, your business district, schools, churches, historical sites, your public library, court house, city hospital, General Dynamics, the oil terminals and even your city hall.
- FACT: One less engine company will be responding to all of Quincy, Point, all of South Quincy, Quincy Square, Merrymount, the major portions of West Quincy, and parts of Wollaston and Adams Shore.
- FACT: One less engine company will be responding to all multiple alarms throughout the entire city.
- FACT: A second engine company will no longer be available to cover locally when mutual aid is requested from other cities. (In fiscal 78-79 mutual aid was given 75 times).
- FACT: According to the National Fire Protection Association, recommended response to high hazard areas of the city is 4 engines, 2 ladders and 2 chief officers. The budget cuts have reduced coverage by approximately one half.
- FACT: In August of 1974, Fire Chief Barry issued general order #44 with respect to minor fires (brush, auto accidents, investigations, etc.) quote: "The two engine companies, B and I will not be sent together as it defeats the purpose of one engine company being in quarters and ready for another response."
- FACT: From the 1969 Annual Fire Department Report dated March 5, 1970 (page 2) a quote from Chief Barry stated: "In addition, consideration should be given to increasing the actual number of men on the apparatus. As industrial sites and high rise structures increase it is imperative that apparatus be manned as recommended by NFPA standards."
- FACT: Since 1965 population and building construction have been increasing steadily.

The German mark (DM), which was worth 25 cents in U.S. money less than ten years ago, will cost a dollar by 1988. This is the prediction of Dr. James A. Hart, a DePaul University expert on international business and finance.

A key reason for the changing values of the DM and the dollar, according to Dr. Hart, is that "the German citizenry would never tolerate political leaders who permit the rate of inflation prevailing in the U.S."

Occupants of the White House want to get re-elected, Dr. Hart says. "Both Democratic and Republican presidents have supported a wide variety of spending programs to get themselves re-elected, knowing full well those programs were continuously cheapening the dollar."

"Given a choice between a strong dollar and re-election, our presidents have repeatedly chosen re-election. Make no mistake about this principle of American politics," Dr. Hart says.

The invariable pledge of candidates in the recent November elections was for reduced taxes, decreased government spending, and curbed inflation. Voter apathy can be attributed to a disbelief in the sincerity of candidates to live up to their promises. Illinois voters were treated to the solemn pledge of a senator seeking re-election as a champion of economy while the state's governor was supporting him by bragging in commercials that whenever he sought funds from the Federal trough the senator never once failed to deliver.

Dr. Hart points out that the German cost of living climbed only 2.2% in the past year. "Germans in all walks of life have an obsessive fear of inflation and workers, employers, citizens, and elected officials are united in their fight to curb its causes. The disastrous inflations of 1922-23 and 1945-48 have scared the German psyche in a way that Americans cannot appreciate."

He adds: "No chancellor of the Federal Republic of Germany, regardless of political party, could survive in office if he permitted an unacceptable level of inflation such as the U.S. has today. No chancellor would dare engage in the well-established American method of getting elected. Over the years our presidents and congressmen have repeatedly preached piously on the dangers of inflation. But these preachments have a hollow ring when federal deficits are allowed to soar upward to assure re-election for the incumbent."

Squantum Antique And Flea Market Expands

The largest flea market and antique show on the South Shore is expanding its operation.

The Squantum Antique and Flea Market, at the Boston Harbor Marina, 542 East Squantum St., North Quincy, announces it will be open throughout the year.

Manager Hassan Haydar of Quincy notes that many changes have been made in the show which will make the show even more active.

"We are very pleased to let everyone know that there is no admission charge," he said. "We want everyone to enjoy themselves by visiting some 200 dealers."

The Squantum Antique and Flea Market is held each Saturday and Sunday entirely indoors. It occupies some 60,000 square feet of floor space.

Featuring factory close-outs, household items, automotive equipment, crafts, and antiques, the show also provides extensive food service and a lounge.

Hours are from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Parking is free.

10 Years At St. John's

Fr. Joseph Connolly Reassigned To Melrose As Associate Pastor

Rev. Joseph M. Connolly begins his new assignment today (Thursday) as associate pastor at St. Mary of the Annunciation Parish, Myrtle St., Melrose, following 10 years at St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Fr. Connolly learned of his new assignment last week and says the news really did not come as a surprise as 10 years is the maximum for a priest's second assignment.

Rev. William R. McCarthy, Pastor, and others in the parish wanted to have a farewell reception for Fr. Connolly but the plans were forgone at Fr. Connolly's request.

Instead, Fr. Connolly said his good-byes quietly in the parish bulletin. He wrote:

"My memories of 10 years at St. John's are beautiful ones ... due to the wonderful spirit, warmth and love shown by such great parishioners; the truly dedicated and familial relationships of the rectory staff; as well as the support, affirmation and real camaraderie of the four excellent pastors and seven associate pastors with whom I have had the pleasure to serve".

"St. Paul's words to the Philippians several centuries ago express my feelings for all of you: 'I give thanks to my God for all my memories of you, happy at all times in the prayers I offer for all of you. And this is my prayer for you: May your love grow richer and richer yet, in the fullness of its knowledge and the depth of its perception, so that you may learn to prize what is of value; may nothing cloud your progress. May you reap through Jesus Christ, the full harvest. To God's Honor and praise.'"

He closed by saying the welcome mat would always be out at St. Mary's.

FR. JOSEPH CONNOLLY

Fr. Connolly was born in Brockton, where his mother Mrs. Evelyn Connolly still resides. He graduated from Brockton High School, attended Bentley College and served for two years in the U.S. Army.

He studied for the priesthood at the School of St. Philip Neri, Cardinal O'Connell Seminary and St. John's Seminary, Brighton.

Fr. Connolly was ordained at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston, Feb. 9, 1965, and was assigned to St. Julia's Church, Weston, before coming to St. John's.

His activities while in Quincy were numerous. He served for three years on the Quincy Council on Aging was active with senior citizens at Martenson St., and was Quincy Vicariate CYO director.

At St. John's, he was active with the CYO, youth athletics program, Hi-Ho (Happiness Is Helping Others) group, Women's Club, The Ladies Sodality, and was in charge of the Parish newspaper, St. John's News.

Fr. Connolly was also advisor to the Parish Activities Commission and Youth Commission, Pre-Cana director, and spiritual director of the Girl Scout's and Brownies.

Anselmo Blasts Council, Colleagues, On Budget Cuts

School Committee member Francis Anselmo has blasted the City Council's actions limiting the school budget and urged his fellow members to "show the guts" to challenge those actions in court.

The council's $4.7 million cut in the school budget made on May 19 and its subsequent rejection of a $1.4 million supplemental budget request for school employees raises means "the quality of education ... can only go down, from now on, but one way down," said Anselmo in a prepared statement.

"When the six councillors voted down the supplementary budget, I had a mental vision of those same councillors dressed formally as funeral directors, then acting as palp bearers, and then all six digging the grave where they buried the Quincy education system; after which they had a party of rejoicement. I hope that mental vision was not prophetic. It will take a lot to undo the harm that has been done to the future of Quincy and its children," Anselmo wrote.

The quality of the school system, the veteran committee member claimed, "was scuttled by the blind, negative and backward looking mentality that dominates, at present, most of our elected officials."

Six councillors Joanne Condon, Leo Kelly, John Ladd, Stephen McGrath, John Quinn and Daniel Raymond voted on May 19 to cut the proposed 1980-81 school budget. On June 2 the same six, with the exception of Kelly, who was absent, voted to reject the $1.4 million supplemental budget.

Anselmo urged his fellow committee members to seek the entire $4.7 million cut through legal actions, not just the $1.4 million.

"The School Committee, to its shame, has literally surrendered its responsibility to protect its fiscal autonomy," Anselmo said. "Having surrendered their responsibility, the members of the School Committee will from now on be as useful as a man's mammary glands."

Kramer Defends Early Releases

One of those released, said Kramer, was serving a three month sentence.

"He served two and a half months," said the judge. "He got out. We got him a job. He's under suspended sentence."

"Another one went to another jailhouse in Essex County. He went from one jail to another to make room for somebody else.

"A third person served 55 days of what had been a 60 days sentence. He was excused a little earlier to make room for somebody else to go to jail. He himself was placed under supervision."

"A fourth went a few days earlier but went into Project Turnabout."

Three of those released early were serving time for breaking and entering and Judge Kramer said he thinks comparisons between the two crimes are unimportant.

"Driving under the influence has killed more people than burglary," he said. "It killed 20 in this court's area. Burglary hasn't killed more than a couple. We've got to deal with both."

"A thousand cases in court alone of operating under a hardy minor. Twenty deaths constitutes more deaths in my court alone than homicides. I can't treat that as minor."

"I consider burglary important but I consider putting an end to this carnage of equal importance."

"I can appreciate the sheriff's problem. We're sending more people to jail than he can handle. It's crowded. That's why we recommended a year and a half ago that a new jail be built rapidly."

"I don't intend to send only a few people to jail. I'm going to send them all. They're all going to serve even if it means some will serve a little less. We're going to have to work that out."

● Junior Farm League

Mosher Hurls No-Hitter, Fans 17 As Giants Breeze

Brian Mosher pitched a no-hitter and struck out 17 as the Giants breezed past the Braves, 27-0, in the Junior Farm Baseball League. The Giants have won 13 games in a row.

Mosher also had a double. Danny Ward had four hits, Jay Rodriguez had two and Mike Sanda, Matt Collins, Sean Burke, Peter McLoughlin and Mike Rottier one each.

The Giants walloped the Dodgers, 17-3, behind a combined three-hitter by Rodriguez and Sanda.

Mosher, Sean Cappelis, Rottier and McLoughlin had two hits apiece and Dave Murphy, Sanda, Collins, Rodriguez, Burke and Ward one each.

The red hot Giants also clobbered the Pirates, 19-2, with Rich Golden pitching four solid innings for the win.

Mosher had a homer, double and single. Sanda and Golden three hits apiece, Craig Wright a homer and single, Murphy, Rodriguez and Rottier two hits each and Cappelis and Collins a hit apiece.

The Braves outlasted the Cubs, 12-11, with Scott Rogers, driving in the winning run in the bottom of the 10th inning.

Joe Robichard, Rogers, Danny O'Brien and Danny Crespi had two hits each.

The Braves also edged the Mets, 8-7, with O'Brien getting his first win with three strong innings of relief.

Wayne Chambers had a double and triple and drove in six runs and Crespi had two hits and two RBIs. For the Mets Paul Adams and Timmy Mann had home runs, Chris Higgins had three hits and Jeff Adams two hits.

The Braves kept rolling with a 7-3 victory over the Cubs with Bobby Crespi the winning pitcher with relief help from Rogers. Danny Crespi had two hits and Rogers hit a three-run homer.

In one of the season's wildest games the Mets edged the Dodgers, 19-18, the Mets having 23 hits and the Dodgers 18.

For the Mets Billy Mulken, the winning pitcher, had two triples and drove in the winning run. Jeff Adams had a triple and two singles, Vin Moran three singles, Chris Higgins and Billy Bellew a triple and single each, Mann a home run and double, Mike Toland a double and single, Robbie Cinquegrano two singles and Richie Connelly, Paul Adams, Steve Connolly, Paul Scota and Bob Austin one hit each.

For the Dodgers Tom Mayo had a homer, double and single, Gus Carriean a homer and two singles, Joe Russell three singles, Matt

Donovan a triple and single, Bobby Cuddyer two singles, Mike Walsh a home run, Derek O'Brien a double and Eric Goodman, Jon Stein and Paul Dempsey a single each.

The Orioles edged the Red Sox, 11-10, with Paul MacDonald, the losing pitcher, striking out 13. Chris Curtin had a two-run homer, Jack Green three hits and Martin Feeney and P.J. McDonough two each.

The Indians rolled over the Yankees, 17-6, with winning pitcher Bill Murphy having two doubles. Paul Meehan had four hits, Kevin Middendorf two, Joe Cappadona three, Sean Carroll two and Gerry Murphy a double. Joe Fasano, Jackie O'Brien, Steve Romano, Marcus Hanley and Steve Daggett played well for the winners.

Hank Miller, Sean Craig, Corey Grier and Tommy Duddy played strong games for the Yankees.

The Angels topped the Indians, 7-5, in eight innings. Fasano had a bases loaded double and Meehan pitched well.

The Tigers walloped the Indians, 13-3.

The Angels are leading the American League with a 12-1 record, and the Giants pace the National League with a 13-2 mark, a half game ahead of the Mets.

● Legion Baseball

Morrisette Pounds Wollaston For 3rd

The Morrisette Legion baseball team, seeking its 22nd Zone 6 championship, is off to another fast start with a 3-0 record.

Morrisette Monday night pounded Wollaston, 11-1, behind the four-hit, eight-strikeout pitching of Mark Millane.

Bob Biagni drove in three runs with a triple and a single, Billy Deitsch, Hughie Campbell and Mark Millane had two hits apiece and Millane drove in two runs.

Last Friday night Morrisette topped Quincy, 8-5, as Biagni went three for four with a homer and four RBIs. Gary DiNardo was the winning pitcher in relief.

Old Colony DeMolay Rolls

Old Colony DeMolay of Quincy remained undefeated in softball with a 16-6 victory over arch rival South Shore of Weymouth.

Karl Olson, Steve DeMasi and Steve Olson combined for nine hits and eight RBIs. Quincy was strong defensively as Doug Eisan, Dave Abbott, Eric Olson and Steve Wood played well, as did the younger players. Chris Walsh, Bob Peterson and Ed Ahearn. The team welcomed back a second baseman Emery Swanson.

The team dedicated the game to third baseman Don DeCristofaro, who joined the Navy and left the day after the game.

Danny Boyle and Andy Carrera had two hits apiece for Morrisette and Art Roberts collected two hits for Quincy.

Morrisette, in its opening game, had rallied for five runs in the final inning to edge Hingham, 7-6.

Pinch hit singles by Tom Canavan and DiNardo and another hit by Mike Scurti filled the bases and Deitsch delivered a two-run double to tie the score at 4-4. A single by Biagni and Carrera's sacrifice fly made it 7-4.

Paul O'Toole was the winning pitcher and Mitch Johnson got a save despite two runs by Hingham in the bottom of the seventh.

Quincy defeated Norwell, 8-3, in its opener, scoring five runs on only two hits in the fifth inning.

John Costigan pitched two-hit ball, struck out six and walked six. Dave Nagle had two hits, drove in three runs and scored once.

Wollaston will host Randolph Friday night at 8 at Adams Field and Quincy will play at Hingham at 6. Sunday Morrisette will be home to Randolph at 8 at Adams, Wollaston will play at Canton at 4:30 and Quincy will be at Canton at 2. Monday night Quincy will entertain Weymouth at 8 at Adams and Morrisette will play at Milton at 6.

Higgins 2nd In 440-Yard Run

Quincy High's Roy Higgins completed an outstanding season Saturday when he finished a close second to Greater Lowell's Randall Jenkins in the 440-yard run in the New England track championships.

Higgins stayed with Jenkins all the way but the Lowell runner fought him off in the last few yards.

North Quincy's brilliant sophomore, Michelle Millane, who was unbeaten in the weight events this year, and the Raiders' fine girls' sophomore 440 relay team, who had qualified, didn't make the trip to Gardner High for the New England.

Sterling Wins Junior Baseball Championship

The Sterling Junior High baseball team added another championship to the school's long list by winning the city crown with a 6-2 record.

Coach Steve Fishman's team joins the football, basketball and girls' track teams as city-wide champions this year.

Paul Gilbody was the team's top pitcher with a 3-1 record and a 1.28 ERA.

Chris Draicchio led the team in hitting with a .428 average, followed by Gilbody at .409. Jeff Timelake batted .375. Andy Eames .333 and John Kozlowski .307. Dennis Obert, Glen Oriola and Mark Righini also hit and fielded well.

Seventh graders who saw a lot of playing time were Dan Sullivan, Paul Cedrone, Jim McSweeney, Bob Campbell, Mike Rossini, Pat Dennehy and Ray Maddocks.

Second place Central upset Sterling, 7-4, last week in the final game of the season. Sterling led, 4-0, but Ken Wright sparked a Central comeback with a two-out bases loaded single. Paul Ryan also singled home two runs. Wright, the Central catcher, made a superb catch of a foul ball and returned it into a double play.

Earlier Sterling had walloped Broad Meadows, 15-4. Sterling scored five runs on just one hit in the first inning. Gilbody had three hits and Fames and Draicchio had two each, with Draicchio hitting a four triple. Gilbody pitched a four-hitter for his third victory.

Track Club Qualifies 11 For Youth Games

The Quincy Track Club last week qualified 11 for the Boston Youth Games as well as placing several alternates with an outstanding performance in the tryout meet at White Stadium.

In boys 9-11 Tommy Walsh blazed to a 12.86 in winning the 100. Robbie Glynn outkicked the field to win the 880 in 2:27.2 and Jamie McArdle won the long jump at 12-6. Other medalists were Mark Lunnin, third in the 100; McArdle, third in the 220, and third in the 440.

In girls 9-11 Lorrie McNeill was second in the long jump with a personal best 12-2 and may become a member of the team as the girl who beat her also won the 880 and will stay with that event. John Croke was third in the 100 and Ginny Dembowski third in the long jump.

In boys 12-13 Ed Munroe won the high jump.

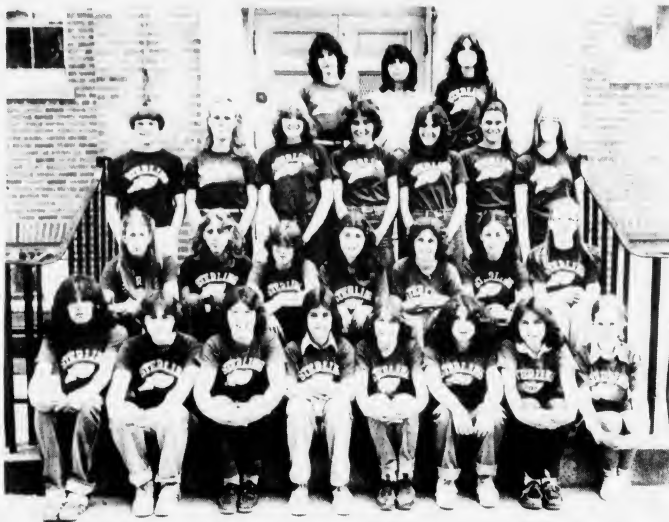

In girls 12-13 Maureen Roche won the 100 at 12.10 and the long jump at 14-10. Denise Petta won the 220 at 28.5 and was second in the 100 and Georgia Traficante set a club record 5-3 in the high jump, which also tops the existing National Youth Games record of 5-2 1/4. Other medalists were Kristen Dever and Geraldine Murphy, 2-3 in the long jump.

In boys 14-15 Chris McCray was declared the winner of the 100 in 10.97 due to an age mixup on the first and second place finishers, Dave Ceurvals was third in the 220, Mike Williams won the 440 and Bryan Ellis took third in the high jump.

In girls 14-15 girls Kris Picarski won the 100 and was second in the high jump. Linda Kennedy took third in the 880 and Elaine Santo was third in the high jump.

Sterling Girls Champs

The Sterling Jr. High girls' track team, for the first time in history, defeated Central, 42 1/2-39 1/2, last week to finish with a 3-1 record and went on to win the city-wide crown in the all-league meet.

Sterling edged defending Central by a half point in the all-league meet with the relays deciding the exciting meet. Sterling won both the one-lap and two-lap relays.

Diane Morrissey, Tricia O'Toole, Nancy Martin and Sharon Uhlar made up the one-lap team and Georgia Traficante, Terry Hamilton, Lenore Salvaggio and Susan Uhlar the two-lap team.

Scoring for Sterling were Traficante, winner of the 440 and high jump; Diane Morrissey, third in the high jump; Suzanne Pitts, fourth in the shot put; Susan Uhlar, second in the long jump and 100; Terry Hamilton, fourth in the 100 and Sharon Uhlar, third in the 440.

Atlantic made a strong showing in the league meet with several fine individual performances.

Linda Kennedy finished unbeaten in the mile, trying for first, and Maria McGurl also was undefeated, winning the hurdles for her ninth successive win. She also took fourth in the high jump. Susan Foley was fourth in the 440 and third in the long jump, the one-lap relay team of Patti Markham, Patti Salton, Laura Coughlin and Marie McGurl placed second, while the two-lap relay team of Cathy Mulloy, Tracy Coull, Susan Foley and Linda Kennedy finished fourth.

Atlantic seven grader Tracy Coull finished second in the 880. The seventh graders won the city junior varsity title, winning eight of 10 events.

Leading the way were Lisa Fitzgerald, she won the 100; Donna Woods, winner of the hurdles, and Marjie Markham, winner of the shot put.

Christine Nagle was third in the hurdles, Jeanie Ward second in the 100, Ellen Burke second in the shot, Judy Kenney, winner of the long jump, Ward, second in the long jump, Patty Naughton and Donna Gelsomini, second and fourth in the high jump, Ellen DeLuca winner of the 880 and Cindy Rabs fourth in the mile.

Both Atlantic relay teams won, with Fitzgerald, Naughton, Patti Markham and Woods making up the one-lap team and Ward, Kenney, Lynne Murphy and Ellen DeLuca the two-lap team.

In Sterling's first-ever victory over Central, the relays again decided the result with Sterling winning both.

Sparking Sterling were Martin and Morrissey in the hurdles, Hamilton and Susan Uhlar in the 440. These girls plus O'Toole and Salvaggio took part in the relays.

Outstanding in the field events were Pitts and Grant in the shot put, Martin and Susan Uhlar in the long jump and Traficante, Morrissey and O'Toole in the high jump.

The Sterling junior varsity lost a close meet to Central, Carol DePaulo, Cathy Mullin, Ann Mulligan, Paula Shaw, Tammy Klipham, Donna Campbell and Kathy Ring scored for Sterling.

In its final regular season meet Atlantic had barely squeezed by Broad Meadows, 41 1/2-40 1/2.

BM led by nine points going into the final two events, the relays, and Atlantic came through in both to gain the one-point victory.

The unbeaten one-lap team of McGurl, Coughlin, Salton and Markham won easily. In the two-lap race Mulloy and Coull opened up a lead but Atlantic lost the lead on a bad baton pass. Foley and anchorman Kennedy regained the lead and Kennedy held on.

McGurl won the hurdles and high jump, Kennedy won the mile in a school record 5:35, Coull won the 800 in a school record 2:33 and also tied for third in the high jump, Nagle was second in the mile, Patti Markham second in the 100, Coughlin third in the 100, and Foley third in the high jump and second in the 440.

Atlantic's junior varsity breezed, 50-19, with the seventh graders again showing the way.

Alice Seto won the high jump and hurdles and ran on the winning relay team, Naughton and Anne-Marie Smith were 1-2 in the 880, Diane O'Donnell won the mile, Kenney was second in the long jump and third in the 440, Angela Nogueira was third in the long jump, Gelsomini, Woods and Naughton tied for first in the high jump, Fitzgerald, although injured, won the 100, Marjie Markham won the 440 and Kelley Coult was second and Woods was second in the hurdles.

Margie Marham, Woods, Naughton and Fitzgerald made up the winning one-lap relay team and Susan Geary, Seto, Kenney and Lynne Murphy the two-lap team.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By ROBERT COLMAN

Talk about courage in sports, did you know there was a man with just one leg who played major league baseball? ... Bert Shepard lost his right leg in World War II, but he learned to walk and run on an artificial leg, and he made the majors, as a pitcher with the Washington Senators. Shepard played big league baseball in the 1945 season.

Of all the big league baseball parks in this century, which one had the SHORTEST distance from home plate to an outfield fence? ... It was the Los Angeles Coliseum, which the Dodgers used as their home field from 1958 through 1961 ... Home plate to left field was only 251 feet.

Do you know that outfielder Dave Kingman of the Chicago Cubs has one of the highest frequencies of striking out in big league baseball history? ... Going into this season, Kingman had 3,584 career at bats and struck out 1,095 times, meaning he has struck out almost one out of every 3 times up ... Other current regular players who have a high career strike out ratio are Reggie Jackson, Bobby Bonds and Willie Stargell who have all averaged about one strike out every 4 times up.

I bet you didn't know that you can get all your sports and leisure wear at COLMAN'S, and at COLMAN'S, low prices. Men's, Women's and Children's action clothes. Shop COLMAN'S and see

Quincy's Tourney Dreams Dashed

By TOM SULLIVAN
and PETE ZOIA

The Quincy High girls' softball team's finest season ever came to a disappointing end last week when it was wallopped by Silver Lake, 9-1, in the semifinals of the Eastern Mass. Tournament, but Coach Barbara Webster had nothing but good words for her girls.

"This was a fantastic season," she said. "All the girls showed a lot of desire and were very unselfish. We had very little depth and they all played every position at one time or another. They knew what they had to do no matter where they were playing. It's good that way. It's always better to be sure than sorry."

Silver Lake, always a power in girls' softball, jumped off to a 5-1 lead after three innings and had clear sailing from that time on.

"We hit her (Silver Lake) pitching ace Michelle Agnew pretty well, but the problem was it was always at somebody," Miss Webster said.

Quincy's lone run came in the third when Susan Callahan singled in Karen Kuzlowski from third.

Quincy's little left fielder, Maureen Maher, provided one of the highlights of the game when she made a superb throw from deep left to catch Debbie Dominy at the plate.

"These girls never quit," Miss Webster said. "During the season we would always come away with at least one big inning, but today Agnew was too much for us."

Quincy, which drew a first round bye, earlier eliminated Barnstable, 7-1, with Sue Gallery pitching another excellent game. She pitched every game this year for the First Ladies and, although lacking a fast ball, she went after every batter, had excellent control and Quincy's outstanding infield gave her great support.

Quincy took advantage of several Barnstable errors and had a 6-1 lead after three innings. The First Ladies were out-hit, 8-5, but played far superior defensive ball.

Gallery's double and Debbie Ohlson's single sparked a three-run first inning in which Barnstable made three errors.

Three more errors and Sue Callahan's (the centerfielder, not the third baseman) RBI single accounted for two runs in the second. Quincy added one in the third and one in the fourth.

Gallery, who had two hits in the loss to Silver Lake, had a double and the two Susan Callahans, Nancy McDonald and Ohlson had the other hits.

Quincy finished with a 16-3 record. It was 15-1 as Suburban League champion and 15-2 overall during the regular season.

"We should have another good season next year, with many of our girls coming back and some good looking prospects coming up from Hank Conroy's junior varsity," Miss Webster said.

"This was a very satisfying season and I'm proud of every one of the girls."

Broad Meadows Wins Boys' Track Title

The Broad Meadows Junior High boys' track team, unbeaten for the fourth year in a row, again won the all-league meet last week, with 43 points to Point's 26. Sterling scored 22; Atlantic 13; and Central five.

Tom Hall's BM team, as usual, was sparked by Mike Williams, who broke his own record in the long jump with a toss of 20-8 1/2, breaking his previous mark by six inches, and he also won the 440 in 52.4.

Point was sparked by Chris McCray, who won the shot put at 40-4, and Richard Parker, who won the 100 in 10.6 seconds.

The results:
100-1, Parker; 2, McCray; 3, Curvels (P).

440-1, Williams; 2, Myatt (A); 3, McGee (P).

880 - John Robertson (BM); 2, Lugas (BM); 3, Norse (S).

1 mile - Paul Seagraber (C); 2, Plant (S); 3, Servais (P).

Hurdles - 1, Tom Walsh (S); 2, Freedman (BM); 3, Rollins, (BM). Long jump - 1, Williams; 2, Parker; 3, Walsh (S).

High jump - 1, Ed Kennedy, (BM); 2, Robertson (BM); 3, tie between Plant (S) and J. Kennedy (A).

Shot put - 1, McCray; 2, Rollins (BM); 3, Devlin (S).

One lap relay - 1, Atlantic; 2, Sterling; 3, Point.

Two-lap relay - 1, Point; 2, Broad Meadows; 2, Sterling.

Correction

A photograph in last week's Quincy Sun identified the Foley Chrysler-Plymouth team as last season's Quincy Junior League champion.

Actually, the Foley team was the American League Division champ in the Junior League. The league championship was won by Remick's.

For the Yankees pitcher Mike Bille had seven strikeouts and also had a single, Eddie Flavin and Quill had two singles and a double apiece, James Bille three singles and Murphy a single.

The Braves led the National League with a 7-3 record, one game in front of the Mets.

● Junior League

Christiani Runs Strikeouts To 52

As Burgin Platner Wins

John Christiani pitching well for Burgin Platner, improved his record to 4-2 with four strong innings in an 11-3 win over Keohane's in a Junior Baseball League game.

Christiani has struck out 52 and walked 16 this year. Eric Roukey, who pitched the last three innings, is 3-1 with 45 strikeouts and 16 walks.

Christiani had a double and a home run, Tom McDonald three singles, Derek Holt two singles and Robbie McDonald, A.J. Pugliese, Roukey and Mark DiMattio one each. For Keohane's David Brett had a homer, Andy Lenhart a double and single and Tom Morrison, Mike Malone, Kevin Scibillo and Joe Rabs a single each.

The Elks outslugged Foley Chrysler-Plymouth, 9-8, with Bob Bradley the winning pitcher. He struck out 11. It was the Elks' fourth win in the last five games. Sean Barry, Chris Cody, Mark Simonelli, Pat Brill, Dave Tocchio and Bradley had doubles. Losing pitcher Roy Peterson had six strikeouts.

Burgin Platner walloped

Colonial Federal, 14-6, with Mark DiMattio getting the win.

Christiani had two home runs and two singles, Pugliese three singles, Roukey three doubles and a single, DiMattio two singles and a double, Holt two singles and Robbie and Tom McDonald a single each. For Colonial Steve Constat had a homer and single, Gary McNamara two singles, and Mark Ferrand, Steve Turner, Mark Bilton and John Gargano a single each.

In addition to pitching the shutout, Christiani had two triples and two singles, Pugliese had a double and two singles, Robbie McDonald a double and single and Jay Osgood, Matt Ostiguy, Bobby Thomas, Tom McDonald and Scott Mosher a single each. Steve Hensley and Ostiguy played a strong defense. For VFW Dave Gangi, Bill McArdle and Matt Norton all had singles.

Foley leads the American League with a 9-3 record; one game ahead of Burgin and Kiwanis. Rotary tops the National League with an 8-4 mark, a game ahead of Keohane's.

Houghs Neck Softball League In First Season

A new softball league has been organized by the Houghs Neck Men's Association.

The league consists of 120 area players and coaches ranging in age from 20 through 60.

The six teams in the league are first place Manet Shell, second place Louis Cafe, Finlay's E-Z Shop, Houghs Neck Package Store, Chenette Plumbing and Heating and Quincy Yacht Club.

Paul Chenette is league president, Pete Little commissioner, and Ray Larue assistant commissioner. Joe Driscoll Sr. secretary and Bob Kamb, treasurer.

Sunday Manet Shell stayed on top with a 9-2 victory over Finlay's, with John Picarski the winning pitcher. Manet clinched things with five runs in the fourth and three in the fifth. Connie Driscoll and John Bogan led the attack with two hits each and Dana Kirby had two RBI and played strong defense at third base.

Louis Cafe bombed Chenette, 20-4, scoring in every inning, with Joe DeAngelis the winning pitcher. Louis played fine defense with three double plays. Everyone hit and two "old salts," Jack Congdon and DeAngelis, pitched well.

Joe Brill had four singles, Bob McQuinn two singles and a double, Red Farrand a triple, double and single, Sully Lutchman a home run and triple, Dennis Fitzgibbons two home runs, Richie Walter three singles, Ed Davis two doubles and Ron Donovan a home run.

Playing well for Chenette were Chico Luggelle, Rob McAllister and Dan Chenette, each with two hits, and Bob Blowers.

Quincy Yacht Club walloped Houghs Neck Package, 19-4, with Bob Brill the winning pitcher.

Brill, Tom Hawes, Jim goldie and Don Wise had home runs for the winners.

McLoughlin 2-Hitter Moves HN To Top

Houghts Neck Legion edged Firemen Local 792, 3-2, behind the two-hit pitching of Marty McLoughlin to move ahead of Firemen into the first place in the Babe Ruth League.

McLoughlin didn't allow an earned run and struck out 10. Andy Eames pitched well in defeat, giving up five hits and shutting Houghts Neck out after the first inning. Dale Adams and Chris Matthews had key hits and McLoughlin, Joe Conti and Dave Zurows had other HN hits.

The Firemen blanked VFW, 8-0, behind the three-hit pitching of Tommy Sclararo, who improved his record to 3-0. Bobby Graham, batting .444 for Firemen, had three vicious line drive hits and Glen Oriola played strong defense at third base and also had a ground rule double. Losing pitcher Chuck Jaehnig pitched well but walked six and the walks, together with key errors, made it easy for Firemen.

Earlier the Firemen had dropped an 11-5 decision to the Police Club as Jim Bandera pitched a strong game for Police and fielded his position flawlessly with three putouts and three assists.

Houghts Neck edged Granite City Electric, 5-4, in a loosely-played 11-inning game which saw each team make six errors.

Chris Matthews pitched a courageous 10 innings for HN, giving up only four hits. Bob Cedrone also pitched well through 10 tough innings. McLoughlin had four hits and drove in the winning run. Adams had two hits and Rob Steen bunted the winning run into scoring position.

In another squeaker, Houghts Neck scored twice in the seventh to get by the Elks, 3-2, with McLoughlin pitching a one-hitter. Dan Fink also pitched well in a defeat blanking HN until the sixth. Mike Gill had the only Elks hit, a double. Adams and Ted Walsh had two hits each for HN and Walsh, McLoughlin and Keith Smith drove in the runs. Steen again laid down a perfect bunt which set up the winning run.

Kickers End Season With Hot Win Streak

The North Quincy Kickers under 12 soccer team closed out its first season in the South Shore League with its fifth straight win, 2-1 over Holbrook, to wind up with a 7-2-1 record.

The Kickers, playing without five starters, played sloppily in the first half but extended their record of consecutive halves shutting out the opposition to nine.

The team became more aggressive in the second half as halfbacks Mark Scanlan, Tim Burke and Mark Durkin consistently controlled mid-field play.

Six minutes into the half Eric Roukey, on a corner kick, connected with Burke 10 yards in front of the net and Burke's head shot rocketed by the helpless Holbrook goalie.

Three minutes later North was awarded a direct free kick and Roukey placed a perfect shot to the top of the right hand corner of the goal.

Goaltender Teddy Shionis was again outstanding and Kevin McCloskey and Brian Morris played well. Also playing good games were Dave Fasano, Pat Harrington, Derek Holt, Joey Rabs, Billy Cappelis, Kevin Jay and Paul Kurtzman.

The team scored 41 goals with Harrington scoring 12, while the defense gave up only eight goals. Shionis, who had five shutouts, allowed just four goals with his goals against average an incredible 0.556 per game.

North's under 16 team dropped a 4-3 squeaker to West Bridgewater in its final game, finishing with a 4-4-2 record.

Jim Boudreau gave North an early lead and Kevin Warren made it 2-0, converting a perfect corner kick by Barie Higgins. W. Bridgewater tied the score before the half ended.

Greg DiBella scored the final North goal on a penalty shot but the winners scored twice in the final 15 minutes.

Dennis Cronin, Bob Flaherty, Dan Dodd, Frank Scanlan, Jay Williams and Alex Couetts all played well for the Kickers.

Morgan Hits For Cycle As MDC Romps

Sgt. Red Morgan hit for the cycle to power the MDC Police softball team to a 14-3 win over Quincy Police in E-Mass League action.

Morgan, a Quincy native, doubled in the first to drive in two runs and hit a two-run homer in the third.

Quincy mounted its only threat in the bottom half of the third when Charles O'Donnell singled home two runs.

Quincy defeated Milton, 13-7, being paced by Chico Caporale, Joe Lips and Tom Franc, each with four hits.

Edgar Roberts singled in both games to extend his hitting streak to 23 straight games.

Quincy will host Wellesley Sunday with the $1 admission fee going to the Heartstone Relief Fund.

Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant July 18

The annual Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant will be held Friday evening, July 18th in downtown Quincy.

The event, open to South Shore single girls, 16 years or older, will highlight the annual Sidewalk Bazaar July 17-18-19 sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

The pageant, co-sponsored by the QCBPA and the Quincy Bay

Race Week Association, will be held at 9:30 p.m. on a portable board-walk on Hancock Street in front of the Hancock Bank.

Contestants will compete for more than $2,000 in prizes and the honor of reigning over this year's Quincy Bay Race Week. They will be judged in evening gown and swimsuit competition and for overall poise.

Entry forms are available at QCBPA member stores and businesses, South Shore yacht clubs and the QCBPA office, 1416 Hancock Street, Quincy Center.

The 1978 and 1979 pageants have drawn more than 60 contestants from 12 South Shore towns with crowd estimates in excess of 15,000.

The pageant chairman will be Pat Jones, Director of Marketing at the Quincy Cooperative Bank.

WEEK OF JUNE 19.

AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19
Relationships are emphasized. A family tie strengthens, and an important new friendship is launched — or an existing one deepens. Watch that you're not too willing to accept the blame on weekend.

PISCES—February 20-March 20
Evenings can be lushly romantic, so spend added time creating the perfect setting. Achievement and service both are accepted — an outstanding time for taking on a humanitarian project.

ARIES—March 21-April 20
You shine creatively, so don't be shy about adding a splash of color or a poetic touch to the jobs you tackle. Trips are favored on weekend, with surprise news waiting at your destination.

TAURUS—April 21-May 22
You're utterly charming—as you make your social rounds or try to persuade people with your pet ideas. But you're too easily charmed yourself — particularly by smooth talking salespeople or lazy coworkers.

GEMINI—May 23-June 21
Some recent ideas backfire, but others win kudos. Oddly, the ones you were unsure of earn the loudest applause. Friends ask for support — emotionally and financially.

CANCER—June 22-July 22
Your appreciation and understanding of beautiful things is expanded now. Tough money decision faces you after weekend; invite loved one to play devil's advocate, but watch out for hot tips.

LEO—July 23-August 22
Good week for announcing your biggest plans, as family, partners and colleagues are supportive and attentive. Keep informed of local goings on; what you store up now pays dividends by August.

VIRGO—August 23-September 22
Your biggest job is to make order out of chaos! Loved one is attentive—and with no strings attached. Good time to sign up for exercise program. Small windfall possible by Wednesday.

LIBRA—September 23-October 22
Various types of joint ventures favored. Be a little more cautious with household gadgets, a lot bolder when expressing affections. Weekend offers dash of glamor—dress appropriately.

SCORPIO—October 23-November 21
Exchanges of ideas and brainstorming sessions can lead to financial rewards. Try to spend more time with older relatives. Read papers—personal documents and the daily ones—with exceptional care.

SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22
Return engagements characterize week, with the arrival of an old friend and/or admirer. Luck is with you all weekend. Educational pursuits can lead to career/financial advancement.

CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20
Use the week to show off; prove why you're worth more money, more respect. Former friendship can be renewed if you're willing to overlook minor flaws. Cultural pursuits are rewarding — in several ways.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Kind, considerate, and able to adapt to any situation. But also easily flattered and sometimes superficial. Opportunities to increase earnings open up by October. Family pressures ease this year. Important financial decision due by Christmas.

BORN THIS WEEK
June 19th, actor Louis Jourdan; 20th pianist Andre Watts; 21st, actress Jane Russell; 22nd director Billy Wilder; 23rd, director Bob Fosse; 24th, boxer Jack Dempsey; 25th, singer Carly Simon.

'Focus On You' Workshops At QJC

A "Personal Growth" workshop begins tonight (Thursday) 7 to 9 p.m. at Quincy Junior College as one of a series of five free workshops called "Focus on You".

The Personal Growth workshop, which continues June 26, July 3 and 10, is for people who want to learn more about themselves and where they are going. It is designed to build self-confidence and achieve a positive self-image.

Another up-coming workshop in the series is "Values Clarification," Tuesdays and Thursdays, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., July 1 through 17.

The workshop is on identification and clarification of values, why they are important to you, and how to set goals which fulfill your values.

Continuing workshops are: "Skills Assessment", which began Tuesday and continues June 24, July 1, and 8, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.; "Decision Making," a five day program which began Monday and continues to Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; and "Returning to School", which began last week and continues Wednesdays June 25 and July 2, 7:30 to 9 p.m.

The workshops are offered free to the Quincy Junior College community through a federal Title III grant and a grant to the Women's Center funded by the Massachusetts Department of Education, Division of Occupational Education.

For more information, call the Title III Student Outreach Services Office, 786-8777, ext. 496.

City Must Push For Tourist Dollars, Says O'Neill

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

"Quincy, Massachusetts has more to offer than most states," said Lt. Gov. Thomas P. O'Neill. "It amazes me that not enough people talk that way."

It's time the city and state joined in an aggressive pursuit of the tourist dollars, O'Neill told the City Tourism Committee at a recent meeting at Adams Academy.

"We've got to advertise greater than we ever have before," he said. "We've got to put together an overall work plan: where we want to go and how we will take the people with us."

One step in the right direction, he told the committee, is to "come up to Beacon Hill and start talking about the problems you face."

The state's contribution to the tourism industry now is "nil," O'Neill said.

As an example of what could be done, O'Neill cited Jimmy Carter's term as governor of Georgia. Carter created a cabinet-level to coordinate the state's tourism industry.

Since that time, O'Neill said, Georgia's tourism has jumped from the ninth-leading source of revenue in the state to second place.

One of O'Neill's pet projects is a bill in the state legislature which would send 50 percent of the money raised by the state hotel and motel tax to county government to help stimulate tourism. Such was the case until the mid-70's, when all of that money was diverted to the state's general fund. He invited members of the tourism committee to testify on behalf of the bill.

"There are things that can be done," O'Neill said, "instead of just being a city that rests 10 miles from Quincy Market."

Tavern Complaints Placed On File By License Board

By NANCY MCLAUGHLIN

The City License Board placed on file Tuesday complaints against Adam Tavern, 35 Franklin St., South Quincy, regarding patrons drinking in open doorways.

Richard P. Sturgis, manager of Adam Tavern, was told by the board that no such behavior should be allowed, and that windows and doors of the tavern must be kept closed during the summer months.

In another matter, the board granted a Motor II (used car) license to Nick DiPietro for Willard St. Auto Body, 248 Willard St., West Quincy.

The license is restricted to two cars which must be displayed to the rear of the office, not to the front of the building.

DiPietro, who has operated the business since January, told the board he would like to sell the used cars when business is slow.

Fire Chief Edward Barry didn't want to see a used car lot on every corner, but that DiPietro's history of keeping the area clean was a "plus" in his favor.

The board also approved transfer of gasoline storage, auto body repair shop and Motor II (used car) licenses from Michael McGann of Karl's Auto Body Inc., 65 Holbrook Rd., to Alan LeBrun, 32-34 Safford St. and 65 Holbrook Rd.

The transfer is subject to a police check, and no wrecks are to be parked outside the building.

In other action, the License Board:

- Granted a one-day, all alcoholic license to the Atlantic Neighborhood Center for a dance Saturday, June 21, 8 p.m., to midnight at the Montclair Men's Club.

• Granted a Lord's Day License to Mrs. Joseph Manning for B.J.'s Convenience Store, 1183 Hancock St., at the Quincy Center MBTA station.

• Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the South Shore Bank women's softball team for a concert/dance Saturday, July 26, 7 p.m. to midnight, at the Fore River Clubhouse.

• Granted a one day beer and wine license to Arthur F. Lane of Wollaston, for an adult record hop Friday, June 27, 8 p.m. to midnight, at the Quincy National Guard Armory.

The following matters were continued to next week's meeting, the last meeting before the board recesses for the summer:

• A hearing on complaints of noise and patrons drinking outside of Palmer Pub, 520 Sea St.

• Continued hearing on a request by Albert and Daisy M. Zero for a common victualler license for 1348 Hancock St., now held by Patriot Lunch.

• Continued a hearing on a request from H & A Subs & Sweet Stop, Boston Harbor Marina, for a common victualler license for two booths.

No. 80E0064-PI

JANET M. HARRINGTON of 88 Ames Street, Quincy in the County of Norfolk and JAMES J. HARRINGTON of 1831 23rd St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20008 and to all other persons interested.

A petition has been presented to said Court by H. CLAIRE HARRINGTON of 64-F Spanish Trail, Hampton, Virginia and JOHN F. HARRINGTON of 115 W. Squantum Street, of Quincy in the County of Norfolk representing that they hold as tenants in common an undivided part or share of certain land lying in West Quincy in said County and briefly described as follows: A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in Quincy, Norfolk County, Mass., numbered 88 Ames Street, and being shown as Lot No. 44, on a plan entitled "Plan of Land in Quincy, Mass., Wallace S. Carson, C.E., dated October, 1928," recorded with Norfolk County Registry of Deeds, Book 1821, Page 587, bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by Ames Street, sixty [60] feet;

Northwesterly by Lot No. 45, on said plan, one hundred forty-three [143] feet;

Northeasterly by Lot No. 40 on said plan, sixty [60] feet; and

Southeasterly by Lot No. 43 on said plan, one hundred forty-three [143] feet;

Containing 8,850 square feet of land, according to said Plan.

Setting forth that he desire that all the following described part of said land may be sold at private sale for not less than fifty thousand [$50,000.00] dollars and praying that partition may be made of all the land aforesaid according to law, and to that end that a commissioner be appointed to make such partition and be ordered to make sale and conveyance of all, or any part of said land which the Court finds cannot be advantageously divided, either at private sale or public auction, and be ordered to distribute the net proceeds thereof.

If you desire to object thereto you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham before ten o'clock in the forenoon on the ninth day of July 1980, the return day of this citation.

Witness, ROBERT M. FORD, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of May, 1980.

FIGHT MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY

NOW FOR NOW

(or payment by check
is coming back in style.)

In this topsy-turvy economic period, there is one stable, safe way to handle your money—open a NOW account at our Bank.

What can a NOW account do for you and your money management?

Well, as the use of credit cards becomes more and more restricted, a NOW account lets you switch to a cash operating basis, thus avoiding interest charges for time payments. And your money in your NOW account is earning 5% interest per annum. Thus you get the best of both worlds—you avoid interest charges while collecting interest for yourself.

But, you say, going on a cash basis means I can't make larger or more costly purchases and spread the payments. In this economy with interest charges going up almost daily, maybe that is not all bad.

It depends on how much you need a "big ticket" item. If you have a wife and five youngsters and your washing machine breaks down hopelessly, you need a washer, of course. If you don't have the cash, you charge it. But if you can switch to a cash only (or check) basis for most items, you will save money.

The trouble with cash itself is that cash is dangerous. You can be robbed or you run the risk of losing it. NOW account checks are safe and you have an ongoing record of your expenditures.

Think about it.

Should your household budget be keyed into a NOW account?

Will it save substantial interest payments?

Will it be safe and convenient for you?

If you don't have a NOW account and want to open one (for as little as $10.00) come in to our main office or one of our branches.

We think a NOW account is the simplest and best way you have to help fight inflation.

Are "Free" NOW Accounts Really Free?

You will notice in this advertisement we did not use the term "free NOW account." That's because we want no confusion about our NOW accounts even though we feel that we come as close as anyone in offering NOW accounts at a basic minimum cost with no hidden charges.

Here is the way we work our NOW accounts:
You can open an account for $10.00.

As long as you maintain a balance of $10.00 or more you will get interest credited monthly at 5% per annum.

Overdraft charges are $5.00 each, which covers the paperwork in notifying the customer.

Stop payment fees are $5.00 for the same reason.

And the only other charge is $3.85 for each book of 200 plain checks imprinted with your name, address and account number.

What about those which claim to have "free" NOW accounts? They can demand a $300 monthly balance—or $500.00. The only minimum at our bank is $10.00 if you want to earn interest.

The thing to think about when someone says "totally free NOW account" is this: if you don't keep your balance at $300.00 all month long, you can be charged 20 cents for every check you write that month even if you bring your account up to $300.00 within 24 hours. Nothing like that at Quincy Cooperative!

We remind our customers that nothing in life is really free....but the cost of a NOW account at our bank is very much less than for most other banking institutions.

$20 Per Day Rate Hike At Hospital

The cost of getting sick in Quincy is going up again on Tuesday, July 1.

Rate increases of $20 a day have been approved by the State Rate Setting Commission and charges for most ancillary services will also rise by 20 to 25 per cent.

Hospital Comptroller John Fantuchio said the rate hikes were made necessary by the tremendous increase in operating expenses in the hospital's $28.6 million budget for 1981.

"The budget includes substantial pay increases for hospital employees who have not had a pay raise since July 1, 1978," said Fantuchio.

"The cost of supplies is going up all the time, particularly the cost of oil. We use a tremendous amount of plastic items and plastics are based in petroleum."

Fantuchio said the cost of a private room in the west wing of the hospital will go from $172 a day to $192; a semi private room from $166 to $186 and a bed in a ward from $151 to $171.

The cost of a stay in the nursery will rise from $85 to $95 a day, and the intensive care unit (ICU) will cost $400 a day, up $37.50 from the previous charge of $362.50.

"We are still in a relatively competitive situation with other hospitals," said Fantuchio.

More than 90 per cent of those who receive treatment at City Hospital have their bills paid through some form of medical insurance.

McCauley Seeks To Cut McParland, Sharry Raises

City Councillor Francis X. McCauley says he plans to file an order at the June 30 City Council meeting that would reduce the retroactive pay raises granted to City Labor Negotiator Joseph McParland and John Sharry, the Police Department's legal counsel.

McParland is due to receive $3,551 increase and Sharry $4,051 retroactive to Jan. 1 while all other department heads and administrators got $1,500 under an ordinance change passed by the Council June 16.

McCauley said he was told that the hefty pay hikes were designed to bring the salaries of the labor negotiator and the police legal counsel up to the pay level of an assistant city solicitor.

"But," said the Councillor, "their duties are not as broad as the duties of an assistant city solicitor. The large retroactive increases would be a slap in the face to rank and file city employees who will receive lesser increases."

McCauley said the ordinance change he plans to file would reduce their retroactive increases to $1,500.

$2.50 On Tax Hike

City Loses $673,000 In 'Cherry Sheet' Aid

By TOM HENSHAW

The cherry sheet listing state aid and charges to Quincy arrived late Tuesday, dealing yet another blow to the city's bleak financial picture.

The net loss on the cherry sheet is about $673,000, which represents a little under $2.50 on the tax rate.

Almost all of the net loss, about $600,000, is the result of an increase in Quincy's share of the MBTA deficit.

Mayor Tobin was not available for comment on the figures.

Under receipts to Quincy, the cherry sheet lists $12,734,523, roughly $100,000 less than last year's figure.

See related story Page 3.

Under charges assessed against Quincy, it lists $6,454,650, which with $187,270 in underestimates and $94,976 in overestimates from last year, levels out to $6,546,954 in net charges.

Last year, the net charges amounted to $5,973,776, which means that charges are up $573,178 over last year.

MBTA charges rose about $600,000, from $2,025,058 last year to $2,685,237 this year.

The loss on the cherry sheet does not mean that the Quincy tax rate for 1981 will automatically go up $2.50.

Calculated on the basis that every $276,000 means $1 on the rate, it just represents that figure.

City, Firefighters Agree Police Settlement Seen In 2 Weeks

Quincy has settled all its differences with its firefighters and indications are that the policemen won't be far behind - probably within the next two weeks.

The city and the police union were scheduled to submit "last best offers" yesterday (Wednesday) to arbitrator Marcia Greenbaum, who must select one of them in 10 days.

"That," said Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, "should wrap up 2½ long years of 14 contracts, all of which expired on the same date. It's been one headache."

Settlement of the dispute with the firefighters was reached over the weekend with the union agreeing to forego two months of retroactive salary increases to preserve the jobs of 13 colleagues.

The agreement was announced Monday but the final details were withheld until the State Joint Labor Management Commission, the so-called Dunlop Commission, could finalize it as an award.

Harvard Prof. John T. Dunlop, chairman of the commission, said it would meet today (Thursday) on the matter.

Mayor Tobin called the settlement "a true compromise - they backed off on the money, we backed off on the dismissals."

The firefighters agreed to roll back the date of retroactive pay raises already granted by the Dunlop Commission from Jan. 1 to March 1, 1980, and postpone $800 in retroactive bonus money until fiscal 1982.

In return, the city agreed not to dismiss 13 fire fighters - or demote four fire lieutenants - who were scheduled to lose their jobs Monday, June 30, under the city's austerity budget for fiscal 1981.

"I congratulate the members of the firefighters' union for putting the well-being of their comrades first," said Tobin. "They ratified the agreement because they didn't want to see layoffs either."

"I don't think Mayor Tobin has been the winner," said George Lamb, president of the firefighters local, "and I don't think the firefighters have been the winners. The citizens of Quincy are the winners."

He noted that the settlement will preserve the status of Engine

City Allocates $50,000 For Business Loans

Mayor Tobin has allocated $50,000 in Community Development Block Grant money to the South Shore Economic Development Corp. for low interest loans to businesses and property owners.

The loans, at interest rates below the current market, can be used for acquisition, construction or rehabilitation of buildings within the Quincy Center Business District.

Thus far, the SSFDC has made three individual loans, at interest rates of 8 1/4 per cent, to three downtown businesses for building renovations and remodeling.

The loans were made in conjunction with conventional lending packages of private institutions.

Individuals interested in participating in or learning more about the program should contact James E. Lydon, planning director, in City Hall at 773-1380, extension 364.

At Ashmont Discount Site

D'Angelo's Sandwich Shop Planned For Southern Artery

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The long vacant old Ashmont Discount Store on Southern artery may come down at last this summer to make way for a D'Angelo's sandwich shop granted a common victualer license at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

According to Brian J. McLaughlin of D'Angelo, Inc., West Bridgewater, the shop will be constructed to the left of a Speedy Muffler Shop also scheduled for construction on the lot.

McLaughlin said the shop's architecture will be coordinated with that of the muffler shop, and that the interior will be in a nautical style reflecting the close proximity to the sea.

The shop will offer Greek salads, pouch sandwiches and other items. It will be open Sunday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m., and Friday and Saturday, 10 a.m. to midnight, according to McLaughlin.

Approximately four people will be employed full time, with 10 part timers, said McLaughlin.

Building Inspector Allan

MacDonald said he was concerned that the city was being flooded with fast food shops, but agreed with City Clerk John Gillis that almost anything was better than the vacant building.

The license was granted with the stipulations that the Building Department control the design of the building, sign and landscaping; that the building meet the requirements of the Health and Fire Departments; that the Police Chief approve the traffic flow; and that any cooking odor problems be resolved when and if they occur.

McCauley Asks State Reps To Support His Assessors Bill

City Councillor Francis X. McCauley has urged the Quincy legislative delegation to support his bid to require the assessors to notify property owners within 30 days of an increase in their assessments.

McCauley's home rule petition won approval of the State Senate last week due to the efforts of Sen. Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy).

The Councillor sent letters to Reps. Michael W. Morrissey, Thomas F. Brownell and Robert A. Cerasoli (all D-Quincy) asking their support in the House, which allowed a similar measure to die last year.

"The chaos caused by the illegal spot revaluation of multi-family residential properties last December makes passage of this notification bill imperative," said McCauley.

If approved, the petition would apply only to the city of Quincy.

Marina Food Concessions Must Be Licensed

All food vendors with concessions at the Boston Harbor Marina Antique, Craft and Flea Show will now have to be licensed by the City License Board as well as the Health Department.

The ruling on the common victualer licenses was made at Tuesday's board meeting at the recommendation of Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeough.

The subject came up when Walter J. Hannon appeared before the board requesting extension of the marina's second hand license. The license was extended for six months at which time the matter will be reviewed.

In a related matter, the board granted Mrs. Herbert Bornstein of Canton a common victualer license for H & A Sweet Stop at the marina.

Disagree On Borrowing Limit Tobin, Council Agree On Setting Tax Rate Fast

FLAG DAY ceremonies are conducted about the U.S. Navy Frigate Capodanno, the first warship to put into the General Dynamics Shipyard in many years. She is in for repairs and overhaul.

Undergoes Repairs

First Navy Warship In Years Now At Yard

There's a Navy warship at the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard for the first time in many years.

She's the frigate Capodanno, which is in the yard for a brief period of maintenance and upkeep after an extended tour of duty with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Capodanno, based in Newport,

R.I., is one of the few Navy ships assigned to the Boston area shipyards for repairs and overhauls. She is primarily an anti-submarine ship, equipped with sonar and torpedoes.

The ship is named for Lt. Vincent Capodanno of Staten Island, N.Y., a chaplain and winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor who was killed by a sniper in Vietnam in 1967.

Mayor Tobin and the City Council are agreed on one thing anyway -- they're like to see the tax rate set much faster this year than last.

But, says the Mayor, the recent City Council action limiting the city's power to borrow in anticipation of taxes to keep the city running isn't going to hustle the tax rate along.

"We want to accomplish the same goal that the Council wants," said Tobin. "We want to get the tax bills out much faster. We don't want to have to go out and borrow money."

"But one thing they have lost sight of is that there are certain things that are not under our control and one of them is the cherry sheet. In the past two years it has come out late."

The cherry sheet is the annual list of reimbursements to and assessments levied against the cities and towns by the state.

"I think you can assume," said Asst. City Solicitor Dennis E. Harrington, "that this year the cherry sheets are going to be out as early as they have ever been."

"This is the first year in a long time that the state budget has been passed before the end of the fiscal year."

Harrington and City Auditor Charles L. Shea explained that, due to the tax cap legislation, the cities and towns are "at the mercy" of the State Department of Revenue more than ever before.

"Some of the councillors seem to think that if the tax rate is late again it's the fault of the mayor," said Harrington. "But that's not really true."

"It's not the same situation that we're used to dealing with where the Mayor would call the assessors at 7 o'clock some night and say, 'The auditor's got his numbers together. I've got my budget set. Tell me what the assessed valuation of the city is. I'm going into the Bureau of Accounts next Tuesday morning."

"No more of that."

"The tax cap legislation requires a review of your past fiscal year to determine whether or not you really have lived within the cap; a review of your proposed budget to see if it's within the cap or, if it's out of the cap, to see if you have the legislative authority."

"Once all those things are decided they ask for your basic receipt information and they'll schedule a meeting. The purpose of the meeting is not to set the tax rate but just to go over all the information you sent in."

"Basically, they can set the tax rate without you."

Shea said the city's books probably won't be closed on the fiscal year ending June 30, 1980, until the end of July, at which time he can start putting the figures together for the state to review.

The 1980 Quincy tax rate wasn't set until Dec. 17, 1979 and, at its last meeting, the City Council chose as its weapon tax anticipation notes (TANs) in an effort to make sure it doesn't happen again.

TANs represent the city's borrowing, starting July 1 each year, to cover the day-to-day expenses of running the city until tax receipts start coming in, usually around the first of November.

Last year, said Treasurer Robert E. Foy, the city borrowed some $40 million in anticipation of taxes, which did not start coming in until late December.

Monday night the council voted to limit the amount that could be borrowed on TANs to $20 million. If more were needed, the treasurer would have to come before the Council and explain why.

"What the City Council is trying to do here," said Councilor Francis X. McCauley, "is to have some kind of control over

Today's Women

DOVE To Honor Over 40 At Awards Night

Over 40 businesses, community groups and individuals will receive awards at the first annual DOVE night June 26 from 8 to 10 p.m. at the conference room in new City Hall.

DOVE, a non-profit agency which provides specialized services to battered women and their children, has planned this evening to recognize those businesses, community groups and individuals who have made significant contributions to the organization over the past year.

The Quincy businesses which will receive awards for their generous contributions include Keohane Funeral Home, Gerald T. Reilly Co., Quincy Co-operative Bank, O'Connell Construction Company, and Kemper Insurance Company.

Nine community groups will also be honored for their efforts in assisting DOVE. They are: the Social Service Committee for the Quincy City Hospital, Bay State Chapter, Women's Marine Association, Delta Kappa Gamma Nu Chapter, Quincy Point Congregational Church, Quincy Lodge of Elks, Quincy Altrusa Club, Koch Club, Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women, and the Quincy Toast-mistress Club.

In addition a number of agencies and individuals whose services and devotion have strengthened DOVE's ability to serve abused women and their children will be honored. Mayor Arthur Tobin and Dist. Atty. William D. Delahunt will receive an award for the support which the City of Quincy and Norfolk County have given to DOVE. The three county commissioners, George B. MacDonald, David C. Ahern, and James J. Collins will also be recipients of awards.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Michael Brooks, Robert Dillon of the district attorney's office, and Judge Albert Kramer of Quincy District Court will be cited for their contributions and support of DOVE's programs.

Other Quincy agencies which will be honored are Quincy CETA, Paul Ricea, director, Quincy City Hospital, Anthony DeFalco, director, Salvation Army, Major Waddington; RSVP, Ruth Brown; the Quincy Police Department, Chief Francis Finn; and Quincy Headstart, Linda Lowenstein. Rev. William McCarthy of St. John's Church, Ellen Quinn of the Quincy District Court, Jean MacLean, Cranch School Principal, David Bouley of Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency and Eleanor Spalidoro will be noted for their continued assistance to DOVE.

In addition to the Quincy concerns listed above the following businesses have made significant contributions to DOVE and will be cited at the awards night: Palmer Cadillac, Townsend/Textron Corp. and Eddie and Mike's Sunoco of Braintree; Merrimac Corporation and Building #19 of Hingham; Polaroid Corporation and Afaro & Kirwin of Cambridge; WHDH Radio in Boston; Dictaphone Corporation of Brookline, Tedeschi Liquor Mart of Hanover; West End Plumbing of Scituate; and Automatic Data Processing of Waltham.

"Our program must be strongly rooted in the community to be successful," stated the Program Director of DOVE, Jean Zagoudis. The involvement and support of citizens', human service, religious, law enforcement and business groups has been critical to DOVE's success this year. We are deeply grateful for their interest and are privileged to honor them."

FINGERNAIL CLUES

When a newborn infant is sick, its frailty makes needed diagnostic tests impractical or even risky. But even a premature baby can have its fingernails clipped. And doctors have found that analyzing the clippings can help them diagnose several major disorders.

Most important of these are anemias and growth abnormalities linked to protein malnutrition. Analysis of fingernail clippings has shown that there is a great difference in the nitrogen content of the clippings taken from a healthy and sick baby.

The technique is still experimental, but doctors at the University of Alabama predict that it will, one day, replace the more difficult method of taking samples of internal tissue. "If malnutrition is diagnosed early," say the medical researchers, "we can often help the baby catch up. But if his malnutrition extends too long, he cannot be rehabilitated."

NOW FOR NOW

(or payment by check
is coming back in style.)

In this topsy-turvy economic period, there is one stable, safe way to handle your money—open a NOW account at our Bank.

What can a NOW account do for you and your money management?

Well, as the use of credit cards becomes more and more restricted, a NOW account lets you switch to a cash operating basis, thus avoiding interest charges for time payments. And your money in your NOW account is earning 5% interest per annum. Thus you get the best of both worlds—you avoid interest charges while collecting interest for yourself.

But, you say, going on a cash basis means I can't make larger or more costly purchases and spread the payments. In this economy with interest charges going up almost daily, maybe that is not all bad.

It depends on how much you need a "big ticket" item. If you have a wife and five youngsters and your washing machine breaks down hopelessly, you need a washer, of course. If you don't have the cash, you charge it. But if you can switch to a cash only (or check) basis for most items, you will save money.

The trouble with cash itself is that cash is dangerous. You can be robbed or you run the risk of losing it. NOW account checks are safe and you have an ongoing record of your expenditures.

Think about it.

Should your household budget be keyed into a NOW account?

Will it save substantial interest payments?

Will it be safe and convenient for you?

If you don't have a NOW account and want to open one (for as little as $10.00) come in to our main office or one of our branches.

We think a NOW account is the simplest and best way you have to help fight inflation.

Are "Free" NOW Accounts Really Free?

You will notice in this advertisement we did not use the term "free NOW account." That's because we want no confusion about our NOW accounts even though we feel that we come as close as anyone in offering NOW accounts at a basic minimum cost with no hidden charges.

Here is the way we work our NOW accounts:

You can open an account for $10.00.

As long as you maintain a balance of $10.00 or more you will get interest credited monthly at 5% per annum.

Overdraft charges are $5.00 each, which covers the paperwork in notifying the customer.

Stop payment fees are $5.00 for the same reason.

And the only other charge is $3.85 for each book of 200 plain checks imprinted with your name, address and account number.

What about those which claim to have "free" NOW accounts? They can demand a $300 monthly balance—or $500.00. The only minimum at our bank is $10.00 if you want to earn interest.

The thing to think about when someone says "totally free NOW account" is this: if you don't keep your balance at $300.00 all month long, you can be charged 20 cents for every check you write that month even if you bring your account up to $300.00 within 24 hours. Nothing like that at Quincy Cooperative!

We remind our customers that nothing in life is really free.....but the cost of a NOW account at our bank is very much less than for most other banking institutions.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Daniel P. Sweeney, D.D.S.

As advanced as we have become in health services in this country, there is still a serious dental problem among the American people. For example, by the age of sixty, the average adult has only 10 of his original 32 teeth remaining. 22 teeth have been lost because of disease, accident and sometimes because of ignorance and carelessness. Approximately 60 per cent of all patients twenty to thirty years of age seeking dental care have one or two missing teeth. Dental decay among school children is especially high. These statistics reinforce our firm belief that preventive dentistry provides the most effective family dental care, at the least cost.

At the office of DANIEL P. SWEENEY D.D.S. we stress preventive dentistry. It's economical, practical and is the best way to preserve natural teeth. Visit us at 539 Adams St., East Milton Sq., 698-3636. We cannot stress too often the need for regular visits and good home care. X-rays on a regular basis help find problems that, left unattended, develop into more costly and painful problems. When you do have work to be done, don't put it off. It's economical and practical to get it done immediately. When you do lose a tooth don't invite more tooth loss. See us for dental help to preserve the proper function of your mouth, keep your dental arch and keep you remaining teeth.

DENTAL TIP:

While you are thinking about it, why not call and make an appointment for your child's back to school check-up.

Rev. John Banks: We Are Losing A Good Friend

Rev. John D. Banks will retire June 30 after 26 years as pastor of Bethany Congregational Church.

He and his devoted wife, Billie, will soon take leave of Quincy, moving to Chapel Hill, N.C.

We hate to see them go. Quincy just won't be the same without them.

John Banks, ordained exactly 40 years ago to the date of his retirement, has remained true to his calling these four decades.

If you were a movie director seeking the perfect person to portray the perfect minister, he would be the perfect choice: His voice, his mannerism, his way with words, his leadership, his intelligence, his love of his family, his congregation, his city and maybe, most of all, his sincerity.

During his 26 years here, he has seen Quincy undergo many changes -- physical and in the way of life. Life isn't as simple today as it was in 1954 when John Banks came to Quincy. It is much more complex and there seem to be many more problems than there are solutions.

But one of the changes has been a good one. As John Banks recalled in a Quincy Sun article last week:

"One of the happiest developments I've seen is the development of an ecumenical spirit, a warm fellowship with the clergy and laity of our local Catholic churches."

The ecumenical spirit was quite evident Sunday when an approximate 600 persons attended a Service of Thanksgiving for Rev. Banks at Bethany Church. Among those attending were representatives of the Catholic and Jewish faiths.

John Banks possesses a steady hand that is always there when needed whether at the death of a loved one in a family, or during a municipal crisis, or natural disaster. He comforts, consoles and keeps others from pushing the panic button.

He has been as active in the community as his beloved busy honey bees he affectionately tended in the church belfry.

He has been many things to many people -- all of them good.

He has been a faithful servant to his church and a good friend to his community.

He will leave a deep void.

We wish him and Billie all the happiness in the world in Chapel Hill.

And we hope they won't be strangers but will be back to visit at least every now and then.

Wherever they go, Quincy will always be their home.

Dog Officer Deserves Additional Funds

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As a thirty five year resident of Houghs Neck and a reader of your paper, I have read many articles on the dogs roaming around the street. Some dog owner's ignore the Leash Law completely.

Two young children were bitten by a large German Shepherd last week. I called the police, and they called the Dog Officer and he responded. Within a few minutes more he handled this very large dog very quickly, it would be impossible to get better results. This Department is presently requesting additional funds. Citizens of this City should contact the Mayor and their City Councillor and demand they honor this request.

More funds and manpower are badly needed.

LaRaia 'The Quiet Man'

Sunbeams

By Henry Bosworth

Joseph LaRaia has been playing the role of the "Quiet Man" since his return to the political scene.

In sharp contrast to his two turbulent years as mayor when each day seemed to produce a new controversy or battle, LaRaia has hardly said "Boo" as a City Councillor since January.

He has spoken out on very few occasions. Among them: voting against two extra floors on the proposed downtown parking garage, voting for the supplementary budget and voting for placing a limit on temporary borrowings in anticipation of taxes.

But no slugging matches. No toe-to-toe, head-to-head battles or eruptions.

He's working as an administrator in a Providence, R.I. hospital and commuting daily by car. Maybe he just isn't that available for a skirmish.

Anyway, he's a new Joe LaRaia -- as of now. And has some people wondering.

If you believe some of those supposedly close to him, he's just being quiet because that's the way he now wants to be. It doesn't mean he is working on a new image for a run for mayor next year. In fact, they insist he will not run.

But seasoned City Hall observers aren't buying that. They are pretty much convinced he returned to the City Council as a stopping off point with a roadmap to the mayor's office.

The way they see it, he is trying to build a low-key, cool headed image and will not be drawn into a boiling controversy or battle to ruin it.

Those who really think they know what makes him tick politically, feel he really will not be satisfied with remaining in the City Council. He's had many years there. His political comeback would not be complete in his mind, they think, until he regains the mayor's office.

Whether you like or dislike LaRaia -- and a lot of people will never forgive him for some of the stuff that's in his book -- you have to concede that he's a fighter by nature.

So, if you're thinking of potential mayoral candidates for next year or two years later, don't overlook him.

Meanwhile, observers who think they really know him, are looking for the first sign that he is warming up to a mayoral bid.

The sign might be his first heated battle. Or, it may already be here in his new role as the "Quiet Man".

CITY COUNCILLOR Jim Sheets and sons,

LARAIA

COLELLA

Jim Jr. 13, Tad 10, and Luke 5, are going it alone for a week or two in the house on Furnace Brook Parkway. Wife Joann and daughter, Kim 16, are attending the annual Church of the Nazarene convention in Kansas City.

ALFRED (AL) COLELLA, who was Mayor LaRaia's downtown coordinator, has written a pretty Italian love song in memory of his wife, Rose, who died five years ago. Called "Amore Mio" (My Love), Al introduced it at the recent St. Anthony's Feast Mass at St. John's Church.

Al wrote the music and the words -- both in Italian and English -- and sang it himself at the Mass. He is a tenor with the St. John's Church choir.

He has sent a copy of it to his good friend, John Russell of the Binghamton, N.Y. Opera Co. who plans to include it in his repertoire. Russell formerly sang with St. John's choir.

Al says he composed most of the song in three quarters of an hour while driving along in his car. Did it so easily, he says, with solfeggio, an Italian style of note reading and pitch, taught him back in the fifth grade at the Daniel Webster school by his teacher, Edna Abbiatti, an active parishioner at St. John's. He's now working on a second ballad.

WELL, the local Gramps Club has a new member. Dave Leitch of Burgin Platner, Insurance Co., and former president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, was admitted to membership thanks to his daughter, Jan, and son-in-law Dave Matheson of Whitman. Their first child, and his first grandchild, Jessica Ann. Now, I ask you, does he look like a grandfather?

This Is Burglary Prevention Month

The Quincy Police Department is participating in the national "June is Burglary Prevention Month" campaign, and invites residents to participate, says Chief Francis Finn.

The number of housebreaks increase during the summer months, when many residents are away on vacation, Finn said. In addition, he said, the increase in gold and silver prices and the rise in the number of working wives had added to the number of break-ins.

Finn encouraged homeowners to take part in such crime prevention programs as Neighborhood Watch, Operation Identification and Marine Security.

"Failure to practice the fundamental techniques of home protection was largely responsible for many of the burglaries committed in our city last year. Most people didn't intentionally invite intruders to ransack their homes, but they might as well have hung up a sign saying 'No one's home, burglars welcome!' For additional information on crime prevention techniques, please call the Quincy Police Department, Crime Prevention Division," Chief Finn added.

Finn listed the following precautions for homeowners:

- Close and lock all doors, including porch, basement and garage. Use one-inch deadbolt locks on outside entrances and "pin" all windows.
- Connect a lamp to an automatic timer to turn lights in the home on and off each evening. Since sound is a deterrent, connect a radio or TV to a timer.
- Light up your porch and yard with outdoor lights to increase the likelihood that an attempted burglary would be seen. These lights can also be timer-controlled, if desired.
- Be sure all screens are fastened from the inside.
- Never leave valuables lying around. Keep them in a safety deposit box.
- Notify the police department when you'll be leaving and how long you expect to be away.

- Cancel all deliveries, such as the milk, laundry, cleaning, and others. Also, be sure to discontinue the newspaper or arrange to have it sent to your vacation address.

- Have a neighbor, or the post office, hold all mail until your return.

- Arrange with a friend to mow the lawn. Also ask him if he'll pick up any circulars or handbills that may be left on your porch.

- Leave your shades and blinds as you normally do. closed blinds keep the sun out, but also make an effective screen for the burglar.

- Never advertise your departure with an item in the local paper. Give the story about your vacation to the newspapers after you've returned.

- Because of an increase in the number of garage burglaries, keep garage doors locked and closed at all times.

Court Hearing Friday On MBTA Fare Hike

Judge John T. Ronan has continued until 12 noon tomorrow (Friday) a bid by several organizations for a preliminary injunction to prevent the MBTA from raising fares next Tuesday, July 1.

The increases, which would boost fares to Boston from the three Quincy stations from 50 to 75 cents, was voted by the T's Board of Directors Tuesday morning.

Representatives of Citizens for Participation in Political Action (CP-PAX), the Association for Public Transportation and Common Cause immediately sought the injunction in Suffolk Superior Court.

The Board also raised the fares from the new Braintree station from 75 cents to $1 but Chairman Barry Locke promised to look into the Braintree fare structure to see if there might be a change.

Exempted from the fare hikes were senior citizens, handicapped persons and students.

Sue Myers, spokeswoman for the MBTA, said there will be no change in the price of monthly passes during July and August because of the vast amount of paper work involved.

The passes will go up in September, she said.

The MBTA Board voted unanimously for the fare increases despite the fact that the hike had few if any supporters during a round of public hearings held in some cities and towns in the district.

No one spoke or was recorded in favor at the Quincy hearing, which was held in the Elks Home two weeks ago.

Housing Authority Cleared Of Neglect

City Manager Donald H. Blatt and Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa cleared the Quincy Housing Authority of charges that it was neglecting the Westacres Housing Project.

The charges were made by members of the State Housing Board who said after a recent visit that many of the buildings in the development needed paint and repairs.

Said Blatt and Della Chiesa:

"We talked to two tenants, one of whom has been an occupant since the project was built, and we were given to believe the authority has been an excellent landlord."

RADAR BLAMED FOR GROUNDING

Capt. James A. Goodwin of North Quincy testified before a marine board of investigation that he was having trouble with radar aboard his Pilgrim Belle when the vessel left Boston for Nantasket.

The Pilgrim Belle ran aground on Spectacle Island but all 272 passengers were taken off safely.

Capt. Goodwin said he had decided to turn the Pilgrim Belle around and head back to Rows Wharf in Boston when she struck the rocks and he beached her on the island.

CONTRACTS FOR RADAR

The Bethlehem Steel Co. was awarded six contracts to build fast tankers for the Navy and General Manager Sam Wakeman said that three of them probably would be constructed at the Fore River Shipyard.

Meanwhile, the Quincy Shipbuilding Committee, headed by George A. Daley Jr., was preparing to solicit work for the yard after Congress passed an $86,450,000 maritime construction bill.

PITTS QUALIFIES

Fordie Pitts of Wollaston sank a 12-foot putt for a birdie three on the 36th hole to tie for medalist with a 146 in the South Shore sectional qualifying round for the State Amateur Golf Tournament. Charley Bowen of Wollaston also qualified with a 153 over the Cohasset Golf Club course.

Rev. John Banks Honored At 'Service Of Thanksgiving'

Approximately 600 friends, members and former members of Bethany Congregational Church gathered Sunday for a "Service of Thanksgiving for the Ministry of Rev. John D. Banks" who retires as church pastor June 30.

The service for Rev. Banks, who served as pastor for 26 years, included many greetings, presentations and citations.

Among those participating in the service were Rev. Elden D. J. Zuern, successor to Rev. Banks; moderator Mrs. Jean C. Smart, and other Bethany officials; as well as Rev. William R. McCarthy of St. John's Church, Rabbi David J. Jacobs of Temple Beth El, Rev. Arthur R. Curtis, Atlantic Memorial Congregational Church; and Rev. Charles Harper of the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ.

Dr. Donald C. MacLeod serenaded Rev. and Mrs. Banks with a "piping" on the bagpipes in recognition of Rev. Banks' ancestry. Dr. Henry F. Paterson, Jr., who co-chaired the reception planning committee with Mrs. Paterson, led off the introductions.

Dr. Paterson also read a letter from Rev. Dr. Alfred E. Williams, minister and president of the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ, expressing best wishes to Rev. Banks.

Robert F. Taylor, executive director of the Protestant Social Service Bureau with which Rev. Banks was involved, presented a plaque, and State Senator Paul D. Harold a resolution adopted by the Senate.

A plaque was also presented by Richard T. Sweeney, Jr., of the Quincy Kiwanis Club, of which Rev. Banks was an active member for some 18 years.

Mary Lou Glaman of the Bethany Players presented Rev. Banks with an automatic camera, and Mrs. Eric H. Streifer, Women's Union president, a scroll diagraming a quilt with squares depicting scenes from the church and city.

The quilt was later unveiled at the reception by Mrs. Streifer and Mrs. Edith E. Egan who coordinated the production of the quilt.

Edward M. Arslan of the Bethany Men's Club presented an album of pictures taken during Rev. Bank's leadership at the church. The (photos were by Clarence Edwards) album will also include pictures of the reception and pages from the guest book.

A check was presented by past senior moderator Heslip E. Sutherland from members and friends of the church.

At the reception that followed, the Bethany Young People presented a complete bee keepers suit for Rev. Banks to use while pursuing his hobby of some 20 years.

The reception, hosted by the deacons and deaconesses, also included specially selected music such as Scottish tunes; the Battle Hymn of the Republic, which Rev. Banks had used as background for a dramatic oration during the Bi-Centennial; and a special verse to the tune of "Can't You Hear Me Calling Caroline", referring to the Banks' new home in North Carolina.

The festivities ended with those present holding hands and singing "Auld Lang Syne".

Members of the reception planning committee were: Edward A. Bohlken, Lambert W. Brandes, Richard M. Carr, Newly elected members of the Board of Directors are:

George Troupe, Mrs. Ethel Anastos, Donald Dickinson, Gerard Gigon, Robert Brooks, Mrs. Edna Logan, all of Braintree; David Mercer of Squantum, and John Weaver of Holbrook.

Martha Reardon, Manager Business and Transportation South Shore Chamber of Commerce, was the keynote speaker. She discussed the South Shore as a region now known as the Sea Belt, with its roots tied to the shipbuilding industry on the North River and the General Dynamics Shipyard in Quincy on the Fore River.

In comparing regionalization in the Red Cross she stated that the Chambers emphasis has been on regionalization for strength and unity, but keeping local groups active and dominated by the Region.

Ronald L. McKim, Chairman, First Aid and William Y. Walker Jr., Chairman of Water Safety presented Safety Services Awards to volunteer First Aid and Water Safety Instructors. The following received Certificates of Appreciation for more than 300 hours of service:

Carolyn Bowe, Lorraine M. Conroy, Kenneth C. Curran, Joanne Damigella, Diane DiGiacomo, Robert DiPietro, John Gauthier, Frances Hamilton, Robert Hanna, Elizabeth Knight, Thomas Lyons, Ronald McKim, Sandra Stover.

The following received Service Medals which are presented to Safety Service Volunteers who give more than 500 hours in five years with some service each year:

Martha Baker, Jill Bartlett, Thomas Cahill, Karen Cassani, Virginia Gauthier, Mark Hausman, Linwood Hess, Susan Jackson, Gerard Lamb, Gretha Lovejoy, Thomas J. McDermott, Ann McParland and Jean W. Melgard.

The chapter volunteers who were recognized by Peter F. Macdonald for years of service:

Mrs. Robert Crown, 30 years, Mrs. Joseph Gantert, 25 years, Mr. Stephen T. Keefe Jr., 25 years, and Mrs. Joseph McParland, 25 years. Mrs. D. William Quint, 20 years. Fifteen year pins went to Mrs. Arthur Asklund, Mrs. H. Archie Cohen, and Mrs. Martha Baker. The following received 10 year pins: Mrs. Mildred Ambrosia, Mrs. Florence Bracchi, Mrs. Karen Cassani, Miss Margaret Cahill, Miss Doris Folger, John Gauthier, Mrs. John Gauthier, Miss Susan Jackson, Thomas Lyons, Hertha McConville, Mary McGinty, Gretha Lovejoy. Five year pins were awarded to the following volunteers: Jill Bartlett, Carolyn Bowe, Margaret Cahill, Thomas Cahill, Lorraine Conroy, Kenneth Curren, Joanne Damigella, Robert DiPietro, James Farragher, Robert Gordon, Lee Gullage, Marie Hackett, Frances Hamilton, Minnie Hanson, Mark Hausman, Linwood Hess, Susan Jackson, Frank Jacobson, Mrs. Frank Jacobson, Judith Keene, Ronald McKim, Ella Munson, Evelyn Peterson, Jean Smart, Cheryl Solden, Donald Sawyer, Linda Swanson, Gerard Lamb, John Mackey, Sheree Mattia, Kathryn McKenna, Jean Melgard, Alberta Nota and Mrs. Dagmar Wester.

The 1980 Communications Awards were presented to The Quincy Sun, Patriot Ledger, Radio Station WJDA, Braintree Star, Braintree Forum & Observer, Holbrook Sun, Randolph Herald, and Randolph Money saver for "outstanding public service to the community through the interpretation and support of Red Cross services."

Norman Satterthwaite of Townsend/Textron, Inc. of Braintree was recognized for 25 years of recruitment of blood donors from his company for community visits to help our patients in the hospitals. He is retiring from Townsend/Textron June 30, where he has been the Blood Chairman. He is a five gallon Blood Donor.

Mrs. Virginia Mariani, staff member, received her five-year pin, and Daniel C. Pritchard, executive director, received a 15-year pin.

The climax of the evening was the recognition of outgoing Chapter Chairman Peter F. Macdonald, who has served for three years. Macdonald was presented a plaque from the American National Red Cross signed by the National Chairman, Jerome Holland. Also a plaque was presented to him by Edna Gilmore, board member, and incoming chapter chairman Conoran. Mrs. Gilmore thanked Macdonald on behalf of the board volunteers and clients of the Greater Quincy Chapter for three years of commitment. "Peter committed himself to the Red Cross and reawakened the Board to do fundraising with the Blizzard Ball and Red Cross Night at the Music Circus fund raisers," she said. "He gave a lot for Red Cross and we present this plaque with our gratitude and affection."

A chair was presented to Macdonald by his friends in Red Cross as a personal memento of his years as Chapter Chairman.

Brownell Supports King's Anti-Drug Bill

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell [D-Quincy] announces his support of Gov. Edward J. King's special message providing mandatory jail sentences for major drug traffickers and those who sell drugs to minors.

"Drug abuse is one of the most serious problems facing the Commonwealth today," said Brownell.

"If we do not give law enforcement officials effective penal measures the problem will become uncontrollable."

"This new law is sorely needed to protect your young people from the expected increased exposure to mind-altering drugs this year."

The bill would set mandatory sentences for major drug traffickers, distributors of drugs to minors and habitual drug violators.

Dairy Freeze To Clear Up Odor Problems

By NANCY MC LAUGHLIN

Owners of Dairy Freeze, 635 Adams St., were instructed by the License Board Tuesday to clear up odor problems which have resulted in neighbor's complaints on several occasions.

The complaint before the board this week was made by Ward Councillor James Sheets on behalf of Mrs. James Machers of 34 Greenview St.

William Burke, representing Dairy Freeze, said that the owners has responded to past License Board suggestions that they meet with the neighbors to clear up litter, parking and odor problems, and that they have been harassed by a few residents who have moved there in the past few years.

Burke then introduced Deputy Chief Carl Valent, and Health Inspector Fred Presioso who said that they inspected the premises and filter system on several occasions and found them clean and the area free of odor.

When questioned by Sheets, Presioso that in his opinion, the "ventilating system was working at almost 100% efficiency".

Sheets said he found it ludicrous to assume the best system could filter out all smells, and that he still maintained there was an odor problem.

"I don't believe the neighbors are contacting me to harass Dairy Freeze" said Sheets.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said he inspected the premises and found the water curtain filter system operating, and the premises "spic and span".

MacDonald continued that he had seen a puff of blue smoke come out of the roof top duct which on the same level as windows on neighboring houses.

MacDonald suggested that Dairy Freeze owners direct the duct into a charcoal or water unit to diffuse any odor.

After learning from the owners that the filter system was scheduled to be completely dismantled and cleaned early Saturday morning, Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh said that he would be there to inspect the system.

The complaint was placed on file.

In a related matter, Dunkin' Donuts withdrew without prejudice its request for a common victualer license for Adams St. following opposition from area residents and ward councillors Sheets and John J. Lydon who were concerned with possible odors from that establishment.

In other action, the License Board:

- Granted the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, 1416 Hancock St., a permit to conduct a Sidewalk Bazaar July 17, 18 and 19, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Thus far there are 45 stands registered for the bazaar, and Gillis commented the bazaar looks to be "bigger than ever".

- Continued until a special meeting in August a hearing on Granite Motor Sales, Inc., 338-350 Washington St., regarding the erection of a fence. Michael Hassan, of Granite Motor, was told by the board to construct a security fence along the side of abutter John Spano's property.

- Granted a change of ownership of the Crazy Egg Restaurant, 532 Washington St., from Mrs. Donna Moses to Theresa Taverna, 67 Edinburgh Rd.

- Placed on file complaints of noise and persons drinking alcoholic beverages outside of Palmer Pub.

- Allowed to be withdrawn without prejudice a request from Albert and Daisy M. Zero for a common victualer license for 1348 Hancock St., now held by Patriot Lunch. Patriot Lunch owner Lester Brockman will be requested to appear before the board at an August meeting to show cause why his license should not be suspended for alleged failure to pay back state taxes.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Quincy Junior Baseball League, 33 Ferndale Rd., for a dance Saturday, June 28, 8 p.m. to midnight at St. Ann's School Hall.

- Granted North Quincy Youth Basketball tag day permits for June 25, 26, 27 and 28 to be conducted at local markets.

This was the last scheduled regular meeting before the summer recess.

Happy Acres Day Camp Opens July 1

Happy Acres Day Camp for retarded children, sponsored by the Quincy Park and Recreation Board, will open July 1 in the William F. Ryan Memorial Recreation Area, at Pageant Field, off Southern Artery.

The camp will provide learning and growth experiences, according to Recreation Director Charles Along Jr. In addition to many camp programs, a number of day trips will be offered.

Traditional activities such as hikes, picnics, overnight camping, sports and competitive events are included to provide each child the opportunity to compete and learn in accordance with their own skills and abilities.

Transportation and milk are provided daily without charge. For information concerning admission requirements or The Volunteer Leader program, call the Recreation Department, 773-1380, Ext. 204.

Tobin, Council Agree On Setting Tax Rate Fast

this tax rate situation which has become scandalous in Quincy.

"The tax rate setting procedure gets longer and longer each year. Now it's crossed the line into the next calendar year, Jan. 7 (the due date for the first installment on 1980 taxes).

"Maybe this is the only way the elected city councilors are going to have some control over this.

"If a dollar limit is set and we see ourselves getting into October and November without a tax rate then we can say we're not going to let you borrow into November, December and January.

"An awful lot of money is being spent on short term loans."

Treasurer Foy protested the $20 million limit bitterly, even though the councilors assured him that they meant no affront to his performance as treasurer; they were only interested in the tax rate.

"I am not involved in setting the tax rate in any way," protested Foy. "There is nothing I can do to set the tax rate. This is only going to make it more difficult to sell our TANs.

"What we're doing is creating a situation that is foreign to the bankers. It's different than what they're used to and then they will become suspicious."

Foy suggested that, in lieu of a borrowing limit, he would be glad to appear before the Council any time he was summoned to explain the whys and wherefores of his borrowing.

"If I appear before you we can keep it in house," he said. "There is no reason I can't tell you when we've borrowed $20 million when we get to that time.

"If I need more money it's only to pay the debts of the city. It's to pay the city workers. How is that going to set the tax rate?

"I think you're getting politics into trying to pay the city people and pay the city expenses."

Foy said the city reached the $20 million mark in tax anticipation borrowing on Oct. 5 last year. Such borrowing has cost the city about $1.3 million in fiscal 1980, he said.

But the Council wasn't as interested in the interest figures as it was in hustling the tax rate.

"The crux of the whole issue is how soon the tax rate is set," said Councilor Joseph J. LaRia. "If it's not set until Christmas then we'll have the same thing all over again.

"It's beyond anyone else's power but the Mayor. I'd like to see the restriction passed. Apparently that's the only way we're going to get things done around here."

The $20 million limit was appended to the Council's annual authorization to borrow by Councilor John J. Lydon Jr., who said he saw it as "a potential tool to give us input into the financial planning of the city."

"We may be the first city in the Commonwealth to restrict the borrowing power of the treasurer," he said, "but it is a sign of the times that the Council should be more involved in financial planning."

Foy warned the Council that the restriction would have to be stipulated in each prospectus the city puts out for borrowing.

"The people who took our notes would know that the treasurer would have to come back to the Council," he said, "that future borrowing would have to depend on the whims of the Council.

"I think we should keep things within house. I don't think we should go out to all the banks in the world and tell them about our bickering up here."

Lydon explained that the Council was not picking on Foy. "Unfortunately," he said, "we have had situations in the city that have not pleased this City council.

"You happen to be the agent for TANs and TANs are the tool which we have to use. We may have to use the TANs as the leverage to address those issues that concern us.

"I consider it as a move by the Council to strengthen the financial planning of the city."

Police Settlement Seen In 2 Weeks

Co. B, the second or backup company at Central Fire Station, the loss of which, the union maintained, would endanger public safety.

The agreement, said Prof. Dunlop, is "a symbol of what can happen constructively when parties who know the problems on both sides sit down in direct negotiations and work those problems out."

Tobin said the final negotiations that led to the settlement started last week following a phone call from Dunlop, who expressed concern over "the months of difficulties" between city and firefighters.

"We met for 2 1/2 hours on all the issues facing the city," said Tobin.

"The city auditor worked out a dollar figure of what it would cost us to have all the fire fighters who were going to be laid off brought back on the payroll.

"Once we reached that figure - which amounted to a little under $2 on the tax rate - we sat down to figure out how we could keep the firefighters without any additional cost to the taxpayer."

The agreement also includes a provision that transfers due to death or retirement in the department will be made by the Chief after posting and the senior most qualified person will have priority.

Lamb said the firefighters ratified the agreement by 167-30.

Asst. City Solicitor Dennis E. Harrington said it was not possible to work the same deal on layoffs with the other unions representing city employees.

"The other unions represent people all over the city, not just one department," he said. "They're not in the same situation."

Joseph McParland, the city's labor negotiator, said he has just completed four days of hearings presenting testimony in the police case to Greenbaum, who is the "last best offer" arbitrator for the state.

"Wednesday at 10 a.m. we physically exchange our last best offers before the arbitrator," he said. "She must select one of them within 10 days without changing or amending it."

The police dispute was never before the Dunlop Commission, McParland said, but it went straight to the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration after Dunlop refused to take jurisdiction.

Tobin said he was happy that the stormy negotiations of the past two years were able to focus attention on the city's financial plight but he wasn't pleased with the abuse he said he has had to take over it.

"I regret that it had to go the way it had to go," he said. "I would have hoped things could have been a little different."

"But someone had to stand up and say, 'Hey, we can't keep going like this. It (the money) just isn't there.'"

"Back in the sixties there was money around. People had money to do everything. Times have changed. The municipal unions have to understand that it is an empty barrel. That was the point I was trying to make."

"It was the best deal we could have had on both sides."

Budget Near Completion

The State Budget is now awaiting final action by the Governor. The budget of $5.9 billion can be subject to line item vetoes by the Governor. The line item veto legislation session has really picked up. The Legislature has considered both the Supplementary and the Capital Outlay Budgets. Many important pieces of legislation are inching forward or awaiting final action.

The Housing Package submitted by my committee, seeks to increase the number of housing units in the state through increased production and rehabilitation. Sections of the bill provide for $100 million for elderly housing and modernization of public housing.

The condominium legislation aimed at placing limitations on conversion and protection for renters appears to be stalled in a legislative deadlock between opponents and proponents.

If you wish to know the status of any piece of legislation please feel free to call me at 328-0900 or in the State House at 727-7035.

Central's Best Season Leads To Co-Championship

The Central Junior High girls' softball team recently completed its best season ever with a 7-1 record to finish as city co-champions with Point.

Central, coached by Steve Corey, Ray Whitehouse and Tom Henderson, could have clinched sole possession of the title but suffered its only loss to Point, 10-2, in the season's finale.

Central had defeated Broad Meadows, 20-6; Atlantic, 17-6; Sterling, 18-6; Point, 15-4; Broad Meadows, 11-8; Atlantic, 14-4, and Sterling, 10-5.

The coaches singled out centerfielder Debbie Kiley, rightfielder Joanne Keenan, shortstop Lori Prescott (the captain), catcher Michelle White and third baseman Lisa Tenaglia, all ninth graders, for their outstanding two-way performances, and also made special mention of Colleen Dunn, who started at second base, although only a seventh grader, and eighth grade pitcher Allison Smith, who gave up no earned runs all season.

Other ninth graders playing outstanding ball were Lisa Julian, Karen Boutlier, Joan Carey, Kim MacPherson, Kim Bell and Andrea Noble.

White led the team in batting with a .720 average, had four home runs and 16 RBI's, followed by Julian, .592, five homers and 15 RBI's; Kathy McInnis, .566 and 11 RBI's; Tenaglia, .551 and 10 RBI's; Prescott, .500, three homers and 12 RBI's; Kiley, .500, one homer and five RBI's; Keenan, .483 and four RBI's, and Dunn, .384 and four RBI's.

Boutlier was 5-1 and Smith 2-0 pitching.

Tops on defense were Kiley, Tenaglia, Prescott and McInnis.

"We are looking forward to another great season next year with many returning players," Corey said.

Coming back will be Dunn, Ann Duggan, Dee Kiley, Tina Bagen, Karen Koski, Marybeth Masters, Stephanie Levangie, Cathy Keenan, Criss Crosson, Kim Sciglian, Donna Berry, Jennifer Johnson, Mary Davin, Smith, Jean Gaudet and Valerie Papapetros.

CENTRAL'S Lisa Julian is out at first base as Point's Stacey Doherty makes catch. Point pitcher Janice LaFleur watches the action. Point won, 10-2, to tie Central for the city championship.

Wollaston Upsets Milton, Morrisette Drops 2nd

Morrisette Legion's baseball team was defeated by Milton, 7-1, Monday night, dropping its Zone 6 record to 4-2.

Gregg Burdett pitched an outstanding game for Milton, playing only its second game after the high school finished play in the state tournament. The only batter to bother him was Tommy Canavan, who pounded out two triples and two singles.

Morrisette will host Norwell Friday night at 8 at Adams Field, will be home to Weymouth Monday at 8 at Adams, Tuesday will play at Braintree at 6 and next Wednesday will be at Randolph at 6.

Quincy will play at Holbrook

Friday night at 8:30, will host Milton Tuesday night at 8 at Adams and will be home to Canton Wednesday night at 8 at Adams.

Wollaston, which provided the big upset of the early season last week with a win over Milton, will host Milton Sunday night at 8 at Adams and will play at Holbrook Monday night at 8:30.

Morrisette, which had won its first three games, was upset by Holbrook, then bounced back Sunday with a 6-3 victory over Randolph.

Gary DiNardo pitched six-hit ball and Bill Deitch had two hits and an RBI and Kevin Howlett had a triple and a single.

Bob Bolster pitched a three-hitter and walked only one to spark Wollaston to its first win, a 4-2 decision at Milton.

A home run into the tennis courts in left field in the second inning by Shaun Martin started Wollaston on its way and it scored three runs in the fifth to clinch the win. Milton scored both its runs in the bottom of the seventh.

John Kavanaugh had two hits for Wollaston and Tom Smith in left field and Jim Hensley in right made outstanding catches to help Bolster out of jams.

Wollaston also made a fine showing against Braintree but lost, 3-2.

Quincy was walloped by Canton, 13-3, and lost to Braintree, 5-2, with Dave Costigan Quincy's losing pitcher.

Hershey Track Tryouts Here July 2-3

The Quincy Track Club, in conjunction with the Quincy Park-Recreation Department, will sponsor the district tryouts for the Hershey track and field program next Wednesday and Thursday nights, July 2 and 3, at 6:15 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Qualifiers from these tryouts will compete in the state finals July 19 at Braintree High School. Winners at Braintree will have their scores compared with the other New England states and the best performers will join the regional team in the national meet in mid-August at Layfield Field, site of the National Track and Field Hall of Fame in Charleston, W. Va.

Many QTC athletes have made the trip to the nationals in the past and it is considered one of the finer youth programs in the country.

The girls will hold their tryouts next Wednesday and the boys will hold theirs Thursday.

The tryouts are open to any boy or girl 9 to 15 who will not turn 16 on or before Aug. 31 of this year. High school athletes are not eligible. Non-Quincy residents are welcome.

The age groups are 9-11, 12-13 and 14-15.

Quincy Police Fall, 12-4

League-leading Wellesley made Quincy its seventh victim, 12-4, Sunday in the Eastern Mass. Police Softball League.

The loss dropped Quincy into fourth place tie in the eight-team league.

Wellesley took advantage of Quincy errors to score 10 of its runs in the first two innings.

Jim Bugle with a home run and Joe Lips with two doubles provided the Quincy offense and Jake Donovan, last year's defensive player of the year in the league, played another strong defensive game.

Quincy will play Waltham Sunday with the proceeds going to the Wellesley Police stress program.

Finlay's Wins, 14-10

Finlay's E-Z Shop defeated Chenette Plumbing and Heating, 14-10, in the Houghs Neck Men's Softball League, with Chunky Fratolillo the winning pitcher and Bobby Blowers the loser.

Fratolillo helped his own cause with a home run and Ed Kelly and Rusty Preble also had homers. Steve Stone at shortstop and Kelly at first base turned in spectacular defensive plays.

For Chenette, Dick Chenette had a long home run, Dan Chenette had a triple and played well at third and Brian Gibbons played a good game at first base and did some timely hitting, ring. Losing pitcher Blowers fielded his position well and had a single.

Quincy Yacht Club defeated Manet Shell, 12-9, with Bob Brill the winning pitcher and John Bogan the loser.

Wayne Stone had a home run and George McCarren a two-run single. Buster Loud, Ray LaRue Jr., Richie Gibbons, Tommy Hawes and Larry LaBel all were instrumental in the victory.

Higgins Bright Light In Dim QHS Track Season

Quincy had little to cheer about during the past spring track season, but some of the Presidents turned in fine individual performances and one of the team's brightest lights was Roy Higgins, senior 440 runner, who had an outstanding season.

Higgins completed his season recently when he finished a close second in the New England championships at Gardner, with a fine 49.19 effort.

He also finished second in the state championships the previous week.

Higgins was undefeated in all dual meets, took first in the state coaches meet and also was the Suburban League champion.

"Roy showed a lot of dedication and deserves a lot of credit for going so far," said Coach Joe Amorosino, who worked hard with Higgins. "He disciplined himself, conditioned himself, trained himself physically and mentally and prepared himself by taking good care of his body. He was in excellent condition.

"He serves as a living example for youngsters, proving you can have the best of all worlds. He is a line student and he set goals for himself. He made some of the little sacrifices that one has make to be successful. He had his share of lonely moments because of his goals. He set time aside for studies and set time aside to prepare for his specialty.

"In all my years of coaching, I rank him very high as a person who possesses all these qualities. He is a terrific boy to coach and is an outstanding boy off the track."

Higgins will be attending Northeastern University in the fall and will major in engineering. He also will continue to take part in track

Burgin Platner Wins 3

Burgin Platner won three games during the past week and moved into a first place tie with Foley Chrysler Plymouth in the Quincy Junior Baseball League's American League with a 9-3 victory over Foley.

Eric Roukey was the winning pitcher and John Cristiani pitched well in relief.

Foley took a 1-0 lead in the first on Pete Furtado's triple and Kyle Robertson but Burgin came back with four runs in the second when A.J. Pugliese singled, Roukey doubled, Steve Hensley walked, Mike Barron reached on an error and Cristiani singled.

In the third Dave Phillips and Furtado walked, Mike Murphy reached on an error, Kyle Robertson got the second of his three hits and Jay DeBartolo singled for Foley's last two runs.

In Burgin's third Bob Thomas walked, Pugliese reached on an error, Roukey walked and Walter Downing singled for two runs. In the fifth, with two outs, Robbie McDonald, Scott Mosher and Tom McDonald doubled and Barron, Cristiani and Derek Holt singled for three more runs.

Barron and Mosher for Burgin and Murphy and Dan Biagini for Foley made outstanding defensive plays.

Burgin blasted Remick's, 12-0, as Roukey pitched three innings of hitless ball and struck out four. He has struck out 50 and walked only 15 in compiling a 5-1 record.

Cristiani pitched the last three innings, striking out eight in a row and giving up Remick's only hit to Dave Maimaron.

Holt had three singles, Cristiani two and Tom McDonald and Pugliese one each. Mosher made several fine defensive plays.

Tom McDonald pitched three-hit ball and also had a triple as Burgin topped Houghs Neck Legion, 11-3.

Christiani had a homer, double and single, Jay Osgood a triple and single and Thomas, Hensley, Roukey, Matt Ostiguy, Pugliese, Billy Cappelis, Robbie McDonald and Barron a single each. For Houghs Neck Mike Haynes had a home run and Bob Kane and Ed Calley singles.

Kiwanis edged the Elks, 5-4, with winning pitcher Mark McDonald striking out nine. Bobby Furlan, Dennis DeCoste, Shawn Flavin and Ronnie Fletcher had key hits for Kiwanis.

Kiwanis also topped VFW, 12-8, with T.J. Steen the winner with relief help from John Carroll.

Steen had two run-producing hits. Flavin extended his hitting streak to 14 games with two doubles and a single, Chris Ricciuti had two doubles and George Hartford, Tom Reilly and John Carroll all drove in runs with hits.

Reilly, Steen, John Doherty and Flavin came up with fine defensive plays, Flavin catching a long drive to center field with the bases loaded.

Host Rockland Sunday

Mariners Sweep Doubleheader

The Quincy Mariners, who had won their first four games before losing a doubleheader to Randolph Townies, bounced back Sunday to sweep a doubleheader from the Plymouth A's, 3-2 and 6-4 at Adams Field to make their South Shore Coast League record 6-2.

The Mariners will play at Whitman tonight (Thursday) at 6 o'clock and Sunday will be home to Rockland in a big doubleheader at Adams Field starting at 1 o'clock.

Vin Todd, who will be a junior at U-Mass-Amherst in the fall, scattered eight hits in the opener Sunday and walked only one.

Tom Perry's single to right in the bottom of the seventh and final inning drove in Bobby Mayo with the winning run. It was Perry's second game-winning hit of the season.

Quincy took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Mayo reached on an error, moved up on a fielders choice and scored on Josh Alberti's single.

Plymouth tied it at 1-1 in the fourth on three straight singles and the A's took a 2-1 lead in the sixth.

In the bottom of the sixth Quincy tied it when Todd Mills singled, moved up on Mike McCormack's bunt and scored on Joe Seckler's single.

Ron Donovan, who will be a junior at Westfield State College in the fall pitched effectively in the second game and was afforded outstanding support in the field.

Plymouth took a 2-0 lead in the first inning but the Mariners came back with three runs in their half on three singles off Als southpaw Charlie Goonan.

Plymouth went ahead, 4-3, with two runs in the fourth, featured by Hoss Johnston's long home run.

In the bottom of the fourth Quincy scored twice on two hits and an error to move ahead, 5-4, and two more Plymouth errors gave Quincy its insurance run in the fifth.

Player-coach Bob Benn had a triple for the Mariners. Fran Donovan had a triple and single and was outstanding on defense. Paul Vespaziani had three hits and Dave McLaughlin, who played strong defense at second base, laid down a perfect squeeze bunt scoring Fran Donovan with the winning run.

Mets, Angels In Title Showdown

The Mets blanked the Giants, 4-0, last week to clinch the Junior Farm Baseball League's National League title.

The Mets finished 14-2 and the Giants were 13-3. The Mets will face the Angels (13-2), American League champions, for the league title Saturday at 9 a.m. at Faxon Field 1.

Chris Higgins pitched a six-hit ball for the Mets in their division-deciding game against the Giants. He struck out 12 and also had a double. Jeff Adams drove in the winning run in the fifth inning, when the Mets scored all their runs, doubling home his brother Paul. Bobby Austin then put the frosting on the cake with a three-run homer. Billy Mulhern had two singles and Michael Toland a double.

For the Giants Jay Rodriguez pitched a seven-hitter and, except for the fifth inning, was outstanding. He struck out 13. Brian Mosher had two hits and Mike Sanda, Danny Ward, Sean Cappelis and Mike Routier had the other hits.

The Mets also walloped the Pirates, 12-3, with Robbie Cinquegrano pitching a three-hitter. Jeff Adams had two hits, Toland had a home run and Tommy Mann, Paul Scola, Paul Adams, Vin Moran, Higgins, Mulhern and Cinquegrano had a single each.

For the Pirates Chris Boussey had a triple and Ted Bythrow and Tommy McGovern had the other hits, both all singles.

The annual all-star games and picnic were held last Saturday and the American 10-year-old all-stars edged the Nationals, 7-6.

Ricky Ames of the Angels, who pitched the last 2½ innings and had a double in the Americans' five-run fourth inning, was named the games MVP and received a trophy.

Receiving balls for outstanding play were Dave Adams of the Dodgers, who pitched two innings

St. Joseph's A Girls Breeze

St. Joseph's Girls A Softball team walloped the C team, 14-4, with Janine LaFleur striking out 17 batters, allowing only four hits and walking one.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By ROBERT COLMAN

An amazing fact of pro baseball is that when the first rules were made over 100 years ago, the distance between the bases was arbitrarily set at 90 feet a distance that's never been changed and even today, as sportswriter Red Smith has written, "the world's fastest man can't run to first base ahead of a sharply hit ball that is cleanly handled by an infielder, yet let the fielder juggle the ball for just an instant and the runner will be safe. Ninety feet also accurately measures the speed of a base-stealer against the speed of a thrown ball. Ninety feet demands perfection and nobody knows for sure how it came to be". . . . And although today's players are bigger and faster, 90 feet between the bases works as well now as it did 100 years ago. . . .

Can you name the big league baseball teams in the last 50 years who had these nicknames. . . . Colt 45s. . . . Pilots. . . . Bees? When the Houston Astros were founded in 1962, their original nickname was the Houston Colt 45s. . . . They changed their name to Astros when the Astrodome opened in 1965. . . . Seattle, in 1969, was known as the Pilots. . . . And when the current Atlanta Braves franchise was in Boston from 1900 to 1952, they were known as the Braves except for 3 years in the 1930s when they played under the name of the Boston Bees. . . .

I bet you didn't know. . . . That COLMAN'S has everything you need for fishing, swimming, camping, all summer sports. And. . . you'll find the lowest prices at COLMAN'S. Most complete selection in the area.

2nd Constitution Celebration To Be Held Sept. 5-6-7

Mayor Arthur Tobin announces plans for the second annual City of Quincy Constitution Celebration to be held September 5-6-7. He has appointed James R. McIntyre to be chairman of The Constitution Celebration Coordinating Committee.

Highlighting the three-day celebration will be the dedication of the City Hall monument, sculptured by Edward Monti Company in conjunction with an art display by the Quincy Art Association, a concert by the 63-piece 215th Army Band from Fall River and a skydiving show by Free Fall Productions of Braintree, all scheduled for City Hall between 12-4 P.M. Saturday, Sept. 6th.

Also included will be an Open House at the Dorothy Quincy Homestead. Ecumenical services, concerts by the Quincy Symphony orchestra, and the Long Island Sound Rock Band from Newport, R.I., the City of Presidents Marathon and a bonfire.

All the events of the Constitution Weekend are free and open to the public, paid for by business and private contributions raised by the Constitution Celebration Committee.

Last year the event drew record crowds over the four-day celebration. This year we have shortened the schedule, reducing the celebration to three days," Mayor Tobin said. "We are trying to continue the display of pride in Quincy we started last year."

The tentative program:

Friday, Sept. 5

7 - 9 P.M.: Open House at the Dorothy Quincy Homestead.

Saturday, Sept. 6

12 Noon: - Concert (215th Army Band) at City Hall

1 P.M. - Dedication of Monument

2 P.M. - Skydiving Show on McIntyre Mall

4 P.M. - Service at Catholic Church in Quincy

12 - 4 P.M. - Art Display at City Hall

7:30 P.M. - Concert (Quincy Symphony Orchestra) at City Hall

Sunday, Sept. 7

*10 A.M. - Marathon Starts at City Hall Location

11 A.M. - Ecumenical Service at First Parish Church followed by pageant "The Birth of our Massachusetts Constitution"

1 - 4:30 P.M. - Open House at Quincy Historical Society

6:30 P.M. - Concert at Pageant Field (Long Island Sound Rock Band)

8 P.M. - Bonfire at Black's Creek

*The Quincy Flyers Jogging Club are planning a marathon to take place between 10 A.M. and 3 P.M. They are currently working out the details.

WILHELMINA HARRIS, superintendent of the Adams National Historic Site, was recently presented a Massachusetts House of Representatives citation honoring her years of service at the Adams Mansion. The presentation was made during a reception at the mansion celebrating the 85th anniversary of Central Junior High School. ## 15 Named To New Quincy Arts Council Mayor Arthur Tobin announces the appointment of 15 residents to the newly organized Quincy Arts Council.

Last November a state law was passed mandating that a new lottery be conducted whose benefits are earmarked for cultural purposes. In order to qualify for these funds, communities are required to appoint their own local council. These non-salaried appointments are for a two-year term.

In addition to allocating Arts Lottery funds, the Quincy Arts

Council is expected to take a leading position in supporting arts activities in the community, promoting the sale of Arts Lottery tickets, and establishing a cultural inventory for the state.

The council held its first organizational meeting in April. Members are:

Chairwoman Carol Pisano, Garry Brennan, Mary Collins, Nancy Johnson, Mary Kelly, Mary Kennedy, Diane Lydon, Frank Moffett, Anet Pagliarini, Lorraine Quinn, Joann Sheets, Anne Stanziani, Patricia Toland, Ronda Windrel, Lawrence Yerdon.

20 Quincy Tour Guides To Graduate

Twenty junior high and high school students will receive certificates as official Quincy tour guides today (Thursday) at 3:30 p.m. in the conference room at City Hall.

They will be available to start guiding visitors on walking tours of the Quincy Center area on Tuesday, July 8.

The students attended special classes in Quincy history on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons during the month of June to prepare them for service as guides.

The tour guide project will be conducted during the heaviest tourist months, July and August, and if successful will be expanded next year.

Tours are scheduled to leave from the new City Hall at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday through Saturday, July 8 through Aug. 30. The route is about 1½ miles long and will take some two hours to complete.

Those involved in the project are the Mayor's office, the Planning Department and the Youth Commission.

Further information may be obtained from Carol Pisano at 773-1380, extension 442, or Brian Buckley at 773-1380, extension 348.

Track Club Dominates 2 Meets

With the Mass. State Police Junior Olympics in Worcester and the Greater Taunton Junior Olympics both held last Saturday, the Quincy Track Club split up its team and wound up dominating both meets.

At Worcester Quincy took home 13 gold, 11 silver and 12 bronze medals, far more than any other team.

Only one club record was broken and by a non-scorer. Mark Lunin, 11, set a club 10-11 100 yard record of 12.60 but finished only fourth.

Nine-year-old Jack Henaghan was the only double winner, taking the gold medals in the 8-9 20 and long jump.

In 8-9 boys Mike Petta won the 100 and was second in the 50, Sean Munroe was third in the 100 and 220, John Dunderdale was second in the 220 and Mike McLaughlin took second in the long jump.

In 8-9 girls Tricia Giannandrea was third in the 50 and 100, Patty Feeney won the 220 with Deirdre Murphy third, Karen Henshew was second and Cindy Bonner third in the long jump, and Dottie Bonner was second in the softball throw.

In boys 10-11, Jamie McArdle won the long jump and was third in the 220 and Tommy Walsh took third in the 220.

In girls 10-11, Janice Libby won the 100, Tracy Nave took third in the 220, Lorrie McNeill was third in the long jump and Bethany Lopes was third in the softball throw.

In boys 12-13 Ed Munroe took third in the long jump and Fred Bickford was second in the softball throw.

In girls 12-13 Kristen Dever and Denise Petta were 1-2 in the 50, with Kristen barely edging Denise; Dever was second in the long jump, Petta, despite running hurt, won the 100, Tracy Coull won the mile and Georgia Traficante was second in the softball throw.

In girls 14-15 Kristine Picarski won the 100, Faith Bickford won the long jump and Sheila Barrett and Linda Kennedy crossed the finish line together in the mile, with Barrett being declared the winner.

At Taunton the club took 12 gold medals, nine silver and five bronze and set several club records.

Robbie Glynn set a record of 64.0 in the 10-11 440, Greg McGrath set a 9 and under mile record of 5:54.6 and Frank Calabro set a 10-11 mark of 27 feet in the shot put.

Tracy Parker won the 10-11 girls high jump, the boys 8-9 relay team of Kevin O'Brien, McGrath, Ernie Light and Bob Crowley won, O'Brien won the 440, Karen Rodgers won the 9-under mile in 5:58.9, her sister Terri won the 10-11 mile in 5:48.5 and Harry Morash won the boys 10-11 mile in 5:42.

Other medalists were Joanna Rugnetta and Marie Lenane in the girls 7 and under 50, Jimmy Maloney in boys 7-under 50, John DeLap in boys 12-13 hurdles, Eric Fano in boys 10-11 shot put, Tina Calabro in girls 10-11 shot, Rick Conroy in boys 12-13 discus, Kim Marlowe in girls 10-11 100 and long jump, Tracy Wilson in girls 10-11 long jump, Caroline Mitchell in girls 16-17 800, and Robbie Dever in boys 10-11 mile.

Fred, John Comparato Return For Visit

By PETE ZOIA

Fred (Moore) Comparato and his younger brother, John, who excelled in Quincy sports years ago and are now living in Florida, recently visited Quincy and renewed many old acquaintances.

Fred played football, baseball and basketball at Quincy High from 1924 to 1927 and went to Bridgion Academy where he played all three sports from 1928 to '30. At Syracuse and Tampa he also played football and baseball before returning to Quincy in the early 30s.

He starred in the backfield for the old Quincy Trojans and Minnets and starred on championship Quincy YMCA basketball teams. He also was a respected high school and semi-pro basketball official.

Fred resumed his college days at Florida Southern where he received a B.S. in Education degree, and finalized his education at the U. of Mississippi, earning his Masters Degree in Education.

He began a 34-year educator career in the Polk county school system in Florida as a teacher-coach and athletic director at three schools, Frostproof, Auburndale and Fort Meade high schools in 1946. He retired last January.

Fred lives in Auburndale, Fla., with his wife, Eva Mae. The couple will celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary next month. They have two married children, Mary and Steve, who is also a teacher. They have three grandchildren.

Although retired, Fred still remains a sports enthusiast, keeping up with local sports and getting together with John. Both are avid Tampa Bay Buccaneer fans.

John graduated from Quincy High in 1934, starring at halfback on the football team and playing semi-pro football for four more years.

He won an athletic scholarship to Tampa University where he majored in history and physical education, graduating in 1942.

John served in the Army infantry as a second lieutenant in World War II, seeing action in the Aleutians and also taking part in the Battle of the Bulge. He received the Bronze Star for "heroic and meritorious service."

Four years later he returned to Polk County as a teacher and football coach at Lake Alfred Junior High.

For the next three years he coached football and baseball at Haines City Junior High and also served as an elementary school principal.

He served as principal of Eastside Elementary School, later was supervisor of Haines City area schools and in 1969 was elevated to superintendent of the East area. The latter assignment called for Johnny to direct the curricula for 18 schools.

After 33 years devoted to educational work, he retired last June.

Oddly, as a sports buff, he switched from football to basketball as his favorite pastime. "Basketball is more exciting to me now, maybe because my son coached the sport," he noted.

John and his wife, Marybelle, live in Haines City, a suburb of Orlando. They have two sons, Fred, a teacher-coach, and John Jr., employed by the state road department. They have three grandchildren.

In 1972 John greeted actor Lorne Green and the late Sen. Hubert Humphrey at the Haines City High School when the senator campaigned.

Two more well-known Comparato brothers live in Quincy, Joe and Bob, who were also prominent in sports here.
